I, S. Eugene Whiteside, of Greencastle, Ind., do hereby declare this to be my last will and testament revoking all wills and testamentary papers heretofore by me made.

Item I. I direct that as soon as possible after my death that my estate shall be converted into cash. In converting said estate, however, my executor shall take the time required to make advantageous sales and so conduct the conversion that my estate shall not suffer, so far as possible. If my said brother should not care to purchase said stock or only a portion of the same, then A. Glen Brown, now of Greencastle, Ind., shall have the option to purchase the same or such portion as my brother might not elect to take under the terms and conditions as heretofore indicated relative thereto. The said Loring J. Whiteside, said price, however, not to be in excess of four times the par value in any event. In so purchasing said Chautauqua stock as herein provided, said executor is empowered and directed to accept the note of my said brother for the purchase price thereof, said notes to bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum and the terms thereof not to extend over a period to exceed five years after my death.

The End of a Perfect Day

H. C. L. IN PUTNAM WILL BE PROBED IN JUSTICE COURT

ATTORNEY GENERAL WARNS MERCHANTS AS TO PROFITEERING ON TOMATOES AND POTATOES.

INVESTIGATION STARTS MONDAY

The investigation of the H. C. L. in Putnam county will be under Deputy Prosecutor Tarvin C. Grooms in the justice of peace court instead of before the jury, as recently stated by Prosecutor Fay Hamilton. This was advised by Attorney General Ele Stansbury, of Indianapolis. In a letter to Prosecutor Fay Hamilton Mr. Stansbury warns the merchants as to profiteering on tomatoes and potatoes. The work of investigation by Mr. Grooms will begin Monday morning. The following letter was received from Attorney General Ele Stansbury:

August 14, 1919.

To the Prosecuting Attorneys:

I wish to call your attention to Section 9045 Burns' R. S. 1914. I believe it would be a good idea for you to bring parties before a justice and examine them under oath where you find exorbitant prices are being charged, or where you have suspicion that there is a combination.

I am inclined to think that we can get the prices for which goods are being purchased from the producers and the prices for which these same articles are selling, and if the people understand the situation the merchants will be compelled by public sentiment to do the right thing.

When merchants are buying potatoes for $1.50 per bushel and selling them for $3.00, that is too much profit. If they pay $1.25 a bushel for tomatoes, $3.00 is too much for the retail price.

I am inclined to think that the selling of such articles by the pound is deceiving some of our people. They do not complain of two cents a pound profit, while they would seriously object if they realized they were paying $1.20 per bushel profit.

Watch out for combinations and extortion and let us do the best we can to make the facts public; in so doing I think we can do much good. The federal officers have the advantage of us, but we owe a duty to the people along the line I have suggested.

Very respectfully,

ELE STANSBURY,
Attorney General.

BASKET DINNER REATURE SUNDAY AT WESLEY CHAPEL

"The sinner must say to those who come near 'unclean, unclean, unclean,' the same as did the leprous of the olden days," said the Rev. L. A. Dodd Friday evening before a large audience assembled in the Wesley Chapel church. Sunday will be the closing day. There will be an all day service. Sunday school and preaching service in the morning, a song sermon and address in the afternoon, and preaching at night. The Rev. C. F. Reed, of Greencastle, will give an address to the Wesley Chapel people in the afternoon. The church has a new lighting system and piano. About fifty persons have come forward in the meeting and the people are greatly interested in Sunday's meeting. Long tables have been built on the north side of the church and the people will gather around this for the noon-day meal. Harry Maxwe" was has been conducting the singing, has organized two large choruses and will use both for the Sunday services. Many car loads of Greencastle people are expected to attend the services. Sunday. Prof. R. A. Ogg of this city, pastor of the church, will be present Sunday and talk to the people.

The Rev. Dodd spoke strongly against a few evils which have been stated to exist around the Wesley Chapel neighborhood, among which were gambling, smoking and cursing. "As leprosy starts with one little spot of disease upon the human body, so does sin. First the little thing, the trifling sin, comes first, and then it grows until the person becomes lost to righteousness Christ and his fellowmen," said the Rev. Dodd.

