FOUR CARS IN TRAIN

The Indiana Home Special Train, operated by the extension department of Purdue University for the benefit of home economics and agriculture in the state of Indiana, will be in Greencastle on Wednesday, April 14.

The train consists of a four-car special, each car devoted to some line of agriculture or some economics. The first car will contain a complete farm lighting system and power plant. The plant will be running an electric washer, electric ironer, an electrically driven cream separator and churn, and a special milk cooler.

Car No. 2 will contain an exhibit on farm water systems, consisting of the ordinary pitcher pump, used in connection with the kitchen sink. A hydro-pneumatic system, and a system operated by electric and gasoline pumps. The car also will contain a complete farm lighting system.

Car No. 3 has been separated into several small rooms, representing the different rooms of the house. The room which will attract special attention is the kitchen, which is completely equipped as a farm kitchen. This room will also contain a complete lighting system.

Car No. 4 will be used as a lecture and demonstration room. The train should be of great interest to all people of Putnam County, as the exhibits are thoroughly modern through out.

LOCAL STRIKE MAKES

HOG PRICES IRREGULAR

Indianapolis Receipts—Hogs, 3,000; cattle, 300; calves, 300; sheep, 50.

There was little activity in the hog market at the opening because of the uncertainty brought about by the railroad strike situation. The prospects were that hogs would sell from 25 to 50 cents lower. Cattle were quiet calves about steady and sheep steady.

NEWSPRINT TO GO

TO 15c A POUND

CINCINNATI, O., April 9.—Bryant Venable, vice president of the Whitaker Paper Company, having vast paper warehouses and stocks in all the principal cities of the United States, today in an address before the Advertisers' Club of this city predicted a further marked rise in the price of news print throughout America by June 15, to 15 cents per pound.

Mr. Venable stated further that "the price of news print paper in general will never return to the pre-war basis because general conditions will never return."

Printing ink and paper must carry the burden of salesmanship until normal conditions are restored. Since 1914, the price of newsprint, according to Mr. Venable, has risen from 2 cents to 12 cents per pound, and will continue to rise, regardless of efforts otherwise.

Mrs. Henry Bicknell and daughter, Miss Margaret, went to Indianapolis today to spend the day.

The End of a Perfect Day

35,000 MEN ARE OUT IN SPREADING RAIL TIEUP

CHICAGO, April 10.—Despite assertions by railroad brotherhood officials of a break in the ranks of insurgent Chicago switchmen and engineers presaging a return to normal, unauthorized railroad strikes throughout the country assumed serious proportions today with reports indicating that nearly 35,000 men were idle.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 10.—The movement of dead freight in the yards of Indianapolis railroads has been practically brought to a standstill by the unauthorized strike of yard switchmen which started Friday afternoon and spread during the night until today all the switchmen in Indianapolis were reported out, except a few crews on the Indianapolis Union Railroad Company.

During the night the strikers held meetings to form an organization. While the men say that more than 1,000 have joined the strike, railroad officials say the number is not more than 700.

NEW YORK, April 10.—The series of unauthorized railroad strikes which virtually paralyzed the freight transportation system in New York and vicinity yesterday, early today spread to passenger lines. Firemen on out-of-town trains on the Erie railroad at Lower City quit, causing the withdrawal of some trains and the delay of others until new firemen could be found.

TWO FAMILIES OF NINE EACH AT TABERNACLE

MRS. CHARLES GOODMAN, AGE 32 MOTHER OF SEVEN CHILDREN, IS AWARDED A BEAUTIFUL BIBLE BY MRS. BARR EVANGELIST.

FIVE FAMILIES OF SEVEN

TABERNACLE SCHEDULE

Saturday.
7:15, Song Service led by Mr. Daugherty. Sermon by Mrs. Barr on "The Serpent's Sting."

Sunday.
Sabbath School and morning meetings in the churches.

2:45, Mrs. Barr lectures to men only on "Dollars and Sense."

2:45, Meeting for women and girls at the Baptist church addressed by Walter A. Hugman.

7:15, Song Service led by Mr. Daugherty, Miss Hinton, accompanist. Sermon by Mrs. Barr on the subject, "Hardened."

Monday.
6 p. m., Get-together luncheon for men at the College Avenue Methodist Church.

Family night at the tabernacle was a decided success. Before seven o'clock the huge structure was packed to a jam and it was impossible to even squeeze inside the door. And the extraordinary feature was the fact that there were so many whole families present. After the rousing song service led by Mr. Daugherty, and in which both choir and audience joined heartily, Mrs. Barr called the families of different sizes to stand, beginning with the maid and bachelor, who had but one in the family, then calling for families of two, three etc. It was found that there were ten families present having six members; five that had seven members, and two that had nine. These were the largest, and there was a tie for the prize.

Mr. Huffman had announced previously, however, that in case of a tie, the prize would go to the youngest mother, and the decision was easily made on that basis, and Mrs. Barr presented a beautiful copy of the Bible to the Charles Goodman family. Mrs. Goodman is 32. In so doing she expressed the hope that the seven children would be taught to read it, and would be reared to respect its precepts and go forth in the world carrying with them the memory of a Christian home.

The other family of nine was the Boatwright family, and to this mother Mrs. Barr gave a copy of her book of sermons. Mrs. Boatwright is 47 years old.

