

Indiana American.

C. H. BINGHAM, Editor.

—BROOKVILLE—
Friday Morning, May 17, 1867.

Meeting of the Union Central Committee.

The members of the Franklin County Union Executive Committee are requested to meet at the office of H. H. Swift in Brookville, on Saturday, May 25th, 1867, at one o'clock P. M. The following persons compose said Committee:

Thos. H. Conner, John Colter,
W. H. Shultz, Jas. H. Moore,
John Webb, David Powers,
C. C. Binkley, Jas. Bailey Jr.,
W. S. Baker, Chas. Marlin,
U. V. Koger, Abraham Miller,
Henry Coen, Ira Stout.

A general attendance is very desirable.
CHAS. C. BINKLEY, Chairman.

The Injunction Cases.

The Supreme Court has dismissed the Georgia petition for want of jurisdiction. Thus ends the hope of defeating Congressional reconstruction by judicial interposition. To have decided any other way would have set up a supremacy of the Judiciary in political affairs that would have changed the framework of the government. The Mississippi case having been linked with the Arkansas case against General Ord, will be considered anew.

Release of Jefferson Davis.

Jeff Davis was brought into the United States District Court at Richmond, on Monday, by Gen. Barton, in obedience to the writ of habeas corpus. Davis sat with his counsel. Gen. Barton made return of the writ, whereupon Judge Underwood relieved him of the custody of Davis, who was immediately re-arrested on a bench warrant for trial on the indictment for treason, found by the Norfolk Grand Jury. Mr. O'Connor spoke of Davis' ill-health, long imprisonment, &c., and asked that his client might be released on bail. To this the Prosecuting Attorney consented, fixing the bail at $100,000. The Judge then released the prisoner on bail, Horace Greeley becoming one of the sureties. The Judge said the responsibility of delaying the trial rested on the Government and not on the District Attorney.

Premium List.

The Premium List of the Franklin County Agricultural Society for the coming year has been laid on our table. It presents the usual creditable appearance. We notice that $100 is offered for the best and fastest trotting horse or mare, and $50 for the best and fastest pacing horse or mare. These are heavy premiums, and will compare favorably with those of other County Fairs. It is the intention to have a good exhibition this year, as far as the officers can bring it about, and it remains to be seen whether our people will second their laudable efforts.

Death of Ex-Gov. Wright.

Ex-Governor Wright, of Indiana, died at Berlin, on Saturday morning, of dropsy. The funeral took place on Monday, and was attended by all the American residents and visitors there, and a large number of citizens.

Virginia.

Reports from the counties and registration districts in Virginia south of the James river, are very gratifying. The feeling in favor of speedy reconstruction is very general, and there is a disposition to accept the negro as an equal citizen without factions and useless opposition. Capitalists and land owners are offering the colored men facilities for cultivating land and advancing their private interests and social condition.

Blowed Out his Brains.

Elijah Hise, just elected to Congress from the Third District of Kentucky, committed suicide on Wednesday afternoon by blowing out his brains with a pistol. He left a note, saying that he despaired of doing the country any good.

Eight Hour Strike in Chicago.

The difficulties in Chicago are subsiding—the eight-hour men proffering to work for eight hour wages. They have gained nothing by their violent actions; but have caused the destruction of not less than one million dollars' worth of property; besides compelling the railroad shops to abandon Chicago, and move them to some point in Indiana.

Legal Partnership.

Governor Morton has formed a law partnership with Judge Martindale and John S. Tarkington of Indianapolis. The new firm is Morton, Martindale & Tarkington.

Hon. Geo. W. Julian.

Will address his fellow citizens of Shelby County at Shelbyville next Saturday.

Will Cumbuck for Governor.

Will Cumbuck, President of the Senate, is talked of as a candidate for Governor.

Remarkable Judicial Utterance.

