NIGHT SCHOOL IN DOMESTIC SCIENCE

CITY SCHOOL BOARD IN MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT DECIDES TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF AID OFFERED BY STATE IN ESTABLISHING VOCATIONAL SCHOOL FOR GREENCASTLE LADIES—INSTRUCTION UNDER PRACTICAL DRESSMAKER.

TO NAME BOARD SOON

Acting under authority of the state vocational education law of 1913 which provides for money to help in carrying on the work, the Greencastle school board in its regular meeting Tuesday night made preliminary provisions for the establishment here of a night school in sewing and cooking. The classes in the school will be free to those desiring the work and instruction will be given in sewing and cooking by ladies competent in these lines of vocational work. Two classes in each department will be held each week.

The night school will be managed by a board of ladies soon to be appointed by the school board. The board will consist of three members, with the domestic science teacher and the superintendents of schools as ex officio members.

The idea of establishing such a school here was brought to the attention of the school board by Superintendent H. A. Henderson, who has inspected similar schools in other towns of the state. The legislature of 1913 provided for vocational education schools by levying a tax of one cent on all the taxable property of the state. The money is collected by the state and redistributed to vocational schools to the extent of two-thirds of the amount spent for current expenses in maintaining such schools. These schools are not a part of the public school system and are open to citizens over 16 years of age who are not attending the regular day schools. As a matter of convenience they usually are held at night. These schools may be for domestic science, manual training or trade schools. The vocational education law did not take effect until the first of last September. Since that time a number of cities have been establishing such schools mostly along lines of domestic science.

Greencastle has an excellent opportunity for such a night school, according to the opinion of the school board. The domestic science building is equipped well for that purpose and the establishment of the night school would add no expense other than the salaries of the instructors and the cost of supplies used.

According to Superintendent Henderson, Greencastle now is paying into the state $240 a year to help maintain schools of this kind in the state and it is by the establishment of a school here that this money may be returned.

Reports from cities where schools have been established are that more people care to take advantage of the opportunities offered than the accommodations allow. At Muncie one school, established only a month ago, has grown until five have been organized. It is believed that Greencastle ladies will be as quick to recognize the opportunities as ladies in other cities.

Mr. Daggy, since leaving Greencastle, has gained a national reputation as a speaker and a large crowd should greet him this evening.

The body of Mrs. Florence Singleton, who died at her home on south Locust street shortly after noon Tuesday, will be taken to Bloomington, Ill., the former home of the deceased, at 9:10 o'clock Thursday morning. Rev. Beck, pastor of the Locust Street Methodist church, will accompany the body and the relatives of the deceased and will have charge of the funeral services to be held at Bloomington.

CLOVERDALE LAD KILLED BY TRAIN

RAY ORRELL, AGE 9, SON OF MR. AND MRS. JAMES ORRELL, STRUCK BY MONON PASSENGER TRAIN, WHEN HE, IN SPIRIT OF BRAVADO, ATTEMPTED TO RUN IN FRONT OF ENGINE.

NECK IS DISLOCATED

When, in a spirit of bravado, Ray Orrell, age 9 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Orrell of Cloverdale, attempted to run across the tracks in front of the northbound evening Monon passenger train, at Cloverdale, late Tuesday evening, the lad was struck by the engine and killed.

The accident occurred at the crossing near the Croston Mill, in Cloverdale, and was witnessed by several men who were at the mill. The lad was struck by the side of the engine pilot and hurled against the rails of the side tracks. His neck was dislocated when his head struck the rail and his death was immediate. Coroner C. T. Zaring visited the scene of the accident shortly after it happened. Dr. Zaring found upon examination that in addition to his neck being dislocated, the lad's back and one arm were broken and his skull punctured.

The lad, it is said, often had been warned to stop his practice of running in front of approaching trains. However, he did not heed the warnings, and Tuesday evening he waited just a second too long, before starting to run across the track. His body was lifeless when picked up by the men who had witnessed the accident.