The sermon last night on the subject "What Have You in Your House?" was a searching message having to do with the conduct of the household. Mrs. Barr insisted that the home should be the most pleasant place in the world to the boy and girl, and said "unless your boy and girl would rather be at home than any other place in the world, there is something wrong with the home. The father and mother with the home children away from home for their good times are bound to see the day when they will regret it."

"Have you anything in your home that is too good for the boy and girl? If so you better take it out in the back yard and make a bonfire. There will be rags and furniture long after some of your boys and girls have gone wrong, and have broken some of your hearts."

"Some of you fathers are working day and night and slaving in an effort to leave your children property and money, and the money you leave them may be their ruin. The greatest heritage that any parents can leave their children is the memory of a Christian home, and Christian training. These will help the child over every difficult place in life."

Seventeen more people responded to the invitation given by Mrs. Barr last night, and came to the front to begin the Christian life.

A great program is being planned for tomorrow, including another lecture by Mrs. Barr to men only at the tabernacle at 2:45 on "Dollars and Sense."

Fully five hundred people heard some part of the service in the rotunda of the court house at one o'clock today.

PREDICT NEWSPRINT

WILL BE THING OF PAST IN TEN YEARS

Cleveland, April 10.—American news papers will be without print paper at the end of ten years, unless there is a conservation of advertising space declared Jason Rodgers, publisher of the New York Globe at a meeting of the advertising club today.

The output of print paper is rapidly dwindling and the outlook is all the pulp mills in the United States and Canada will not be able to meet the demand even if the supply of spruce timber holds out.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Phillips of Indianapolis and daughter, Rose, are the guest of Mrs. R. A. Lawton, who resides on East Franklin street.

Miss Gillespie sang "The Swiss Echo Song," written by Echert, and Miss Wilson, who is only a Freshman in the high school, played Rachmaninoff's "Prelude."

There were four contestants in discussion, the following schools being represented: Greencastle, Brazil, Bridgeton, and Amo. Brazil's contestant won second place. There were four contestants in voice and three in piano.

The judges for the discussion contest were Principal T. W. Record, of Garfield High, Terre Haute, Superintendent B. T. Stephenson of Tan Cler and Principal Zimmerman of Clinton.

Principal C. C. Copple of the Brazil high school and chairman of the district contests, managed the meet and the local representatives and those who accompanied the contestants were pleased with their courteous treatment while in Brazil.

Opals Growing on Trees.

Opals grown on trees is one of the latest discoveries of science. Such "stones" are now on exhibition in the American Museum of Natural History, New York. These "opals" were grown in Humboldt county, Nevada, several thousand years ago, by the slow processes of nature. They were formed from trees which were evidently uprooted and buried in a swamp during some earthquake. The trees, many feet under water, became water-logged swamps, and then became petrified. The swamp water had become heavily charged with a solution of silica, which acted upon and changed the nature of the wood, while preserving its structure. In course of time the wood became "opal," and can scarcely be distinguished from the genuine article. —Leslie's Weekly.

Seed Electrification.

There appears to be much interest in the electrification of seeds and the application of electricity to growing plants, says the Scientific American. A recent account of work along these lines tells of a new method of aiding plant growth. The seeds, ten or 20 sacks, are placed in tanks provided with iron electrodes at both ends; the electrolyte is a solution of sodium nitrate or some other fertilizer. Particularly with cereals—wheat, barley and oats—the yields of both grain and straw are said to be increased. Some 500 farmers have taken up the treatment of the seeds, which is followed by a very careful drying in a kiln, month or two before sowing.

Efficiency on Italian Farms.

The Italian ministry of agriculture is determined to make every acre in Italy do its bit. With this maximum production in view, an agricultural survey will be made to reveal every plot that is yielding less than it should. The backward farmer will then be given assistance in increasing the fertility of his land. In cases where the individual is unable, or unwilling, to cooperate, the government will insist on substituting or on forced sale. —Popular Mechanics Magazine.

SALMON FLEETS SAIL FOR NORTH

"Windjammers" in Vanguard of Fish Hunters Include Some Famed Boats.

RECORD CATCH NOT EXPECTED

Many Alaska Canneries Plan to Reduce Their Pack This Year and Others May Not Open at All.

Seattle Wash. — Big full-rigged "windjammers," some famous as American clipper ships long ago, already are spreading their sails and heading for Alaska, the vanguard of summer salmon fleets which go north every year to work with the scores of fish canneries that dot northern harbors and inlets.

Dozens of other craft, steamers, gas boats, barges and tugs, are going north with the sailing ships. Before winter they will all come plowing back with this year's fish catch canned and packed and stored in their holds. No record salmon catch is expected this year, according to reports from Alaska. Most of the southeastern Alaska canneries expect to reduce their pack this year from one-third to one-half normal and several will not operate at all. One cause for the cut is the fact that all of last year's pack has not been sold. Low markets are given as another reason.

Short Catch Last Year. Alaska's salmon output last year was 4,592,201 cases, the smallest since 1915. The high-water mark of Alaska's salmon years came in 1915, when, in response to a war call for food, the canneries sent 6,907,503 cases out.

