

MANY FEATURES ARE ARRANGED FOR PICNIC DAY

COMMITTEE HAS ARRANGED
SPLENDID PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN THROUGHOUT THE DAY
—BABY SHOW, WHEELBARROW
POLO CONTEST, MERRY-GO-
ROUND AIRPLANE EXHIBI-
TION AND ALL THE CUSTOM-
ARY DRINKS AND GOOD EATS.

G. I. CHRISTIE TO SPEAK

The Greencastle band and a famous colored jazz band of Indianapolis will entertain the Putnam county people at the farmers' Greencastle Commercial Club picnic to be held Wednesday, August 20, in the Hazlett grove one-half mile east of Greencastle. And that isn't all. Frank Cannon, who is in charge of the entertainment of the day, announced this morning that a feature of the day will be a baby show in which all babies of Putnam county eighteen months or under should contest. Prizes will be awarded by competent judges as to the most beautiful baby, the sweetest baby and the best baby physically. So mothers bring your baby along and let him or her carry home a blue ribbon. Other entertaining features of the day will be a wheelbarrow polo contest in which the leans and the fats will participate. This event of the day will be most amusing, as one of the fastest men of Greencastle stated this morning that he will enter the contest and then one of these tall, bean-pole kind of human beings standing near said he would contest also. Who do you bet will win?

A tug of war between the "country jakes" and the "town ikes" will follow the polo contest. Mr. Cannon has promised the rope will be a good one and won't break in the middle. Some Greencastle young men who have heard of the coming contests have ordered ham and eggs for their future meals, so look out you country fellows.

G. I. Christie, assistant secretary of agriculture, with his offices in Washington, D. C., has accepted the invitation of the Putnam County Farmers' Association to speak here during the afternoon of the 20th at the picnic grounds. This fact alone should draw thousands of people to the grounds for Mr. Christie is a man of national reputation and a speaker who deals with the present day questions with wonderful simplicity.

During the day two airplanes from the Kokomo aviation field will be on the grounds and take the folks air-gliding. That is, if the folks have the required $1 per minute. Besides taking the people on pleasure trips, the aviators have promised to do some stunts for the crowd.

Mr. Cannon has received stacks of letters inquiring as to whether certain organizations or parties may place commercial drink stands upon the grounds, so there is little doubt that the thirst of the crowd will be quenched. Other amusements "too numerous to mention," among which will be a merry-go-round, small tent shows and the customary oddity agents, will be there.

The grounds will be electrically lighted and it was stated by those having charge of the picnic that there will be practically no night, the grounds will be so brilliantly illuminated. There will be no charge for admission to the grounds or for parking space, and it might be added that all the air and cold water will also be without charge.

TO CLOSE HOSPITAL AT FORT HARRISON

Indianapolis, August 12.—Col. Paul L. Freeman, commanding officer of the general hospital at Fort Benjamin Harrison, has received orders from the war department to close the hospital September 1. The post hospital will remain open, however, and cases now in the general hospital which do not require special attention, will be transferred there. Cases which require close attention will be sent to other general hospitals in the Middle West.

CHARLES DEICH, SUPT. OF SOUTHPORT SCHOOLS

Charles Deich, who has had charge of the office of Superintendent Frank Wallace while he is attending Indiana University this summer, has been elected as superintendent of the schools of Southport, Ind., a small town seven miles south of Indianapolis. Mr. Deich, besides becoming superintendent of schools, will have charge of a class in physics in the high school. The high school building which was recently built at a cost of about $100,000, is one of the finest school buildings near Indianapolis. The attendance of the high school will be near 100 students. While in Greencastle Mr. Deich has written a very interesting thesis on "Genius or Exceptional Ability," a paper giving statistics relating to why the average student of Indiana attains his or her name upon an honor roll. Mr. Deich also has been pastor of the Methodist church at Putnamville along with his teaching at Clinton Center and occupying the place of Frank Wallace.

WYCKOFF TO PROBE SUGAR SITUATION

Indianapolis, August 12.—With Indiana cities begging for sugar, Stanley Wyckoff, federal sugar distributor for the state, yesterday sought every possible way to cut the bands of war department red tape that are holding up the shipment of ten car loads of sugar from the government warehouse in St. Louis. The sugar was available for shipment last Friday morning and the federal distributor from Chicago had representatives at St. Louis to see that the cargoes were sent on their way to Indiana, but for some unaccountable reason, as yet not explained to Mr. Wyckoff, the officer in charge would not allow the shipments to depart.

The Chicago office, finding its efforts of no avail, yesterday appealed to Mr. Wyckoff to bring influences to bear on the war department in an effort to release the consignment and he promptly telegraphed Senators New and Watson to make representations to the department as to the urgent necessity of the immediate receipt of sugar in this state. He also talked with the New York sugar equalization bureau and invoked its aid in getting the supplies shipped.

