"WOODS IS FULL OF THEM," SAYS STAND-PAT OF BULL MOOSE.

"I knew there were getting to be lots of 'em but I'll declare that things look better for the Progressives today than they ever did," said a local stand-patter Friday as he walked into an uptown store.

"Why how's that," asked his friend the proprietor.

"The woods is full of them. This whole DePauw student body down here, women and all, are lining up with the Bull Moose element."

The merchant assumed a knowing air although he did not choose at once to enlighten his friend with whatever was on his mind. Instead he led his friend into a discussion of the political situation placing especial emphasis on the part that the followers of Roosevelt are playing in the affairs of the state and nation. The Republican showed time and again that he was worried over the strength of the new party, asserting that things look better for the Bull Moose than they ever have. Finally the proprietor could hold the secret no longer.

"Don't you know that the Progressive arm bands those students are wearing have nothing to do with state and national politics? They only represent a political party of the school and today is the day for the election of some important officers of the school."

The visitor looked askance for a while and then the humor of the situation appealed to him.

"I'm glad for that," he said, "but just the same there are several of them outside the local college."

William Woodard, of Bainbridge, was in the city on business today.

CAR GOES OVER AN EMBANKMENT

BIG CADILLAC TOURING CAR DRIVEN BY HOMER B. TALLY OF TERRE HAUTE SKIDS FROM ROAD SOUTH OF TOWN ON THE JACKSON STREET PIKE. PLUNGES OVER STEEP EMBANKMENT AND LODGES AGAINST FENCE.

ESCAPE IS MIRACULOUS

A huge Cadillac touring car owned and driven by Homer B. Tally of Terre Haute, skidded from the road south of this city near the crossing of the interurban tracks on the Jackson street pike Friday evening at 8 o'clock, plunged over an embankment and lodged against a wire fence at the bottom of the incline. The car was not overturned but stopped against the fence with the back end high in the air. Neither Mr. Tally nor his wife, who was with him at the time of the accident, were injured and their escape is considered miraculous.

The slippery roads caused by the recent rains was responsible for the accident. Tally was driving north toward this city at a moderate rate of speed and the back end of the car whirled to the right side of the road and then down the embankment. Mr. Tally evidently threw on the brakes when the car started to skid for the machine stopped just a right angles with the road, and it is hardly probable that the machine skidded to that position without the brakes being set.

A new woven wire fence which was builded at the bottom of the embankment probably is all that saved the party from a serious accident. It is miraculous how the car stopped against the fence without overturning, for the machine weighs about 3800 pounds and its entire weight was thrown forward against the fence.

The car was not damaged in any way as a result of the accident. Mr. and Mrs. Tally were brought to this city by garage men and they stayed at the Commercial Hotel over night. The garage men experienced a very hard task in raising the car to the road on account of its weight and position.

Mr. and Mrs. Tally are well-known in Greencastle, having visited here many times. The former is a graduate of the university and takes a great interest in the affairs of the university at the present time.

FUNERAL OF CLAUDE HIXON HELD HERE THIS MORNING

Short funeral services over the body of Claude Hixon of Bainbridge, who with Jesse Bowen of North Salem, met death Thursday night when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Vandalia passenger train just east of town were held at the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hixon, at 11 o'clock this morning. The Rev. L. A. Beard had charge of the services. Several members of the Modern Woodmen lodge of Bainbridge of which Hixon was a member attended the funeral. Members of the lodge also acted as pall bearers. The body was taken to Bainbridge on the 12:42 Monon and interment was made in the cemetery at that place.

The funeral of Mr. Bowen was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the North Salem Christian church. Burial was in the cemetery at that place.

The Bainbridge high school basketball team won a closely contested game from the Filmore high school aggregation, which was played on the former's grounds Friday afternoon. The score was 15 to 13 and the outcome of the contest was in question throughout play. The Bainbridge forwards caged 5 field goals in the first half of play, but were unable to score from the field in the last frame. The Filmore players were so closely guarded that not a single field goal was registered. The Filmore center caged 13 of 15 free throws from the foul line. The two teams have each won a game and it is probable that a game will be played on the Armory floor in this city to test the relative strength on a neutral floor. Each team is composed of a scrappy bunch and a fast game is expected when they appear in the third game.

DePAUW TEAM CRIPPLED FOR GAME WITH BAPTISTS

With the probability that at least three of Coach Bogle's regulars will not be able to play against Franklin Monday, the chances of the DePauw football team running away from the Baptists do not appear so bright today as they did Friday. In the scrimmage practice Friday Captain Thomas suffered an injury to one of his legs that may keep him on the sidelines for the greater part of the contest. Woodruff, the stocky Old Gold end, and D. Thomas, halfback, also were put out of the game for a while by injuries to their shoulders and chests. All three of the injured men may start the game but it is feared that they will not be able to stand the grind of the entire contest.

Bogle's men were out on McKeen field this morning for the final workout before Monday's game. Following a drill in the rudiments of the game and in running signals the scrubs were sent against the regulars for a short scrimmage. The second team men fought their best and frequently the first team was not able to gain ground against them. The scrubs are putting up the best fight of the season as several of the men have a chance to break into games later in the year. Bogle has given everybody to understand that he will not hesitate a minute to shift the lineup of the team whenever a second string man shows enough fight to warrant his being changed.

The attention of football fans here is turned to Crawfordsville today where Wabash and Earlham are staging their annual struggle this afternoon. Dope marked the Little Giants as the victors but the fighting spirit of the Quakers must be reckoned with at all times. Wabash and Earlham, and especially the latter, are not supposed to be up to the standard of the schools at this time of the season. The local football men may be able to judge from the outcome of today's struggle just what they will have to fight later in the season.

The other contest of any importance today is the Purdue-Western Reserve game at Lafayette. Purdue expected little difficulty in disposing of the Ohioans as did Illinois in the game with Indiana at Champaign.

BOSTON WINS SECOND CONTEST

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE CHAMPIONS STUMBLING BLOCK FOR FAMOUS PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS AND REPEAT THE VICTORY OF FRIDAY ON PHILADELPHIA GROUNDS—PLAY AT BOSTON SUNDAY.

PITCHERS BATTLE STAGED

The Boston Braves proved to be a stumbling block for the Philadelphia Athletics again this afternoon in the second game of the World's Series which was played at Philadelphia. The game was closely contested and it was not until the last inning that the game was cinched. The score was 1 to 0. Today's game put the Braves with a two game lead over the Athletics.