The telegraph has already brought us a brief account of Judge Underwood's remarkable charge on the opening of the United States Circuit Court at Richmond, Va., on Monday. The address deserves a fuller notice. It opens by retorting thanks to God that the friends of the Government, who were last year threatened with destruction by its enemies, are now able to meet in security in the very rooms where dwelt the spirit of treason and civil war, and wherein issued that fell spirit which starved prisoners by wholesale, assassinated colored soldiers, burned towns and cities, and scattered abroad yellow fever and small-pox. The charge continues:

Another subject of thanksgiving is presented in the very constitution of your body furnishing ocular evidence that the age of lust and class cruelty is departed, and the new era of equality and justice breaking through the clouds of persecution and prejudice is now dawning upon us; and, stranger of all, that this city of Richmond should be the spot of earth to furnish this precious manifestation. Richmond, the beautiful abandoned seat of the rebellion, looking as comely and specious as a goodly apple or a gilded sepulchre, where bloody treason flourished its whip of scorpions; Richmond, where the slave trade so long held its carnival; where the press has found the lowest depths of profligacy; where licentiousness had ruled until probably a majority of births were illegitimate or without the forms of law; where the fashionable and popular pulpit had been so prostrated that its fall fed ministering gey Lotarians generally recommended the worship of what they most respected—pleasure, property and power—corresponding to the pagan and mythological ideas of Bacchus, Mammon and Mars:

Gods brutal, partial, passionate, unjust. These attributes were rage, revenge and lust. It was as if the furies prevailed. Against the seraphs they assailed; And fixed on Heavenly thrones should dwell, The freed inheritors of hell.

So cursed the causes that destroy.

But we are reminded that where sin abounded grace was much more abundant, and in the light of recent changes may we not hope a material and moral future for this City of Richmond, in strong contrast with its awful and abject past, and in harmony with the salubrity of its climate, the poetic beauty of its scenery and the magnificence of its water powers?

After referring to the clemency of Congress in reducing the penalty of treason (act of July 17, 1862), to fine and imprisonment, when all other nations punish the crime with death, the Judge goes on to say of the Hon. Thaddeus Stevens: "We have seen a patriotic statesman, venerable alike for his age and for the blessings, education, culture and improvements he had conferred upon his State and country, a statesman greatly eminent among his fellow legislators, and by common consent of successive Congresses, acknowledged as a leader and father, with a deference that neither Clay, Fox, the Pitts, nor even Cicero had ever known—this noble man we have seen assailed with a bitterness and a falsehood peculiar to the authors of and leaders of the rebellion, in pimps and apologetes. And for what? Why, for proposing that a few of those who had been chiefly instrumental in filling the land with war and mourning, and debt and taxation, and who, like the late Secretary of the rebel finances, had made millions by speculating upon the general distress, should out of their princely estates contribute one-tenth of the damages they had done, and at the same time expressly exempting from penalty all the great masses of those who had been drawn into the late war. This humane statesman also proposed to punish any with that extreme rigor usual in civil wars, and not even to the extent exacted by every European nation in ordinary foreign wars. Was such moderation and clemency ever before so abused and insulted? May this grandest old statesman of our country and age, this honor to humanity and light among the nations, still continue to live, notwithstanding the advance of years and disease, and may we yet be guided by his wisdom and benevolence, until the great questions now pending shall be decided in the interest of peace, progress and freedom.

The charge concludes by the expression of the opinion that the session of the Court will be long. It says: The unmitigated disloyalty which animates so large a portion of our newspaper press in this State, is producing such effect upon the public morals, especially in creating a disposition by frauds and perjury to escape taxation necessary for the support of the Government, in encouraging the circulation of counterfeit money, and it is to be feared the anxiety to vote at the approaching elections by persons engaged in the late rebellion, is about to produce an immense amount of labor for our Grand Jurors. On this subject I may have occasion to address you more at length on a future occasion. Your attention is particularly called to an aspect which had assumed an alarming aspect in this city as a relic of the old barbarism of slavery; I mean the brutal rejection of a great laboring and useful class of the people from the streets cars, under the act of Congress commonly called the Civil Rights bill. There is an undoubted remedy for such outrages. Chartered transportation companies owe impartial duties to the public, and the gross wrong complained of deserves your indignant reprobation. I know the matter has been arranged by the Commanding General with his usual great prudence and judgment, but it is from its nature a mere temporary settlement, and needs confirmation by the legal sanction of courts and juries.

Negro Riots.

Richmond, Virginia, is just now excited by negro riots. Another took place there on Monday, and the military were called in to restore order. There are threats of more trouble there. Horace Greeley and Judge Underwood both addressed the negroes gathered at the African Church, and urged them to refrain from riotous demonstrations.

Retired.

