NIGHT SCHOOL IS WELL RECEIVED

ANNOUNCEMENT THAT ARRANGEMENTS ARE BEING MADE TO OFFER DOMESTIC SCIENCE INSTRUCTION TO GREENCASTLE LADIES FREE OF CHARGE ATTRACTS CONSIDERABLE ATTENTION—STATE AID WILL BE RECEIVED UNDER VOCATIONAL EDUCATION LAW.

LIMIT IS 80 MEMBERS

ANNOUNCEMENT was made this afternoon of the appointment by the Greencastle school board of Mrs. E. B. Doll, Mrs. Lillie Landes and Mrs. Arthur Hamrick as the board to have charge of the establishment and management of the domestic science night school. Superintendent H. A. Henderson and Miss Mary Cammack, instructor in the domestic science department of the local high school, are ex officio members of the board. The new board will hold a meeting Friday afternoon to make preliminary arrangements for the opening of the school.

The announcement of Wednesday that the Greencastle school board is making arrangements to open a night school here for the benefit of local ladies who desire instruction in domestic science is meeting with great favor, according to a statement of one of the school officials this morning. The opportunities that will be offered by such a school have been recognized and calls have been coming in all day from women who desire to enroll in the school. No tuition fee of any kind will be charged for the instruction as the greater part of the expense will be borne by the state under the vocational education law passed last year.

The school will be conducted in the domestic science rooms of the local high school and instruction in cooking will be given by Miss Mary Cammack of the high school, and in sewing by a lady competent in the work to be chosen later. Classes in each branch of work will be held twice each week and as only twenty members can be accommodated at once the limit of the enrollment will be eighty. The interest that has been taken by ladies in the beginning causes those in charge to believe that this number will be reached.

DePAUW READY FOR LAKE FOREST STRUGGLE.

The DePauw football team, barely recovered from its hard struggle with Franklin on Monday, will leave Friday noon for Lake Forest, to do battle with the Illinois collegians. The game, coming as it does soon after the Baptist game, has given the Methodist machine little opportunity to strengthen its weaknesses and the outcome of the struggle with the members of the Little Five is extremely problematical. Lake Forest has been defeated by Northwestern, 7 to 0, and it is only by the Northwestern-Chicago-Indiana route that Coach Bogle has any line on the strength of Saturday's opponents. The DePauw mentor said today that if his men displayed the fight that they did against Indiana they would win, but that a repetition of the form showed in the Franklin game would spell sure defeat.

A short, snappy signal drill and practice in blocking, tackling, running on punts and the kickoff constituted the workout today in preparation for Saturday's fray. The DePauw squad has three or four men on the hospital list with minor injuries and Bogle did not care to increase the number on the eve of the important contest.

McKeen field will be the scene Friday afternoon of a signal drill by the Northwestern university eleven. The Illinois Methodists will stop at Greencastle on their way to Bloomington for the annual setto with Coach Child's aggregation.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Allen, of south College avenue, entertained Rev. and Mrs. Hubert Webster in their country home north of town Wednesday.

BOOK COMPILED BY MR. WEBB CONTAINS ARTICLES BY MANY LOCAL WRITERS

"Famous Living Americans," a book of biography, compiled by Charles Webb, of Hanna street, and written largely by Greencastle people soon will be received from the publishers, according to a statement made public today. The book will be sold throughout the country and also will be distributed to high schools to be used in oratorical contests. The work is unique in that there is no other book that covers the same field.

The introduction to the work is written by Prof. H. B. Gough, of DePauw, in the form of suggestions on the preparation and delivery of biographical speeches. Other local contributors or persons well known here and the famous people about whom they have written are as follows:

Alexander Graham Bell—Hillary Ashbury Gobin, D. D., L.L. D., Vice-President of DePauw University.

William Jennings Bryan—Maynard Lee Daggy, Ph. B., Lecturer and Institute Instructor, Seattle, Wash.

Francis Edward Clark—Charles Eugene Underwood, A. M., Dean of Temple University, Philadelphia, Pa. Miss Anna Adams Gordon—Mrs. Luella Frances McWhirter, Pres. Ind. W. C. T. U., 1896-1900; Pres. Ind. Fed. Women's Clubs, 1912-1914, Indianapolis, Ind.