Most of the salmon are packed in southeastern Alaska, a strip of territory that lies south between northern British Columbia and the Pacific ocean. Last year southeastern Alaska fisheries turned out 3,108,364 cases, against 775,557 from central Alaska and 708,280 from far western Alaska points. The central Alaska plants extend from Cape St. Elias westward to the Alaska peninsula. The far western plants are on the shores of Bristol bay and the Bering sea.

About 125 salmon canneries were operated in Alaska last year by nearly ninety companies. Several big concerns operated more than one plant, the Alaska Packers' association leading with ten. Libby, McNeill & Libby were second with nine. The Northwestern Fisheries company operated seven and the Pacific American Fisheries company four.

Nearly all the boats of the fishing fleets sail north from Puget Sound, altho one of the largest fleets, that of the Alaska Packers' association, makes its headquarters in San Francisco bay. The Libby, McNeill & Libby and the Northwestern company boats winter here, the Libby boats riding in the fresh water of Lake Union. The Pacific American company operates from Bellingham, Portland, South Bend, Everett, Olympia, Astoria, Anacortes and other ports send their share of fishing vessels north.

Five or six thousand men are going north to spend the summer working at the fisheries. In the fall they will come back with the boats and the catch. For several weeks passenger steamers running to Alaska have been carrying capacity lists of cannery employees. The Northwestern and the Anacortes Fisheries company, both subsidiaries of the Booth Fisheries company, will use 1,500 men in the north this year.

Quit Lecture, Says Boy Sent to Death Chair

Jesse Walker, 19, who killed Samuel Wolchok in his stationery store at 208 Wyckoff avenue, Brooklyn, when attempting to rob the store, was arraigned for sentence before Supreme Court Justice Fawcett in Brooklyn. The Justice addressed the prisoner for several minutes, speaking of the gravity of the crime, but Walker shifted his feet uneasily. Then he burst out: "I'm not here for a lecture. I am here to be sentenced."

The Justice regarded the youth gravely for a moment and without further comment sentenced him to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing.

Railroad Solves Important Problem.

Bedford, Ind.—Officials of the Monon railroad quickly solved the housing problem for Jess Enoch, in charge of a section gang at Salem. The house occupied by Enoch and his family had been sold and there was not a vacant one in town, so the railroad sent a carpenter sleeping and dining car, which Enoch has transformed into a five-room bungalow.

Ambition Egged Him On.

Cincinnati, O.—Why keep hens? Joseph Rosemeyer was an egg that cost him $62. Six months ago Rosemeyer bought 24 hens. He was told they would take some little time for them to become accustomed to their new surroundings. It did—six months, and at a cost of $52 before the first egg appeared.

SPARED FAIR SEX

Oldtime "Knights of the Road" Not Always Stern.

Even Notorious Freebooters Have Been Known to Succumb to Feminine Wiles—Captain Kidd Among the Number.

Highwaymen, if ancient ballads and traditions concerning famous "knights of the road" may be believed, have often been polite to ladies; but pirates, rarely. Nevertheless, the late Elizabeth Christophers Hobson, in her delightful "Recollections of a Happy Life," relates an instance of a polite pirate who not only spared one of her ancestors from molestation but made her a valuable present. To be sure, the lady in the case, who was Mrs. John Lion Gardiner of Gardiner's Island, made the first polite advances, and the pirate, who was none other than the notorious Capt. Kidd himself, merely reciprocated in kind.

The owner of the island was absent when Kidd landed upon it, and Mrs. Gardiner, terrified but keeping her wits about her, invited the formidable freebooter to dinner in the hope of placating him. He accepted, and she so wisely and willfully fed or charmed him, or both, that he later sent to her two rich gifts, both of which are still preserved by her descendants: the "Kidd pitcher," now strengthened by a silver band bearing an inscription recording its history, and the "Kidd blanket," a piece of superb embroidery two yards long, in crimson, green and gold. When the pitcher was presented, it was full of rare East Indian sweets; the blanket is sometimes called the "Kidd altar cloth," since it was presumably stolen from a South American or Mexican church in some piratical raid.

Among the most famous names in the reprehensible but picturesque roll of British highwaymen is that of Claude Duval, who, along with his French name, possessed a dash of French politeness, at least toward the fair and easily frightened sex. He is reported on various occasions to have spared pretty ladies their rings or lockets, if they begged him wondrously enough, or had the art, which one notable belle of his era professed such a useful one to a woman, of "being able to keep moving, and that without Strenuous of Cheeks, or Redding of Nose, but see only that Grace Tears of Pure Crystal Slide softly from Lids to Chin, Like as Dew Drops upon a Rose." His most notable concession to feminine charm was not, however, a complete surrender; it was a bargain. The lovely lady with whom it was made was promised immunity for all her rich jewels, if she would but descend from the coach and forthwith dance a coranto on the heath, with the gallant and graceful Claude for her partner—a condition with which she readily complied.

A "knight of the road," of less note than Duval—indeed, quite a minor, modest figure in the annals of crime—nevertheless figured magnanimously in an old, broad-sheet ballad, in which he assisted, instead of despoiling, a lady in distress. She was the story relates, the poor but beautiful widow of a riotous young nobleman just killed in a duel. Although of gentle blood, she was beneath him in rank, and the match had been secret. When the coach was held up she was on her way to seek out her husband's parents and ask their forgiveness and protection for herself and her baby boy. All she had to prove her case was her wedding ring and her certificate of marriage, penned and signed in miniature and carried in a locket round her neck. When these two precious trinkets were demanded at the point of a pistol, she was in despair; but the robber, hearing her story, was moved to pity.