J. H. McClung Esq. has retired from the Editorial chair of the Liberty Herald, having engaged in new pursuits. Chas. W. Stivers succeeds him as publisher and proprietor.

Peace in Europe.

The Franco-Prussian difficulty has been settled; the agreement reached by the European Conference has been signed; the terms ratified by the respective Governments and France has made a satisfactory explanation to Prussia of her recent war-like preparations; and thus the war-cloud which a few weeks ago was big with tokens of fire and sword, has passed away.

The terms of settlement are the evacuation of Luxembourg by Prussia, and the raising of the fortress; Luxembourg to remain in the possession of the King of Holland, and all parties to the treaty to guarantee the neutrality of the Duchy.

Milk Sickness.

The Medical and Surgical Reporter states that the affection of cattle known as milk sickness, is caused by eating the white snake root, Eupatorium Ageratoides. This discovery seems to have been made by three separate observers, at about the same time. One of them, Mr. William Serry, of Edwardsville, Illinois, in 1860, gathered this plant by mistake for the nettle, and eat it as boiled greens. On the next day following he was seized with violent trembling, prostration and faintness, and on the next day with vomiting and violent retching. He did not fully recover in five years, and in the meantime tried the plant on domestic animals with similar results. Dr. Amos Sawyer, of Hillsboro, Illinois, Dr. R. N. Lee, of Nokomis, Dr. McPheters, of St. Louis, botanist, and Mr. Enno chemist, all coincide in the opinion that milk sickness is caused by the hitherto unsuspected plant, which animals are said to like when it is in bloom.

Loyal Men Gaining Strength in Alabama.

The loyal men are gaining strength in Alabama, very rapidly. Six months ago there was no Union party there. Now the Union League numbers 25,000 white members. The State Central Committee is composed of bold, earnest and able men.

Terrible Tragedy in Cass County.

From the Logansport Pharos we learn that a distressing affair occurred in Deer Creek township, Cass county, Saturday, at the residence of Mr. George Harness. A shot gun used for shooting rats, was left in the barn loaded. It was found by the children while playing, and discharged—the load wounding two of Mr. Harness' children. One died on Sunday, and the other was not expected to live at last accounts.

Minnie Ball Extracted.

Mr. Isaac Moody, of Augusta, Me., has had a flattened minnie ball of the largest size taken from the right side of the face, back of the jaw. The ball was lodged there in battle three years ago.

Pushing Forward.

The work of organizing a Republican party at the South is being pushed rapidly forward, with great success. The work is most advanced in Louisiana, and least in Virginia. The negroes about the large cities are almost altogether Republican, but back on the plantations they stand more in fear of their old masters.

Frightful Accident.

A frightful accident occurred on Main street, above Thirteenth, in Cincinnati, on Wednesday evening, by which a woman and three children were precipitated from the third story of a house, caused by the falling of a bridge which led across the yard to a structure for drying clothes, in the rear of the building.

Maryland Rebels.

The rebel Constitutional Convention, of Maryland, met on Wednesday. The Baltimore American says it is simply a renewal of the rebellion, and its sole object is to undo all the loyal work of the last six years.

News from the Plains.

The news from the plains state that General Hancock has not yet crossed the Arkansas river, because he had not been joined by General Custer's cavalry. The Arapahoes have shown a disposition for peace, but the Kiowas remain warlike.

Scoundrelism.

On Sunday night the residence of Lafayette Hartley, near Sullivan, was entered by some scoundrel, who took the bureau keys from Hartley's pants pocket, unlocked the drawer, and helped himself to $75 which Mr. H. had worked hard for, and had been lucky enough to receive the day before. Mr. H. thinks chloroform must have been used, or he would have awoke in time to have saved his money and the robber.

Found Dead.

The Martinsville Gazette says that Mr. Prior Hammons, a well known citizen of that county, was found dead near his farm, one day last week. He had left Martinsville with a wagon and two horses, just before dark, considerably intoxicated, and when found, the wagon in which he had been riding was turned over him.

Rumor.

It is rumored in Kentucky that the true reason for the suicide of Elijah Hise was that he had rendered false income returns and an exposure was threatened.

Fire at Fayetteville.

The residence of Mrs. Nancy Dailey, by Fayetteville, this County, was consumed by fire on Saturday morning last, together with a considerable portion of its contents. Mrs. Dailey's son Charles, who resides with her, lost a number of valuable law books and nearly all of his personal clothing. [Connersville Times.]

