When Heine Was a Tramp.
Heinrich Heine was a tramp. He trudged all of one summer through Saxony in an old coat. He was going to Weimar to flatter—that seems odd—Goethe. As he wandered through the Harz mountains conning the speech he meant to make to the great German poet, he plucked plums by the wayside. When he reached his destination he forgot his eulogy and could only stammer his praise of Saxon plums. The railing, cynical exile of Paris, prodding his enemies with a trenchant pen, was that summer lovable as a tramp.—Exchange.

Beethoven's Marvellous Music.
The mysterious charms of Goethe's song of Mignon, to which Beethoven wrote the music, is that the song is the expression of the same awe-struck yearning which waits and thunders through the music of the master. In the melody alone all the wild vagueness and dim aspiration of the song are manifest, and only because the union is perfect is the impression uniform. Should Wilhelm Meister be lost to literature the blossom of Mignon's life would still bloom in the music.—George William Curtis.

Siamese Nation of Gamblers.
Everybody gambles in Siam. When you go out for golf at the Royal Sports club, your caddy bets with your opponent's caddy on your game. And if your game is not so good as it should be, your caddy will deftly pick up your ball with his toes, unless you watch him, and carry it just a little bit further than you were able to drive it.—From the Heavenly-Royal City of Siam, by Florence Burgess Meehan, in Asia Magazine.

Thumbs Down.
In the gladiatorial combats which took place in ancient Rome a wounded man would sometimes call for mercy by holding up his forefinger. The spectators would thereupon either wave their handkerchiefs in token of mercy, or condemn him to death by holding out their clenched fist with the thumbs down.

Chinese "Six Accomplishments."
The traditional Chinese social system recognized four main classes below the priest-empire, of which the first was the literary class. In the time of Confucius the education of the literary class included what was known as the six accomplishments—archery, horsemanship, rites, music, history and mathematics.

Real Measure of Worth.
The whole world does not revolve around any man—only a small portion of it. When a man undertakes to make himself the center of a larger portion, he must show himself worthy. Worth today is measured by service to fellow men, not by dollars.

EXPORTED BOOZE MAY FLOW BACK

Liquor Sent Abroad Before Volstead Act Went Into Effect Has Chance to Return.

JOKER IS SEEN IN THE LAW

Permits Reimportation of Whisky Shipped Before Law Became Effective—Billion Dollars' Worth May Come Back.

New York.—Liquors having a value in the legitimate market of more than $300,000,000 and worth in bootleg channels more than $1,000,000,000, shipped from the United States to foreign countries just before the Volstead act went into effect on January 16, 1922, eventually will find their way back to this country, under the provisions of the Willis-Campbell act passed by congress last November to supplement the national prohibition law, according to John D. Appleby, general prohibition agent in charge of New York and New Jersey.

Big Shipment Enters.
Already one big shipment has been made to this country under the provisions of the supplemental law. Gin valued in bootleg circles at $3,000,000 was reimported from Cuba about two weeks ago. The distillery which made the shipment had gone out of business, a fact that apparently was not discovered by the government agents until the gin had arrived here. A special permit had to be obtained from Washington before it could be stored in a local warehouse, pending its withdrawal for medicinal purposes on permits from the director's office.

Prohibition agents were mystified in checking up the cargo to note on the manifest 112 empty barrels. They have not yet been able to make out the reason for the empties, but Federal Prohibition Director Ralph A. Day regarded it as a suspicious circumstance.

The passage of the Willis-Campbell law, ostensibly for the purpose of killing medicinal beer, has made it possible for the thirsty to be supplied with good liquors for a much longer period than appeared likely before the measure was adopted, prohibition officials said. In some quarters the provision for the reimport of liquors was considered as a "joker."

Stored in Other Countries.
The law provided "that the commissioner may authorize the return to the United States, under such regulations and conditions as he may prescribe, any distilled spirits of American production exported free of tax and reimported in original packages in which exported and consigned for redelivery to the distillery bonded warehouse from which originally removed."

Liquors have been stored in France and other countries in large quantities, according to Mr. Appleby. The prohibition department plans to scrutinize carefully the applications for permits to reimport.