INTEREST IS GROWING IN WESLEY CHAPEL REVIVAL

Although people are still busy threshing grain in this community, a good crowd was out last night. One of the pleasant features of the evening was the announcement by Mr. Maxwell that he had collected $25 during the day of Greencastle persons on the Ben Hur lighting system which was recently installed in the church. At the announcement of the names of those who had given, the audience showed their appreciation by applauding.

Mr. Maxwell sang "The Old Flag Never Touched the Ground, Boys," and a searching song "Hast Thou Forgotten God?"

The preacher's text of the evening was: "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved.

The speaker pointed out that to be saved one must have faith in Christ as a Saviour, but that faith meant more than mere belief in Christ. Devils believe but are not saved. It was shown that faith must include repentance of sin, turning from sin and submission unto divine truth. Saving faith not only requires trust in Christ but obedience to Him.

He pointed out that conviction of sin which compelled one to seek a Saviour did not come by feeling, but conviction came from a knowledge of God's word; that the Holy Spirit does not convict men of sin by feeling but by the truth.

Only two facts need to be known to become a Christian—myself a sinner and Jesus Christ a Saviour. It was shown that when the children of Israel were bitten by poisonous reptiles in their wilderness journey and Moses at the direction of God placed a brazen serpent on a pole that all who looked might be healed, all that was needed for healing was the knowledge "I am bitten; there is the remedy."

In closing the speaker said the question of salvation resolves itself into the one which Pilate asked: "What wilt thou do then with Jesus which is called Christ?" If you reject Him "What wilt you do without Him?"

SHOPMEN'S STRIKE END SEEMS TO BE IN SIGHT

Chicago, August 12.—While only a few of the striking federated railway shopmen in the Chicago district have returned to work, railroad officials were optimistic today over prospects of an early return of workmen to their places pending a settlement of their wage demands or the result of a strike vote, for which ballots have been distributed from Washington by the international officers in the regular way.

The striking shopmen in plants near this city appear to be firm in their determination to hold out against instructions of the international officers and the appeal of President Wilson, but from many other parts of the country reports came that thousands of men had gone back to work or would return today.

MINISTER AND CAR TAKE BAPTISMAL TRIP INTO LAKE

Although a Methodist and believer in baptism by sprinkling the Rev. Don Nichols, pastor of the Locust street church, took part in a baptism by immersion a few days ago. The Rev. Nichols recently drove to Bethany Park Lake and one afternoon left his automobile standing on the beach near the lake. Evidently he had not set the brakes on his machine, for presently he noticed his car gliding down toward the water. The Rev. Nichols sprinted for the machine, but it beat him to the water and went into the lake in five feet of water. The Rev. Nichols secured the services of a teamster and team and got the car back onto the shore. Now he is stronger than ever for baptism by sprinkling. It might be added that the Rev. Nichols as well as the auto got a good drenching.

The house was artistically decorated with palms, ferns, gladiolas and roses. Candelabra were used in the two parlors.

A wedding breakfast was served immediately following the ceremony. In the dining room the pink and white color scheme was also carried out in the decorations, ices and confections.

Miss Evans is a graduate of DePauw University, where she took an active part in all social and college activities and is a member of the Alpha Phi and Phi Beta Kappa fraternities.

Mr. Brinson who is the elder son of Mrs. Mary Brinson, is a resident of St. Petersburg, Fla., where he is a well known young business man.

A TRAVELING MAN'S EXPERIENCE

You may learn something from the following by W. H. Ireland, a traveling salesman of Louisville, Ky. "In the summer of 1888 I had a severe attack of cholera morbus. I gave the hotel porter fifty cents and told him to buy me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and to take no substitute. I took a double dose of it according to the directions and went to sleep. At five o'clock the next morning I was called by my order and took a train for my next stopping place, a well man."

A GREAT REMEDY.

The merits of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy are well known and appreciated, but there is acquaintance with them and should occasionally a man who has had no read the following by F. H. Dear, a hotel man at Dupuyer Mont. "Four years ago I used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy with such wonderful results that I have recommended it to my friends."

Miss Blanche Harcourt of the Allen Brothers store, has gone to Indianapolis, where she will spend a week's vacation with her sister, Mrs. Charles Reed and Mr. Reed.

Distance Travelled in Dancing.
A young man fond of dancing took a pedometer with him to a ball, and found that in the course of the evening he had covered thirteen and a half miles. The average length of a waltz was half a mile; of a polka, three-quarters of a mile; of a galop or schottische, a mile, and of a lancers, a quarter of a mile. A girl usually dances more than a man, and is calculated to cover more than twice as much in a single evening.

GROCER UP AGAINST IT.