CULLING OF CHICKENS TO BE DEMONSTRATED

Mr. Schwartz of the poultry department of Purdue University will be in Greencastle August 20 and 21 and will talk to the farmers on chickens. Mr. Schwartz will address the farmers at the Putnam County Farmers Association-Greencastle Commercial Club picnic to be held at the Hazelett grove August 20 on the culling of laying chickens and non-laying chickens. Mr. Schwartz will place several dozen chickens in a pen and cull the non-layers and layers before the people. This demonstration will be given so that the farmers will save hundreds of dollars by selling the non-laying chickens. Mr. Schwartz will talk before the people of near Bainbridge at the home of O. B. Lane Thursday, August 21, at 10 o'clock and in the afternoon of the 21st will demonstrate his methods of culling chickens at the home of Morton Fordyce two miles south of Russellville at 2:30 o'clock.

The information given by this Purdue expert is invaluable and the farmers of Putnam county should not miss the chance to learn how to save wasted money.

DEMOCRATS GET PROMISE OG 20 ON G. O. P. SIDE

REPUBLICAN COMPROMISE GROUP DECLARES MORE THAN REQUIRED TWO-THIRDS ASSURED FOR RESERVATIONS—LODGE CONSENTS TO PRESENCE OF NEWSPAPER MEN AT WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE.

WILSON KEEPS UP FRONT

Washington, August 16.—Negotiations between Democratic and Republican Senators, looking to ratification of the peace treaty with reservations, reached a more definite stage today, while President Wilson and the foreign relations committee were getting together on unprecedented measures to give the public all the details of their discussions of the treaty next Tuesday at the White House.

Democratic leaders, feeling out sentiment on the Republican side, were told that the treaty could never be ratified without qualification, but that more than twenty Republicans desired to see it accepted in the near future with reservations along the line of those agreed on by seven Senators of that party some days ago.

This information came from members of the group of seven after completion of a poll begun Wednesday on receipt of the first Democratic overtures. The twenty needed by the Democrats to make the necessary ratification majority of sixty-four had not accepted the proposed reservation program in exact form, it was asserted, but had given their assent to its general provisions.

Wilson Holding Out.

Afterward Senator Hitchcock, the Democratic leader, went to the White House and is understood to have laid the whole Senate situation before the President. He made no formal announcement after the conference, but indicated that the administration stand for unserved ratification remained unchanged. Some of the seven reservation Republicans, however, insist that they have had information assuring Democratic assent to their program.

A new draft of reservations was shown to several Republicans during the day by Senator Lodge, the Republican leader. It is understood to cover the four points embraced in the program agreed on by the seven Senators and to include also a provision that appointment of the American representative on the league council must have Senate approval. The other four provisions relate to the Monroe Doctrine, withdrawal from membership, jurisdiction over purely domestic questions and the right of Congress to declare war under Article 10 of the league covenant.

POLITICAL GOSSIP FROM WASHINGTON

Washington, August 16.—Representative Louis W. Fairfield, of Angola, twelfth congressional district of Indiana, has devised a practical method of beating the high cost of living. Fairfield's advice is: "Go out and make more money." As one of those who practices what he preaches, he has gone out to make a little "on the side." While the people who pay the salary of their congressman are worrying over the cost of foodstuffs, Fairfield is on a Chautauqua tour in the New England States beating the high cost of living.

Fairfield's activities have become quite a popular subject of conversation in the Indiana delegation's offices. Some of Fairfield's friends insist other members of the delegation are jealous that Fairfield has found an opportunity to make a little additional pocket money while he is being paid also by the public to represent the twelfth district in Washington.

Being away from Washington at this time is regarded as being rather dangerous for future political aspirations. There is constant demand upon Congress to do something and though little is being done there is an expectation that some day there will be such an outpouring of the public wrath that Congress will be forced to action.