What is regarded as another "joker" in the supplemental law is the provision which exempts payment of tax and penalty for distilled spirits upon which the tax has not been paid which are "lost by theft, accidental fire or other casualty while in possession of a common carrier subject to the transportation act of 1920 or the merchant marine act, 1920, or if lost by theft from a distillery or other bonded warehouse."

Washington.—The Post Office department has entered into an agreement with the British postal authorities for the delivery of regular mail matter and parcel post packages to various points in Russia. It was announced here by First Assistant Postmaster General Bartlett. Tons of parcels, containing clothing mostly, are being forwarded each week and, according to reports received here, 75 per cent of the packages are being delivered to those to whom they were addressed.

PHILADELPHIA O. K.'S BOBBING

Teachers With Shorn Locks Need Not Fear Jobs, Says School Head.

Philadelphia.—The Philadelphia board of education is worrying little about a question that has agitated other communities, namely, whether schoolteachers will be permitted to bob their hair if they desire. The matter rests entirely with the teachers and the younger ones with curtailed locks need not fear dismissal, Edwin C. Boome, superintendent of schools, said here.

Macaw Made Trouble.
Columbia, Pa.—When a Peruvian macaw bit a Pomeranian puppy on the ear at the home of Clifton Shutter in Wrightsville, the dog ran between Shutter's legs and upset him as he was taking a tray of half-baked prize Minore eggs from an incubator to turn them. Shutter's body flew in one direction and the tray of eggs in another. The man sustained painful wounds to his head, and every egg sustained internal injuries.

LINER IS UNSINKABLE

Might Float If Cut in Two, Belief of Experts.

Lone Star State on Maiden Voyage to Aid American Sea Commerce—Captain Engages Orchestra to Play Jazz.

New York.—Keen competition has developed in the race for supremacy on the seas. The latest addition to the fleet that is keeping the American flag to the forefront in the sea commerce of the world is the steamship Lone Star State, recently delivered from her builders to the United States Lines, which has just sailed on her maiden voyage to Bremen.

In the Lone Star State, as in other passenger carrying vessels constructed under government supervision, the element of safety was of prime consideration. It is declared that the new liner is practically unsinkable. Originally planned as a transport and later designated to act as a hospital ship to bring back American wounded from France, the Lone Star State was built torpedo proof as nearly as human ingenuity could make her.

The vessel has thirteen water-tight compartments. Shipping men who have inspected her have declared that even if she were cut in twain each half would remain afloat.

From the standpoint of comfort, nothing has been left undone to make her a luxurious vehicle for sea travel. She carries two classes of passengers, first and third. Full attention has been given to the cuisine and amusement facilities on the Lone Star State. The chefs and the kitchen personnel have been carefully selected with a view of rivaling the dining service of a first-class hotel ashore.

Captain Frank T. Burkhardt, who is impresario as well as navigator, said before he sailed that he had adopted as his slogan "A bas ennui," which properly translated means a Filipino orchestra of twenty-two pieces. Every member of the orchestra saw service in the United States navy during the war. The captain said they were not only at home in jazz, but that they could venture as well into the realm of grand opera. He promised plenty of dancing on the decks in good weather.

ONLY WOMAN MARSHAL

Mrs. Lewis has an LL. B. degree from Cumberland university, Lebanon, Tenn., and her husband is a lawyer at Duncan, Okla. She was admitted to the Oklahoma bar in 1920. She was appointed marshal of the Supreme court by Chief Justice John B. Harrison.

CARE RUINS FISHES' 'MORALE'

Protected Salmon Grow Too Tame, Canadian Parliament Is Told by Expert.

Ottawa, Ont.—Government fish hatcheries have ruined the "morale" of the salmon of British Columbia, according to the story told to the house of commons by A. W. Neill. It seems that when the salmon come into the world at the fish hatcheries they are guarded against all enemies and Mr. Neill says they lose their protective instinct. So, when the salmon has come of age and is sent out in the cold world he is as "tame as a cat," to quote Mr. Neill, and when he meets an enemy he "stands with his mouth open and accepts murder as if such a thing were foreordained."

Celebrate 100 Years of Wedded Life.