"I have been up against it for the past three years suffering from pain in my stomach and side until I was considering giving up my grocery business. Doctors and medicine did not help me. I heard of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy through a friend in Buffalo. The first dose gave me more benefit than all the medicine I had taken before and am now feeling as well as ever in my life." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale by druggists everywhere.—Adv.

THANKS IS VOICED BY SEYMOUR LADY

Mrs. Woodward Expresses Deep Gratitude for Trutona, Following Quick Relief.

Seymour, Ind., August 12.—"Trutona has relieved me of a great deal of suffering and unpleasantness and I feel that I should recommend it to anyone who is suffering as I did," Mrs. Anna Woodward, a well known Seymour woman residing at 206 Jeff avenue, said recently.

"Mine was a complication of troubles. My liver and kidneys were out of shape and I had indigestion and was bothered with nervousness. For the past three months I have had severe pains in my back and sides, especially in my right side. I would become short of breath at times and frequently had severe pains around my heart. I was nervous and couldn't rest well at night. I usually felt so tired and draggy that I could scarcely do my housework.

"The pains in my back and sides have disappeared now. My appetite has improved wonderfully and I can again enjoy my meals. I'm not nervous any more, either, and can rest well at night. And I'm not all tired out after doing my housework these days. I must say I certainly feel stronger and better now and I'm glad to recommend Trutona."

PESKY BED BUGS

A MILLION BEDBUGS. Just think, a 35c package of the new golden chemical P.D.Q. (Pesky Devils' Quicker), is enough to make a quart and enough to kill a million bedbugs, no matter how large they may be, or where they came from, their color or sex, and at the same time a coating on their eggs and prevents hatching.

CUT THIS OUT. This new chemical can be had at any first-class drug store. A 35c package makes a quart of P.D.Q., and will go farther than a barrel of old-fashioned bug killer. Don't let anybody impose upon your intelligence by offering you something else. Insist on what you ask for, then you'll have what doctors prescribe.

KILLS PLEAS ON DOGS. It's fun to see the flea drop off your pet dog.

KILLS CHICKEN LICE. No use for your chickens to have lice. A 35c package mixed makes a gallon of chicken lice killer.

Your druggist has it, or can get it for you.

DIME NOVELS COMING BACK

In Eighteen Months "Nick Carter" Has Had Sales That Have Been Record Breaking.

Nick Carter has come into his own again. The king of the "paperbacks" has made a record-breaking return to popularity. About eighteen months ago his sales began to mount steadily until the entire supply of Nick Carter books was exhausted, says the Sun.

His return to fame was unexpected. It was not the result of an advertising campaign, for the publishers of the paper-bound books do not advertise. They depend instead for the sale of their books on the lists printed in the back pages of each volume.

And Nick Carter was not the only member of the "paperback" tribe to return. All the old favorites—Laura Jean Libbey, Bertha M. Clay, Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth and Augusta J. Evans—have "come back" surprisingly.

Five years ago everyone was willing to predict that the movies had killed the production of cheap books. Thrills could be absorbed more quickly from the screen than from the printed page—and the price was the same. Publishers of the paper books are uncertain whether their old reading public has tired of the motion picture or whether a new class of readers has arisen. Of one thing they are certain, though, the demand for the 10 and 15-cent book has increased fourfold. If it were not for the increased cost of production these publishers would be reaping the harvest of their lives.

Stories of American life—as seen by Bertha M. Clay and other writers of her class—and detective stories are most in demand. Fortune-telling books and letter writers also have a large steady sale. "Dream" books were never so popular as they are today, their publishers say.

The Bells of St. Paul's

The bells of St. Paul's cathedral, at London, are rung on Sundays, holy days and special occasions by twelve members of the Society of College Youths. To become a member of this society very severe tests have to be passed in campanology. The duty of chiming the bells for the weekday services falls upon one man, who, by passing the ropes through a series of pulleys and bringing them together, is enabled to chime six bells by himself. He chimes the bells for the 8 o'clock service, starting at 7:45 with two bells for ten minutes, then ringing one bell for five minutes. For the 10 o'clock and 4 o'clock services he chimes six bells for ten minutes, then one bell for five minutes.

Protecting White Heron.

Venezuela has passed a rigid ruling for the protection of the white heron, one of her most important sources of revenue. The egret or white heron produces the delicate plumes almost worth their weight in platinum. In the molting season—from July to November—the feathers may be collected. This does away with killing and trapping of the rare birds. Collectors of customs must be certain that the feathers passing through their hands for export have not been pulled from slaughtered or captured herons. The white heron haunts are found beside the waterways and lakes of two Venezuelan states—Apure and Bolivar.

Origin of Drinking Pledges.