He gave her back her small gold ring. He put it in her finger on; Says, "Yours and mine and yours again. Though hardly it was won."

He gave her back her golden locket; Says, "Now think well of me, And send and rubies to fill her pocket—'O thanks, kind sir!' says she."

If the grateful pocketing of such dubious gold and rubies by an innocent and lovely heroine in distress seems somewhat strange, the reader must remember that broad-sheet ballads of the road are concerned only with glorification of their highwaymen heroes; consistency, conscience and the heroines themselves are alike unimportant and incidental.—Youth's Companion.

Not Dead Ones.

I was using my seven passenger touring car to help a friend who was running a bus line, but who was temporarily short of cars. We were making certain routes and had on our windshields cards giving our places of destination. I was suddenly called from my regular route to take a couple to the minister to be married. As we were going up the street, with the bride adorned with her white veil and the groom in his best suit, both sitting in back, I noticed that many we met were convulsed with laughter. I didn't realize the cause until I reached the parsonage and found that I had failed to remove from the windshield the sign: "This car to the cemetery."—Exchange.

British Columbian Exports.

Advances noted in practically all the principal items made up an increase of $15,564,470, occurring in the value of the declared exports from Victoria, British Columbia, to the United States during 1919, as compared with the preceding year, the totals being $37,291,755, and $52,856,225 in 1918 and 1919, respectively.

An African Pompeii.

During the war archaeological excavations were continued at the Italian colony of Cyrenaica on the North African coast, and now comes the news that what has been found already promises the uncovering of another ancient city as important as Pompeii. Once upon a time the spot was a Greek colony, with the civilization of Greece transplanted to the soil of Africa. The work has been carried on during the war under the supervision of Lucio Mariani, director of the archaeological services of the ministry of colonies, and the prediction is now made that the newly discovered city will eventually prove actually richer than Pompeii in its evidences of a past civilization. Here have been already found statues of the Graces, a Hermes, an Eros, an Alexander the Great, and an impressive of the Aphrodite of Cyrene, which is said by certain connoisseurs to be a fair rival in beauty of Venus of Milo and the Venus of Callias. The discoveries have extended over many years.

Possible.

"Is it possible for a man to get thoroughly drunk in this town if he is willing to pay the price?" asked an arid arrival.

"Well, yes; I reckon it's possible," replied the landlord of the Putnam tavern. "But it don't hardly seem probable. You see the bootlegger takes you upstairs and down cellar and round and round like the rigged rascal ran round the rugged rock in McGuffey's old Third Reader, and so on and so forth, and then charges you 50 cents for extracting three drops of diluted hickory on your tongue with an eye dropper. Mobby a body could get drunk that way if he was rich enough, but it does seem like an awful waste of time, money and patience."—Kansas City Star.

Seeks a More Cheerful Job.

Eddyville, Ky.—There's a job for a chaplain at the Kentucky state prison here, Rev. J. D. Woodson, who for two terms has watched condemned men go to death, has had enough, and his resignation is in the hands of the governor.

DR. OSBORN'S IMPROVED METHODS ARE EXCLUSIVELY HIS OWN, AND THERE IS NO GUESSWORK ABOUT IT—THEY HAVE PROVEN SUCCESSFUL

In the treatment and cure "Without the use of the knife" of Piles, Fistula, Fissure, Prostatic Enlargement, Rupture, Chronic Diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Obstruction, Rheumatism, Stomach Bowels and all other curable Chronic Diseases.

No Matter How Obstinate or How Contracted—Cured. When I say I can cure you you can depend upon it, for I know from the successful results in thousands of similar cases to yours just what I can accomplish. Grateful patients treated by me are constantly recommending others, and this is why I possess such a large practice.

Men! Women! If you do less than you should, on your farm, at your desk or in your shop, you are in some way weak. If you can't accomplish all that you expect or hope for, you are the silent sufferer from some hidden disease that affects one or more of the important nerve centers of the body. These neglected or unknown conditions are usually diseases of the Pelvic System, which reflexly act upon the organs of elimination, digestion and the nervous system, which in turn has its influence upon the brain. I have made a special study of the nervous system, and have perfected methods that will cure where ordinary methods have failed. I will give you a searching and thorough examination FREE, thus determining the exact location of your trouble.

BEAR IN MIND that I have in Indianapolis one of the most modern and thoroughly equipped offices in the state with a Specialist in charge who is ripe in years of experience, rich and mature in learning in his chosen work. That neither one of us will promise you more than we can give, and should you be unable to see me on date specified above, you can write, or better still call at my home office, 314 Traction Terminal Building, Indianapolis.

I do not use the knife. Neither do I do any cutting. Tomorrow May Never Come—Get in Touch With Me Today.

SOCIAL ARBITER AT WASHINGTON

Department of State Is Court of Last Resort.

FIXES SEATING OF GUESTS

Takes Big Responsibility Off the Shoulders of Hostess—No One Can Take Offense If His Place Does Not
Suits His Idea of Prominence—Washington Social Structure Founded on Its Elaborate Calling System.