Robert Marion LaFollette—Maynard Lee Daggy, Ph. B., Author of Principles of Public Speaking, Seattle.

John Mitchell—Francis Calvin Tilden, A. M., Prof. of Comparative Literature, DePauw University.

Theodore Roosevelt—The Honorable Jackson Boyd, Greencastle, Ind.

John Wanamaker—Miss Ida Elizabeth Riley, A. M., Greencastle, Ind.

Woodrow Wilson—Cecil Claire North, Ph. D., Prof. Sociology, DePauw University.

HILLIS BRINGS IN 100 BARRELL WELL

NINTH HOLE DRILLED BY LOCAL MAN ON LEASES CONTROLLED BY HILLIS & SHOPTAUGH OF THIS CITY, DEVELOPS INTO THE LARGEST IN THE FIELD.

HAS BIG NATURAL FLOW

Frank Shoptaugh of the firm of Hillis & Shoptaugh which firm has been developing oil leases near Irvine, Ky., received a telegram this morning from Fred Hillis, his partner, stating that the ninth well drilled was brought in this morning and that it tests out to be a 100 barrel a day, natural flow, well. This is the largest well yet brought in the field.

So far nine wells have been drilled on the leases controlled by the local men and each has been an oil producer. Most of the wells, however, have been of about 50 barrels a day capacity.

The last well drilled was on land which Hillis & Shoptaugh recently secured from C. R. Dulin, another local man, who is interested in the field.

DEATH OF MRS. STROUBE EARLY THIS MORNING

Death came shortly before six o'clock this morning to Mrs. William Stroube, age 48 years, at her home at the corner of Market and Columbia streets following an illness of about a year of tuberculosis. The funeral will be held at the residence Friday afternoon conducted by the Rev. Beck, of the Locust Street Methodist church. Interment will be in the Boone cemetery, near Hamricks Station.

The deceased was one of the well-known and highly respected ladies of the county. Although her husband preceded her in death about a year ago she bore this sorrow and her affliction with great fortitude. Besides a daughter, Mrs. Julius Marsh, who lived with her mother during her last days, and other relatives, the deceased leaves a host of friends to mourn their loss.

Mrs. Hattie Miller, of Terre Haute, was here today on her way to Terre Haute, where she attended the funeral of Raymond Orrell which was held at 9 o'clock this morning. Orrell was the lad, who was struck and killed by a Monon train at Cloverdale Tuesday night.

A FALL FESTIVAL ALSO IS PLANNED

COMMITTEES IN CHARGE OF BIG HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATION PERFECT ARRANGEMENTS AND PLAN A FALL FESTIVAL FOR THE FARMERS AS ANOTHER ATTRACTION FOR BIG TIME HERE OCTOBER 31ST—FINANCE COMMITTEE STARTS WORK TODAY.

WOULD HAVE AEROPLANE

Final arrangements for the Halloween celebration which will be held in Greencastle were made by the committees in charge of the attraction at a meeting in the council chamber Wednesday evening. The minute details of the entertainment were thoroughly discussed and the arrangements will benefit the merchants of the town and yet be one of the most entertaining celebrations ever held in this city.

A fall festival in which all the farmers may compete was one feature added to the big attraction. The merchants, who wish, will offer prizes for the best exhibition of some particular kind of farm product, displayed in the windows of the stores. Prizes in trade will be given, and farmers will take a great interest in this feature of the attraction. The fall festival several years ago was one of the biggest successes ever given by the business men of Greencastle. Big displays of farm products adorned the windows of practically every business room in town and the attraction was a big success.

The farmers will be expected to bring their displays to the stores Friday and not later than 10 o'clock Saturday morning. The merchants will endeavor to have all the exhibits brought in on Friday in order that they may be thoroughly inspected by the public.

The program for Saturday is as follows:

11 a. m.—Warding of festival prizes.

1 p. m. to 5 p. m.—Band concert on public square.

7 p. m.—Band will lead grotesque parade around square. Automobile parade will follow grotesque parade.

8 p. m.—Awarding of prizes for best masked persons. Awarding of prizes for best decorated automobiles.

8:30 to 10:30 p. m.—Band concert.

