

THE GREEK INSURRECTION.

One of the principal political features in the foreign intelligence brought by the steamer Asia, is the news of a formidable Greek insurrection, which it is said has broken out in Turkey against the Government of the Sultan. It is well known that a large portion of the inhabitants of Turkey are not Mahomedans, but Christians, acknowledging the supremacy of the Greek Church, at the head of which is the Czar of Russia. It is upon this circumstance, more than any other, that the latter has based his hopes of conquering Turkey. Russian emissaries for a great many years have been busy in Turkey in promoting a good understanding between the Greek Christians there and the Czar at St. Petersburg, who stands at the head of their Church. While their political obligations have been to the Sultan, it has been sought to make their religious sympathies a still stronger tie connecting them to the Czar. The present war was caused by the attempt of Nicholas to exercise an ecclesiastical jurisdiction over the Greek Church in the dominions of the Sultan, which had been permitted would have been a virtual abrogation of the latter's sovereignty. The Porte and his Government at Constantinople, have been for a long time aware that their greatest political weakness and danger was in an insurrection of the Greek Church in Turkey, who constitute a large majority of the inhabitants; and to guard against the probability of such an event, the Mussulman ruler has granted every imaginable privilege, so far as the exercise of the rights of their religion is concerned, to the Greek Christians, that they could desire.

Indeed, with the exception of England, there is not a country in Europe where the principle of religious toleration is carried out to a greater extent than in Turkey. There can be no doubt that the exactions made upon the Greek Christians are far less, and that their condition is infinitely better than it would be if the Russian intrigues floated from the dome of the Mosque of St. Sophia, in Constantinople. No policy could be more injudicious, upon the part of the Greek Christians, than that which should seek to exchange the Government of the Sultan for that of the Czar. We have seen it stated in the letters of intelligent and apparently reliable correspondents from Turkey, that the Christian population of that country was well affected toward their Mussulman ruler, and that the attempt of the Russian agents to excite a different feeling among them had resulted in failures, and that they would sustain the Sultan in the present war.

We shall be somewhat disappointed if the reverse of this opinion proves to be correct. It cannot be denied, however, that the fact of this large Greek church population in Turkey is a political element that well deserves to be considered in all speculations upon the probable termination of the Eastern difficulty, for whichever side it should incline to would have a potential weight in determining the result. Should the Greek Christians in Turkey pretty unanimously revolt against the Ottoman government and incline to Russia it is very doubtful whether even the united strength of England and France could prevent the Czar from conquering Turkey. That such an event will happen we have no fears, considering it improbable in the highest degree. The Czar is thus instigating domestic insurrection to aid his cause. He is handing an edged tool which is sharpened on both sides and may well be turned against him. The Allied Powers have, in his conduct, a direct justification for giving assistance to the revolutionists in Poland and Hungary. If he goes to war with the avowed desire of fighting for and maintaining the Greek Church, how will that suit the Roman Catholics of Poland who consider that church heretical? If religious differences, proverbially the most bitter of any in the world, are to be appealed to in the present struggle, and their motives are emblazoned upon the standards of hostile nations, the coming war will be inconceivably the most bloody and sanguinary that ever desolated Europe.

It is already known that the revolutionary political element is to come into the conflict whether desired or not by the contending belligerents. There are thousands of generous and ardent devotees of liberty in Italy, Hungary and Germany, who, when the smoke of battle shall have obscured the armies of despotism from their sight, will kindle the bonfires of freedom upon every hill top and in every valley, and send up a shout for the redemption from bondage of their fatherland.

POULTRY CHEAPER THAN PORK.

Build a good comfortable hen-coop, as you would keep your hogs in. Keep fowls, feed them; and make a careful estimation of your fowls and hogs, together with the products of each; you will find that fowls are more profitable stock than hogs. Each hen, if well cared for, will yield a clear profit of one dollar a year. To care for them and produce this result, it is necessary to give them a warm place to roost, a dry cellar, if possible, in winter, a variety of grain, with a little animal food, with clean water, and lime. Some fowls for egg shells. The fowl man wanted in the United States, is worth at least $1,000,000. To save it, place a layer of loam and plaster occasionally over layers of this manure. Every spring mix altogether and use it at the rate of a pint to a hill of corn, or cucumbers, squashes, pumpkins, melons, peas, onions, strawberries, or any other fruit, vegetable or grain, and you cannot fail to have an improved crop. This is American Guano, and is as good as that brought for the islands at a heavy cost.

TEXAS.

We are gratified to learn that in Texas ten newspapers are out decidedly in favor of a prohibition of the liquor traffic; four evidently lean that way; and only three are decidedly opposed.

From the Lawrenceburg Register.

Perusing to previous call a number of citizens of Dearborn County assembled on the 10th of March, at the Market-house in the city of Lawrenceburg. In consequence of the severity of the weather, several American-born citizens who had promised to attend and address the assembly did not appear, and therefore the meeting was conducted entirely in German. The meeting was organized by electing GIDEON RENNERT, Chairman, and P. L. MATTHEWS, Secretary.