Fairfield knows a great deal about serving the public while away from Congress. It is said his present vacation will extend over ten weeks, which also is slightly longer than any for Washington. He has ability to serve his constituents at a considerable distance. He has been away a large part of other Congresses and also of this mer absence.

Notwithstanding his absenteeism, Fairfield's name is one of the few from Indiana to appear in the Congressional Record. At one time he came into the House for a day, made a speech upon "The Static Conditions of the South" and apparently earned his salary for some time by this oratorical outburst.

Fairfield will be read out of court by his other Republicans from Indiana if he continues to absent himself. There have been a number of measures which were of extreme importance and upon which Fairfield was not recorded. It has been difficult to get him "paired" because of the Re-take vacations away from their duties. So far as is known, Fairfield has not requested leave of absence in accordance with the practice.

Now Fairfield is about to be critical-publican majorities in the House and the great number of Republicans who sided with additional emphasis because it is reported he intends engaging a relative as one of his office force. That has been done in Congress before, but usually there is a bit of discussion about it later. Sometimes a very business-like member will go out and put more than one of his close relatives on his payroll and thus gather in all the spoils. It is another method of beating the high cost of living.

NAZARENES TO HOLD MEETING IN TENT TOMORROW

The weather is so ideal for outdoor meetings that the Nazarenes will hold their Sabbath services in the tent. Rev. T. H. Agnew, of Waverly, Ill., who is working with the pastor to secure funds with which to remodel the new Nazarene church, will preach both morning and evening. Rev. Agnew has been a holiness preacher for forty-two years and comes to us with a ripe experience and at the same time all the vigor and fire of youth. The Sunday school begins at 9:30. Morning worship at 10:30. Evening evangelistic service at 7:45. Many of those who have met Rev. Agnew as he has been soliciting funds for the Nazarene church will be glad of an opportunity to hear him speak. The public is invited to attend both morning and evening services.

MRS. FRANK SHOPTHUGH STRUCK BY BICYCLE

Mrs. Frank Shoptaugh was severely bruised late Friday evening when she was struck by a bicycle on East Washington street ridden by Paul Dodd, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Dodd of this city. Dodd was riding west on the sidewalk coming at a fast rate when Mrs. Shoptaugh stepped from Mrs. Raser Bittles' automobile onto the sidewalk. The view of Mrs. Shoptaugh was obstructed from the bicycle rider by a large tree. Mrs. Shoptaugh was knocked to the ground, severely bruising her right hip, head and wrist. The Dodd boy was thrown from the bicycle and struck his head on the sidewalk, rendering him unconscious for several minutes. Dr. W. W. Tucker and son, Dr. C. C. Tucker, were called and rendered medical aid to Mrs. Shoptaugh and Paul Dodd.

To work for six months as a canteen worker with the American armies on the German border is the experience of Miss Helen Birch, who is in Greencastle, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lockridge and family, who reside on East Washington street. Miss Birch speaks with great enthusiasm of her work in the war and would not take anything for what she has experienced. At first Miss Birch worked in what was called the "dry canteen with the Y. M. C. A. Later she was transferred to the "wet" canteen, where drinks and ice cream were sold. She arrived in New York City Friday, August 9, on one of the largest ships afloat. Miss Birch witnessed the great allied parade in Paris on July 14 celebrating the destruction of the Bastille, an event in the history of France similar to the declaration of independence in the United States.

LOCAL NEWS.

Virgil Grimes, a local electrician, has been awarded the contract for wiring the Hazelett picnic grounds for the Farmers' Association-Greencastle Commercial Club picnic to be held in the Hazelett grove Wednesday August 20. "There will be no night," said Mr. Grimes Friday evening. More than 150 lights will be installed, illuminating the place for the evening entertainments as if day. The contract is a big one and will take at least two days to finish it. Work will be commenced Monday morning by Mr. Grimes.