RECONSTRUCTION.

The Hon. Henry Wilson, who is making a tour on the stump in the South, published in the Independent a letter, which, though no allusion is made to it, is nevertheless a reply to the curt letter of Thaddeus Stevens in favor of confiscation and further terms. He says: "Congress having laid down conditions of final settlement, those conditions will be accepted."

We quote the following: "It is of vital importance that these States should pass into the control of men who are for the unity of the Republic, impartial freedom, equality of rights and privileges in law, and in fact, for the education of the people, and for their improvement and elevation. We of the North have won in the field, have won in the public councils. Ideas, principles and policies which we deem vital to the country, are embodied in the conditions we have required our countrymen of the South to adopt. We have sought, not to dishonor or degrade them, but to protect and lift up the oppressed, the poor, the dependent. The long contest of 'justice in conflict with avarice and oppression,' in the words of Jefferson, is over. The passions, prejudices and bitter memories engendered by the great struggle should be forgotten in this day of our triumph. In the long conflict of force it was duty to country, to man, and to God, that won the men of the South front to front, face to face. When we can no longer demand its vigorous prosecution. When hostilities ceased, it was the highest duty ever imposed upon us to see that the people we had made free in name should be free in fact; that they should be citizens, with equal rights and privileges. That great duty has been performed by the adoption of terms and conditions that will be complied with. This is not a mere partisan work. Every thoughtful man who sees the condition of these States, who comprehends the pressing needs of this people, who wishes to see peace, law, order, prosperity and fraternal affection prevail, and our country become the leading Christian nation of the globe, may contribute to develop the work. Northern capital is needed to develop the material interests of these States and make the wasted fields bloom again. Northern labor is required to enlighten and instruct the people. The people of the North, whose arms have triumphed and whose ideas have conquered, have now a glorious opportunity, by the blessing of God, to confer lasting benefits upon these States and this people. I trust they will hail and improve it."

Editorial Correspondence.

Editorial Correspondence.—Since I last wrote you, many things of interest have transpired in and around our quiet village, among which may be numbered the Advent of Spring. As pines were sung to Spring at Delphi, as expressions of delight at the termination of the discomforts of Winter, I think the inhabitants of this ever-changing climate might with greater reason send up a grand choral song at the termination of the past dreary Winter. My heart bids a welcome to Spring, with all its cheering promises and unfolding beauties.

The return of Spring always carries me back to the days of my childish and boyish sports, and revives joyous and sacred memories. Again I trip over my native hills, and see the trees that were my playmates when a child, and which rocked me in their arms. I hear their leaves clapping their little hands in glee. I feel the freshness of the silvery streams of the green land of my youth, and hear them laugh as they pass me by. Again I chase the ground-squirrel to his little den, watch the wild birds gather the sweets of flowers, and listen to the minstrels of the green-elf forest. I pluck again the violets, the wild flowers of the woodland, and weave a wreath around my mother's brow. I reanimate my childish comrades, hear their sparkling eyes, hear their laughing voices, and join them in their sports.

But alas! this is only living over the past in a dream. These memories may be cherished, but they cannot die. Yes, Spring is here. The nestling buds will soon unfold their wings, and Summer will be ere long ushered in, clothed as a bride adorned for her husband.

Spring comes to breathe upon our citizens a spirit of improvement, and nurtures in them a desire to adorn their homes, to cultivate the beautiful. Some of the improvements which I mentioned in a previous letter as then only existing in the minds of our citizens, have opened into realities. The exterior and interior of our village residences are being greatly improved.

Our Sabbath Schools are in a flourishing condition, and the superintendents and teachers of them are endeavoring to make the moral wilderness "blossom as the rose."

LAUREL CORRESPONDENCE.

Dear American.—During the last week a stranger in our place would have thought that each day was a succession of Sundays. The farmers all being busy, and consequently not in town, the business of merchandising was "ex tempore" suspended.

We can boast of some fine stores and accommodating proprietors, where dealers can find anything from a cannie needle to a bar of iron. This is more particularly the case with the establishment of W. F. Hazard on Pearl Street, which is conducted upon true city style.

The water has been let into the Canal, and once more the ponderous machinery of the flouring mill of Messrs. Baker & Kerr is set in motion.