The lad's father is employed at a stone quarry near Cloverdale.

COUNCIL ACCEPTS THE SEWER BONDS

The bonds furnished by the Foulkes Construction company for the completion of the sewer system in Greencastle and the completion of the improvement work on south Indiana street, were approved and accepted by the city council at its regular meeting in the council chamber at the fire department Tuesday evening.

The sewer bond of $30,000 was signed by George P. Foulkes, of the Foulkes Construction company, the firm going its own bond. The Southern Surety company of Muskogee, Okla., furnished bond in the sum of $2,500 for the completion of south Indiana street improvement. A maintenance bond of $500 was also approved and accepted on the south Indiana street job. The sidewalks are guaranteed to stand wear for five years and in order to be protected the city requires the maintenance bond of $500.

A report from O. L. Reeves, superintendent of the Greencastle Water company, to the council gave the monthly bill for water consumed at the water troughs over the city. Each of the four troughs in the various parts of the city consumes 3,000 gallons of water each 24 hours, which would make a consumption of 1,095,000 gallons each year. The monthly consumption for one trough would be 9,250 gallons, making a bill of $18.25.

The council decided that this expenditure for the water troughs was too great and ordered the water company to install faucets on each of the water troughs in use, making it necessary for the people who water their horses to turn the water on and off as it is consumed. The troughs which are in use at the present time are at the south end near the Harris Mills, east Franklin street at the Vestal barn and north Jackson street near the Monon station. The water troughs on Market street and the hitch lot and the two bubbling fountains on the square have been taken out and will be used no more.

The Public Utility Commission has assured the city council that the water company will purchase the meters from the water consumers. The commission considered the matter and (Continued on Page Four.)

DR. SHIMER ADDRESSES THE PUTNAM MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

Dr. William Shimer, of Indianapolis, was the speaker at a meeting of the Putnam County Medical Association held in the office of Dr. W. W. Tucker Tuesday night. The meeting was largely attended and members of the association report a very profitable meeting.

Dr. Shimer, who is superintendent of the Laboratory of Hygiene at Indianapolis, took as his subject, "Diphtheria." In the treatment of this subject the speaker told principally of the manner in which this disease is treated in the laboratory with which he is connected. The address was a lengthy one and the subject under discussion was treated thoroughly.

Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Hutcheson left this afternoon for Chicago where Dr. Hutcheson, who is the local surgeon for the Monon railway, will attend a meeting of the American Railway Surgeons' Association now in session in that city. Dr. and Mrs. Hutcheson will return to Greencastle Friday night.

Charles Harshbarger and Joseph Bowen, of North Salem, were in the city on business today. The latter is the father of Jesse Bowen, who was killed in an automobile accident at the Vandalia railroad crossings several days ago. Mr. Harshbarger is the father-in-law of the victim of the accident.

BRYAN'S PICTURE OF BEVERIDGE AND MILLER INVADING MEXICO.

Here are one or two things that happened in Indiana at the time when the very serious Mexican situation was confronting this country and when all patriotic people of the United States should have been doing all they could to uphold the hands of the government at Washington. The president and his cabinet, supported by a senate and a house in full accord, was using every effort to prevent the sacrifice of thousands of lives of sturdy young Americans in a useless war.

The Indiana Progressive state convention adopted its platform, framed by the hand of Albert J. Beveridge, candidate for United States Senator, and wishing he were there then that he might press his views to influence the acts of the president, and here is what the platform said:

"The government of the United States has been flouted and made ridiculous in the eyes of the whole world. We condemn the so-called policy of 'watchful waiting' pursued by the president in regard to Mexico."

There was a whole lot more about its being "contrary to the wishes of the people" and the like, and Beveridge wanted no one to mistake his personal position in the matter and so he made a speech on the subject and said "watchful waiting" was simply "reckless drifting," and the convention laughed and figured what a fine campaign cry this was going to make. Beveridge further wept oratorically because "Theodore Roosevelt" was not president to move vigorously in dealing with Mexico."