Miss Virginia Payne, of South Walnut street, will leave the city the first of September for Maxwell, New Mexico, where she will teach in the high school. Carver, who has been stationed in Chicago as district engineering manager for the ordnance department of the army, has received his discharge and returned to the Dodge Manufacturing Company. Miss Alice Thompson returned home Friday evening from an extensive trip with her mother of Des Moines, Ia., in the West. Miss Thompson while on her vacation went to the top of Pike's Peak, was at Colorado Springs and at the Cascades. She reports the weather to be the hottest in Colorado for many years. Walt Mason, one of America's greatest philosophers, was at Colorado Springs while Miss Thompson was there. She said this morning that going to the top of Pike's Peak in autos is quite the fad now. One man driving to the top of Pike's Peak was so wearied he fainted when he reached the top. In many places the road is very narrow and if the driver should make a faulty turn the car might go over a precipice many miles deep.

John W. Taber, of Portland, Ore., who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. R. W. Shafer, left this morning for Cincinnati, where he will visit relatives before returning to his home in the West. Mr. Shafer will go to Cincinnati, Monday, on business.

The big 820-gallon gasoline tank recently received by William McDonald was placed in operation Thursday evening. The affair is a large one and is one of great interest to watch in operation.

Miss Frances Case, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Case, who live near Bethel Chapel church, northeast of Greencastle, has been secured by Harry Maxwell to play the piano accompaniments for the teachers' institute which begins August 18. The music of the institute is always a feature of the five-day session.

Gilbert Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown, who reside on South Indiana street, severely cut the index finger on his right hand Friday afternoon when he accidentally placed his hand in an electric fan while working in the Crawford restaurant. Gilbert was attempting to place the fan so that the breeze might fall upon some canary birds which are kept by Mr. Crawford. In the attempt the fan fell and he hit his hand against the blades. Three deep gashes were cut in his finger.

STRANGER FAINTS IN McWETHY YARD

A young man was found in a faint this afternoon at about 2:30 o'clock on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. McWethy on East Seminary street. Drs. W. W. and C. C. Tucker were called and were unable to state what was the trouble with the young man, suffering either from a faint or from an epileptic attack. The young man gave the appearance of about 22 years of age and might have been a student of Indiana University. Nothing was found on him which would give a clue to his family or to his friends. At time of going to press the stranger had not regained consciousness.

ON THE FUNNY SIDE

Safe.

"I know a perfectly safe place for your diamond rings, mother."
"Where?"
"On Bud's fingers."
"Silly, he'd be sure to lose them."
"No, he wouldn't. You'd never be in any danger of Bud taking them off to wash his hands."

Did His Best.

The tramp touched his hat and walked along beside the horseman.
"You wouldn't think, sir," he said, "but I once had a happy home."
"Then," said the rider, "why didn't you do something to keep it happy?"
"I did, sir," said the tramp; "I left it."—London Tit-Bits.

Good Advice.

"My boy, get this in your head: You don't need to go to New York to make a success."
"No, dad?"
"Not by a long shot. If you've got anything at all worth while, New York will come to you for it."

A New Feat.

"Here's my wife been taking coals to Newcastle."
"In what way?"
"She drove her car against the traffic policeman, pinning him to the semaphore stand, and so she pinched the cop."

Deceptive Conditions.

"We're using a great many one-cent pieces these days."
"Yes. When you get weighed you're not sure whether you are gaining in weight or carrying an extra amount of small change."

No Indication.

"There is one symptom, doctor, you may gather something from as you know the patient. He seems to be wandering."
"That amounts to nothing. Jim always was a bum loafer."

GRASP OF HUMAN NATURE.
Manager—But this play is too high-brow. It will never be a success.
Author—That's where you are mistaken, people always praise things they don't understand.

Standing Room Appreciated.

This world is but a fleeting show. Some say not worth a pin.
But just the same we feel that we're lucky to get in.

Overwork.

"Money is circulating very fast," remarked the economist.
"Yes," replied the ordinary person; "by the time a dollar bill gets around to me it is so tired it can't do anything like the work it used to."

Chronic.

"Is your husband still worrying about his automobile?"
"Constantly," replied Mrs. Chuggins. "I never knew a man to suffer so with flivver complaint."

Had to.