James, for the Braves, and Plank of the Athletics participated in one of the most interesting pitcher's battles in the history of baseball. Both hurlers pitched airtight ball until the ninth inning, when Plank weakened and the Braves were able to send one runner across the rubber for the first and only counter of the game.

Gowdy, the star catcher of the Braves, who succeeded in hitting the ball hard in Friday's game, received James' slants and curves. Schang presided behind the bat for the Athletics.

James let the Philadelphia team down with only two hits, while the Boston players were able to hit safely seven times. Both pitchers received excellent support from their teammates.

The score by innings is as follows:

Umpires—Dincen, Klem, Hilda-brand and Bryan.

Miss Dolly Flint, of Cloverdale, visited friends in the city today.

STUDENTS INSPECT THE APPLE HOUSE

TWENTY-FIVE MEN FROM PURDUE SPEND MORNING IN GREENCASTLE—ARE SHOWN AROUND BY WILL WETZ, MANAGER OF LOCAL BUSINESS ESTABLISHMENT—LEAVE SHORTLY AFTER NOON.

TRIP A PROFITABLE ONE

Twenty-five students of the department of agriculture of Purdue university were in Putnam county this morning on an agricultural inspection trip. The men arrived in Greencastle on the morning Monon train and left again for Lafayette shortly after noon.

The main purpose of the trip here was to visit the apple house of the Greencastle Orchard company. Since its establishment here the apple house has attracted the attention of many people interested in apple culture and the department at Purdue desired that some of its students inspect the place. Will Wetz, the manager of the house, spent the entire morning in showing the students how the place is conducted. The machine used in grading the apples and the outfits used in spraying the apples in order to place them in good condition for the market were the objects of special inspection of the students. When they return to school they will be asked to report on their trip here and to offer any suggestions that they may have as to how the work could be managed better. The points about the work that they learned here will be used in actual practice at Purdue.

Besides their visit to the apple house the men were taken to the Strain orchard which is one of the places that the Greencastle Orchard company has under lease. At that place the trees were inspected and notes taken of the way the work is carried on there.

The funeral of Mrs. Nancy Sweeney, widow of the late Andrew Sweeney, whose death occurred Wednesday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bert Eldridge of Volga, S. D., will be held at the Long Branch church, five miles west of this city Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The interment will be in the Long Branch cemetery. The body which arrived here today was taken to the home of her son, Andrew Sweeney at Limesdale to await burial. Mrs. Sweeney was a fine old lady of Madison township and was one of the most respected citizens of the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Frank and daughter, of Paris, Ill., arrived here last evening to attend the funeral of Mrs. John Sweeney, which was held today. Mr. Frank is a former resident of Putnam county and is well known here.

DISEASE PREVENTION DAY ATTRACTS MUCH ATTENTION

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 10.—

Friends of the Indiana Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis throughout the state have been busy this week congratulating the members of the society on the success of the Disease Prevention Day movement.

No public enterprise ever inaugurated in Indiana has met with the ready and enthusiastic response accorded the proposition to focus public attention for a day on the exceedingly important matter of conserving the public health by attacking preventable diseases. Commercial organizations were quick to realize the "dollars and cents" side of the proposition. Church workers and club women doing social work long have realized keenly the suffering brought about by the prevalence of tuberculosis, typhoid fever and other infectious diseases. Educators saw at a glance the immense educational value of the movement. School children were quick to appreciate it. And the result was practically a state wide spectacular demonstration. National attention has been attracted. Nathan Straus of New York has urged every governor in the union to follow the example of Governor Ralston in publicly and officially proclaiming the day one of general public interest. The Saturday Evening Post has prepared an editorial on the subject of "Indiana's Innovation." Leslie's Weekly has wired for photographs of the parade in Indianapolis. New Mexico is planning to follow Indiana's example later this month. The "movie" operators were on the job in a dozen Indiana cities perpetuating the spectacular demonstrations. All in all, good old Hoosierdom has achieved millions of dollars worth of helpful publicity through its hearty acceptance of Disease Prevention Day. Efforts probably will be made to have the day set aside as a state holiday to be observed annually.

Let us all join hands and help nail the lies—and the liars.

Issue Panama Canal bonds, the Republican peanut brigade cries—do anything but tax us one dollar per head per year. Do you mortgage your house to pay the grocer?

What would you think of President Wilson, what would you think of the Democratic party, if President Wilson and the Democratic party did not take every possible precaution to protect the solvency of the United States Treasury?

Their suggestion No. 2 is this: Use the present Treasury surplus, withdraw the $75,000,000 deposited in the national banks to move crops and assist trade. Hamstring crop movement and cripple trade—anything but tax us one dollar per head per year.

What do you think of the Republican "peanut politicians," who, in the name of the Republican party, by using obstructive tactics and by circulating palpable falsehoods, are seeking to prevent the President and the Democratic party from taking quite proper and reasonable precautions to protect the solvency of the United States Treasury?

God and the American people hate liars and love brave men. The lies being circulated with the sole motive of hampering President Wilson, therefore, will return to plague the liars that utter them; and the President's bravery in ignoring political considerations and in squarely facing the revenue situation growing out of the European war will reap its due reward.

"We could have delayed the levying of this tax, we could have delayed the bringing in of the bill until after election, and have deprived you of any campaign thunder you may be able to get by virtue of what you will be pleased to say is an additional burden laid upon the American people. But, instead of that we realized what every thinking conservative man in America realizes, that in a condition of such world convulsion, with credits impaired as they are, it was of the utmost importance that the Treasury of the United States should not only be in a position to stand any present shock, but any future shock that might come by reason of this tremendous disturbance of conditions. We believed that it was important not to put any greater strain upon the banks than this condition, and so believing, we have not looked to the moneys to the Government's credit in the banks, but have sought to obtain by internal revenue taxes the revenues no longer to be had at the custom house. * * *

"We go to the country simply with a proposal to supply the revenues that have failed through no fault of ours, and which you would have had to supply if you had been in power; only you would have had a greater failure of revenues, because you raised a greater proportion of your total from customs duties than we. To the extent that we have substituted income taxes and a corporation tax for customs dues, to that extent that we lessened the disarrangement of the Government finances by virtue of this world war. Therefore, if there be any difference in the attitude that the two parties would have been in in this emergency, it is that we have a less sum to supply than you, because you would have had no revenues coming from an income tax and less from a corporation tax."—Speech of Representative Swager Sherley, of Kentucky, in House of Representatives, Sept. 25.