Then the Republican state convention met and with the aid of Hugh Th. Miller, who wanted the people to know what he would do if he were Senator, let loose this bit of wisdom in its platform, deciding what ought to be: "We emphatically disapprove the course of democratic administration toward Mexico." But it was merely negative and these wise men had nothing to suggest.

Senators Kern and Shively came from Washington and made speeches in defense of the "watchful waiting" policy of President Wilson, urging the people to stand back of him and see the wisdom of his course. Senator Shively as acting chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee was one of the strongest and most outspoken defenders of the president at all times. Then came William Jennings Bryan to Indiana only last week to plead with the people of Indiana to vote for every democratic candidate presented to the voters of the state in November as an endorsement of everything the national government is doing, and as one of his strongest arguments for returning Senator Shively and thirteen Democratic Congressmen he reviewed the Mexican situation, concluding as follows:

"President Wilson began his policy of 'watchful waiting.' He said that instead of resorting to arms he would use 'moral force.' And how the Republican papers laughed at 'watchful waiting,' and how they jeered at 'moral force.' Having a Democratic senate and house they stood back of him and he pushed and pushed, until he pushed Huerta out of Mexico and across the Atlantic and when Huerta went across the Atlantic he carried the hope of the Republican party in his satchel. Where, I ask you would this nation have been today, had your Republican leaders been allowed to advise a Democratic president? And where would there be any nation to whom these struggling European people could look to lead a movement toward peace, if our nation were engaged in war with Mexico? Ah, my friends, it would be more than sacrificing your sons on foreign soil in an unnecessary war. It might have been the spark that would ignite the powder magazines of the old world, and then our President would have had to bear the blame for a world-wide war."

Beveridge and Miller have declared where they would have stood in this most important crisis. They wanted war with Mexico.

But they would not enlist. They would let your sons do that. Shively has proven where he stood by his strong support of the president. The greatness of the statesman is shown in his ability to decide wisely in advance. It requires no wisdom to endorse and agree with a thing when it has been proven. All the people thank God for Woodrow Wilson and for a senate and a house that stands by him in all constructive things he has done and is doing for the people and they will see that this condition is continued.

GREAT MEETING AT REELSVILLE

The Democratic meeting at the Pleasant Garden school house at Reelsville, Tuesday evening, at which Dick Miller, of Indianapolis, was the speaker, was one of the largest and most enthusiastic Democratic meetings ever held there. The school house was crowded to capacity, every seat being filled and every foot of available standing space being filled.

Andrew Durham of this city served as chairman of the meeting and introduced Mr. Miller, who spoke most entertainingly for an hour. Mr. Miller was followed by C. L. Airhart, William Sutherland, Harry Moore, Joe M. Allen and Andrew Durham, all making short speeches.

Among those who went from Greencastle to attend the meeting were Lawrence Athey, Charley Wood, C. L. Airhart, William Sutherland, Sylvan Vermilion, Reason Larkin, Henry Runyan, Arthur Plummer, Ralph Knoll, Harry Moore, Joe Allen, Theodore Boes, Charley Daggy and Andrew Durham.

Obituary.

Sallie E. Ashby was born April 15, 1852 in Garrett county, Ky., and departed this life September 28, 1914, at her home in Indianapolis. The deceased united with the Christian church when quite young and was immersed by Rev. Eli Pruitt of the Mt. Tabor church. She was married to U. T. Ashley February 8, 1888. To this union were born two sons, Raymond, who preceded her to the spirit land six years ago, and Vernie, who now lives in Indianapolis. Besides the son and husband she leaves three sisters to mourn her loss. They are: Mrs. Lucy Simmons of Fillmore, Mrs. Amanda Johnson of Greencastle, and Mrs. Zola Wood of Indianapolis. She will be sadly missed by these relatives and her many friends. She suffered intensely during the fourteen weeks of her illness and expressed the wish to those who attended her in her last hours that the dear Lord would come and take her home and she would be so glad to join the loved ones gone before. To the dear friend, Mrs. Driscoll, whose loving attentions were untiring to the last, she said: "I can never forget your kindness," showing how much she appreciated her many efforts to relieve her suffering. Call not back the dear departed, Anchored safe where storms are o'er, On the border land we left her, Soon to meet and part no more; Far beyond this world of changes, Far beyond this world of care, We shall find our missing loved one, In our Father's mansion fair.