The business district of the town will be decorated in true Halloween style and corn shocks, pumpkins and jack-o-lanterns will adorn all parts of the square. The prizes to be offered for the various displays are well worth while, for about $75 will be given for the most elaborate exhibitions. The merchants will be offered prizes for the best decorated stores, both interior and exterior and the true spirit of Halloween is expected to prevail.

The finance committee composed of John F. Cannon, Charles P. Broadstreet, Earl C. Lane, Charles F. Zeis, S. C. Sayers, Jack Keightley, C. C. Gautier, and Cleve Thomas started its work of raising money for the celebration today. Merchants are endorsing the movement as a strong one and are contributing liberally.

An aeroplane flight here in the afternoon was suggested by a number of the committeemen, but as yet no definite arrangements have been made to promote this attraction. It is unquestionable that an aeroplane flight would attract many people to this city, but the cost of the attraction would in all probability be too great. The committees will meet in a few days and more definite arrangements will be completed.

Andrew J. Ruark has filed suit in the Putnam Circuit Court asking for judgment of $672.50 against Athol B. Lagle, proprietor of the Pure Food Market on the corner of Walnut and Indiana streets. Mr. Ruark alleges that Lagle executed a mortgage on his merchandise and fixtures in the place of business and a twin cylinder Indian motorcycle with a side-car, as security for the sum of $622.50. The plaintiff claims that Lagle refused to pay the amount of the note. The judgment of $672.50 asked includes attorney's fees. Theodore Crawley is the attorney for the plaintiff.

FOOTBALL.

The football teams line up again, let joy be unconfined:

They've broken Tommie's arm, and smashed his nose but never mind. Heaped on the field the players writhe and jab and claw and tear,

And knock the breath from those beneath and gouge without a care: They buck the line and nobly strive to pull joints out of place

And here and there is one who gets his teeth kicked from his face.

And the contending football teams, besmeared with grime and mud, Go gallantly to get the ball and come out bathe with blood,

The tackle knocks the right half down and kicks him in the chest; A football man is carried home and gently laid to rest.

And now and then a crowded stand collapses 'neath its weight,

And forty people get more than they paid for at the gate.

Oh brave, Oh blithe, Oh splendid sport! Think of the mother's joy, Who picks a paper up and sees a picture of her boy!

How thrilled she is to read about the touchdown that he made,

How gleefully she tells about the courage he displayed,

With tearful pride she lays away his amputated ear,

And puts his eye in alcohol to be a souvenir.

On every side some nervous gink says football is a shame,

Effeminately clasps his hands and prays to stop the game.

The football man just laugh at him and calls him but a mut,

He only fears the college prof that shoots him in a rut,

It is the man whose 's proud of strength and does not get enough

Who loves the game and plays the game just because its rough.

Why Not Publish It?

When you want a fact to become generally known, the right way is to publish it. Mrs. Joseph Kallans, Peru, Ind., was troubled with belching, sour stomach and frequent headaches. She writes, "I feel it my duty to tell others what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me. They have helped my digestion and regulated my bowels. Since using them I have been entirely well." For sale by all dealers.

The Twentieth Century club will be represented by its delegates, Mrs. Eva K. Gregg and Mrs. George Fox, at the State Federation of Clubs to be held at Evansville next week.

Special Notice To Taxpayers.

Many will question the amount of their taxes and ask concerning their personal property assessments and land appraisal. Mistakes will occur where the assessment of property and the extending and collecting of taxes are done by as many different officers.

The Treasurer and Auditor will cheerfully correct all mistakes for which they are responsible and the county assessor will explain the assessment of personal property and where possible adjust if in error.

Time is at hand for the paying of Fall taxes. Monday, November 2, is the last day on which taxes can be paid, without the penalty being attached. You soon will find yourself in the Treasurer's office in a great crowd, awaiting to get to pay windows. Some will be in a hurry to make certain trains to get home. Why delay and cause yourself as well as the treasurer so much inconvenience?

If the second installment of taxes is not paid within the limit set by law, the taxes become due and delinquent and with penalty is extended by the Auditor and charged to the Treasurer. The state is interested in this extension and the Auditor and Treasurer are both personally liable for any penalties that might be refunded.

Under no circumstances can the Treasurer alter the duplicate. He can make no reduction in taxes and he can not refund money once paid in. Errors must be corrected through the Auditor's office.