Pledging each other in wine was in reality nothing more than the survival of the once universal custom of parties drinking together in ratification of a bargain. It is in this sense that some Jewish and Russian couples drink wine at their betrothal ceremonies. The Hebrew, after drinking, dashes the vessel to the ground, in memory of the destruction of the Temple; whereas the Russian tramples the glass beneath his feet, with the pious wish: "May they thus fall under foot and be trodden to pieces who shall endeavor to sow dissension and discord between us."

Father's Taste.

Henry's father always prided himself on his taste in the selection of socks and ties, but it remained for his young son to take the conceit out of him. At a recent sale of neckwear he bought a new tie for the boy. On presenting it there was not as much enthusiasm displayed over the gift as he could have wished. When father left the room Henry turned to his mother and said: "Gee, mom, this tie looks to me like a piece of upholstery."

Naturally.

A muckluge factory in New Jersey recently burned down, throwing 400 people out of employment. This misfortune has cast a gloom over the entire community.—Boston Transcript.

AN OLD FAULT FINDER.

An irritable and fault finding disposition is often caused by indigestion. A man with good digestion and bowels that act regularly is usually good natured. When troubled with indigestion or constipation take Chamberlain's Tablets. They strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels.

MANIFOLD USES OF THE OX

Animal May With Truth Be Said to Be Most Useful of All the Domestic Animals.

Of all our domestic animals the ox is certainly the most useful, writes Henri Fabre in Our Humble Helpers. During its lifetime it draws the cart in mountainous regions and works at the plow in the tillage of the fields; furthermore, the cow furnishes milk in abundance. Given over to the butcher, the animal becomes a source of manifold products, each part of its body having a value of its own. The flesh is highly nutritious; the skin is made into leather for harness and shoes; the hair furnishes stuffing for saddles; the tallow serves for making candles and soap; the bones, half-calcined, give a kind of charcoal or bone black used especially for refining sugar and making it perfectly white; this charcoal, after thus being used, is a very rich agricultural fertilizer; heated in water to a high temperature, the same bone yields the blue used by carpenters; the largest and thickest bones go to the turner's shop, where they are manufactured into buttons and other small objects, the horns are fashioned by the maker of small wares into snuff boxes and powder boxes; the blood is used concurrently with the bone of black in refining sugar; the intestines, cured, twisted, and dried, are made into strings for musical instruments; finally, the gall is frequently turned to account by dyers and cleaners in cleaning fabrics and partially restoring their original luster.

PETE HAD OBEYED ORDERS

Literal-Minded Soldier Came Near Getting His Commanding Officer Into a Bad Mess.

There is a certain young officer who, according to his own story, is thanking his stars that General Pershing had a sense of humor.

"Some of my men were Polish, and better soldiers never lived, but I guess in Poland life has been one long, sad story," said the officer. "Anyway, I never ran across a bunch who took things so literally. One night the Germans sent out a three-inch shell that landed square in the trench. In the morning I told one of my men, Pete, we called him, to take it away."

"Where shall I take it?" he asked.

"Oh, anywhere," I answered peevishly, "put it to bed in Pershing's tent."

"A little later a brother officer came along and said: 'The old man wants you, and there's something doing.'"

"I couldn't imagine what was up until I stood before the chief. He eyed me sternly and then pointed to his bunk, and would you believe it, there was that blamed shell. Pete sure had obeyed orders. Well, I thought I was in for it, but Pershing suddenly began to smile. He said: 'I just want to caution you not to order Pete to capture Berlin until the rest of us are ready to go with him. He might go and do it, you know.'—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

OFFERS EVERYBODY A CHANCE

Philanthropic Seattle Man Throws Open Hall for Absolutely Free and Uninterrupted Speech.

A philanthropic fight promoter—one of the enterprising gentlemen who has been in the habit of putting on a boxing match every week or two—is much annoyed at the spasmodic interference of the officers of the law in his business affairs, and is proposing to throw open his hall for a weekly forum of free and uninterrupted speech, in place of the boxing bouts.

"I want every guy that has anything to say to come over and say it," said the promoter, according to the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, "and I'll give him ten minutes to spout, and then he must shut his trap. I don't care what he is; any kind of a nut can come over and say right out what is on his chest. My luck has been so bad, and my spirits so depressed, that I want a laugh, and I believe a nut gathering of this kind would equal anything the best of them ever put on. You know, nature keeps playing jokes on humanity all the time; she mixes together some queer patterns in heads, and a lot of fellows can't help what they think; some have a bunch for one thing and some for another; I suppose we could get a few startling facts on anything from religion to chess in these verbal tournaments. And it will be absolutely free; I might pass the hat around at the close of the entertainment to square me on the hall rent, but for the rest I wouldn't want a cent to pay outside of the entertainment I got out of it. As soon as I can pull a jazz band together to fit in with the speechmaking I will announce the details, and we will be sure in for a summer's entertainment, if the sheriff don't close us up."