"NURSERY" HINTS.

An Anxious Mother Gets Some Advice That Sounds Heartless.

An anxious mother determined to ring up the day nursery to ask for some advice as to her child. The following conversation ensued.

"I called for the nursery. Is this the nursery?"
"Yes, ma'am."
"I am so worried about my little Rose."
"What seems to be the matter?"
"Oh, not so very much, perhaps, but just a general listlessness and lack of life."
"Ain't growing rigid, eh?"
"No, sir."

"Well, I will tell you what to do. about two inches from der limbs und—"

"You dake der scissors and cut off 'Wh-a-at?'"

"I say, dake der scissors und cut off about two inches from der limbs, und den turn der garden hose on it for about four hours in der morning—"

"Wh-a-at?" And the receiver vibrated at her tone.

"Turn der garden hose on for about four hours in der morning, und den pile a lot of black dirt all around und sprinkle mit insect powder all over der top—"

"Sprinkle mit insect powder all over der top. You know usually it is noddings but pugs dot—"

"How dare you sir? What do you mean by such language to me?"

"Noddings but pugs usually causes der troubles, und den you vant to wash der rose with a liquid preparations I haf for sale here—"

"Who in the world are you any-way?"

"Gottfried Bluber, der florist."
"O-o-oh!" rather weakly. "Good-by."

TOUGH KNOT.

What's the matter with his snakeship?

He had a jag on last night and got himself into a hard knot trying to get home.

Pulled Up Short.

Professor Charles Zueblin, of the University of Chicago, was reiterating at a dinner his belief that most American philanthropy failed in its object.

"Many a philanthropist, his heart beating with love for his fellowman, would be pulled up with a round turn," said Professor Zueblin, "if he knew what really became of the last hundred or the last thousand that he gave to charity."

"Yes, he would be taken as completely aback as the young man who said proudly to his girl in the moonlight:

"Tell me, my own, when did you first discover that you loved me?"
"When I found myself getting angry every time any one called you a fool," she replied."

A Good Hint.

One morning a Sunday-school was about to be dismissed and the youngsters were already in anticipation of relaxing their cramped little limbs after the hours of confinement on straight-backed chairs and benches. When the superintendent arose and instead of usual dismissal announced: "And now, children, let me introduce Mr. Smith, who will give us a short talk."

Mr. Smith smiling arose, and, after gazing impressively around the class-room, began with: "I hardly know what to say," when the whole school was convulsed to hear a small, thin voice back in the rear hiss: "They amen and thit down."

A Half-Baby.

A man who has recently traveled in Ireland says that in a poor little cottage of two rooms he saw a married couple and seven children. Hearing a baby cry he asked to see it, and explained that he took an interest in babies, having one at home. The infant was produced for inspection, and the mother asked proudly: "Is yours as big as that, sir?" To which he replied, "I think it is a little bigger." "Instantly the instincts of the mother were roused, and tossing her head, she said: "So well it might be that's only half of ours; the other half is with God. We had twins."

A Luxury Beyond Him.

Diddle—Hello! You're looking very seedy. You want a change.
Sharples—Yes, but a divorce is so dashed expensive—July.

Special Notice To Taxpayers.

Many will question the amount of their taxes and ask concerning their personal property assessments and land appraisement. Mistakes will occur where the assessment of property and the extending and collecting of taxes are done by as many different officers.

The Treasurer and Auditor will cheerfully correct all mistakes for which they are responsible and the county assessor will explain the assessment of personal property and where possible adjust if in error.

Time is at hand for the paying of Fall taxes. Monday, November 2, is the last day on which taxes can be paid, without the penalty being attached. You soon will find yourself in the Treasurer's office in a great crowd, awaiting to get to pay windows. Some will be in a hurry to make certain trains to get home. Why delay and cause yourself as well as the treasurer so much inconvenience?

If the second installment of taxes is not paid within the limit set by law, the taxes become due and delinquent and with penalty is extended by the Auditor and charged to the Treasurer. The state is interested in this extension and the Auditor and Treasurer are both personally liable for any penalties that might be refunded.

Under no circumstances can the Treasurer alter the duplicate. He can make no reduction in taxes and he can not refund money once paid in. Errors must be corrected through the Auditor's office.

As the Treasurer can not know the location of each person's property, tax payers should designate the property on which they wish to pay, and see that all property is included in their receipt. If they have land in more than one township or corporation, or desire to pay taxes on lands or lots not in their name, call the Treasurer's attention to the matter, carefully examine receipts, see if they describe all property (personal and real) and are otherwise correct before leaving the office, and if any errors are evident have them corrected at once.

The Tax Duplicate is not a transfer book and when, for any year, the Tax Duplicate is made with reference to the property on the first day of March said year the duplicate remains forever unchanged as to showing of property in whose books or prompt recording of deeds to the contrary notwithstanding.

Property will appear in same name of the payment of the second installment as for first. Assignees, Guardians, Administrators and others who pay taxes on property in trust and persons whose taxes are complicated, such as undivided estates, etc., are earnestly requested to settle such taxes before the last few days, as it requires considerable time to make divisions and separate receipts. Thus avoid mistakes which might happen during the rush of the last few days of taxpaying.

"All property, both Real and Personal, shall be liable for the payment of all taxes, penalties, interest and cost charged to the owner thereof in such county, and no partial payment of any such taxes penalties, interest or costs shall discharge or release any part or portion of such property until the whole is paid, which lien shall in no wise be erected or destroyed by any sale or transfer of any such personal property, and shall attach on the first day of April annually for the taxes of such year."

—From Section 173, Acts 1881.
"Special Notice.

All Ditch Taxes and Street Improvements must be called for separately.

The taxpayer often has personal property and poll assessed to him separately from his real estate especially when the land is in joint title, and accordingly must have a receipt therefor.

Delinquent taxes must be paid before the current tax.
The Treasurer will not be responsible for penalties and charges on delinquent taxes, resulting from omission of the person, paying such tax to state definitely on what property, in whose name and in what township or corporation it was assessed.

Very Respectfully,
H. H. RUNYAN,
Treasurer Putnam County.

6t Friday, D., Sept. 25; 6t W Sept 25.