Poplar Bluff, Mo.—A. G. McKenzie, who has passed the fourscore milepost in the journey of life has reported that his father, one hundred and twenty-two, and his mother, one hundred and nineteen years old, celebrated their 100th wedding anniversary in Scotland a short time ago. McKenzie said he was the youngest son of seven in the family and that all of his brothers are alive.

FIVE TRIBES PAY THEIR OWN WAY

Education of Oklahoma Indians Is Almost Entirely Paid for Out of Own Funds.

AGRICULTURE IS EMPHASIZED

Have Nine Boarding Schools, Seven Contract Schools and 2,306 Public Districts—Industrial Work Featured.

Muskogee, Okla.—The modern American Indian may be said to be paying his own way in pursuit of an education, for nearly all funds expended in the education of the Indians of Oklahoma belong to the tribe administered under the department of the interior, according to H. C. Calhoun, supervisor of the Five Civilized Tribes schools here. These schools form the largest unit of Indian schools operated under one supervision in the country, he added.

The supervision of the schools of the five civilized tribes—Cherokee, Choctaw, Chickasaw, Creek and Seminole—has to deal with three phases of school activity which are ranked in importance as follows: Tribal boarding schools, public day schools and private contract schools.

Have Nine Boarding Schools.
There are nine tribal boarding schools and seven contract schools, while the public day school system includes 2,306 districts with an enrollment of about 18,000 Indian children. The supervisor's office has jurisdiction over the Indian pupil only in these day schools, not over the public school as such.

The tribal boarding schools are maintained for each distinct tribe and the completed educational plants. Each is equipped with kitchen, dining-room, dormitory, laundry, hospital and facilities for industrial and academic education. Most of these schools have a large acreage which is tilled and the product used in the maintenance of the school.

Emphasize Industries.
Agriculture is emphasized in all the Indian industrial schools, although shop work, carpentry, leather machine and metal work, homemaking for girls and scientific home economics are all a part of the industrial course. The industrial program is a part-time process. Mr. Calhoun explained, with the pupil devoting half his time to industrial education and half to academic instruction. The academic courses are designed particularly for the Indian.

Six of the contract schools are denominational institutions, according to Mr. Calhoun, while the seventh is a state agricultural school. Courses in these institutions include the industrial and academic.

TWINS, 90, CLAIM AGE RECORD

Kansas Brothers Dispute Ohioans' Longevity Title—All Agree on Work.

Leavenworth, Kas.—Friends of James and Joel Cheatwood, twins, who celebrated their ninetieth birthday anniversary recently near here, are prone to dispute the claim of the Woodville, Ohio, twins, William H. and Henry Bruns to the title of "oldest living twins in the United States" at the age of eighty-eight.

The recipe for long life of the Kansas twins is similar to that of the Ohioans—"work." Each of the Cheatwood twins owns a farm and works on it daily.

So striking is the resemblance between the Cheatwood twins, that when they don their "Sunday clothes" and have their beards trimmed, it is difficult to tell them apart.

Old Hand Press.

Kansas City, Mo.—Neff Hall, home of the journalism classes at the University of Missouri, has on exhibition in the council room a hand press made in 1794 which turned out the stupendous member of 300 papers an hour. It is the property of A. H. Everett of Kansas City, who loaned it to Neff Hall. It was used by the Leesburg (Virginia) Washingtonian, established in 1808, the first newspaper to be published in the state of Virginia. The press was built by Adam Ramage, a Scotch inventor who came to this country about 1787 and was chief press builder here for a number of years.

Bankrupt Town Sold.

Portland, Me.—The sale of a town was contained in a Federal court order recently when Judge W. B. Shepard consented to the acceptance of the $6,500 bid of F. G. Plu of Chicago for the assets of the Town of Valparaiso, which has been in litigation for some time. There were two bids, the one coming from an association of unit holders, who were unable to present before bank closing hour the required certified check for $5,000. The other bid was in cash. The bankrupt town is in the southern part of Okaloosa county.

Two Dogs "Luxury" in Berlin.

Berlin.—Ownership of two or more dogs is classed as "luxury" here and extra heavy taxes are imposed under a new schedule. It is estimated that the owners of 140,000 dogs in Berlin must pay the government 50,000,000 marks for licenses.