Special Notice To Taxpayers.

Many will question the amount of their taxes and ask concerning their personal property assessments and land appraisement. Mistakes will occur where the assessment of property and the extending and collecting of taxes are done by as many different officers.

The Treasurer and Auditor will cheerfully correct all mistakes for which they are responsible and the county assessor will explain the assessment of personal property and where possible adjust it in error.

Time is at hand for the paying of Fall taxes. Monday, November 2, is the last day on which taxes can be paid, without the penalty being attached. You soon will find yourself in the Treasurer's office in a great crowd, waiting to get to pay windows. Some will be in a hurry to make certain trains to get home. Why delay and cause yourself as well as the treasurer so much inconvenience?

If the second installment of taxes is not paid within the limit set by law, the taxes become due and delinquent and with penalty is extended by the Auditor and charged to the Treasurer. The state is interested in this extension and the Auditor and Treasurer are both personally liable for any penalties that might be refunded.

Under no circumstances can the Treasurer alter the duplicate. He can make no reduction in taxes and he can not refund money once paid in. Errors must be corrected through the Auditor's office.

As the Treasurer can not know the location of each person's property, tax payers should designate the property on which they wish to pay and see that all property is included in their receipt. If they have land in more than one township or corporation, or desire to pay taxes on lands or lots not in their name, call the Treasurer's attention to the matter carefully examine receipts, see if they describe all property (personal and real) and are otherwise correct before leaving the office, and if any errors are evident have them corrected at once.

The Tax Duplicate is not a transfer book and when, for any year, the Tax Duplicate is made with reference to the property on the first day of March said year the duplicate remains forever unchanged as to showing of property in whose books or prompt recording of deeds to the contrary notwithstanding.

Property will appear in same name of the payment of the second installment as for first. Assignees, Guardians, Administrators and others who pay taxes on property in trust and persons whose taxes are complicated, such as undivided estates, etc., are earnestly requested to settle such taxes before the last few days, as it requires considerable time to make divisions and separate receipts. Thus avoid mistakes which might happen during the rush of the last few days of taxpaying!

"All property, both Real and Personal, shall be liable for the payment of all taxes, penalties, interest and cost charged to the owner thereof in such county, and no partial payment of any such taxes penalties, interest or costs shall discharge or release any part or portion of such property until the whole is paid, which lien shall in no wise be erected or destroyed by any sale or transfer of any such personal property, and shall attach on the first day of April annually for the taxes of such year."

Special Notice.

All Ditch Taxes and Street Improvements must be called for separately.

The taxpayer often has personal property and poll assessed to him separately from his real estate especially when the land is in joint title, and accordingly must have a receipt therefor.

Delinquent taxes must be paid before the current tax.

The Treasurer will not be responsible for penalties and charges on delinquent taxes, resulting from omission of the person, paying such tax to state definitely on what property, in whose name and in what township or corporation it was assessed.

Very Respectfully,
H. H. RUNYAN,
Treasurer Putnam County.

SHAMPOO SHIELD.

Keeps Face Dry and Permits the Wearer to Breathe Freely.