The department of state is society's court of last resort in the capital.
The burden of responsibility for seating guests in their proper order no longer rests upon the shoulders of Washington's society women.

Those who plan an entertainment for a titled guest or other distinguished visitor call up a certain official in the state department and all the details are arranged. The master of ceremonies is a Mr. Cook.

For example, the state department approves a dinner and sets a date, but its responsibility does not end there.
Within a few days Mrs. Blank sends in her list of guests and Mr. Cook's office arranges the order in which they are to be seated. No question can arise as to the taste of the lady; no one can take offense if his place does not suit his idea of prominence. The state department has seated the guests and its dictum is final.

Many "Precedents" Broken.

The very lack of rank in society in this country has exaggerated the importance of rank. Precedents have been set by one president and another.
Custom and unwritten law have been the causes of many disputes. Nearly every administration brought about new social problems, and nearly every president's wife broke some "precedent" by not following exactly the methods of the lady preceding her.
Society at the capital has been somewhat varied and almost chaotic in the Wilson administration. During the war the formality and much of the etiquette ceased. The White House, occupied with war and the serious problems of the times, gave little attention to the lighter side. The society women at the capital turned their talents toward war relief and supplementary war work.

The foundation upon which is built the complicated structure of Washington society is the calling system. The newcomers make the first calls, and the women whose husbands hold the lowest offices are expected to pay their respects to the ladies of higher "rank."

Some idea as to the proportions reached by social duties can be gained from statistics of cabinet ladies' obligations. They average between 500 and 1,000 calls.

To classify and simplify their duties, most of the women in Washington have adopted a system of book keeping. Mrs. Roosevelt's social secretary developed this system of books which has been adopted.

Leave Cards at White House.
Mrs. Woodrow Wilson does not receive calls. In the ordinary sense of the expression, women wishing to pay their respects to the president "first lady" call at the White House and leave their cards. Later they may write to Mrs. Wilson's social secretary that they wish to meet her.

At intervals Mrs. Wilson gives informal teas for about 30 women, which are known as altogether charming affairs. This is her manner of receiving calls.

The foreign visitors to this country in the last year have been received and entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Marshall.

HOW TO DETECT WHALE MEAT

Method Developed in Laboratory
Studies in Washington.

A wide range of research work in connection with federal meat inspection is shown by a recent report of the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture.
Laboratory studies during the past year developed a method for the detection of whale meat in sausage or other mixtures with animal fats. In co-operation with the bureau of markets the meat-inspection laboratories made studies of the melting point and composition of the fat of soft pork. Other activities were the analyses of spices, branding inks and rat exterminators, waters, and other products used directly or indirectly in connection with meat inspection and the packing industry.

WAGNER TO LEAD FIAT TEAM IN HOOSIER SPEEDWAY RACE

Louis Wagner, Grand Old Man of European Racing.

TURIN, Italy.—The return of Italian competition in the world's championship contests on the Indianapolis speedway, and the participation of a team wearing the colors of the Adriatic nation in the next Hoosier International, is heralded by the signing of Louis Wagner, the grand old man of European racing, to lead an Italian Fiat into the fray.

Fiat teams, once triumphant in the automobile arena, both in the United States and abroad, in the days when Lancia, Wagner and Nazario carried their gonfalon to victory, have not fared in racing since 1912, when the late David Bruce-Brown and Ralph DePalma were drafted from America to carry their colors in the Grand Prix de France. Both of the American drivers made a sensational showing in that event, Bruce-Brown winning on the basis of actual elapsed time but being deprived of the fruits of his victory because of having taken on gasoline along the road, something that the rules of the contest did not permit.

In the United States, the name of Fiat was formerly one to conjure with, the early Vanderbilt and Grand Prix races finding the big red team invariably among the leaders, and usually in first position. The late Bruce-Brown captured one of these speed epics, the Grand Prix of 1911, and Wagner accounted for another, the Grand Prix at Savannah 1908.

Wagner returned to racing last year, invading the United States as a member of the Ballot Quartet composed of Rene Thomas, Albert Guyot, and Paul Babirot, in addition to himself, that were favorites in the last Indianapolis 500-Mile race.

Wagner is easily the foremost figure in European racing, since the death of Georges Boillot, the greatest driver Europe has ever known, and his return to Fiat, his first love, signifies a brand of competition in the Italian quarter that will make the other nations engaged in the Indianapolis speed embroglio look closely to their laurels.

SEVERITY IN THIS PENANCE

Hindu Pilgrims Make Long Journeys With Most Extraordinary Method of Locomotion.

An extraordinary Indian penitential pilgrimage takes place every year, invariably on a Tuesday, usually in the first half of May. The penance consists in the Hindu penitent's measuring his length on the ground from his home to the temple, often a distance of many miles.

The penitent throws himself on the ground at full length, and with a pot-herd or a stone, makes a mark within reach of his fingers. Upon getting up he sets his feet on the mark, repeats the process, continuing to do this, with alternate rising and prostration, to the end of his journey.

The dress worn during the pilgrimage is exceedingly scanty, as the pilgrimage takes place during the hottest season of the year. If the journey is likely to take two or three days, the penitent may halt at night for food and rest, in which case he sets up some mark to show where he left the road, and resumes his journey from that point on the morning. Only men are permitted to perform the penance, but women and children are allowed to accompany them on foot, supplying them with food and fanning them with punkahs made of palm leaves.