As the Treasurer can not know the location of each person's property tax payers should designate the property on which they wish to pay, and see that all property is included in their receipt. If they have land in more than one township or corporation, or desire to pay taxes on lands or lots not in their name, call the Treasurer's attention to the matter, carefully examine receipts, see if they describe all property (personal and real) and are otherwise correct before leaving the office, and if any errors are evident have them corrected at once.

The Tax Duplicate is not a transfer book and when, for any year, the Tax Duplicate is made with reference to the property on the first day of March said year the duplicate remains forever unchanged as to showing of property in whose books or prompt recording of deeds to the contrary notwithstanding.

Property will appear in same name of the payment of the second installment as for first. Assignees, Guardians, Administrators and others who pay taxes on property in trust and persons whose taxes are complicated, such as undivided estates, etc., are earnestly requested to settle such taxes before the last few days, as it requires considerable time to make divisions and separate receipts. Thus avoid mistakes which might happen during the rush of the last few days of taxpaying!

All property, both Real and Personal, shall be liable for the payment of all taxes, penalties, interest and cost charged to the owner thereof in such county, and no partial payment of any such taxes penalties, interest or costs shall discharge or release any part or portion of such property until the whole is paid, which lien shall in no wise be erected or destroyed by any sale or transfer of any such personal property, and shall attach on the first day of April annually for the taxes of such year."—From Section 173, Acts 1881.

Special Notice.

All Ditch Taxes and Street Improvements must be called for separately.

The taxpayer often has personal property and poll assessed to him separately from his real estate especially when the land is in joint title, and accordingly must have a receipt therefor.

Delinquent taxes must be paid before the current tax.

The Treasurer will not be responsible for penalties and charges on delinquent taxes, resulting from omission of the person, paying such tax to state definitely on what property, in whose name and in what township or corporation it was assessed.

Very Respectfully,

H. H. RUNYAN,

Treasurer Putnam County.

Of Interest to Women

What the Aeroplane Owe to Miss Catherine Wright-Brothers Experienced According to Their Sister's Calculations—Miss Wright Corresponded with Foreign Officials.

Miss Wright made the calculation and her brothers made the experiments. The three worked together. Before any demonstration was made, before her brothers had tested the machine they were building, Miss Wright knew that it was possible for man to fly. She was the first woman in the world to know it positively. She knew it because she herself had made the calculations. She was willing to stake what little money she had saved from her salary as a school teacher, along with the smaller amount her brothers had saved, upon the outcome of the device to be made according to her calculations. She staked it and she won.

When the machine was completed and was found to be a success, and it became desirable to get in touch with the nations of the world, it was Catherine Wright who brought the aeroplane to the attention of the men who would have to be dealt with. The letters which the representatives of foreign governments received were written by this woman in the name of her brothers.

All this time Miss Wright was going daily to the schoolroom. Even their neighbors did not know she took any interest in the flying machine. They knew that it was characteristic of the Wrights to be devoted to one another. But they did not know that this patient school teacher had mastered the intricacies of the air and that she had been in correspondence with governments, carrying on the promotion end of the flying machine.

Even after the Wright aeroplane had become famous and her brothers were demonstrating it to the world, Miss Wright continued her occupation of teaching. It was not until Orville Wright met with the accident at Fort Wright, which came near costing him his life, that she gave up her position and hastened to him. She remained until he was able to travel, took him home, nursed him to health and accompanied him on his trip to France.

Her Sad Mistake.

The clubwoman closed her book on "Domestic Responsibility," and, with a tinge of remorse, went out on the lawn, where her children were at play.

"Mary," she informed her children's nurse, "I've neglected my young ones for the clubs too much these last few years, and I'm going to try and make amends. Now, this afternoon I intend to dress one of them with my own hands and take it for an outing in the park."

It was quite late that afternoon when the reformed clubwoman, after pushing a go-cart containing the youngster she had selected and prepared for its outing about the spacious public park for several hours, started toward home. She had hardly come within sight of it when the nurse rushed up, palpably agitated.

"Oh, mum—"

"The child's all right, Mary," the mother announced, by way of assurance. "I humored it all the afternoon with sweets and fruit."

"But, mum," cried the nurse, endeavoring to regain her breath, "Mrs. Smith next door's been scared into a fit, the perlice has been notified and—"

"—or, Lord, mum!"