HOMESICK FOR ARCTIC SNOWS

No Affection About the Longing for Far North That Is Experienced by Explorers.

If you are of ordinary health and strength, if you are young enough to be adaptable and independent enough to shake off the influence of books and belief, you can find good reason to be as content and comfortable in the North as anywhere on earth.

If you remember that all of us who have spent more than a year "living on the country," are quite of the Eskimo opinion that no food on earth is better than caribou meat, and if you have any experience in your life as a hunter anywhere, you will realize that in the evenings when we sit in these warm snow houses, feasting with keen appetites on unlimited quantities of boiled ribs, we have all the creature comforts.

What we lack, if we feel any lack at all, will be possibly the presence of friends far away, or the chance to hear opera or see the movies. At any rate, it is true that today in the movie-infested city I long for more snow house evenings after caribou hunts as I never in the North longed for clubs or concerts or orange groves. And this is not peculiar to me. The men who have hunted with me are nearly all of the same mind—they are either in the North now, on the way back there by whaling ship, or eating their hearts out because they cannot go.—Vilhelm Steffansson in Harper's Magazine.

Probably Envious.

"After a few months in other states, I was returning to Indianapolis," remarked a traveling salesman, "and I don't mind telling you I was glad to be getting back home. As I sat down beside the stranger I told him how good it was to be back in the land of cornfields."

"So we started to talk about the beauty spots of Mother Nature. It is nothing more than natural for any Hoosier to talk about his own state. And I had to ask him whether he had ever been in Brown county."

"The stranger looked out of the car window a minute, saying softly to himself: 'Brown county, Brown county.' When he looked around at me again he said:

"Yes, I have been there. That's the place where the squirrels have to carry a lunch with them when they go across the county. Is it not?"—Indianapolis News.

Flowers of Poland.

According to an English newspaper correspondent who recently reported a journey he had made from Paris to the Polish capital, the most impressive spectacle that he saw was the mantle of blossoms, clustered profusely, which fringed the highways and byways about Warsaw. "All the wars of Poland," he writes, "could not check the new life that came riding through her borders at the head of the advancing spring: sprays of lilac found place in the gray caps of Polish lancers, tulips and chestnut leaves, tokens of the new dawn, in the garb of peer and peasant. Everywhere was spring yielding back a measure of her everlasting rights." But the flowers never took much notice of the war even "at the front."

Runs News Stand Without Hands.

There is a boy running a news stand in Union square, New York city, who has no hands. He opens and closes his stand, opens and folds his papers and passes them out to customers without delay or difficulty, and makes change like an expert.

Lon Young is his name. He lost both hands in an explosion when thirteen years old, but that handicap did not hinder him from going into business and making a success of it.

"The cripple who has spunk is as good as anyone else," he says.

Persian Carpets.

The shah of Persia has passed a law forbidding persons to weave carpets according to European design. Violation of the enactment is a criminal offense, and the imperative attitude taken will have a greater tendency than ever to raise the Persian carpet to the position of a family heirloom for generations, such careful treatment does it receive. When the owner of a valuable carpet dies he very often gives instructions that it shall be cut in pieces as heirlooms to his successors, and should a member of the family not receive a portion he would feel very greatly slighted. The designs of Persian carpets have been handed down from remote ages. Each family keeps its own design, no two carpets being alike for fear of the evil eye.

"Poison" Made Hit in Harem.

The origin of wine making also is claimed by the Persians, whose king, Jemsheed, stored a quantity of grapes in his cellar for future use. The grapes fermented and, becoming very acid, were believed to be poison. They were so labeled. A woman of the king's harem, who desired to commit suicide, took freely of the juice and became very drunk. After a lengthy sleep, however, she awoke perfectly well, and was so pleased with her experiment that she finished the remainder of the poison. Jemsheed found out what had happened too late to "come in" on the first vintage, but he took steps to insure having a plentiful supply of juice in future for himself.

In Switzerland.

It is the peculiar characteristic of Switzerland that, after crossing its frontiers, one never appears to have wholly left the neighboring countries behind. The northern "gates" seem to introduce one to a modified Germany; at Geneva one is still in a French-speaking country; while the impression one receives upon entering from the south of still being upon Italian soil is at first difficult to shake off. The character of the scenery serves only to heighten the illusion. Ethnologically, as well as physically, the soil of Switzerland seems to invite the various people of the earth to make of the country a place of rendezvous where international differences are forgotten.

Invaluable Coconut.

What the coconut means to the South Sea Islands native, Mr. Farrell says, scarcely can be exaggerated. He makes that of the leaves. In some islands he wears a skirt of shredded leaf. Coconut sennit is his cord. In most low islands, where the water is brackish and undrinkable, he depends on the milk of a green nut, or, better, the sap of a tightly bound bud. Fermented, this becomes coconut toddy, and, boiled, it is a brown, sweet-sour beverage. When the islander dances or goes abroad in the rain he anoints his body with coconut-oil. And every dog takes its toll from the copra production.