Just at present the shampoo shield designed by a New York man and shown in the illustration is quite fashionable. It is much like the brim of hats now in vogue and will doubtless be popular with the ladies. It will also find favor with any other person who has ever gasped and spluttered during the process of a shampoo while the soapy water ran into his or her eyes and make them smart. This shield is of elliptical shape to fit the contour of the head. It is placed on the head like a hat, with the difference that there is no crown and the hair comes through the top. The shampooer can rub the head of the subject vigorously while the latter may be as much at his ease as if he was merely having his head combed. The flare of the shield brim sends the water entirely clear of the face, which is kept dry, except for a few drops that may trickle down inside of the rim of the shield. This device will eliminate the annoying features of the shampoo to persons who are short of breath.

The average wage of the working woman is $272.04 a year.

The United States had 1,000,000 divorces in the past ten years. Two-thirds of these were granted upon the demand

The women's federated clubs of America claim 5,000 branches, organized in forty-six states, with an aggregate membership of 800,000 women.

The lack of direct political influence constitutes a powerful reason why women's wages have been kept at a minimum. —Carroll D. Wright, ex-Commissioner of Labor.

In Australia, where women vote, the child of a poor widow mother, instead of being taken from her and placed in an institution, is boarded with its mother at the expense of the State.

The number of boys in the high schools of the country in 1905-6 was 305,308; of girls, 417,384. Yet there are those who say "that the ballot for women would but increase the ignorant vote."

According to an Ohio report for 1901, 6,920 women in the three largest cities earned $4.83 a week, worked 57 1-2 hours and paid $2.44 for 1,000 persons depending on them for support.

Chance for Plain Girls.

"It is a great mistake to suppose that beauty cuts a big figure in the employment of stenographers," said a business man of large experience; "the 'pretty typewriter' is a stock phrase of the funny man and the comic papers of the present day, just as the 'pretty governess' was in the 60s, but as a matter of fact good looks are rather a detriment to a woman when applying for a position in an office than otherwise. No one is likely to excel in more than one profession, and since being pretty is a profession in itself the general feeling is that if a woman has succeeded in that she won't be good for much else. The chances are that her brain will be occupied with her poudpoud and her highly polished nails to the exclusion of more important things. Another reason why the pretty stenographer is at a discount is that most of the large business houses employ a woman as a head stenographer, and women are even more apt to look askance at a pretty face than men are. They are in the secret. They know how much—or how little—is apt to be behind it. So, all things considered, the girl with red hair and freckles stands a better chance than the beauty when it comes to seeking employment in a business office."

Children's Bedroom.

Whenever possible white enamel paint should be used for the appointments of the children's bedroom. It shows the dust and allows of washing off with a damp cloth. Screens, toilet tables, beds, furniture and racks cannot accumulate dirt if continuously washed, and the white enamel allows of perfect cleanliness in this respect.

ROYAL HAND IS ILLINOIS TROPHY

Peoria Couple Confident Part of Mummy is That of Princess Thermuthis.

THE GIFT OF HER BROTHER

He Told Sister Getting It Cost Him "as Much as My Head is Worth."

Peoria, Ill.—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Petherbridge, of this city, are confident that they have in their possession "the hand that spanked Moses," the prophet who led the children of Israel out of Egypt.

It is the right hand of a mummy, said to have been severed from the mummified body of Thermuthis, or Neferari, a daughter of Rameses II, who was supposed to have been the oppressor of the Hebrews referred to in Bible history.

The hand, which is in a glass case and kept in a safety deposit vault when the family is away from home, came into the possession of Mrs. Petherbridge upon the death of her brother, Dr. James Bastow, who got the hand while traveling in the land of the Nile. Just how he got the hand is a story that he never told, but he said to his sister that it cost him "as much as his head was worth."

Dr. Bastow was in Cairo when he was invited to accompany a party of British archeologists who had organized an expedition for the purpose of locating the tombs of the Pharaohs. The excavators were successful in unearthing the tombs of ancient monarchs and the mummy of Thermuthis was found. It has not been explained how the right hand came to be severed, but Dr. Bastow came from the Princess.