The interprising firm of Williams & Day are building a large warehouse for the purpose of storing grain, and again the palmest days of Laurel will be realized.

The large paper mill above town is progressing rapidly to completion. The brakeman who was hurt by the wheels of the tender a few weeks ago, is recovering under the skillful care of Drs. Berry and Gifford, and the kind nursing of C. Burgoyne Esq., than whom there is no better sick-bed attendant in the country.

We saw a number of clerical gentlemen this week in town attending the Sunday School Convention, and also the pleasant face of Dr. Keely from Brookville.

As soon as the Winter breaks and Spring sets in, I will write again.

In Town.

Hon. W. S. Holman, M. E., of Aurora, was in attendance at the Circuit Court of this County on Thursday and Friday last.

The Judge is looking quite as well as a gentleman of his political persuasion, who has just removed from a very sure but uttermost to a fixed Republican district, could be expected to. He expresses his entire willingness to allow Doc. Berry and Mr. Julian to fight the thing out in the "new" burnt district, and thinks the Republicans of this should give Col. Grover another show for his white ally. We shall hardly quarrel with him on this head. [Deatur Co. Press.]

A Cold Wet Summer.

French scientific men predict that the summer of 1867 will be cold and wet, like that of last year. They base their prediction on the fact that immense masses of ice have broken, or are about to break away from the extreme North, producing cold and vapor.—Exchange. There was an immense depth of snow haint took me!" Kentucky claims that she took no side in the rebellion, but it is clear that the rebel side has taken her.—[Gazette.]

Tied Together and Tucked In.

The Nashville Banner, a Democratic paper of the most malignant kind, in a recent denunciation of the attempt of the Union men to obtain the negro vote, says, "There is no antagonism, either in feeling or interest, between the two races of the South. Let the Radical destructives beware how they attempt to put asunder what the Lord has joined together."

"Whom God has joined together," Married then, and after the queerest courtship on record, except among some African tribes, where the affectionate husband lashes his wife on a keen run from her father's house to his own. Is it possible this style of love making has been adopted by the Democracy in deference to the traditional tastes of Africa? "No antagonism between the two races," between parties "whom God has joined together," of course not. These blockheads of the North, knowing nothing of the negro character, misinterpreted the whipping and chaining and selling of the future wife of the Democracy. We thought it was cruel and meant unending oppression, when it was only courting and meant ultimate marriage. The South understood the negro and we didn't, and our emancipating and enfranchising, and educating have all been stupid interferences with the "course of true love." The blockheads of the "running smooth."—[Indianapolis Journal.]

Editorial Correspondence.

Editorial Correspondence.—Since I last wrote you, many things of interest have transpired in and around our quiet village, among which may be numbered the Advent of Spring. As pines were sung to Spring at Delphi, as expressions of delight at the termination of the discomforts of Winter, I think the inhabitants of this ever-changing climate might with greater reason send up a grand choral song at the termination of the past dreary Winter. My heart bids a welcome to Spring, with all its cheering promises and unfolding beauties.

The return of Spring always carries me back to the days of my childish and boyish sports, and revives joyous and sacred memories. Again I trip over my native hills, and see the trees that were my playmates when a child, and which rocked me in their arms. I hear their leaves clapping their little hands in glee. I feel the freshness of the silvery streams of the green land of my youth, and hear them laugh as they pass me by. Again I chase the ground-squirrel to his little den, watch the wild birds gather the sweets of flowers, and listen to the minstrels of the green-elf forest. I pluck again the violets, the wild flowers of the woodland, and weave a wreath around my mother's brow. I reanimate my childish comrades, hear their sparkling eyes, hear their laughing voices, and join them in their sports.

But alas! this is only living over the past in a dream. These memories may be cherished, but they cannot die. Yes, Spring is here. The nestling buds will soon unfold their wings, and Summer will be ere long ushered in, clothed as a bride adorned for her husband.

Spring comes to breathe upon our citizens a spirit of improvement, and nurtures in them a desire to adorn their homes, to cultivate the beautiful. Some of the improvements which I mentioned in a previous letter as then only existing in the minds of our citizens, have opened into realities. The exterior and interior of our village residences are being greatly improved.

Our Sabbath Schools are in a flourishing condition, and the superintendents and teachers of them are endeavoring to make the moral wilderness "blossom as the rose."