Upon arriving at their goal the penitents present their offerings in money or kind to the attendant priests, who utter a few words of benediction. Every few years there are deaths from exhaustion and exposure during the pilgrimage, but the enthusiasts are never deterred.—Detroit News.

GREATEST OF ALL VIRTUES

Gratitude Means Recognition of Amount of Good Which Has Been Bestowed by Others.

Gratitude means that memory has come to the aid of purpose, and that praise is reinforcing prayer. Gratitude links the past with the future, the debt incurred with the duty to be performed, the service received with the service rendered. The question, "What ought we to do for others?" cannot receive a proper answer until pains have been taken to weigh and value all that others have already done for us. Benevolence is largely an affair of memory and of the gratitude that memory inspires.

The benevolence that is most beneficent does not begin, as some moralists seem to think, in a desire to do good to other people, but in adequate recognition of the enormous amount of good which other people have done to ourselves. Nine-tenths of what we have to give is a gift bestowed upon us, and only when this is realized does altruism rest upon its proper ground, or feel the full force of the motives which impel the individual to the service of others. Divorced from gratitude, all the social virtues would shrivel.—L. P. Jacks.

First Failures Not Fatal.

How often have we heard people say that if they had their lives to live over again they would do very differently at certain points! And, though we could see that they thought they meant what they said, we understood that they did not mean it very seriously, and that a second chance at life would probably not yield a much better result than the first one had. As a matter of fact not many of us have made such fatal mistakes in life that we have not had hundreds of second chances of overcoming very largely the handicap and disadvantage that they brought us. Indeed, the pathway of life for every man of us is strewn with second chances and new opportunities of making good. There is this to be said, however: a second chance may be a little harder to realize on than a first one would have been. But to say that a thing is hard is not to say anything about its possibility. A first mistake or a first failure may be bad, but does not decide a life unless we let it.—Montreal Family Herald.

River Changes Its Course.

There is only one season of the year when one can visit Angkor (in the interior of Cambodia, French Indo-China), owing to a curious phenomenon known nowhere else in the world—the fact that the river Tonle-Sap flows inland part of the year and then turns and flows outward, in the opposite direction, for the remainder of the year. At such times as it flows inland, during and following the rainy season, there is water enough to float steamboats. When it flows outward it completely drains a large lake that forms part of the river bed and leaves the lake dry except for a small trickle down the center.

Word of Advice.

"Mr. Jobbles," said the head of the firm, "I notice there's a considerable item for meals in your expense account."

"Er—I was entertaining customers and prospective buyers, sir."

"All right, I'm not complaining, but I hope you will bear in mind that we are selling tractors and no lady of the chorus ever buys a tractor."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Hardly the Word.

"Now 'virtuosity' is a good word and in excellent repute," said the head reader to the "rub" reporter, "but you must be careful how you use it."

"While it may be properly applied to a fiddler I would not, as you have done in this wretched of a vaudeville show, speak of a trapeze performer's 'virtuosity'."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

GHOSTS ROAM CASTLE

Disturb Inmates of Lord Leith's Residence in Scotland.

"Green Lady" Is Seen to Walk Through Walls of Maid's Room.

Aberdeen.—Rumor and fact are strangely blended in a remarkable ghost story concerning Eryie Castle, the Aberdeenshire residence of Lord Leith, which brings up to date an ancient legend of the house.

The castle is rich in legends of murder and revenge in the olden days, but until recently little untoward events have been heard of for many a year.

The rumor which has revived these stories is that recently masons and carpenters were called in to remove a fungus growth from the wall of the gun room, which is situated in the oldest portion of the Preston tower, from which legend says a former reigning lady repelled an invader with a deluge of molten lead.

When the wall was demolished a human skeleton was found among the rubble. It was interred in the village churchyard, and ever since it is said it has manifested its displeasure by moans, groans and mysterious knockings in every part of the castle.

A maid servant named Massie declares that she saw the ghost of the famous "Green Lady" walk across the floor of her bedroom and disappear into the wall beyond. Mrs. Massie stoutly repudiates any suggestion as to a possible mistake. "I saw the lady walk across the floor," she said.

Other servants, though not seeing the apparition, corroborate the tales of nocturnal noises and strange moanings.

Miss Kellas, the housekeeper, told a story of hearing a remarkable disturbance in the bathroom and bathroom. She went upstairs, only to find nothing that could account for it. The "Green Lady" was a prophetic who appeared in olden days immediately prior to any pending evil, which visited the owners of the estate. Eryie Castle stands in a remote district, Macduff, and dates back to the sixteenth century.

"Truth" Unadorned Covered With Blanket

San Francisco.—A very pretty young woman wandered from her room early one morning at the Porter hotel out into the street and into the lobby of the Yuba hotel, a block and a half away.

Ordinarily this would have been unimportant, but this woman wore no clothes.

The clerk at the Yuba hotel protested. "That's all right," she replied. "I'm Truth, and Truth should be unadorned."

The clerk couldn't see it that way. He telephoned Charles Simpson, steward at the Central Emergency hospital. Simpson came to the rescue with a blanket.

"Truth" fought efforts to blanket her, saying it was a sin to conceal Truth, but Simpson was firm.

