MC NULTY NOT PLEASED WITH THE STATE FARM

FORMER INDIANAPOLIS SALOON KEEPER SAYS PRISONERS ARE OVERWORKED AND UNDERPAID WAS THERE HIMSELF FOR 10 DAYS

VIOLATED STATE LIQUOR LAW

Indianapolis, April 17—Governor Goodrich today expressed surprise over charges made by Charles O. McNulty, former saloon keeper and for a short time a prisoner at the State Farm.

McNulty was formerly proprietor of the Bull and Bear saloon. He was convicted in criminal court some time ago of violating a state liquor law and was sentenced to the state farm for ninety days. He spent eleven days at the state farm, between delayed commitment and parole, excerpts from his letter to Dr. Hurty read:

"Prisoners are underfed and worked ten hours a day at hard labor. Meat is served once a week, on Sunday; this is one slice of fat bacon. Musty meal was used for making cornbread three times a week until Putnam County health officers forbade the use of it. Some prisoners are compelled to work on Sundays; and on Sundays five crackers is the substitute for the dry bread of the week days. Some of the paid guards are insulting and cruel and inhuman, especially to cripples and weaklings, using a loaded cane to beat them. I was told by a prisoner named Leroy that for the violation of a rule he was handcuffed to a ring six feet above the floor and compelled to stand in this position for twenty-four hours. I hope these things will be investigated, not only for the sake of these young boys, but that the conditions may be bettered for humanity's sake.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

By Eldon C. Hill.
The boy scout troop of this city enjoyed their first real hike last Saturday.

They met in the tabernacle Saturday morning at 10:30 O'clock and went west on the Walnut street road to the Big Walnut Creek covered bridge, then followed the banks to a woods which appealed to Mr. Daugherty as a suitable place to camp.

Each scout took eggs, bacon, ham etc., which they cooked over a small camp fire which was made by the individual scout. A meal cooked and eaten in the open was certainly a treat for the scouts as was shown by the enjoyment of the hikers.

After the dinner, Mr. Daugherty conducted some scout games and contests which were greatly enjoyed by the scouts.

Some of the scouts took certain tests for the second class rank, such as, the scout pace which is a mile in 12 minutes, fifty steps running and fifty steps walking, alternatively. Cooking: to cook two potatoes and a quarter of a pound of meat without the use of common kitchen utensils. To build a fire in the open with the use of not more than two matches.

They broke camp about two O'clock and returned home.

The ticket sales for the entertainment are going along very nicely. One hundred twenty nine being the record of one scout.

Mr. Daugherty leaves Tuesday for Frankfort, Indiana and his presence will be greatly missed by the local troop.

C. R. Dulin is here from Florida to look after his business interests.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ellis spent the week end with relatives in Brownsburg, Indiana.

Miss Ethel King who has been here for several months visiting relatives left Sunday for St Louis where she will visit Mrs. Edgar Hammell for several days. Accompanied by Mrs. Hammell, she will then go to Greenville, Texas where she will be married to Edward Hammell, Jr. a prominent business man of Greenville.

Mrs. Heaton who has been chaplain at the Alpha Phi House this year accompanied her mother Mrs. Payton to her home in Hoopstown, Ill. They left on account of the illness of Mrs. Payton.

LESSON FOR APRIL 25

RUTH'S WISE CHOICE.

LESSON TEXT—Ruth 1.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thy people shall be my people and thy God my God.—Ruth 1:16.

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Ruth 2:1-4.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Story of Ruth.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Ruth and Naomi.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Life's Decisions.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Power of Personal Influence.

I. The Occasion of Ruth's Choice.

(1:1-15).
On account of the famine in Bethlehem-Judea, Naomi with her husband and two sons sojourned in the land of Moab. After the death of her husband, her two sons married Moabitish women. After a time her sons died also. Upon the death of her sons she resolved to return to her homeland, having heard that the Lord had visited his people in giving them bread. Her family went to Moab to escape trouble, but they only got into more trouble. It was not till Naomi was thus chastised that she resolved to return. She had the good sense to recognize that the hand of the Lord was upon her for good. Ruth and Orpah accompanied her. This she permitted, but determined to place before them frankly the difficulties which would necessarily confront them. It was this frank presentation of the difficulties and her repeated urging them to go back that furnished the occasion for Ruth's wise choice.

II. The Trials of Ruth's Choice.

(1:16-18).
Much as Naomi loved her daughters-in-law, she would not have them go into this matter blindly. She wished them to know the cost of their undertaking. She told them the worst that could come upon them, then if hardships came they could only blame themselves.

Note the difficulties which confronted Ruth:
1. No chance to get married again. Naomi told her that she had no more sons for which she could wait. In that day to be unmarried was the greatest disgrace. Furthermore, it was against God's law for the Jews to marry outside of their own people.

2. She must renounce her gods. Her idolatrous worship could not be carried on in the land where God's people dwelt. This was deliberately touched upon when Orpah went back (v. 15). Orpah went back when it was plain that there was no chance to get a husband. Now Naomi puts an additional test upon Ruth, that of giving up her religion. Naomi's very frankness in dealing with her caused Ruth to be more and more determined to cast her lot with her. No doubt she learned to love the true God through the life of this true woman. She was determined to share Naomi's journey, her home, her lodging, her lot in life and her grave in death, whatever that would be. To crown it all she would renounce her heathen gods and embrace Jehovah. When Naomi saw that Ruth's mind was fully made up she quit urging her.