Toned Up Whole System.
"Chamberlain's Tablets have done more for me than I ever dared hope for," writes Mrs. Esther Mae Baker, Spencerport, N. Y. "I used several bottles of these tablets a few months ago. ## Notes and Comment

Of Interest to Women Readers

THE MATRIMONIAL DIARY

Is Looming Large in the Divorce Courts.

Within recent months we have noted that more and more frequently diaries have been introduced into divorce trials kept by one or both parties to the suit. Sometimes these diaries were begun long previous to any open disagreement between man and wife, when one or the other may have been unconscious of any infidelity between them. In such a case the unsuspecting one, all unguarded in his or her innocence, has been daily recording in the accusing book, every act that would be prejudicial in the eyes of court or jury set down in black and white and in cold blood. There is no distinction in law between divorce sought in a hot temper and divorce with malice aforethought.

We sincerely trust that the "holy bonds of matrimony" will not become generally vitiated by the practice of keeping a diary dating from the wedding day, and that bride and groom will not feel that reasonable precautions should be taken against emergencies. A diary in the possession of either one of the "happy wedded pair" may be regarded with suspicion and may introduce the first serpent into their Eden. It is carrying concealed weapons into the conjugal state, and diary toting of this sort is as reprehensible as gun toting.

The distrust of humanity that is often so marked in the ordinary relations between man and woman appears to have extended itself to the relations between man and woman. It is not only when poverty comes in at the door that love flies out at the window; when doubt comes in at the window, love slips out of the door. Modern marriages with their "mental reservations" and their diaries may give the grieving contenders against "the divorce evil," another phase of the question to ponder over.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Warning to Sniffers.

"For the love of a man," a Topeka girl wrote, and then took carbolic acid and died. It was the reading of the incident that Atchison (Kan.) doctors have agreed was the cause of a certain Atchison woman's serious illness. She gave a sniff of contempt when she read of a girl who killed herself "for the love of a man," and sniffed so hard that the sniff went in and affected her vital organs. The woman is married, has seven children, works like a farm hand in harvest, though her husband is in good circumstances, and hasn't had an outing in ten years. Doctors say that this sniffing in contempt is apt to prove serious when a woman sniffs as hard as this woman sniffed. She put in that sniff all the disappointment, all the contempt, all the bitterness, all the heartache of fifteen years, and the sniff simply shattered her whole system and displaced half her interior.

Wealth a Burden.

Mrs. Howard Gould's testimony that a woman ought to have $40,000 a year for dress is being generally discussed by American women. After calculating the amount of time occupied at the dressmakers and in dressing and undressing the average woman is apt to ask whether any rational enjoyment can be derived from such a life. Wealth becomes a burden when it entails such waste of time and energy, not to speak of the expenditure of money. The simple life is more attractive.

POULTRY AND EGGS BUILD HOME

In 24 Years Couple Educates Two Children and Erects $5,000 House From Profits.

Kansas City, Mo.—Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Murphy, who live at Sixty-seventh and Monroe streets, have proved that money can be made from chickens without heeding the rules of scientific poultry-raising. Common sense is their recipe for success. Without trappings, keeping books, using incubators or preparing elaborate menus, this couple has erected a $5,000 home and educated two children from money saved on eggs and poultry during the past twenty-four years.

In addition to this they have materially decreased the high cost of living by using some of their eggs and chickens on their own table. Both the children were given musical education and the son is now an instructor in the West Side Conservatory of Music in Chicago.

Starting in 1890, the Murphys purchased a few hens and have gradually increased their flock, although it is still a small one. They make no pretense of being poultry farmers, but have hopes some day of going into the business on a large scale. "One can't keep high bred poultry unless he has separate pens and yards for different strains and breeds, and I'm not fixed to do that now," declares Murphy.

"I'm not a scientific poultryman at all. I watch the hens and do the things that seem to bring the most eggs and the best chicken meat. For my purposes, I find that I have to mix the breeds, but I always use the very best stock. Every spring I get a new rooster or so—good ones, not closely related to my hens. I never use roosters hatched from eggs laid by my own hens. I always use Barred Rock males, but I have several breeds of hens, chiefly Barred Rocks, for general purposes. Black Langshans for the meat and Columbian Wyandottes for laying. Every once in a while I get a setting of some other breed.

"The roosters I buy or raise from 'bought' eggs serve just a year and then are sold or traded. We eat the young roosters related to the flock. And the hens are usually gotten rid of after the second year.

"I carry at least five pullets over every winter, and in summer there are usually around two hundred chickens. The roosters, one to every dozen hens, run with them all the year. The pullets in these winter batches will lay in the fall, and set next winter—there's always one ready to set about the time I need her.

"I have a special feeding rules. I just give them a variety. In the winter they get plenty of black or red pepper in bran mash twice a week, and plenty of warm water. And I turn 'em loose in the forty-foot lot—they must scratch and roam a bit to keep healthy and happy. I'm careful about feeding the young chicks, for too early feeding causes more losses than anything else. I leave the hens and chicks right on the best for twenty-four hours after hatching; then I let them run for another twenty-four—until they are forty-eight hours old—before giving them anything to eat. And no wet food then. Their first food is dry—oatmeal flakes or crackers."

The Murphys have done all this on a forty-foot "farm"—a vacant lot next to the one on which their house stands.

GIANT SELLS HIS OWN COFFIN

Undertaker Would Avoid Inconvenience to Friends.

Birmingham, Ala.—Sam Foley, a Birmingham undertaker, is 6 feet 6 inches tall. Several years ago, when he was ill, he had built a special giant coffin for himself.

A few days ago a neighbor, an inch or two taller than Foley, was killed. Nowhere could a coffin be secured to fit him. And so it came about that Sam Foley had to give up his coffin for the occasion.

BOY ATTACKED BY HAWK; FATHER SAVES HIS LIFE

Parent Goes to Rescue With Ax After Bird Fastens Talons in Lad's Face.

Milford, Del.—A hungry hawk nearly killed a small son of L. N. Horsey, a farmer near here. The bird was eating two chickens. Horsey started to get his gun. Meanwhile, his son, Edward, 8 years old, ran into the poultry yard and threw snowballs at the hawk. The bird turned on the boy. It sank its talons into his face and began digging him with his bill. The lad fought back as best he could, but the battle was all in favor of the hawk. The youngster's screams brought his father with an ax. Horsey slashed the hawk and broke its wing. He finally killed it.