The girl is under observation, less intense, but more official than usual.

"Truth" was the only name she gave.

IOWA MAN OWNS OLD BIBLE

Rare Specimen of the Scriptures Was Printed in London in 1449.

Ottumwa, Ia.—A remarkable and valuable Bible printed in 1449, is owned by a prominent town of this vicinity. The rare specimen was exhibited at the East End Presbyterian church by its owner.

It is a reprint of the Cranmer Bible, the first one of which was printed by Edward Whitechurch in London in 1541, but eight years prior to the printing of the one owned by the Iowan.

The edition contains Cranmer's prologue, there being but one page missing. Otherwise it is a perfect copy. The Bible was printed on two different presses.

ABOLISH GREEK AT OXFORD

English University Decides Measure by Vote—Students Celebrate Emancipation.

Oxford.—Oxford university, by a vote in convocation of 434 to 359, has abolished compulsory Greek. Only those taking "final honors" other than in natural science, mathematics or jurisprudence are still required to "pass" in that language.

To celebrate the occasion hundreds of undergraduates organized what is known here as a "rag."

Attired in ancient Greek costumes and headed by a Hellenic high priest carrying an urn filled with red hot ashes, they paraded the town and recited Greek verse in the market place.

Eating Southwestern Dust.

Mayville, Ky.—A coating of red dust on roofs and vegetation here is believed to have been carried by the wind from southwestern states which were swept by a sandstorm. No such dirt is to be found in this section of the country.

THOUGHT KANGAROO A BIRD

Naturalist With Captain Cook Mistakenly Mistook for a Bird by Remarkable Speed Displayed by Australian Animal.

A naturalist who accompanied Captain Cook on his famous voyage around the world mistook for a bird the first kangaroo he saw.

This is not likely to surprise anybody who has seen kangaroos in their native wilds, for their leaping powers are so wonderful that at full speed they really look as if they were flying.

A scientist, speaking of this matter to the writer, said: "I chanced to come across two 'old-man' kangaroos, huge creatures, in the Australian bush, and measured the leaps of one of them. Thirty-two feet the tape line showed for each jump, taking it from toemark to toemark."

"It is marvelous to see one of those great marsupials streaking across country in immense bounds, literally throwing itself into the air with its mighty hind limbs, and hardly seeming to touch the earth in its flight."

Old Version of Man's Creation.

The religious customs of the Assyrian Sumerians 5,000 or more years ago is given in the fourth volume of translations of tablets in the British University museum by Dr. Stephen Langdon, who was for three years curator of the Babylonian section of the university. The Sumerians tablet tell of the creation of men from clay by a woman deity. This goddess protects her creations from the flood by saving Zigguddu (Noah), and the latter lands in Paradise and eats of forbidden fruit of his own accord. There is no Eve in this theory whatever. The Sumerians believed that ten patriarchs ruled some 300,000 years before the flood, that it was about 35,000 years thereafter before Cyrus came down and conquered the kingdom. The historical tablets at the university museum are the most elaborate in existence. No other records purport to give such a record of human existence.

Magic Stones Get a New Bed.

Tradition tells that miracles of healing were performed by "St. Tiliun," in the Scottish highlands, by rubbing on the suffering man or beast certain old water-worn stones. These stones, or stones of that description, are still carefully preserved in the island mill of Killin, at the western end of Loch Tay. Lord Breadalbane, the owner, has leased the old mill for a hand-loom weaving factory; but the lessee binds himself carefully to protect the relics, and to give the public facilities for viewing them.

On Christmas eve, as on every Christmas eve for centuries past, the stones in their niche of the wall were provided with a new "bed," of reeds, straws and other wreck brought down by the mountain torrent of the River Dochart and left stranded on the rocks. The bedding must on no account be picked by the hand of man.

Oldest Confection.

The greater part of black licorice is derived from Spain, where it is made from the juice of the plant and mixed with starch to prevent it from melting in hot weather. The licorice plant is a shrub that attains a height of three feet and it grows wild where its roots reach the water. It flourishes especially on the banks of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers.

Since the valley of the Euphrates contained one of the earliest civilizations in the world, the probability is that licorice is about the oldest confection in the world, and the taste which the boys and girls of today like so well was enjoyed by the youngsters of three thousand years ago.

AIR MAIL SERVICE REGULAR IN ITALY

Postal Department Doesn't Like Innovation, But It Proves Its Worth.

The air mail service begun in Rome during recent railway and postal strikes has proved such a success that the government is making it permanent, charging an extra 6 cents fee for each letter up to 15 grammes. This fee is too small to cover working expenses and probably will be raised. Airships and small airplanes now fly regularly with mails and parcels between Rome and Milan, Rome and Pisa, Naples and Foggia.

The ministry of transportation is having a friction with the ministry of posts, which sees through bureaucratic spectacles and is averse to modern methods. The latter ministry actually refused to accept mails brought to Rome by one airplane because the list of mail bags had been made out by the pilot, who is not an authorized post official.

All official correspondence, the mail of deputies and of large business firms is going by airplane now, in spite of protests from the ministry of posts.

SAYS MODERN MEN ARE NOT "SISSIES"

Mrs. Clarice M. Baright, a practicing attorney of New York, takes exception to statement by a Chicago physician, William J. Hickson and F. H. La Guardia, president of the New York board of aldermen, who agree that American men are being made "sissies" by modern women—she says the latter day men are as "manly" as ever, so there.