III. The Glorious Issue of Ruth's Choice.

Ruth was never sorry for her choice, for:

1. She found the true God (v. 16).
2. She found human friends (ch. 2).
3. As she went to glean in the fields she was led to the field of Boaz—a man of wealth and grace. The servants of Boaz treated her with consideration; even Boaz gave instruction for special consideration to be given her.
4. A good husband and a happy home (chaps. 3 and 4). She not only secured a husband, but a man of God, who had abundance of this world's goods.
5. An honored place in the Israelitish nation (4:13-17). Though she had to forsake her own people, she became one of a nobler people.
6. She became a link in the chain of Christ's ancestry (4:18-22; cf. Matt. 1:5). The one who fully decides for Christ and gives up all for him shall get a hundredfold in this life and in the world to come, eternal life.

This story is a fine exhibition of dispensational truth:

(1) The famine in the land indicates the testing of the Jews; (2) the going into Moab, the sojourn of the Israelites among the nations; (3) sickness and death in Moab, the chastisement of the Jews in this present age; (4) the return to the land, the gathering of Israel to their own land; (5) Ruth following, the gathering of the Gentiles through the influence of the Jews; (6) the marriage between Boaz and Ruth, the union of the church with Christ.

Faith in God.

If your faith in God is stronger for every humble task in which you need and get his aid, then that humble task is necessary to the fullness of your faith in God. It will make the music of your life more firm and solid.—Phillips Brooks.

SCHOOL DAYS

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

A LONGED-FOR JOY.

I do not envy millionaires.
The many things that they can do.
Though endless bank accounts are theirs.
And mine last week I overhauled.
I do not sit around and sigh
And wait in sorrow's gloomy way
That they have things I cannot buy—
I don't want all their joys today.
I would not look on life as grim
Because I own no gilt-edged stocks,
But I confess, I envy him
Who buys his golf balls by the box.
I would not be a millionaire
To deck myself with diamond rings
And have expensive clothes to wear
And luxuries that money brings.
I'm satisfied to plod along
And count the cost of what I get;
A toiler in the larger throng
I'm quite content to be, and yet
Whenever wealthy men I see,
And at our club they move in flocks,
One of the few I'd like to be
Who buy their golf balls by the box.

A new ball, smooth and shining white
To me is a seventy-five-cent treat;
When I indulge in such delight
I must cut down on what I eat,
And only now and then I dare
To put a new ball into play,
But he who is a millionaire
May start a fresh one every day.
I'd be a monarch, crowned and throned,
And count myself secure from shocks,
If ever coin enough I owned
To buy my golf balls by the box.

Age

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

IT IS only as we recognize the Minute upon Minute, Hour upon Hour, Day upon Day, philosophy of Time that we are able to enter into the serious lesson that Age has for us all. For Age has no philosophy excepting the philosophy of accomplishment, as it matures. Even as you think, you Age. And yet in Aging you are liable to realize the full meaning of every breath that you Breathe and of every single Effort you make.

In the Sunset is reviewed the glory of the day.

Age is Experience—crystallized. Age is Initiative—worked out. Age is the Dream—come true. Age is the Tree—full grown. Age is the Business Successful—a power in its area. What you are is the sum of your days in Age—Averaged.

In your Success is reflected the product of every one of your hours.

Age is not the mere piling up of years, for many a man is old at thirty, and many a man is young at eighty. For Youth is as elastic as Age, and Age is as elastic as Youth. Let the Experience of Age ever be a teacher to you. Let it Admonish as well as Encourage you.

Floury Faces.

"When I was a kid we used to throw flour. You could see faces full of flour."

"If you judge by flour on the face," responded old Uncle Pennywise, "my niece think life is a perpetual Hal-lowe'en."—Mutual Magazine.

Rann-dom Reels

By HOWARD L. RANN

THOMAS A. EDISON

THOMAS A. EDISON is a sleepless genius who invented the short-watt method of measuring electricity, which has made the electric light business in this country more profitable than running a hot tamale booth at an Old Settlers' picnic.

Mr. Edison is credited by both press and public to be one of the best and most fertile inventors the United States has ever produced. He formed the habit in early youth and has never gotten over it. He began life as a train boy, and sold the unexpurgated yellow-backed novel and the plastic gum drop with great success. But he was not satisfied. Something within him, which has been bothering him ever since, impelled him on and led him to become a telegraph operator.

Edison has made the electric light business in this country more profitable than running a hot tamale booth at an Old Settlers' picnic.

When he first came in contact with the kind of electricity which produces head-end collisions.

After Mr. Edison had learned the Morse alphabet so that he could tell a dash from a semi-colon his inventive genius began to break out faster than a fat boy with the measles. Whenever he wanted something that nobody else had thought of, he would go out and invent it and then cry "Eureka," after having it patented in several different languages. Most of Mr. Edison's patents are still doing business at the old stand.

Mr. Edison gives away a great deal of money without advertising for bids and has helped many a young man to get somewhere on his own power. He rises at 4 a. m. and mingles with fuses, retorts, crucibles, spark plugs and other forms of inanimate life until midnight. He is one of the few Americans who have the cross of the Legion of Honor pinned neatly over the plaid. He sleeps with a pencil over his left ear and a tablet under his pillow, thus making it impossible for any meritorious invention to get away.