Measures His Money As Farmer Would

Bridgeton, N. J.—Benjamin Bonham, a storekeeper of this city, has the unusual hobby of collecting pennies. Not only does he procure all of them he can, but he often uses them in returning change to customers. He paid one bill of $44 in pennies, and the persons who sought to buy postage stamps or small articles for the sake of getting a ten dollar bill cashed were often pestered by receiving their change in a paper bag—all pennies.

Bonham measures his money as a farmer would—by the bushel. He declares he has a bushel of one-cent coins and says there are exactly 53,942 of them. He counted them himself and enjoyed the experience.

Helpful Beauty Hints

Some Valuable Information On the Skin—What to Do for Roughness in Hair—Good Points for the Stout Girl—To Develop Arms and Shoulders—To Live in Perfect Health.

Live up stairs if you wish to be in good health! "Up how many flights?" Only one flight of seven steps. I will describe them.

First Step—Eat wheat, oats, corn, fruits, beef and mutton, plainly cooked in moderate quantity, and but two meals a day.

Third Step—Exercise freely in the open air.

Fourth Step—Retire early and rise early.

Fifth Step—Wear flannel next your skin every day of the year, and so dispense your dress that your limbs shall be kept warm. Bathe frequently.

Sixth Step—Live in the sunshine. Let your bedroom be one which receives a flood of light, and spend your days either out in the sunlight or in a room which is well lighted.

Seventh Step—Cultivate a cheerful temper. Seek the society of jolly people. Absolutely refuse to worry, and above all don't be afraid to laugh. Go up this flight of stairs. Live above. Sickness cannot crawl up there. Disease prowls about in the basement, rarely does it get "up stairs."

Would Like to Get Thin.

Will you please tell me how to get thin? I weigh 139 pounds and am only 16 years old. Please tell me what to eat and what not to eat. Is bathing good? Are oranges and bananas fattening?

What is good for freckles? N. Y. If you had given me your measurements, including your height, I would be able to tell you whether or not you should weigh 139 pounds. However, taking it for granted that you should not, I will advise you to diet. Eat little or no white bread, drink no milk or cream, avoid all sweet and starchy foods. Bananas are fattening because they contain so much starch, but oranges and lemons may be eaten, for they have tendency to reduce the weight.

Physical exercise is the best thing to decrease the weight. It quickens the respiration and increases the quantity of oxygen taken into the lungs. Oxygen consumes carbon, which is thus prevented from being converted into fat.

Applications of buttermilk are very good for removing freckles.

To Develop Arms and Shoulders.

Will you kindly publish some method of fattening the arms and shoulders, and also a way to get rid of "gooseflesh" on the arms?

Is there any way to make the eyelashes grow long? CLAUDE.

To develop the arms and shoulders, massage them every night with cocoa butter, and exercise in the morning with dumbbells.

I cannot tell you what to do to get rid of gooseflesh, for in each case the cause of it may be slightly different and therefore each case may need a different treatment. Sometimes it is caused by the poor condition of the blood, and then again by improper circulation. I advise you to consult a physician and have him prescribe.

If you will apply vaseline to the edge of the eyelids it will increase the growth of the eyelashes. Be sure that the vaseline is pure, so that if any should happen to touch the eye itself no harm will be done.

For Rough Hair.

When there is a roughness in the hair and it fails to grow it should be brushed with a brush having stiff pig bristles, which reach the scalp but do not scratch it. The brushing should be done at night, first applying a few drops of sweet almond oil to the scalp with the tips of the fingers, massaging it well. This massaging is not rubbing, but a sort of pinching process, where the thumbs and finger tips are placed about three inches apart and then brought together at intervals all over the head. Pass the brush with long even strokes clear from the roots to the end of the hair, and give at least 50 light strokes, then pass the palms over the hair from the scalp down. When a shampoo is needed, add a teaspoonful of glycerine to the rinsing water and dry the hair in the wind and sun when possible, and never with the heat.

For Irritated Skin.

Many women are quite unfortunate in the summer in that their skin becomes irritated with the warm weather. There are several soothing applications to reduce the inflammation. One of these is bicarbonate of soda made into a strong solution. A tablespoonful of soda to about half a pint of water is an excellent mixture, and the applications should be used cold. The wash should be allowed to dry in the skin. Oxide of zinc ointment is both cooling and healing. Warm water and castile soap should be used, with an old piece of soft muslin as a wash cloth. It is often best to dust the face with talcum powder. If the skin is subject to chafing use a great deal of the powder. Cream of tartar water is cooling and it is mixed the same way as the soda.

Distressed.—The electric needle is the only way by which superfluous hair can be permanently removed. There is no danger attached to this treatment.

DOUBLY PROVEN.

Greencastle Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

This Greencastle citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit.

The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit. George W. Wood, farmer, Greencastle, says: "For the past ten or twelve years I had disordered kidneys. I suffered from severe pains in my back and about four years ago I was in bad shape. I was hardly able to bear the pain in my back and a too frequent desire to pass the kidney secretions caused me annoyance. I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills at Jones, Stevens Co.'s Drug store and less than one box relieved me. I am now well."

Confirmed Proof.

Later Mr. Wood said: "Doan's Kidney Pills are a fine remedy. I willingly confirm all I said in my former public statement, recommending them."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy, get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Wood had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

ELECTIVE AFFINITIES.

An Excerpt from Artemus Ward of Contemporaneous Appositeness.

The excentric female clutched me frantically by the arm and hollered: "You air mine, O you air mine!"

"Scarcely," I sed, endeavorin to git loose from her. But she clung to me and sed:

"You air my Affinity!"

"What upon arth is that?" I shouted.

"Dost thou not know?"

"No, I doestnot!"

"Listen, man, & I'll tell ye!" sed the strange female: "for years I have yearned for thee. I knowed thou wast in the world, sunshades, tho I didn't know where. My hart sed he would cum and I took courage. He has cum — he's here — you air him — you air my Affinity. O, 'tis too much!" and she sobbed agin.

"Yes," I ansered, "I think it is a darn site too much!"

"Hast thou not yearned for me?" she yelled, ringin' her hands like a female play-actor.

"Not a yearn!" I bellered at the top of my voice, throwin' her away from me.

Artemus Ward, His Book: Among the Free-Lovers.

His Grump.