Old Saying.

The proverb "One swallow does not make a summer" is very ancient. You will find it in the Ethics of Aristotle, who was born 384 years before the Christian era. There it takes this form: "One swallow maketh not a spring, nor a woodcock a winter." In Attica the children were given a holiday when the swallow first appeared in the spring, and Horace connected the zephyrs of the spring with the coming of the swallows. In Italy and Spain the proverb still runs: "One swallow does not make a spring." But in more northern latitudes the swallow arrives later, and their proverbial literature has it that one swallow does not make a summer.

Agnosticism.

Agnosticism is a school of thought which believes that beyond what man can know by his senses or feel by his higher affections, nothing can be known. Facts or supposed facts both of the lower and the higher life, are accepted, but all inferences deduced from these facts as to the existence of an unseen world, or of beings higher than man are considered unsatisfactory, and are ignored. Agnostics, positivists, and secularists have much in common, and many people exist to whom any one of the three names might be indifferently applied.

Ancient Game Is Cribbage.

Cribbage is one of the few card games that is of undoubted English origin. It was played in Elizabethan times, only in those days it went by the name of "nuddy." The earliest treatise on the game is contained in "The Compleat Gamester," published in 1674. Now there is quite a library of books on cribbage, which explain how to play it, and elucidate the mysteries of "one for his nob," "two for his heels," and other quaint expressions of the game, handed down to us through the centuries.

Dog Long Friend of Man.

The dog is said to be the first animal to be domesticated by man. The primitive dwarf tribes of the Philippines, the pygmies of equatorial Africa and the Veddas of Ceylon when white Europeans first came to know them had one domestic animal—the dog. When Columbus landed on the island of Haiti he found there an excellent breed of dogs, used for hunting by the natives, who, when not employing them in the chase kept them in cages.

HAPPY NATIVES OF SARAWAK

Under Wise Government, People Live Easy Lives in Their Gloriously Fertile Country.

The tribe of Kayans, inhabiting the head waters of the Baram and Rajang rivers of Sarawak, have lived for unknown generations almost isolated in the interior of the island of Borneo. There are many reasons for believing them to be originally of Caucasian origin. Many of them have very light skin, and they probably reached Borneo by way of the Malay peninsula from lower Burma. Rigid discipline is characteristic of the domestic menage, resulting in good manners and recognition of authority.

For a good many years Sarawak was under the independent government of a white rajah, Sir Charles Brooke, who controlled his mingled subjects with unusual wisdom and sympathy. Among other far-sighted edicts he instituted stringent game laws, so that the island is one of the best protected parts of the world in this respect. Birds, beasts and butterflies are protected, not more than two specimens of any one species being allowed to the collector. In this way the very beautiful and rare trees and insects of the country are being maintained for the enjoyment of future generations.

Another wise move of the rajah was to continue the native costume—what there is of it—in place of introducing the unsuitable, ugly and artificial modern clothing of Europeans. This, as Stevenson points out, has usually exactly the opposite effect from that intended by well-meaning missionaries, and the happy natives of Sarawak are very well off as they are.

GOOD WORK WITH CAMERA

Explorers in Northwestern Canada Have Photographic Studies of Wilderness Wild Life.

After a three years' hunt with the camera in the almost unknown Laird river district in northwestern Canada, H. A. Stewart and John Sommelson have come back to civilization by way of Peace River, Alberta, bringing several thousand photographic studies of the manners and customs of the wild life of those remote woods and streams. The explorers, for they well deserve the name, worked into the wilderness by way of Hudson's Hope and the forks of the Findlay and Parsnip rivers as far as Fort Graham. Their negatives illustrate the habits of the ptarmigan, moose, beaver, Canadian wild geese and other animals and birds that have seldom been observed with anything like thoroughness by means of the camera. The travelers had devices of various sorts whereby their subjects were enticed to spots upon which the hidden lenses were focused; and upon reaching these spots an ambushed camera man "snapped" them by twitching a long cord attached to the lens shutter. A single negative of some specially shy animal was often the only fruit of many hours of patient waiting. Sometimes for days the explorers would watch a single spot through their field glasses awaiting the favorable moment to "shoot." But it was all worth it.

Gleaning the Stumps.

The rapid decrease in the number of tall stumps which have been so familiar to the traveler through the coast hills of Oregon, is regarded as an indication of their approaching extinction. Hitherto some 20 feet of each stump has been left standing, silent relics of former monarchs of the forest, too thick for most saws to compass and too full of pitch to suit the sawmills. But now the need for timber is greater and men no longer climb high up on to boards thrust into notches in the trunk to suit the saw and the sawmill. They have learned thrift and they cut low down lest good lumber be uselessly wasted. Only as a record of past wastefulness are the tall stumps with their deep notches still visible.