"Don't act so, Mary! Why should you get so excited over that hysterical Mrs. Smith?"

"You've gone and took her child mum!"—Titt-Bits.

Dangerous to Suppress Feelings.

It is better, especially if you are a woman, not to suppress your emotions, advises Dr. Samuel McComb, of Emmanuel Church, Boston, writing on causes of nervousness in Harper's Bazar. These strangled emotions, these griefs and moral wounds and deep-rooted but frustrated desires of which you never speak even to your dearest, are the causes of your headache, your nervous dyspepsia, the irritation of your blood and flesh. Have a heart to heart talk with a dear friend or a trusted adviser, and watch them disappear. Women, especially, will carry moral weariness concealed in their hearts for years, say the writer, with the inevitable result of a nervous catastrophe. Mr. McComb thinks such as these will do well to relieve themselves by confiding their troubles "either to a wise minister of religion or to a psychologically trained physician."

Laughs at Superstitions.

Mrs. Peter Lays of Grand Rapids, Mich., believes it is lucky to walk under a ladder and to raise an umbrella in the house. She laughs at superstition, and never is happier than when she spills salt or breaks a mirror. Thirteen has been her lucky number. Many of her brightest experiences have fallen on the 13th of the month, and on August 13, which was a Friday, she gave birth to her thirteenth child.

An excellent way to brush down dusty walls is to take a roll of cotton batting and fasten a thick pad of it on the end of a stick. With this go over all the wall surface, burning the cotton as it becomes soiled and renewing the pad. This method is economical and efficient—more so than the ordinary cloth, which is too limp to do the work well.

Chopping Off Slang

"For goodness' sake, John," said Mrs. Medbury, "be more careful in the language you use around the house. I've been intending to speak to you about it for some time, but it got away from me."

"What's the kick?" demanded her husband, indignantly. "You don't hear me spilling any profanity or anything like that, do you?"

"No, but you will talk slang!" protested Mrs. Medbury, "and I'm getting into the habit so that I'm ashamed to talk to my friends. It's fierce, I mean, it's distressing!"

"I never noticed you talking slang," said Medbury. "Besides, everybody talks a little slang nowadays. What's the principal noise about?"

"There you go now!" said his wife sharply. "You talk that way two-thirds of the time and I can't help falling for some of it myself—I would say unconsciously assimilating expressions from your conversation. When any of my friends call I'm in a nervous tremor all the time for fear I'll forget myself and make some horrible break. They're not used to it."

"Oh, I guess you're not so bad," protested Medbury. "They can stand for anything you hand them without straining themselves. I'd like to see any of your set that you don't shape up with on the conversation thing when you put yourself to it."

"That's the trouble," went on Mrs. Medbury, "and that's why I wish you would cut out some of your slang. Then in time I could break myself of the habit. Only this afternoon Mrs. Migges and Mrs. Jasper were here making arrangements about the lawn party at the church next week, and we got to talking about the servant girl problem. I told them how annoying Minnie has been and how we planned to let her go and in my absent-minded way, what do you think it was that I said?"

"I couldn't hit it in a thousand years," said Medbury. "Come across with it."

"Well, I was so embarrassed afterward I could scarcely talk to them," went on his wife. "I was telling how Minnie was growing more impertinent every day, and I said: 'I think she knows that I'm fixing to put the rollers under her.'"

Medbury pounded his knee with his open palm and shrieked with laughter.

Mrs. Medbury bit her lip and frowned. "You see?" she exclaimed. "That's the way it goes, and it's all your fault. You've simply got to talk better English around the house, because I'm sure all the women I know are beginning to get wised up on me, and the first thing I know I'll be getting myself ditched—I mean snubbed and ignored. It's really a serious thing, John, and I don't see where you get the big laugh out of it."

"Neither do I," admitted Medbury. "I'm trying to be serious, no matter how painful. You know, I ain't there with that long-faced stuff very much, but I'm really going to try and help you out. I can see where you're likely to get in wrong with these dames that aren't Joseph to your line of talk, and it isn't right. I appreciate that. I'm going to chop."

"Oh, will you try, John?" exclaimed Mrs. Medbury, eagerly. "That's fine and dandy! We've simply got to frame it up some way so we won't use so much slang. Don't you see it my way?"