"For years and years," groused the Old Dodger, in his usual pessimistic way, "we have been sending missionaries to the Chinese—plank-shaped and tub-shaped ones, both with side-whiskers, who spake in nasal tones and acted with the chastened intolerance of hyenas; young, dried-up ones with weak eyes and weaker intellects; slimy, sliding ones, who were gathering material from which to lecture and with which to furnish a house or two when they got back; old-maid ones that looked like flying-machines or old-fashioned churns, just as it happened; and a glorious list of others, all of whom needed the money and cost us a great deal. And, still, in spite of our benevolence to themward, the ungrateful Chinese 'pear to be just as unregenerate and almost as peculiar as they were in the first place. What say?"

Professional Query.

Among the papers of R. H. Stoddard that Ripley Hitchcock edited there is a letter which Oliver Wendell Holmes, the poet-physician, is said to have received. This letter was written many years ago by an ignorant country practitioner, and it is interesting because it shows the low level to which in the early part of the last century, it was possible for medical education to fall.

The letter, verbatim, follows:

"Dear dock I have a pashunt whose physical slines shoe that the whipline is ulcerated of and his lung hav drop-ped into his stomach. He is unabel to swaller and I fear his stomach toobe is gone. I have giv him everything without effeck his Father is wealthy homble and influenshul. He is an active member of the M. E. church and God noes I don't want too loose him wot shall I do?"

Poor Uncle Ed.

A Baltimore man was recently showing his nice new opera hat to his little nephew, and when he caused the top-piece to spring open three or four times the youngster was delighted.

A few days thereafter the uncle, during a visit to the same household, brought with him a silk hat of the shiny, non-collapse kind. When he was about to leave the house, he encountered the aforesaid youngster running down the hall with what looked like a black accordion.

"Uncle Ed," observed the boy, "this one goes awfully hard. I had to sit on it; but even then I couldn't get it more than half-shut."

UNAVOIDABLE DELAY.

"Dotte's case of brain fever lasted a long time, didn't it?"

"Yes, the germs lost a lot of time finding his brain."

How Strange.

A woman who visited the British museum recently inquired of an attendant: "Have you no skull of Cromwell? I have been looking all around for a skull of Oliver Cromwell."

"No, madam," replied the attendant. "We've never had one."

"How very odd!" she exclaimed; "they have a fine one in the museum at Oxford."

A Shifted Burden.

"So you could that miserable old mule of yours?"

"Yassir," replied Mr. Erastus Pinkley; "foh real money."

"Doesn't it weigh on your conscience?"

"Well, boss, I's done had dat mule on my mind so long, it's kind of a relief to change off an' git him on my conscience."

Division.

"The automobile is rapidly dividing the public into two classes."

"Yes; the quick or the dead."

MAKES LIVING BY RAISING VIOLETS

Michigan Woman Has Good Annual Income From Growing Dainty Flowers

STARTED WITH $2,500 OUTLAY

From First Her Plant Has Been Successful and She Has State Reputation.

Lansing, Mich.—Violet culture—especially the large double violet—is having its own troubles these days, and to find anyone who is succeeding when so many are abandoning the business is like feeling the proverbial "needle in a hay-mow."

It was a pleasure a few weeks ago to stop off at the little town of Lawton, Mich., and visit Miss Isabel Bitley and her violet greenhouse.

Miss Bitley's father died when she was only 15 years of age and her mother when she was 20. Being then the only child living she was left with out a home.

One day, while standing in a florist's store admiring a bunch of violets, the thought came to her: "I wonder if I could grow violets." Once the idea had taken hold of her, she spared no effort in equipping herself with the necessary knowledge regarding the culture peculiar to the violet.

In the spring of 1909, with her small savings of $1,700, she made the venture. Her total outlay for one and a quarter acres of land and her present greenhouse, 24x110, was $2,500. This left her, when ready to do business, with considerable indebtedness.

It was thus that this plucky woman launched out into this very precarious branch of horticulture with the courage born of necessity.

From the first her work has been successful. She is, however, a most painstaking and methodical grower. Nothing that insures the right conditions is neglected. Her methods are simple rather than complicated, but are followed scrupulously. Only those who understand the peculiar and insistent demands of this little plant can fully realize the exacting life she leads.

Miss Bitley grows only the old reliable Marie-Louise variety. Directly after Easter cuttings are taken from the old plants for the next season's crop. The earth is removed from one end of one of the benches to the depth of two and one-half inches filled in with sharp, clean sand. In this the cuttings are placed for rooting, being set about two inches apart each way. When the old plants are through blooming, they are thrown out, and the soil down to six or eight inches below the surface is removed, and then refilled with decayed sod and well rotted barnyard fertilizer.

Early in June the cuttings, which by that time have nice, clean roots, are set into their permanent beds.

During all the growing season, that is, up to about October, the plants must be syringed very frequently to daunt the red spider, which is one of the most formidable foes of the violet. To keep off other insects the house is treated with hydrocyanic acid gas every two weeks in summer and once a month in winter.

Once in the early fall and once again late in November Miss Bitley spreads a thin coating of well-rotted barnyard fertilizer over all the benches. This insures bloom and foliage of a dark rich color.

The violet plant begins to produce the first of October, continuing to increase in quantity till late in March, when the ravage of the sun's heat begins to tell on the bloom until, by the first of May the blooms will be nearly, or quite gone.

Miss Bitley bunches the bloom in flat-topped bunches of fifty, with a conventional row of leaves around them. For the wholesale trade each bunch has its stems wound with wet paper, then oil paper.

EARLY FURNITURE RETURNS

Horsehair Chairs, Landseer Engravings and Wax Fruit and Flowers in London Shops.

London—A sign of relief went up a quarter of a century ago when the ugly furniture and ornaments of the early and mid-Victorian era went out of fashion and horsehair-covered furniture was replaced by better designs and comfortable leather and stuff coverings, and people began to look around them for less hideous decorations for their rooms.

Nowadays, however, Victorian things seem to be returning to favor, and most of the small dealers in antiques are stocking them to a large extent.

The early Victorian drawing-room chairs, inlaid with mother of pearl and having gilt designs, are fetching quite high prices, and the mahogany and walnut work-tables which the present generation remembers their grandmothers using, and given a place of honor in the window.

Baskets of wax flowers and fruit under glass and white stone figures and vases are also in demand, and, without their glass covers, find a place in the collector's cabinet. The copper breakfast service and hot-water kettles are much sought after.