GUAM LEADS EASY LIFE

Small Island in Mid-Pacific Not Worried by High Prices.

Guam, a small island in mid-Pacific, has no peace treaties or policies, no candidates or elections, no income taxes or poorhouses and high prices cause no worry. Added to this is a good American government.

Land is fertile and the sun works overtime for Guam. The 15,000 natives exact a living from the soil with a minimum of effort, raising enough only for their own needs. The internal government has a fish, meat and vegetable market where produce grown on the government farm is sold.

The government passed a labor law, compelling every able-bodied man to cultivate a bit of land, when war and a destructive typhoon came. The natives didn't object, but worked in groups so they could talk. In a year there were just five cases for charity.

Guam youngsters have it easy, as school sessions are only half a day, and there aren't enough teachers. School ages are from seven to twelve.

PHONES AT MILE POSTS

Plan to Install Public Pay Stations on Ohio Highways.

The proposal that public telephone pay stations be installed along Ohio's highways has been made at Columbus.

The suggestion was made by City Councilman Milton W. Westlake. Westlake will urge the telephone companies to co-operate in putting into operation the proposal that a telephone be installed at each mile post. Then, in the event of a breakdown, a blowout, or other troubles, the traveler would be no more than half a mile from a telephone.

ALIENS LEAVE BY WHOLESALE

6,000 Are Sailing Weekly for Europe Where Dollar Is Potent.

CAUSE OF LABOR SHORTAGE

Difficulties of Traveling in Europe and Danger of Losing Their Money Has No Influence on Aliens Eager to Return.

New York.—Wholesale re-emigration of aliens in America began last April and is continuing in ever growing numbers. Steamship ticket agents agree that 6,000 are leaving for Europe weekly, although the immigration is confined to Italians and Belgians.

I have been in contact with a great number of alien laborers in the United States since my return from Europe in January and I find that a great percentage of them are preparing to leave the states, writes Joseph Szebenyel in the New York Times. Among the Hungarians and those coming from the newly formed states in eastern Europe, 50 per cent are about to return to the old country.

The resultant labor shortage especially is being felt already, and employers of alien labor are forced to advertise continually in order to replace the hands leaving week after week. They are spending thousands of dollars on advertisements in Slovak and Hungarian papers. Mining companies especially prefer Hungarian workers because they are steady and hard workers, doing jobs no others would do, and earning in most cases up to $120 a week.

Causes of Re-Emigration.

The causes of the "wholesale re-emigration" may be found in the following facts:

1. Alien laborers have saved up money during the war, when they were barred from sending it home, and, according to bankers dealing exclusively with them, they have an average of $3,000. If we take what a dollar is worth in eastern Europe, it is easy to comprehend that the worker exchanging his dollars into kronas becomes the richest man in his village, a lure very few could withstand. For $3,000 he gets as much as 750,000 kronas, enough to buy out the richest landlord in his district.

2. Prohibition.

3. The laborer has not seen his family, many have not even heard from them, for six to ten years.

4. The high cost of living in America, Geza D. Berko, managing editor of the Hungarian Daily, who has his finger on the alien movements in America more than any one else, when questioned on the subject said:

"The re-emigration is slow because there is not sufficient shipping. There are only five steamers weekly available for eastern Europe at present, and yet 6,000 are leaving by them. Should the sailing facilities improve, and the passport question be simplified, it will grow by leaps and bounds."

Cannot Be Dissuaded.

The manager of Emil Kiss' banking house, the largest ticket agents on the east side, said that they were discouraging re-emigration as much as possible, and explained to applicants the difficulties of traveling in Europe, the danger of their losing their kits and money on the way.

"Yet it is impossible to persuade them to stay," the clerks assert. "There are letters from former travelers who say that they have been cheated and robbed of their possessions, arrived home stripped of everything, yet you can't induce them to stay."

"Do you discourage exchange of dollars as well?" I asked.

"We do, but the constant fall in the exchange makes it difficult. By the time the man arrives home he gets more for his dollars, so he prefers taking it in cash, as most of them are ignorant people who mistrust drafts. Now, in traveling through Europe the victim—for you can't call him by any other name—encounters laws in every country prohibiting the export of dollars. If he lands in France his money is exchanged into francs, in Germany into marks, in Austria or Hungary into kronas, being 10 or more to a dollar."

Some of the emigrants travel through five countries and thus lose 50 per cent of their money on forced exchange. In France there are even graver difficulties, for even the export of French money to exceed 1,000 francs is prohibited. The traveler must get a state permit, a procedure taking sometimes weeks. The whole of Europe is hungry for dollars.

Shun Powder, Says Photographer.

Atlantic City, N. J.—Will H. Towles of Washington, D. C., addressing the annual convention of photographers of the middle Atlantic states here, declared that if girls want to look beautiful in a photograph they must not powder their faces, since powder flattens expression and obliterates lines necessary to bring out beauty.

More Railroads for Alsace.

Paris.—Extension of railroad facilities in Alsace is now progressing rapidly. A new narrow-gauge line from Bussang to Wessendling, northwest of Thann, is the first of its kind opened in this section of the country. Construction in the Vosges region will be taken up next.