Four years ago Mr. and Mrs. Petherbridge made a trip around the world. They visited the Egyptian Museum in Cairo, in which the bodies of Rameses II and his daughter Thermuthis are preserved. The visitors tried twice to find out whether the body of the Princess was minus a hand, but the casket was so arranged that only the head and feet were visible and the guide would not permit them to make a close investigation. They did not tell him that they had the hand of the Princess in a safety deposit vault in Peoria.

They were much disappointed but left the Nile confident that the hand in their possession belongs to the ancient mummy of the Princess.

The hand is of normal size and is so artistically wrapped that the lines of the finger nails can be seen through the cloths. Each finger is wrapped separately and this indicates that the body is that of some royal person, Mrs. Petherbridge says. Exposure to the air for 25 years has caused the bandage to turn brown in spots. In the palm of the hand the fiber has shrunk slightly, leaving the bone of the thumb prominent through the bandage.

Only a portion of the Egyptians were permitted to embalm their dead. In this group were three classes. The lowest class wrapped the bodies from head to foot in one long bandage. The middle class of the group were allowed to wrap the arms and legs separately from the trunk but only royalty wrapped fingers and toes separately.

The story of the adoption of Moses by the daughter of Pharaoh is familiar to every Sunday school pupil. She is not named in the Bible story, but historians have agreed that she was Thermuthis, daughter of Rameses II, who generally has been identified as the Pharaoh who ruled from 1300 to 1250 B. C. He was the son of Seti or Sethos and was the third king of the nineteenth dynasty. He was famed as a warrior and builder. His great war was with the Hittites, whom he defeated in the great battle of Syria. He fortified the east of Egypt by erecting a great wall from Heliopolis to Tanis.

In his reign Thebes became the leading city of Egypt. Here he erected the temple known as the Ramesseum with a sitting statue of himself 60 feet high. He was the father of Menephata, under whose reign the exodus of the Hebrews took place. His mummy was discovered near Thebes in 1881 and placed in the museum at Cairo.

Nail in Lung Two Years.

Silver City, N. M.—W. Pitkin Stanley, 39 years old, of Sedalia, Mo., has lived two years with a six-penny nail embedded in his right lung. He swallowed the nail while he was putting up a transom. Recently when he started spitting blood he underwent an X-ray examination, which located the nail. He had feared he had tuberculosis.

Sleeps Hanging to Pole.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—When William P. Weller, a light trimmer in the employ of the Allegheny County Light Company, was seen hanging to a pole by his belt, it was thought he had been electrocuted. When a policeman climbed the pole on a fire ladder to investigate it was found Weller was only sleeping.

THE TRAMP

(By Walt Mason, from Judge)
His hair is long, his breath is strong, his hat is old and battered, his knees are sprung, his nerves unstrung, his clothes are badly tattered, his shoes are worn, his hide's been torn by blows, his face is grimed and yet, and yet, he's a tough old wreck was once some daddy's darling!

He still must hit the ties and grit. A dismal fate is his'n; for if he stops the village cops will slam him in to prison. Some hayseed judge would make him trudge out where the rock pile's lying, to labor there, in his despair, till next year's snows are flying. The women shy when he goes by; with rictus grin they con him. Men give him kicks and hand him bricks and train their shotguns on him. His legs are sprained, his fetlocks strained from climbing highways hilly; it's hard to think this seedy gink was some one's little Willie!

And yet 'tis so. Once, long ago, some dad of him was bragging, and matrons mild surveyed the child and set their tongues a-wagging. "What lovely eyes!" one woman cries. "They look like stripes of heaven!" "And note his hair!" a dame declares. "I've counted six or seven!" "His temper's sweet," they all repeat; "he makes no fuss or bother. He has a smile that's free from guile—he looks just like his father!" Thus women talked as he was rocked to slumber in his cradle; they filled with praise his infant days, poured taffy with a ladle.

And ma and dad, with bosoms glad, planned futures for the creature. "I'll have my way," the wife would say; "the child must be a preacher! His tastes are pure, of that I'm sure," she says, with optimism; "for when he strays around and plays, he grabs the catechism!" "Ah, well," says dad, "the lovely lad will reach great heights—I know it. I have the hope that he'll beat Pope or Byron as a poet."