The hideous early Victorian mahogany and horsehair furniture also has returned. It disappeared because the mahogany was used for making the popular reproductions of Chippendale and Sheraton chairs.

PERSONAL

The Herald will appreciate reports of social events, accounts of visits or any other items of local interest. Phone 65.

President Grose, of the university, is in St. Louis on business today.

Harry Martin, of Cloverdale, was here on business today.

Mrs. Mitchell Tillotson spent the day in Indianapolis.

Mrs. E. H. Shields visited friends at Amo today.

Miss Kathryn Moore and Miss Genevieve Moore spent the day in Indianapolis.

The Fortnightly Club will meet next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock with Miss Pearl O'Hair.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Denny are spending the week-end with their sons, Samuel W. Denny and Charles A. Denny of Indianapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Bowen of the Commercial Hotel went to North Salem at noon today to attend the funeral of their nephew, Jesse Bowen, who was killed in the auto accident east of town Thursday evening. The funeral was held at the North Salem Christian Church this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Bowen of the Commercial Hotel will go to New Mayville tomorrow to attend the funeral of Mrs. Ernest Allen, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Bowen. Mrs. Allen, who was 30 years old, died on Friday at her home in Brooklyn, Morgan county.

Indications are that the membership in the DePauw Athletic Union will be increased over that of last year, according to a statement today of Heber Ellis, who at present is engaged in a canvas for new members. The membership last year included about seventy local business men and Mr. Ellis expects that at least 75 or 80 men will join the union for the coming school year. The fee of $5.00 entitles the holder of the union card to free admission to all contests staged on McKee field.

The official board of the Presbyterian church has received word from the Rev. Thomas Younger of Ligonier, saying that he will accept the pastorate of the local church tendered him several days ago. Rev. Younger's resignation as pastor of the Ligonier church will be considered by the meeting of the Indianapolis Presbytery to be held about the middle of the month and it is expected that he will be able to take up his duties here about November 1.

Amansa Taber, of Cloverdale, transacted business here today.

Mrs. Robert W. Hamrick spent the day in Indianapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Homer, of near Putnamville, are the parents of a baby daughter born this morning.

M. D. Ricketts and Robert Newgent will go to Indianapolis this evening to hear William Jennings Bryan, who will speak at a big Democratic rally.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Knoll and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woods have returned to their homes in this city after a motor trip through the southern part of the state. They visited at Vincennes and Sullivan and several small towns in that vicinity. They heard William Jennings Bryan, Secretary of State, make a political address at Vincennes Friday.

Otis E. Guley, of Danville, Progressive candidate for Congress from the Fifth Congressional District, and Ulysses S. Young of this city, candidate for representative on the Bull Moose ticket, will speak at Portland Mills this evening. A number of local politicians will accompany them to Portland Mills and several automobiles will make the trip.

The body of Anthony Feil, who was killed early Thursday morning by a Vandavia train a short distance west of Reelsville, was buried in the potter's field in Forest Hill cemetery this morning. A letter from Mary Feil, of Pittsburgh, sister of the deceased, received Thursday by Undertaker A. B. Hanna, asked that this be done as she is a working girl and could not afford to stand the expenses of burial. The county will pay for the burial.

The sewer ditching machine in its work excavating on Jackson street Friday afternoon uncovered a portion of the tracks of the old street car system which was operated here about 25 years ago from the Monon and Big Four station to the Vandavia station. In front of the residence of Elijah Grantham on north Jackson street about a dozen walnut trees were uncovered and removed from the ground. The older residents of the city will remember that about 25 or 30 years ago Greencastle was the proud possessor of the street car system, and the cars were pulled by horses and mules. The ditching machine has removed only the stone surface from Jackson street and the track was found a foot under the ground. When the machine returns to the corner of Liberty street and starts south to dig the trench 9 or 10 feet deep the trees will have to be chopped out before the work can be completed. All are in good condition and will cause the contractors much trouble removing them. The sewer work is at a standstill at the present time on account of the heavy rains which fell Friday and Friday night.

Russell Newgent, of Indianapolis, will spend Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newgent, on east Anderson street.

Tom Allee and Dalby Collins, of Bainbridge, were in Greencastle this morning to attend the funeral of the late Claude Hixon.

The Kappa Alpha Theta sorority will initiate the following sophomores of the university tonight: Lillian Hays, Helen Kelley, Justine Wilson, Opal Cording, Helen Feldecamp, Mary Williams, Esther Campbell, Florence Hastings and Helen Marrott.

A beautiful display of dahlias was on exhibition in the window of the Allen Bros. Dry Goods store today and many people inspected and admired the specimens. The flowers are of a very large size and peculiar shades and shapes make them very attractive. They were raised by Mrs. Perry Branson, who resides several miles south of this city. A beautiful bouquet of the same flower raised by George Crump of this city was exhibited.

Frank O'Brien, who claimed that his home was in Minneapolis, Minn., was arrested by Policeman Jack Maloney on the east side of the square at 10 o'clock Friday night. O'Brien had taken freely of a bottle of whiskey and he was sleeping off the effects of the "booze." He was taken to jail and spent the night with Sheriff Theodore Boes. When arraigned before Mayor Cooper this morning he pleaded guilty to the charge and was released when he promised to get out of town.

The sophomore class of the Greencastle high school entertained Friday evening with a party in the high school building. About fifty were present and a very enjoyable evening was spent. Wilbur Donner and Wilbur Grose furnished a clever exhibition of slight-of-hand performances which was very amusing and entertaining. Each class is allowed to have two class parties each school year and the party Friday evening was the sophomore social event of the first semester.

WELCOMES W. C. T. U.

OF STATE TO BRAZIL
BRAZIL, Ind., Oct. 9.—Mayor John J. Jones, on behalf of the city, tonight delivered an address of welcome to the delegates and visitors, numbering 600, to the forty-first annual convention of the W. C. T. U. of Indiana, which opened here this morning. The Rev. Homer F. Cooke spoke on behalf of the church, Prof. C. C. Coleman on behalf of the schools and Mrs. Dora I. Keith, county president, on behalf of the local W. C. T. U. Mrs. Luella F. McWhirter of Indianapolis responded. The address of the evening was made by Elizabeth F. Stanley on "The Cause That Needs Assistance."