"Surest thing you know, kiddo!" exclaimed Medbury, enthusiastically. "You can count on me being there with my hair and braid when it comes to the reform gag. Nothing but the purest wells of English undefiled for mine after this—just watch my smoke!"

"That's the real goods!" said his wife in delight. "Now I know we can put it over!"

CONGRESSIONAL CANNERY.

Proposed by Old-Time Congressmen to Improve Congressional Record.

The campaign in congress against misuse of the Congressional Record has called forth many suggestions, not the least popular of which is for setting a time limit on every speaker. The man who cannot explain an idea in an hour, it is held, will be sent to the foot of the class and labeled a bore, to be called upon only during the filibustering season.

A request was made by one of the old-time congressmen for the initiation of a "Congressional Cannery." Webster's reply to Hayne, Patrick Henry's speech and certain excerpts from the Declaration of Independence will be the first to get "canned," as they are drawn upon nearly every time a congressman engages in a debate.

Twenty years ago the proceedings of the senate and the house did not begin to occupy as much space as today, and it is felt that the movement to keep the records down will result in a much more interesting and accurate Congressional Record for future generations.

All Russians have a weakness for handsome footwear and the result is that there are more pairs of showy boots worn in the Czar's Empire than anywhere else on earth. This preference extends to the women as well as to the men.

NEW NIGHT-DRESS SACKET.

To Be Suspended by Ribbons from the Head of the Bed.

A very novel idea for a night-dress sacket is shown in our illustration, which gives a suggestion for a shape which will make a change from the more ordinary one which folds over and fastens with a flap.

The sacket stretched is made in the form of a deep pocket, and it is in my way.

tended that it should be suspended by wide satin ribbons from the head of the bed, so that it may serve a more decorative purpose than has hitherto been the case. The sacket itself is of white satin, embroidered with a wild rose and foliage design, worked in very delicate shades of pink and green, with a border of silk cord to edge the sacket throughout in a delicate shade of turquoise blue. Many other pretty floral designs might be used in place of wild roses, and of grounds of various colors. Sprays of apple-blossom would be effective, for instance, on a pale blue ground, or clusters of dark violets on white or green. They should, of course, be chosen to suit the draperies, etc., in the room.

Give Baby Water.

A baby, like an adult, needs water as regularly as it needs food. The milk that it gets, though a liquor, does not satisfy its thirst. It should be given water at least three times a day, and this water should be nearly, if not quite, free of organisms. The water that comes from the average city main or country spring is alive with microscopic plants and animals, even when it seems clear and sparkling. These minute organisms, as a rule, are harmless to adults, but in the delicate stomach of the baby they are apt to cause disturbances, and so they must be eliminated. The best way to get rid of them is to allow the water to boil twenty minutes. After that, let it cool and store it in clean, well-corked bottles which have been previously immersed in boiling water for five minutes. Glass stoppers are better than corks.

Boiled water is tasteless and insipid because of the absence of air-bubbles, but the baby seldom notices it. It is best drunk out of a thoroughly clean nursing-bottle. Offer water to the infant every four hours, and let it drink as much as it wants. The supply for each day should be boiled in the morning. Under no circumstances should water be kept more than a day.

Memorials for Housekeepers.

There are few servants who become fixtures in families in this country. It is different in Europe, where there is a class raised to expect nothing above domestic drudgery, and it is in this fact lies the reason for the comparative absence of a servant girl problem in the Old World. They value good servants over there, too, as is shown by the placing of a tablet in St. Helen's, Bishopsgate, England, in memory of a nurse, who spent thirty-nine years in the service of a family named Wigram. Beside this tablet is another set up sixty years ago to commemorate the forty-one years' service of a housekeeper in the same family. Forty-one years a servant? Is it not better with us in democratic America?

Music That Made a Song.

Lady Laurie of Maxwellton House, Dumfries, Scotland, is dead in the home which was the birthplace of Annie Laurie, who was given to the immortals by the song woven around her name. Annie Laurie was the daughter of the first baronet, and she was born in Maxwellton House in 1682. The words of the song were composed by a lovesick youth named Douglas of Fingland, and the music more than a century afterward by John Spotswood.

Pretty Curtains.