LAUREL CORRESPONDENCE.

Dear American.—During the last week a stranger in our place would have thought that each day was a succession of Sundays. The farmers all being busy, and consequently not in town, the business of merchandising was "ex tempore" suspended.

We can boast of some fine stores and accommodating proprietors, where dealers can find anything from a cannie needle to a bar of iron. This is more particularly the case with the establishment of W. F. Hazard on Pearl Street, which is conducted upon true city style.

The water has been let into the Canal, and once more the ponderous machinery of the flouring mill of Messrs. Baker & Kerr is set in motion.

The interprising firm of Williams & Day are building a large warehouse for the purpose of storing grain, and again the palmest days of Laurel will be realized.

The large paper mill above town is progressing rapidly to completion. The brakeman who was hurt by the wheels of the tender a few weeks ago, is recovering under the skillful care of Drs. Berry and Gifford, and the kind nursing of C. Burgoyne Esq., than whom there is no better sick-bed attendant in the country.

We saw a number of clerical gentlemen this week in town attending the Sunday School Convention, and also the pleasant face of Dr. Keely from Brookville.

As soon as the Winter breaks and Spring sets in, I will write again.

In Town.

Hon. W. S. Holman, M. E., of Aurora, was in attendance at the Circuit Court of this County on Thursday and Friday last.

The Judge is looking quite as well as a gentleman of his political persuasion, who has just removed from a very sure but uttermost to a fixed Republican district, could be expected to. He expresses his entire willingness to allow Doc. Berry and Mr. Julian to fight the thing out in the "new" burnt district, and thinks the Republicans of this should give Col. Grover another show for his white ally. We shall hardly quarrel with him on this head. [Deatur Co. Press.]

A Cold Wet Summer.

French scientific men predict that the summer of 1867 will be cold and wet, like that of last year. They base their prediction on the fact that immense masses of ice have broken, or are about to break away from the extreme North, producing cold and vapor.—Exchange. There was an immense depth of snow and ice in the North last winter, and it lay on the ground so long, that we can hardly fail to have cold winds from that quarter for a season far beyond the usual length of time.—[Journal.]

LETTER FROM HARRISON.

Mr. Editor.—It is not often that I trouble the public with a letter, for I do not know that I can do the subject justice. It has been sometime since I wrote anything like a live letter, and I rather guess it is something like that to pen one to an Editor. But as our village has been all ready into Jeck to the amiable readers of your paper by the most intelligent and accomplished writer we have amongst us, it will perhaps take off some of the embarrassment which might otherwise tend to curtail the dignity and self-possession of my letter. I write therefore with more experience, as I know I will be classed as your second correspondent from this delectable city, and of course I know I ought not to attempt any competition with our eloquent and graphic "Perry Montrose."

I indeed I cannot imitate that which I have not seen, for Perry is certainly an "inecognito." Like "Junius," no one knows him till this day. Many have tried heretofore to learn his ear-marks, to get his shoe-track, or at least have wished to know whether he, she or it was a male man, or female woman, or an irresponsible myth. The revelation of himself through the columns of the American was to the whole town of Harrisonville, the "Deutsche," who make about one half of it—like the bursting of a bombshell among the silent denizens of a "Quaker Meeting." We were all pretty badly "scared" for we feared that, like the boy with his new gun, he might accidentally hurt some body. As yet, thank a kind, restraining Providence, we all "pull live," and we begin to have "extraneous" hopes of "Perry" and his pen, and some of us begin to think he will yet be equal to Aladdin and his lamp, and make Harrison as celebrated among your readers as "Somerset" used to be in its palmiest days. Three cheers, I say, for "Perry Montrose."

The ladies of the M. E. C. have organized a very pleasant M. E. Society, which meets round at the houses of the brethren and contributes largely to the social, not to say the financial, amenities of the Church. I like this sort of religion, for it suits my ideas of charity, which our good old Preacher tells us means "love" and nothing else.

One of our Churches, I am sorry to learn, on last Sunday gave quite a time of it. It is a German Church known as the Lutheran, and is composed of Evangelical Protestants and Lutherans. The former are the most numerous, and on last Sunday they tried to keep the preaching out of the Church, but the women's club and made a way for him to go in, which he did. The Germans, though usually distinguished for quiet and peace, sometimes make first-rate bigots.