The oldest and the youngest delegates were on the rostrum at one time this morning. Mrs. Caroline Edgerton of Dunrieth is the eldest. She attended the first W. C. T. U. convention ever held. John Laughmiller of Clay county son of Mrs. John Laughmiller is the youngest, being less than two months. He was carried to the rostrum and a white ribbon was tied around his wrist.

Prof. Newton Wray delivered a strong address on temperance and woman's suffrage, which by vote of the convention will be printed and circulated.

The reports of the various field workers and heads of the departments showed a healthy growth in this field of the W. C. T. U. Organizations were reported in eighty-one counties last year, but since then Fulton, Ripley and Starke have dropped out.

Obituary.

Wm. Alvah Jenkins was born near Liston, Hendricks County, Indiana, on January 29, 1873, and departed this life at his home in east Putnam County, October 5, 1914, at the age of 41 years, 8 months and 6 days. He was united in marriage to Miss Stella M. Owens on February 21, 1905. To this union were born three children—Mary Belle, now eight; Samuel Andrew, age five, and William Alva, Jr., three and one-half months. In addition to his wife and these three children he leaves a father and mother and a large circle of friends. His illness was extended through several months, the fatal malady being tuberculosis. He longed to live for his loved ones, but was reconciled to die when he knew he could not live. All was done for him that money and loving hands could do both to make him comfortable and to preserve and prolong his life. But all was of no avail. He made his peace with God and all was well. The funeral service was conducted in the Christian church at Fillmore by the Rev. Bert DeWitt Beck, pastor of Locust Street church in Greencastle. The burial was in the Fillmore cemetery.

To Start Sale Earlier.

It's coming.
Cheery little Christmas stickers bearing the latest picture of Santa Claus and the insignia of the American National Red Cross will be on sale earlier this year than ever before according to an announcement made today from state headquarters, 203 Public Savings Bldg., 147 E. Market St., Indianapolis.

Organization of local committees in every city and town in Indiana already is under way. In communities where an active anti-tuberculosis society exists, it will be made the local agent under an unusually liberal commission contract which will enable it to spend practically the entire amount received in local work against the "white plague." Arrangements were completed recently by which clubs connected with the Indiana Federation of Clubs will handle the seals in communities where no active anti-tuberculosis society exists. Ninety per cent. of all funds received through the sale of seals this year will remain in Indiana. The other ten per cent will be sent to the American Red Cross to pay for the printing of the seals and advertising matter used in connection with the campaign. The surplus of the ten per cent. is used in a national educational propaganda which tends to arouse the nation to the need for preventive measures. That the money spent in Indiana from the proceeds of the 1913 Red Cross seal campaign is bringing results is shown by the action of several counties which recently provided for local appropriations to be used in combating tuberculosis.

Every man, woman and child in Indiana will be urged to provide for an unusually liberal expenditure for seals this year. "Put a Red Cross seal on every package or letter you mail in December" will be the slogan sent out. Organizations and individuals desiring to assist in the campaign are urged to notify headquarters, 203 Public Savings Bldg., Indianapolis.

Card of Thanks.

We take this means of expressing our deepest regards to our relatives and friends for their many kind acts, sympathetic words and beautiful flowers given during the late illness and death of Mrs. Dora Reeves. Nor must we forget to thank the ministers, singers, pall-bearers and all others who so willingly assisted us in making our sorrows easier to bear.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas and Family.

A False Statement.

The Indianapolis Star of last Saturday contained the following: "Announcement comes from Winamac, Pulaski county, that the editor of the Democrat of that place has come out in support of B. B. Shively, progressive nominee for representative in the eleventh district."

Acquaintances of the editors of the Democrat here at home know that the above is an absolute falsehood. To others who may be misled by the publication of the above "announcement" it can be positively stated that the editors of the Democrat have NOT come out for B. B. Shively, but they continue to support as heretofore the democratic nominee for congressman from this district—the able, efficient and loyal George W. Rouch.

The Star was requested, as soon as the publication of the "announcement," to print also our denial of the statement, but the Star has not yet shown the fairness to do so; at least it has not appeared in the editions of that paper reaching Winamac—Pulaski Democrat.

Arthur J. Hamrick, chairman of the Democratic Central Committee of Putnam county, and Attorney Matt J. Murphy went to Lebanon this afternoon to hear Hon. William Jennings Bryan, secretary of state, who is making a campaign tour of Indiana. They will join the Bryan party to go to Indianapolis this evening where a big rally will be held. A number of Democrats from this city will go to Indianapolis tonight to hear Bryan.

PROGRESSIVE SPEAKER PLAYS OLD PARTIES

That the Republican party is not to be feared as a contestant in the present campaign, but that the real fight for supremacy is between the Progressives and the Democrats is the theory of W. A. Pierson, of New Albany, Progressive candidate for Secretary of State, who spoke in the assembly room of the court house Friday evening.

Mr. Pierson does not consider the G. O. P. a factor in the race. He predicted that the Progressives, this fall, would administer to the Republican party, one of the most humiliating defeats ever given a political party in the state. He said that many reports published in state newspapers relative to the strength of the Republican party are misleading and untrue, and are published only to suit the purpose of the ring leaders of that machine ridden party.

A fair sized crowd was present to hear the state candidate, but much enthusiasm was shown throughout the meeting. Mr. Pierson's attacks were on both the Democratic and Republican parties, and no leniency was shown for either.

He said that Governor Ralston's keynote speech in Tomlinson Hall was the bugle call for a Democratic retreat and alleged that their retreat was plainly visible. He charged the Republican administration with extravagance, and said it had violated the state laws when it used the state sinking fund for current expenses.

Both the Republican and Democratic parties were charged with the violation of the statutes. The speaker said that ex-Governor Hanly admitted that the state was in bankruptcy when he pleaded the case against the appropriation of money for the Vincennes university, shortly after he had gone out of office, as the chief executive of the state.

Otis E. Guley, Progressive candidate for Congress from the Fifth District, was present and made a thirty minute speech in introducing Mr. Pierson. In his talk he referred to the Terre Haute situation and denounced the machine rule in that district. He stated that the bipartisan rule had caused the rotten political conditions to exist in that vicinity. He said the support of the bipartisan machine would maintain the existing conditions. He also put the question: "Why did the Republicans send out invitations to 'come back home,' if, as the Republicans claim, 10 per cent. of the Progressive vote of two years ago, has already gone to the G. O. P. ranks?"