To give him toys and bring him joys, the savings bank was burgled; folks cried, "Gee whiz! How cute he is!" whenever baby gurgles.

His feet are bare, his matted hair could not be combed with harrows; his garb is weird, and in his beard are bobolinks and sparrows. You'd never think, to see the gink, that ever he had parents! Can it be so that long ago he was somebody's Clarence?

THE PROBLEM OF COLLEGE

Shall we send our boys and girls to college? That is still an open question in the minds of many parents who are not convinced of what they have seen of graduates and undergraduates that the years spent in separations and supposedly study pay. The answer to this question, says the Congressionalist, may often be found in the wish and ambition of the boy or girl. To cross the settled desire of a thoughtful boy must always be a doubtful matter. The real question is whether the untalented and the unambitious should be sent. Many of these may be waked up to ambition in college, but their chances of success in life will be much greater if they enter with a strong initial purpose and desire. It might be well if fathers and mothers were to question their sons and daughters who are nearing the college entrance age to ascertain whether they have given any real thought to what the college opportunity stands for to themselves in particular. If the nebula of childish thinking that goes with so many of the examination could be reduced to definite points of light before entrance it would greatly simplify the task of the colleges and increase the chance of success in life for every student. There was wise father, himself a successful educator of boys, who insisted that his sons should have at least a year's experience in business before they went to college. Their success in various walks of life has simply vindicated this wisdom of his plan.

THE HANDICAP OF THE GROUCH

The man who goes through the world with a grouch, who is always watching for an opportunity to "get square" with somebody whom he thinks has done him an injury, is at a great disadvantage. The desire for revenge acts in the system like a leaven of poison, crippling the brain power and inducing unhappiness. No one can do his best when he has an unkind feeling or resentment in his heart toward his fellow men.

We are always prejudiced against those who have the reputation of being grouchy, or who are of a suspicious disposition. These people make very few friends and are not good "mixers." They often live lonely and sometimes totally isolated lives—especially as they advance in years. No employers want such people around him. He knows they are not business-getters or friend makers, on the contrary, they frequently drive away customers and make trouble among the other employees. In business, if people are not treated civilly they do not take into consideration that the clerks and those who wait upon them may be ill or tired. They expect courtesy and obliging, kindly treatment.

Everybody wants to get away from the cranky, fault-finding, over critical person. We do not like people who are out of tune with the world they live in.

Not many years ago Russia was a strong rival of the United States in the production of petroleum. Now the Russian empire yields only about 65 per cent as much as California alone, and not much more than Oklahoma.

After a woman has been trotting in double harness for a few years, it makes her fretful every time she sees a newly married couple making love.

UNCEASING MISERY.

Some Greencastle Kidney Sufferers Get Little Rest or Comfort.

There is little sleep, little rest, little peace for many a sufferer from kidney trouble. Life is one continual round of pain. You can't rest at night when there's kidney backache. You suffer twinges and "stabs" of pain, annoying urinary disorders, lameness and nervousness. You can't be comfortable at work with darting pains and blinding dizzy spells. Neglect these ailments and serious troubles may follow. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills at the first sign of disorder. Thousands have testified to their merit. Greencastle readers will find convincing proof in the following testimonial:

Mrs. W. M. Sears, South St., Danville, Ind., says: "For some time my kidneys troubled me. The least exposure caused pains in my loins and sides. I felt drowsy and had dizzy spells. On a friend's advice, I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved me at once. Others of my family have taken Doan's Kidney Pills with good results."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Sears had. Foster-McBum Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

IN MEMORY OF COMRADE ALBERT ALLEN.

(By Jesse M. Lee.)

With tear dimmed eyes and with a sorrowing heart, I will try to pay a tribute to the memory of one of my dearest friends, Comrade Albert Allen.