A Filipino Vassar.

What the accidental ideals of universal opportunities of education are to mean to women of the Orient takes on a large significance with the establishment in the Philippines of a university for girls only. This university is to be part of an educational group called Centro Escolar de Senoritas, where until now the instruction to girls has been only in the primary, secondary and intermediate grades. That this Filipino Vassar will develop traditions characteristic of girls' colleges in the United States cannot be doubted by anyone who has observed how wholeheartedly though shyly, girl students from the Orient have entered into the undergraduate studies, festivities and pastimes at American colleges.

Coquelin's Memory.

"How many parts do you know well enough to play tonight if need be?" somebody asked Coquelin. He took a sheet of paper and wrote down the names of 53 plays of his repertoire. His friends laughed.

"You are boasting surely, mon ami?" said the Visconte de Lovenoul.

"You have every one of those plays in your library," said Coquelin quietly. "Get them all out and put them on the table." The visconte did so. "Now," said Coquelin, "let anybody select a cue from any one of these plays at hazard and give it to me."

They tried him with 16 plays out of the 53 and he never missed a single cue or made one mistake.—Fortnightly Review.

CLAIMS HONOR FOR GEORGIAN

Savannah Newspaper Asserts That Elias Howe Was Not Inventor of the Sewing Machine.

The centenary of the birth of Elias Howe, the modest Yankee who invented the sewing machine, took place on June 9. There was no extended observance of the day, observes Hartford Courant, yet it was Howe who took a good deal of the drudgery out of the lives of millions of American women. He also increased the power of his fellow men to produce garments and other material that formerly needed the patient handwork of individuals.

But it is interesting to observe, in connection with the anniversary, that the Savannah News undertakes the rather hopeless task of trying to convince its readers that it was not Howe, but a Georgian, Francis R. Goulding, who constructed and operated the first sewing machine. This paper says that this man, a Presbyterian preacher or living in Liberty county, married a Savannah girl and then began work on a sewing machine in order that he might save his fair wife much hard work. Alleging this was long before Howe patented his machine, and also that Goulding never patented his, they try to show his motives were purely altruistic and not commercial.

It all sounds good, but it will take considerable "space" in the Georgia newspapers to convince the world that Goulding takes the prize.

MONKEY CHAIN CALLED MYTH

Recent Travelers in South America Explain Probable Origin of Story Once Implicitly Believed.

An interesting article by Prof. E. W. Guder, in a recent issue of Natural History, deals with the time-honored story on which most of us were brought up that South American monkeys are in the habit of crossing alligator-infested streams by linking their tails and legs to form a living bridge. Pictures of this feat once figured extensively in the school geographies, and Professor Guder reproduced such a picture from a Fourth reader published as late as 1897. The story was first told, so far as known, by the Jesuit priest Padre Jose Acosta in a work published in 1599. Several later writers have repeated the tale. The first person to dispute its veracity was Baron Humboldt. Recently explorers of South America, when they mention the story at all, express skepticism. Finally, Messrs. Leo E. Miller and George K. Cherrise of the American Museum of Natural History, who have done so much traveling and collecting in South America, have suggested to Professor Guder a plausible origin for such tales. They think that the story of the "monkey bridge" has come about through observation of a procession of monkeys crossing a ravine or stream on a pendulous liana.—Scientific American.

Why Americans Lost Contract.

"Speaking of Chinese railroads reminds me of the failure of an American manufacturer to obtain a contract for locomotives because his European competitors made a more careful study of Chinese peculiarities," writes Lynn W. Meekins in the Scientific American. "One locomotive was ordered from each of the competing companies. In every respect save one the American product was unmistakably superior. However, it had been painted black before shipment from the works, and on the way across the Pacific it became more or less rusted. Its appearance, therefore, was far less attractive than that of the European locomotives, which were painted in accordance with Chinese preference, and had been touched up by the manufacturers' agents after arriving in China. Don't get your colors mixed if you want to sell goods to the Chinese."

No Flattery Intended.

"Is that a portrait of your grandmother when she was young?" asked the awkward visitor. "How it resembles you, Miss Ugleton!"

"Now you only say that to flatter me. Grandma was quite a beauty, and everybody knows that I—ahem—I make no pretensions of that kind."

"I assure you, Miss Ugleton," exclaimed the A. V., "flattery is far from my thoughts. The family resemblance is striking. I've often known cases like that. There were two sisters I knew when I was a boy. They were wonderfully alike, like that portrait's like you, and yet one of them was as beautiful as a poet's dream, and the other was dreadful—that is, I mean, she wasn't at all—or, rather, she was lacking in that—that attractive quality, you know, that constitutes—what a lovely frame this portrait has, eh?"—Edinburgh Scotsman.