"Why is that stupid attendant on the table always going up and down from the kitchen?"
"It must be because he is a dumb waiter."

Reversing It.

"Queer, wasn't it, those jousts of chivalry?"
"What was queer?"
"Why, every knight made a day of it."

Always at It.

"I know a man who is at the turning point of his life every night."
"How can that be?"
"He tends the big revolving light."

Naturally.

"My brother's business is going to the wall."
"Dear me, how did that happen?"
"He is selling decorative vines."

Their Way.

"Motorists are always speaking contemptuously of pedestrians."
"Yes, I notice they have a way of running them down."

Perceptible Result.

"Confound the luck! The front door has just been painted."
"Yes, it is easy to see you have been up against it."

PROFESSIONAL.

Life and Death were growing tired of the struggle.

"Look here," said Life, "we'll never get anywhere at this rate. I know I could put you out if I wanted to, but why should I? When I finish you I finish myself."

"Just what I was thinking," responded Death. "Why not quit and call it a draw?"

"You're on," said Life.
In that moment some of the world's greatest medical reputations were made.

Workless Affluence.

"You don't sell gold bricks any more?"
"No," replied the wily citizen. "Money is so easy to get nowadays that there's no use of going to all the trouble of hunting up a brick and gilding it."

Place Hunting.

"Some day," said the high-browed youth, "I shall have a place in the hall of fame."
"Well," replied Senator Sorghum, patiently, but absent-mindedly, "may be I can help you. What kind of a place do you want and what salary do you expect?"

Deductive Analysis.

"How did you know the relative Mr. Bips is entertaining is a masculine one?"
"Because Bips remarked in the course of conversation that his visiting relative was very closemouthed."

QUEER.

Chick: It's funny.
Turtle: What is?
Chick: You say you're 80 years old, and you're not out of your shell yet.

Real Literature.

I scorn the magazine designs.
I scoff at books so neat.
I love to read the little signs
Displayed on every street.

Mean Hint.

"Are these flannel cakes, Mrs. Jiggers?"
"No, sir, they are not flannel cakes. Why do you ask?"
"I merely judged they were by their taste."

Magna's Expenses.

Crawford—Since he became a magnate his expenses are enormous.
Crabshaw—No wonder. He hires a doctor to keep him out of bed and a lawyer to keep him out of jail.—Life.

Odd Happenings.

"Pa, do they have lots of snow and ice in Panama?"
"Of course not, son."
"Then how can they have those slides on the canal?"

Pointless.

"The man is a pinhead!" exclaimed the exasperated person.
"Not at all," replied the soothing citizen. "Even a pinhead leads to some sort of a point. He never does."

Details.

"Her father struck me very forcibly."
"As a man of thought?"
"No; as a man of action. He kicked me out."

Delayed Vindications.

"Truth crushed to earth will rise again," said the hopeful person.
"Yes," replied the cynic; "but it's liable to have to go with a crutch for some time after."

Metallic Natures.

"Bliggins has an iron will, but he is behind the times."
"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "That's the trouble with an iron will. It is liable to get rusty."

THERE'S A REASON.

Hubby: I never realized you were so tall before.
Wife: I'm supposed to be—am I not your better half?

Amusing His Friends.

"I'm glad I'm bald," the fat man said. "Although perhaps you doubt it. I find my friends enjoy my head. They love to joke about it."

Couldn't Tell About All the Time.

"Does it rain all the time here," asked a stranger.
"I don't know mister. I sleep pretty well nights and don't know what's happening then."

Suspicious.

"I regard investment in an irrigation company as suspicious."
"Why?"
"Isn't it apt to have water in its stock?"

SCRAPS OF HUMOR

Clever.

Johnson and Thinson were discussing Jackson.
"He's an ideal clerk."
"Is he?"
"Knows more about the business than the boss."
"Yes?"
"And without letting the boss suspect it, too."—London Answers.

Through a Glass Easily.

The Optician—You need spectacles, sir. You are farsighted. Just sit down and we'll—
The Prospect—Hold on, here. The man across the street said I was nearsighted, so I came over here.
The Optician—Exactly. You are farsighted in passing him up and coming to me.

