Victory for Playwright Gross.

CHICAGO, May 21.—Judge C. C. Kohl, in the United States District Court to-day, issued a perpetual injunction against the production in the United States of Edmond Rostand's play "Cyrano de Bergerac," in the suit brought against Richard Mansfield and A. M. Palmer, by Samuel Eberly Gross of Chicago. The court in order to prevent Mr. Gross who was entitled to an accounting of the profits from the play, but Mr. Gross waived this right and accepted it as satisfaction. Mr. Gross is the author of a drama entitled "The Merchant Prince of Corinville," the leading character of which was distinguished by the big nose that made Cyrano famous. This drama, Mr. Gross maintained, was printed for private circulation some time before the appearance of the celebrated French play according to expert testimony was the basis of Rostand's work. In court numerous parallel boxes of action and language were given. The main contention in Rostand's case was the woolly by proxy of the leading characters in a bad and scurrilous comedy in Cyrano by Mr. Mansfield's production.

DENVER, May 21.—Richard Mansfield made the following statement this afternoon to a representative of the Associated Press regarding the injunction issued by Judge C. C. Kohl: "The injunction Judge Kohl can have no effect upon the presentation of 'Cyrano de Bergerac' because the fact that Mr. Gross will receive royalties on the play instead of me. What effect it would have in France is an entirely different matter, but it may probably affect me in the Theater to the same extent. The American artists overwhelming Mr. Gross with orders for plays, and Chicago may in future be the center of another new industry."