India Again Importing.

All restrictions on the importation into India of any American manufactures or products, with the exception of gold and silver coin or bullion and cocaine, have been removed. Importation of cocaine and allied drugs is forbidden at all times except under a license granted by the chief customs officer at the place of import. The importation of gold and silver coin and bullion is restricted in that the government of India reserves the right to purchase all importations of same.

Neglecting Opportunities.

"Then what are so many fellows doing marring over there in France?"

COST HIM MORE THAN FIFTY

Mr. Travers Had Not Properly Estimated His Losses on That Little Fistic Encounter.

"I can't afford to lose $50 on a prize fight," mourned Gelatine Travers an hour or so after the shock he received over the wires that fatal Friday afternoon. "But you have lost it, haven't you?" we asked, and he nodded disconsolately as he climbed aboard a homebound car. He must have felt a premonition as he mourned, for it is unlike Mr. Travers to regret his losses; and when he arrived home he broke the news to Mrs. Travers, along with the implied suggestion that a little economy for the next few weeks would not come amiss. Mrs. Travers said nothing in her most sympathetic manner, and the evening's conversation covered topics wholly foreign to prize fights. At the breakfast table next morning Mr. Travers had no taste for anything the morning paper might have to say, and Mrs. Travers gained possession of it without the usual contest. Glancing through the paper rapidly Mrs. Travers tore out a square section from page 2, and another from page 11. Then at one of those unexpected moments every woman knows breakfast is replete with, said: "So you could lose $50 on a prize fight. Well, well, here is a sale I have been awaiting for a long time. And strange to say, here is another just across the street—one is on suits and the other on gowns. And the strangest of all, we happen to have accounts at both those stores. Fifty dollars, you say, you lost? Was it an even fifty?" And so it was that the breakfast dishes at the Travers' home went unwashed Saturday morning because Mrs. Travers was obliged to catch an early jitney downtown and commence operations.—Kansas City Star.

WILLING TO BE PUT WISE

Private Ready to Absorb Any Information Brigadier General Was Able to Impart.

In all the armies in the war discipline was lax in the air service. Army men are at a loss to account for it, but without exception laxity was evident in all the air camps.

The San Francisco Chronicle tells the following experience told by Brig. Gen. Benjamin Alvord when the latter was assistant general of the A. E. F. The general had been sent by General Pershing to make an inspection about Colombey-le-Belloc.

He walked around without getting the attention the doughboys would show an officer of his rank. No one saluted him and no one noticed him. Once in a while a captain or a major would snap a salute, but not the enlisted men. It rather riled the general, who always scrupulously followed army regulations himself. Finally when a private passed him with a cigar in his mouth, and although looking right at him, failed to salute, the general thought it was time to call a halt.

"Come here, young fellow," he called. "Say, what do you do in this camp when a general officer shows up?"

Pipe Built Like a Cornet.

A tobacco pipe of unusual design has been invented by Warren Murray Baechtel of Hagerstown, Md. Every pipe smoker knows that the longer the stem of his pipe the cooler will be the smoke. Pipes with stems a few feet long have been in use in different countries for many years, but their awkward length precluded their use outside of the house. The inventor of the pipe circumvented the difficulty by coiling the stem of the pipe like the tube of a cornet or signal horn. The coils are connected at their lower end to form a dripping chamber for receiving the saliva which accumulates in the stem. Each coil has an independent opening into the dripping chamber and a screw cap at the bottom gives access to it for the removal of the accumulated saliva. The smoke, in passing through the coils of the stem, is drained several times of saliva and nicotine.

Prelude to Adventure.

"I have placed my will in my safety deposit box," grimly said J. Fuller Gloom. "My pockets are filled with condensed and desiccated foods. I shall attach the end of this stout cord to a convenient projection, light a candle and enter, crawling carefully among the stalactites and stalagmites, paying out the cord as I go, and—"

"Great heavens, Mr. Gloom!" ejaculated an acquaintance. "Are you contemplating exploring some vast and dismal cavern?"

"Yes, I am going into our Kansas City post office for the purpose of having weighed, purchasing stamps for, and mailing this parcel-post package."—Kansas City Star.

Liquid Accident.

Secretary Elmer Thompson of the Automobile Club of America said in New York the other day:

"The automobile gets the blame for everything. A man lay in the middle of the road one evening, surrounded by a large crowd. An old lady pushed her way into the crowd and said:

"'Poor fellow! Poor young fellow! I suppose an automobile ran into him.'"

"No, ma'am," said a policeman. "It wasn't an automobile that ran into him this time."

"What was it, then?" said the old lady.

"It was a keg, or maybe a keg and a half of beer," said the policeman."