The Scholarly Cut.

"You did not speak to him?"
"No," replied the scholarly girl. "When I passed him I gave him the geological survey."
"The geological survey?"
"Yes. What is commonly known as the stony stare."—Lehigh Burr.

Too Anxious.

"Jiggs told me his wife had met with an accident, and he was so afraid she would attempt to be active with her injury too soon."
"What was her injury?"
"She fractured her jaw."

How He Did It.

"Did you hear that our friend Jones got caught in a copper corner?"
"Was he investing heavily?"
"No, took a little too much hilarity aboard, and ran into a bunch of policemen just around the corner."

Affinity.

"A friend of mine has a small son who asked him the other day why they took up church collections in pans."
"What did he tell him?"
"That it was the natural thing to take a pan to get the dough."

HE EXPLAINS.

"Doctor, why don't you cure more people with your advice?"
"Because a lot of them don't follow it, my friend."

Finishing Advice.

The nurse to the baby, crooning, so. Softly sings, "By-low, by-low." While the baby's business pa doth cry. "That's right, buy low, but, son, sell high."

Her Side of It.

She—Perseverance always wins in the end.
He—Then you'll marry me?
She—No, I was just wondering how much longer I'd have to say "No."—Dartmouth Jack o' Lantern.

Always With Him.

"Come out with us tonight, old chap, and we'll give you a howling time of it."
"Thanks, boys, but the baby attends to that."

Absolutely Veracious.

"Mayne says she's twenty-five. Do you believe that?"
"Of course I do, for to my certain knowledge she was that ten years ago."

The Reason.

"Why did Maud want to go into the garden, ma?"
"Maybe it was because she thought she would find Sweet William there."

The Difference.

"I'm glad I'm not Mrs. Brown's husband. He's always in a pickle."
"I wish I were Mrs. Robinson's husband. He looks so well preserved."

Accounted for.

"Why do they always speak of vessels as in the feminine gender?"
"Maybe one reason is that they're generally trimming their sails."

The Reason of It.

"Your friend has a very peculiar gait."
"It ought to be a very natural one, for he's always on the fence."

Homeopathic Treatment.

"Why do you keep blowing that awful horn in your apartment and deafen the other tenants?"
"Just to keep the baby quiet."

TOPSY-TURVY.

"As a true socialist," remarked the man with rambling whiskers, "I protest against these street car fares. I want them evened up."
"You think the passenger who rides the farthest ought to pay the most?"
"No, sir. The long ride is no favor to him. The man who has the comfort and convenience of a short trip is the one who ought to pay the most."

Something to Worry About.

"What's the matter, old pal? You look terribly blue."
"I am blue. I've been rejected."
"Oh, cheer up! There are plenty of other girls, and anyhow she may change her mind."
"Great Scott, man! It's not a girl, but a life insurance company that has rejected me."

Her New Hat.

Old Brother—Now that strikes me as a silly hat. Why, you can't see where you're going and it doesn't shade the back of your head.
Young Sister—Never mind my head or where I'm going. The purpose of a woman's hat is to make men look under it.—Sidney Bulletin.

They're All Alike.

The Dog Fancier—Don't get scared, ma'am. The pup don't mean nothin' by it. He always growls like that when he's fed.
The Customer—That doesn't disturb me. I've been feeding a husband for six years.

AN UNRULY NAG.

Bug Driver—Look what that fool horse does every time I say "back up!"

More About Joshua.

That Joshua was a wonder! He not only stopped the sun, but he hadn't any parents.
For he was the son of Nun.

When He "Sits Tight."

"Grumpley boasts that he never allows himself to be shaken out of a position, once he has taken it."
"Yes; I've noticed that—especially when it happens to be a sitting position in a street car."

Ate Two Canaries.

May—This cat is worth $15.
Mavis—Last time I was here you said $10.
May—I know, but since then she has eaten two canaries.—London Answers.

Literal.