Among the old citizens of our town, none, perhaps, deserves more veneration than Nathaniel Leonard, J. P. Cloud and Benjamin Bookwalter, though the last named, some of our best citizens think, is somewhat disposed to carry water on both shoulders. I met him last week, and it is not quite so bad as carrying about three fingers of some other kind of water some where else, which is done by some people. It is perhaps not very remarkable that our town, according to the Chronicles of "Perry Montrose," is improving much every way, for we have a full corps of M. D.'s. Our churches are all supplied with good preachers, with not a lawyer in the place that is excepting two water in that line. Besides, nobody in the White Water Valley perhaps sells more or cheaper store goods than Leonard & Simons, and when you come to the grand curative agents known all about town here of "Ward's cure-all liniment," and particularly his rat scalers, all of which are manufactured in this place by the distinguished Dr. Ward himself, it is not so wonderful that the town is beginning to assume some of a literary importance.

If you, Mr. Editor, will pay our town a visit and stop with the splendid old gentleman who keeps the Gerrard House, you will be well fed gratin, of course, and I doubt not you will add more to a dozen new subscribers to the American. Try it on, some day.

The new Methodist Church of our town is being rapidly completed, and I learn will be ready for dedication in six or eight weeks. It is an edifice of fine proportions and well planned for the accommodation of all the services of the Sunday School and congregation. Though not a member of the society, I think much credit is due to the Pastor and members of this Church for their bold financial energy in planning and erecting so large and fine a building. I am happy to learn that the building committee have full confidence in paying the last dollar for its erection.

Elder Shaw of the Christian Church, I learn is now on a preaching tour in the city of Philadelphia, and is no doubt enlightening the people of the Quaker City with his superior gospel knowledge.

Yours respectfully, S. B. MALONE.

Lost the Return Trip.

Last Sunday two Laureites encountered considerable difficulty in attempting to get a "free ride" on the Valley railroad. They procured a hand car at Laurel, upon which they came to this place without interference. They then took the car off the track, secured it with chain and padlock, and started out on a tour of observation about our city. During their ramblings the car was discovered by some agent of the railroad company, who caused it to be taken back to Laurel leaving the Laureites to get home as best they could. The joke is given a finer point when it is understood that the railroad has a gradual ascent from Laurel to Connersville, and it required some effort on the part of the excursionists to reach this place; but had they retained possession of the hand car, they could have returned home in comfort with but little bodily exertion or waste of shoe leather. The moral is never try to run an excursion train on your own hook, on Sunday.—[Connersville Times.]

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TAILOR SHOP FOR SALE.

THE subscriber has a good Tailor Shop well furnished with Stoves, Tables, &c.,
in the town of Fairfield, Franklin Co., Ind., which he will rent or sell on reasonable terms to a good Tailor, there being none in the town.
NATHANIEL TASSETT.
May 17, 1867-47

CONCERT AT MT. CARMEL.

PROF. CHAS. SOEHNKE, of Hamilton, Ohio, and some musical friends, will hold a Concert in the Mt. Carmel Church, on Thursday Evening, 23d inst., commencing at 7 1/2 o'clock. The entertainment will consist of Instrumental and Vocal Music. Admission—Adults 50 cts. Children, 25 cts. Tickets can be had of—
Nixon Davis, Whitcomb, Cutter's Corner, N. E. Collier, New Traction, R. R. Bookwalter, Cedar Grove, Reuben Petty, Palestine, Alpheus Gregg, Ashbury Chapel, A. Reardon, Wesley Chapel, Jas. Roberts, Springfield Chapel, Mr. Rev. R. W. Byrne, Moore, Adams & Bros., Thompson & Fogle, D. B. Smith & Son, may 17-18

WANTED WOOL! WOOL! AT THE OLD WHITE CORNER.

Have just received from the Harrison Woolen Mills, TWEEDS, JEANS, BLANKETS, FLANNELS, STOCKING YARN, &c., &c., To be exchanged for Wool. May 17-3m. J. C. BURTON, Agt.

IGNATIUS KOEHLER, BOOT AND SHOE MAKER.

A few doors above the "Old White Corner,"

BROOKVILLE, IND.

Keeps on hand a complete assortment of BOOTS AND SHOES, FOR Gentlemen, Ladies and Children.