After an address by John Schwartz, the following resolutions were proposed and adopted:

Whereas, a number of fanatic and disappointed demagogues and office seekers are endeavoring to mislead the people of this State by the present agitation of the temperance question, and Whereas, further, their only object design is selfishness, and the desire of obtaining lucrative and honorable offices and not as they falsely assert, philanthropy and humanity; and Whereas, further we are free and independent men, and the only judges of our own doing, as long as we do not interfere with the rights of others, and therefore we do not allow those fanatic and office seekers to intrude upon our natural and civil rights; and Whereas, further, temperance is a matter of conscience and morality, and not of public policy, and therefore we do not allow it to be promoted by moral suasion and good example, and not by legislative interference and a prohibitory law; and Whereas, further, the moderate use of wine, beer, and other intoxicating liquors, is not only not injurious, but even beneficial to mankind; and Whereas, further, a prohibitory law is directly against the interest of the whole State and her inhabitants; and Whereas, lastly, almost every paper in the State is either in favor of a prohibitory liquor law or wholly silent on the subject; we therefore

Resolved, That we shall oppose the mingling of the temperance question with politics, and making it a hobby upon which disappointed and hypocritical office seekers intend to ride into lucrative and honorable offices.

Resolved, Further, that we shall use no force, and we shall not use force against the numbers of those fanatics and hypocrites who are the main support of this establishment, and who are the main support of this establishment, and who are the main support of this establishment.

Resolved, Further, that for this purpose we shall circulate petitions for subscriptions to establish one or more papers, and to support such papers as will advocate and defend our rights, and that such papers be circulated over the whole State.

Resolved, Further, that all the other counties of the State be requested through the public press, to organize for this same purpose, and that each county may appoint a delegation of two, to meet at Indianapolis the Capital of the State, on the 1st day of May next, and to consider and act upon such matters as may be found expedient.

Resolved, Further, that a President, Secretary and Treasurer be appointed to manage the affairs of the organization of this county, to receive the subscription money, and to report of it to the convention of delegates to be directed.

Resolved, Lastly, that the proceedings of this meeting be published in the different papers of the State, so that all the inhabitants may be apprised of our purpose.

Jacob Gysie, of Lawrenceburg, and Marcus Levy, of Aurora, were elected delegates; and Gideon Renner, President; E. F. Tanner Secretary; and P. L. Matthews, Treasurer; whereupon the meeting adjourned sine die.

REV. DR. BEECHER AND THE TRAFFIC.

The following sentiments of the Rev. Dr. Beecher, upon the subject of the Traffic of Intoxicating Drinks, for eloquence of expression, and fidelity to truth, will never be surpassed. Let every friend of the Prohibitory law read it, and be strengthened in his resolution to persevere. Let every opposer of Prohibition read it, and examine himself; above all, let every dealer read it, and tremble for himself and family, and may God grant him resolution and strength to forsake a trade in every way so fatal, in every point of view so demoralizing—let him not wait for a law to compel him to do it.

Has not God connected with all lawful avocations the welfare of the life that now is, and that which is to come; and can we lawfully amass property by a course of trade which fills the land with beggars, and widows, and orphans, and crimes; which people the grave yard with premature mortality and the world of woe with victims of despair? Could all the forms of evil produced in the land by intemperance, come upon us in one horrid array, it would appal the nation, and put an end to the traffic. If in every dwelling built by blood, the stone from the wall should utter all the cries which the bloody traffic excites, and the beam of the timber should echo their back—who would build such a house and who would live in it? What if every part of the dwelling, from the cellar upwards, through all the halls and chambers—babbling and contending, and vice, and groans, and shrieks and wailing, were heard by day and night? What if the cold blood oozed out and stood in drops upon the walls; and by preternatural art, all the ghastly skulls and bones of the victims destroyed by intemperance, should stand upon the walls, in horrid sculpture, within and without the window, and would roar such a building? What if at eventide, and at midnight the airy forms of men destroyed by intemperance, were dimly seen haunting the distilleries and stores where they received the bane—following the track of the ship engaged in commerce—walking upon the waves—flitting athwart the deck—sitting upon the rigging and sending up from the hold within, and from the waves without, groans and loud lamentations and wailings! who would attend such stores? who would labor in such distilleries? who would navigate such ships? Oh! when the sky over our heads, one great whispering gallery, brings down upon us all the lamentations and woe which intemperance creates, and the firm earth one enormous medium of sound, sends up beneath the wailings of those the commerce of ardent spirit had sent thither; these tremendous realities, assailing our sense, would invigorate our conscience, and give decision to our purpose of reformation. But these evils are actual, as if the stones did cry out of the wall, and the beam answered it—as real self, day and night, wailing were heard in every part of the dwelling—and blood and skeletons were seen upon every wall—as real, as if the ghastly forms of departed victims flitted about the ship as she passed over the billows, and showed themselves nightly about the stores and distilleries, (and we may add breweries,) and with unearthly voices screamed at our ears, their loud lament. They are as real as if the sky over our heads collected and brought down about us all the terrors of sorrow in the land—and the firm earth should open a passage for the wailing of despair to come up from beneath.

CINCINNATI WATER CURE.

In our paper of to-day, may be seen a beautiful cut of the Cincinnati Water Cure Establishment. It is located on the C. H. & D. R. R., near Carthage. The locality has always enjoyed the purest and healthiest atmosphere. The rooms and every thing about the establishment, are arranged in such a manner, as to gain every advantage of all things, that in any way conduce to health and comfort. A few days' residence, with some friends, who visited the place, and who are now in the place, by the proprietor, the various arrangements and appointments of the establishment. We were much pleased at the neatness and almost mathematical order, that prevails throughout every department. The baths are admirably arranged, and are indeed a most desirable luxury. The bath of ice, is just such a sensible person could look upon with a hearty appetite. The exercises and amusements are physically and mentally, and the most legitimate order, that prevails throughout every department.