"Is the girl you introduced me to a fair sample of the beauty of this section?"
"Of course not. How can she be a fair sample when she's a brunette?"

Wife Gave Husband a Tip.

Wife (at the play)—"That act was full of dry humor."
Husband (delightedly)—"I suppose that's why I'm so thirsty. Excuse me a minute."—London Tit-Bits.

And He Generally Is.

He—The lecturer said that a wife should be an open book to her husband.
She—I admit that, my dear. And a husband should be an open pocket-book to his wife.

Explained.

"I wish you would speak to my husband about oyster culture."
"Isn't he interested in it?"
"I should say not. You just ought to hear him eat oyster stew."

The Same.

Belle—This fashion sheet is speaking of the uniform styles of the season.
Nell—I suppose they mean army clothes will be popular.

PROBABLY.

Bill Bug—My, what a large body of water. It must be the Atlantic Ocean.

Counting Up.

My hairs are numbered. I have seen them whiten and then drop away. And now they number just 12.
My lucky number! Hip, hooray!

Doing Penance.

"Where's the old man, Bill?"
"Why, his wife caught him shoveling in chicken pie at a swell restaurant and now he's eating humble pie in the kitchen."

He Could Use It.

Traveler—Did you find a roll containing $50 under my pillow?
Fullman Porter—Yes, sah; thank you, sah.—Cartoons.

ON THE FUNNY SIDE

Continuing in the Old Way.

"Do you act toward your wife as you did before you married her?"
"Exactly. I remember just how I used to act when I first fell in love with her. I used to lean over the fence in front of her house and gaze at her shadow on the curtain, afraid to go in. And I act just the same way now when I get home late."—London Tit-Bits.

Perseverance.

"This is the third time you have tried to explain that proposition to me!"
"Is it?" said the care-worn statesman. "I'll try to choose somebody else next time. You see I'm hopeful that if I try to explain it often enough I may come to understand it clearly myself."

A Difficult Aspiration.

"You depend on the wisdom of the plain people?"
"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum; "but while the plain people out my way are getting their wisdom, I want to be on hand as much as possible, as their instructor."

Suspicious Imitating.

First Hobo—Why did you hesitate when the lady told you to come in and get a bite?
Second Hobo—Well, it sounded hospitable, but I was looking around to see if she kept a dog.

Expert Training.

"Did the professor of physiology have any success with the suspect?"
"Oh, yes; he made him show his hand."
"What then?"
"Then he showed his teeth."—Life.

Obliged to Dissemble.

"The right kind of a man loves his home."
"Yes. But he must be careful about admitting it. Any chance remark on that line may encourage the landlord to raise the rent."

GEORGE'S GUESS.

"Oh, George, I wonder how anyone could say that absence makes the heart grow fonder."
"I guess that must be the absence of a third party."

Another Paradox.

Praised for his open hand and free is old storekeeper Dan. Yet ever since we've known him he has been a self-fish man.
—Boston Transcript.

In the Kitchen.

"It is certainly hard on the dough, poor fellow! He can't get a rise without being worked."
"But just look at the egg. He is always getting whipped for other folks' desserts."

Fitting Match.

"Quite a fitting romance, wasn't it?"
"What was?"
"That of the young credit man who fell in love with the pretty cash girl."

Nearer Problem.

"I say, are you thinking of getting in your winter coat?"
"No; more concerned about not getting a freeze out on my summer ice."

Had to Divorce Him to Get It.

"I understand she married him for his money."
"Did she get it?"
"Finally, in the form of alimony."

Sensing Affinities.

"The young soldier yonder looks as if he has just nosed his powder."
"So he has. The girl just back of him just powdered her nose."

Same Thing.

"I lost a lot of money at bridge this week."
"I didn't know you played bridge."
"I don't, but my wife does."

Contrary to Form.

"The lawyers are lying low in that case."
"That's strange. I expected they'd do some tall lying in it."

Resigned to Conditions.

"You can't expect everything to go along smoothly all the time."
"I don't. I've got a flivver and a motor boat."