It was an indescribably grievous shock when the sad message came from San Diego that Albert Allen was instantly killed in an automobile accident, on Friday, Oct. 2, 1914, near San Diego. He and I were devoted chums when we were but thirteen years old, since about 1855, and that comradeship increased and ripened throughout his useful life, for nearly half a century. We were playmates in our childhood and boyhood days; attended the same Sunday school and belonged to the same society, the Young America. He, with Will Kervichal, Joseph Donohue, Charles Waggoner, John Rankin and others, organized that society in the old Seminary of historic renown, in about 1856. It wielded a great influence in our boyhood days, better than any other organization I have ever known. Nearly all of the members who were physically able volunteered in the civil war and faithfully served in that bloody conflict until the final victory.

Comrade Albert Allen was a shining star in that Young America society. Sunshine of happiness beamed from his countenance; he was always cheerful in mind, heart and soul. I admired him and loved him as a brother. He was pure minded, earnest, honest, modest and charitable in all things; his life was an example as citizen, friend and neighbor, rarely equalled and never surpassed. It has been my good fortune to intimately know this dear friend for nearly fifty years, and I believe that no evil thought ever found lodgment in his cheery mind; no wrong intent ever entered his lovable heart, nor his discreet tongue ever uttered an untruth. Comrade Albert Allen practiced all those genuine Christian virtues which preeminently marked him as "one among ten thousand." He was one of the choice "nature's noblemen." In the unaffected grace of his daily life he was a devoted son and brother and a loving husband and father, and ever a loyal friend.

After the lapse of many years, it is possible that the name of Albert Allen may be forgotten to this earth, but his good influence will be more lasting than all the towering monuments of brass and stone ever reared to those who have reached the crest of earthly fame. His life example is more to me than all the learned sermons of priest or preacher.

He had so lived and wrought that when Death's summons suddenly came he was "sustained and soothed by an unflinching trust, and approached his grave with the drapery of his couch."

I wish to extend my deepest sympathy to his grief stricken widow, his son and family, and to the brothers and sisters and their families, and I lay this poor tribute of mine upon the newly made grave of one of my dearest and devoted friends, Comrade Albert Allen.

"Requiescat in pace."

With but a few exceptions the students voted to have the holiday changed. COUNCIL ACCEPTS THE SEWER BONDS stated that if it was not done the rent on the meters would be raised high enough for the water consumers to profit from their use. The company has promised to buy the meters and the matter is expected to be settled soon.

The resolutions and plans for the improvement of south College avenue with cement sidewalks, curbs and gutters were repealed and rescinded by the council as a result of the numerous objections made by residents in that part of town. The council ordered that a portion on the east side of the street from Park street to the corner of Berry street be stricken from the plans, and this action caused much trouble. The improvement of the street will be made next spring and the council will take the matter up in February or March. The improvement of the entire street from Jacob street south to Berry street in all probability will be made next spring for petitions for the improvement of both the south and north portions have been received by the council.

The connections to the sewer system by the citizens of Greencastle was an important topic discussed. The matter will be investigated by the councilmen and at the next regular meeting of the body, an ordinance probably will be adopted, which will regulate the tapping of the system. It has been a question in the mind of many citizens during the past week, whether or not they will be allowed to tap to the system as soon as the septic tank is completed and permission secured from the superintendent of the construction company. The matter will be in the hands of the city council.

E. B. Walton was granted a permit to build cement sidewalks of regular width and grade furnished by the city engineer on the west side of Jackson street from the corner of Larrabee to the corner of Hanna street.

A permit was granted to Rosa Cline to lay a tile from a downspout off her house on north Indiana street under the sidewalk and into the gutter.

Lee Etter was given permission to build a 6 or 8-room house on his lot on the south side of Berry street between College avenue and Indiana street.

A vote of thanks was extended by the members of the city council to J. O. Cammack for a photograph of the group of councilmen, the mayor, city attorney and city engineer which adorns the walls of the council chamber.
