A Pleasant Surprise.
The members of Allen Chapel gave Elder Titus a very pleasant surprise Thursday of last week. The affair was conducted by Mrs. Bowman, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Miller. There were some forty or fifty persons in the party, and each one brought a substantial present for the Elder. During his pastorate here Elder Titus has been the recipient of several receptions, but all agree in saying that the last was the pleasantest of all. It was a tribute of respect paid by his parishioners which the Elder no doubt fully appreciated.

A Card.
To the Editor of The Leader.
I wish to say to the public that I am in the employ of the Northwestern Railroad Company and that I left Wyoming Territory a few days since. Further that my wife, Mary Lee, resides in this city at present, and that, at her request, I granted her a divorce, and that, should Mrs. Lee or any one else take offense at this procedure that I am responsible for the same. Further I thank Dr. Kottenberger for his kindness, and I shall meet him in the "sweet by and by." Mrs. Lee need not be afraid that I will disgrace her. I have too much heart for that. Watch Sam Dover, citizens of Indianapolis. My wife had no right to go to the Baptist Church to make complaint of me. I would have granted her a divorce without that trouble. Yours,
OSBORNE LEE.

"How is This For Telegraphing?"
A Bombay paper of recent date thus announces a domestic occurrence: At Poonah, Mich., 24th, the lady of Major Nash, a daughter, by "Telegraph" "Smart" work but no smarter than the Electric quickness. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil cures all cases of Asthma, Bronchitis, Diseases of the Throat and glandular swelling.

W. Allison Sweeney on Dan Lemon.
Colored voters of Marion, but a few days more and the responsibilities of American citizenship will call us to the polls to determine by our votes who shall be the next Sheriff of Marion county. Harry Adams, the straight-out Republican nominee, the representative of the party whose principles are dear to us as liberty, or Dan Lemon, the straight-out Democratic nominee, the representative of the party whose principles have always been at enmity with us as a people and a race.

Which shall we have? For our votes will decide. But why ask? Well do I know which you will have, but what I want to urge is this: That every colored voter in Marion county and the city of Indianapolis will resolve himself into a committee of one to see to it that Dan Lemon does not get a solitary colored vote. Let us bury him so deep, by our ballots, rebuke him so emphatically at the polls, that when the sun rises the next morning after election, it will seem like a dream to his best Democratic friends that he ever was nominated or run. There are times perhaps when we can be independent in local politics. This is not one.—W. Allison Sweeney.

F. Burrows, of the firm of Burrows and Winstanley, Saranah, and Wilkesport, writes that he was cured of a very dangerous case of inflammation of the lungs solely by the use of five bottles of Electric Oil. Feels great pleasure in recommending to the public, as he had proved it, for many of the diseases it means to cure, through his friends, and in nearly every instance it was effectual.

EVANSVILLE DEPARTMENT.

It will always be in the mind of the conductor of this column a proud reminiscence, that the Leader and he have taken a leading part in reforming several abuses. We have directed our ability and energy in those channels where the public good would flow. Our reward is the success of the paper and the triumph of principle just, proper and right. Stalwartly we have "kicked" about several things and we are now reaping the reward of our labors.

The next Senator of Indiana, Harrison, spoke here Tuesday night. The Garfield regiment foot horse and cannon were out in all their beauty. The colored guards, in deference to the Leader's opinion, were placed in their proper place—which is not in the rear. The procession is noticeable for its good order. This is entirely different in the Dem's parade. The man who can yell the most demagogically and the strongest becomes the pet of the army.

By the way, it's only the "big guns" that get the benefit of politics.

The ponderous sentences of Johnson; the choice English of Addison; the sententious satire of Junius; the smooth-flavored sentences of Burke, and the ribaldry of the gutter, all and each find a place in our letter, and, if dear "Wraigh" is over capacious it is because he has no eye for our mosaic structure. We have an idea, then its dress in the habit suited to the party in whose circle it moves. Our writers generally have no "dash" or soup con (this is French) to demand attention or insure satisfaction. The field of the ordinary writer shows neither roses nor briars but only a flat, continuous thrashing floor whereon all questions are sifted with the same mechanical impartiality. With Hamlet to the player, say: "reform it altogether." Don't be a stickler for etymological improprieties.

Mr. H. B. Turner suffers a sprained ankle. His presence is much needed.

Mr. J. W. Towson, formerly of Lafayette, is in the city, a waiter at the Murdoch.

Mr. John H. Turner, conspicuously acquires his profession in a prompt and noble attitude.

There is a wedding much talked of in the city. Our ladies and gents are fast leaving the borders of single life.

Mr. C. B. Butler, our colored correspondent for the leading Sunday Journal, this city, will soon pay the metropolis a short visit.

Mr. J. B. Johnson has offered his services for a question of debate for next Monday evening. His antagonist will be represented in the person of C. B. Butler. Question: "Resolved that the Chinaman's right to migrate to America should be excluded." Mr. J. B. J., affirmative; Mr. C. B. B., negative. Both gentlemen, it is supposed, will make the affair very interesting indeed. The place for debate will be at the meeting of the Social Key Club.

Our citizens were highly honored with an eloquent and deliberate address from Mr. Thomas McSheehy, of Indianapolis, on last Saturday evening. He beautifully illustrated the platform and principles of the Republican party, and stated that the party was one bearing the great characteristics of integrity, and expressed his regrets to his fellow-men for not contributing their votes in its favor. His contrast of the Democratic candidates for President, Vice-President, and Governor, with the Republican candidates, was received with great exclamation. His address, in every particular, was worthy the respect and admiration of all who heard it.

way now for getting out of it. If we failed to do the square thing by him it would, be thought, hurt his campaigning at Catawba and perhaps injure his standing in the Democratic party. The mitigating circumstances in his case are that he rarely indulges and that he became dead drunk, in this case, by drinking pop, and the Mayor informed him that five dollars and forty cents would make him even.—Springfield Republic.