Beautiful curtains for the den and living room are shown in craftsman effects. The fabrics are Russian crash, linen, and also a canvas composed of jute and linen. The material used for the draperies adds greatly to the beauty of the stencils. The effective and simple designs are flowery and conventional. A pair of curtains recently exhibited were of gray, with a stenciled border done in old green.

Children's Sleep.

As a general rule the lad at school between the ages of 3 and 16 requires nine to ten hours sleep. Growing boys need a large amount of sleep, and when this is denied them, neither their bodies nor their minds can develop properly. An English authority points out this lack of hours of rest falls most heavily on the clever boys.

UNCEASING MISERY.

Some Greencastle Kidney Sufferers Get Little Rest or Comfort.

There is little sleep, little rest, little peace for many a sufferer from kidney trouble. Life is one continual round of pain. You can't rest at night when there's kidney backache. You suffer twinges and "stabs" of pain, annoying urinary disorders, lameness and nervousness. You can't be comfortable at work with darting pains and blinding dizzy spells. Neglect these ailments and serious troubles may follow. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills at the first sign of disorder. Thousands have testified to their merit. Greencastle readers will find convincing proof in the following testimony:

Mrs. W. M. Sears, South St., Danville, Ind., says: "For some time my kidneys troubled me. The least exposure caused pains in my loins and sides. I felt drowsy and had dizzy spells. On a friend's advice, I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved me at once. Others of my family have taken Doan's Kidney Pills with good results."

DAIRY AND CREAMERY

CARE OF MANURE.

One Farmer Who Has Put a Manure Bin in Cow Stable.

Not being blessed with a very fertile soil, we have learned by experience the value of fertility, writes an Ohio Farmer in Agricultural Epitome. We have constructed a new cow stable in one end of our barn. As shown by sketch we use the swinging stanchion, and by the way our partitions between stalls are of heavy woven wire fencing, which admits more light. We like them very much. Our gutter behind the cows is of cement. On the outside adjoining the barn we have a manure bin. It is 8x16 feet in size. The floor and the sides to a height of two feet are also of concrete. Above this, boards are used, except a space in the middle, which is left open for convenience in loading. This could be closed with doors if desired. We keep our horses in box stalls and haul the manure from them direct to the field. By the liberal use of bedding and absorbents we hope to make more and better manure.

For a Sucking Cow.

The following description is given of a device to prevent a cow from sucking herself:

Secure two lengths of small cord, also six pieces of round, light wood about 12 inches long and 1 1/2 inches in diameter, bore 3/4 inch holes at each end of sticks, then having tied a knot at one end of the rope, thread on the sticks. Knit the cord on either side of the sticks, then throw the same across the cow's neck (having regulated the knots and sticks to suit the small of the neck and also the shoulder), and the end of the cords around the first knot. The accompanying illustration shows the result. This device prevents the cow from reaching her flanks.

Pasteurizing Milk.

To pasteurize milk or cream is simply to heat the same to about 160 degrees, then rapidly cool the liquid. By this process the lacteal germs or germs which cause milk to sour are destroyed, but the germs which cause milk to become putrid are not destroyed. Experts claim the danger is that dirty milk may be pasteurized, hence the operation may be dangerous, or at least disappointing, from the reason that one cannot tell just when putrefaction may take place. The latter cannot be detected until it reaches an advanced age, as pasteurized milk or cream may never grow sour, yet may contain germs fraught with danger. Many physicians also claim that pasteurization reduces the digestibility of the milk or cream.—Agricultural Southwest.

Convenient Light for the Barn.

Many fires may be avoided when chilly days require the use of a lantern in the barn by having some such device as here shown to keep the lantern in place. This affair requires two small pulleys and a rope. The rope is run through the pulleys, the lantern attached to one end and then pulled up to a convenient height, the loose end of the rope being fastened to a cleat on the wall. If this device is arranged in about the center of the barn much better light will be given than if the lantern were carried around from place to place.—Cor. of Farm and Home.

Stretching Butter.

The Kansas Board of Health discovered a scheme for making three pounds of butter from one pound, and a firm charging $25 for the secret. A pound of ordinary butter is mixed with a quart of milk and certain proportions of salt and soda until it swells to three pounds and can be sold at a high profit. Warning has been sent out to butter makers and others not to purchase the formula or sell the product. Some time ago the board found an emulsion being sold, which put into a pound of butter would cause it to absorb an equal weight of water. The sale of this emulsion was stopped.

The equipments for success with poultry are rustic and lots of close attention.

The sower work is being rushed through during the past week, despite the heavy rains. The ditching machine was not in operation Wednesday but work was resumed this morning and the portion of the ditch on Gillespie street between Columbia and Walnut street was almost completed today. No rock was encountered on that street and the contractors experienced little trouble in digging the trench. The work on Jackson street north of the square is progressing slowly for the work is being done by hand and the progress of the laborers is very slow compared with that made by the machine. Much of the rock on Columbia and Liberty streets is being blasted and removed each day and the sewer laterals probably will be laid in a week's time.

O. E. Badger was in Indianapolis on business today.

A message received here at noon today by John H. James, from John H. Allee, who was in Indianapolis, stated that Mrs. Jesse Allee Byrd was operated upon in the St. Vincent's Hospital this morning. She withstood the operation well and was getting along nicely at the time of the message. Dr. Noble, who performed the operation, stated that he found Mrs. Byrd in a better condition than he had expected. Three members of the Allee family now are in the hospital. J. P. Allee is there suffering a broken hip, a son Thad, a few days underwent an operation and today the daughter, Mrs. Byrd, was operated upon.

Constitutional Convention Meeting. There will be a constitutional convention meeting at 1:30 o'clock at Union Chapel Sunday, October 18th. Everybody is invited to attend. Competent speakers from Indianapolis and Brazil will speak on this vital question to come before the people at the November election. There will be good music. No admission.

The Force of Habit. Nothing more impressive could be written upon habit than is found in William James's discussion of its ethical and pedagogical importance in his "Psychology." "We are spinning our own fates, good or evil, and never to be undone," he says on the last page of the brilliant chapter. "Every smallest stroke of virtue or of vice leaves its never so little scar. The drunken Rip Van Winkle in Jefferson's play excuses himself for every fresh dereliction by saying, 'I won't count this time!' Well! he may not count it; a kind heaven may not count it; but it is being counted none the less. Down among his nerve cells and fibres the molecules are counting it, registering and storing it up to be used against him when the next temptation comes. Nothing we ever do is, in strict scientific literalness, wiped out."

HOW FRENCH PEOPLE CURE STOMACH TROUBLE

A household remedy of the French peasantry, consisting of pure vegetable oil, and said to possess wonderful merit in the treatment of stomach, liver and intestinal troubles, has been introduced in this country by George H. Mayr, who for twenty years has been one of the leading down town druggists of Chicago and who himself was cured by its use. So quick and effective is its action that a single dose is usually enough to bring pronounced relief in the most stubborn cases, and many people who have tried it declare they never heard of anything to produce such remarkable results in so short a time. It is known as Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and can now be had at almost any drug store. It is now sold by all druggists.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS DROP FRATERNITY

STUDENTS IN LOCAL SCHOOL ASK FOR MEETING WITH OFFICIALS AND AGREE TO SEVER CONNECTIONS WITH SECRET ORGANIZATION IF PENALTY FOR BELONGING IS NOT ENFORCED AGAINST THEM—RESULT OF PLEDGE SIGNED LAST YEAR.

ACTION IS VOLUNTARY

As a result of the complaint of parents and others that a fraternity again is flourishing in the local high school and the subsequent statement of Superintendent Henderson that membership in the organization voluntary expels students from the school, several student members met with the school officials in the city library Wednesday night and voluntarily agreed to drop the organization and turn their attention to the organization of a high school athletic organization. The meeting was attended by Mr. Henderson, Principal Dalman and several students, the names of whom were not given out. According to the school officials and the boys themselves, the latter gave their word of honor that they would not have anything to do in any way with a high school fraternity or take any part in any such organization. The superintendent and principal accepted this statement from the boys in good faith and are satisfied that the question which has made great trouble in former years has been solved.

A large majority of the boys at the meeting Wednesday night signed statements last year to the effect that they would not take part in any such organization and that if they should the act itself would sever them from the high school. As a result the superintendent felt that they were out of the high school until they themselves took steps which would make it possible for them to be reinstated. The meeting of Wednesday night was the means taken by the boys to insure their reinstatement and it is believed that the matter is settled for all time.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Boone died Wednesday night and the body was interred in the Forest Hill cemetery this morning.
