ATTEMPT TO SOLVE PROBLEM IN SUGAR

Justice Department and Refiners' Representatives Review National Supply Situation.

FEDERAL ACTION MAY COME

Government Agents Trying to Find Sequestered Stocks — Makers Point to Excessive Demand.

The Indianapolis News Bureau, 33 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Howard Figg, assistant attorney general, in charge of the cost of living campaign of the department of justice, several United States district attorneys and representatives of the sugar refiners continued to wrestle with the sugar problem today. As a basis for whatever action, if any, shall be taken by the government to relieve the present situation, the department is trying to get from the refiners dependable information as to the amount of sugar in this country.

While some difficulty has been experienced in getting this information, it was said at the department today that there was undoubtedly a reasonable supply of sugar on hand at this time. Just where this sugar is being held has not been ascertained to the satisfaction of the representatives of the government. It is believed, however, representatives of the department said today, that it is only a question of time until the authorities will be able to find the bulk of it.

The conference ended suddenly today after a brief session. No statement was made as to what transpired, but it was understood the department might call the refiners' representatives together again in a few days.

Two Alternatives Possible.

Whether the government will resume control over sugar or whether it will be content with attempting to make the supply on hand available and with prosecuting wholesale and retail dealers who overcharge for the staple has not yet been determined. Some strong arguments in favor of the government taking control again have been advanced. It will be recalled that last December the congress gave President Wilson authority to continue the control until December 31, 1920, if he saw fit to do so. The sugar equalization board, however, was permitted to pass out of existence and all government restrictions on sugar were removed January 1.

Since the day the government took its hands off, the price has continued to advance and for the last two weeks jobbers and retailers have been asserting that there is a sugar shortage. This reported shortage has resulted in another jump in prices throughout the country and also, it is asserted, to dealers refusing to let go of the stocks they have on hand. The department of justice has received information to the effect that in some cities dealers have refused to make inroads on the stock on hand and have indicated that they expected eventually to realize as much as 25 cents a pound for sugar that did not cost them to exceed 15 cents a pound.

Several Arrests Recorded.

During the last few days a considerable number of arrests of sugar profiteers have been made in the larger cities. A general raid on such profiteers has been made in both New York and Philadelphia. Alleged profiteers taken into custody were all doing a retail business. Most of them were putting out sugar at 30 cents a pound.

State food administrators are reporting to Assistant Attorney-General Figg that in many localities it is impossible for householders to buy sugar at any price. According to the state administrators there are many indications of a concerted movement to hold back sugar for extortionate prices.

The one thing the conference that has been going on here for two days has decided on is that district attorneys everywhere shall be urged to go after the sugar profiteers. State food administrators are expected to turn over to district attorneys any evidence of profiteering that may come to them and under the instructions that have gone out it will be the duty of district attorneys to lay this information before federal grand juries.

Say Demand Exceeds Supply.

The sugar refineries and the big wholesale dealers continue to insist that there is a demand for sugar beyond the supply. They say that a large part of the Cuban crop which should have come to this country has been sold in Germany, France and Belgium. It is admitted by the large dealers that the element of speculation enters into the present situation.

Manufacturers of candy and similar products, it is asserted, who must have sugar or go out of business, are paying practically any price. Speculators anxious to turn a profitable deal with the manufacturers are, it is asserted, buying sugar wherever they can get it and are disposing of it at a wide margin of profit. The refineries have said to the department of justice that they are seeking to prevent this speculation by restricting their sales to old customers, who are being limited to the amounts they bought before the war.

Canadian Information Arrives.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, has received a letter from Sir George E. Foster, acting prime minister of Canada, explaining that the failure of Canadian sugar refiners to deliver sugar to Americans who contracted to buy sugar from them is not due to any wilful disregard of contracts on the part of the refiners.

Sir George explained to Senator Watson that all contracts made by Canadian refiners are subject to the willingness of the Canadian government to issue export licenses. The government is unwilling to issue such licenses, he said, because of the imminence of a sugar shortage in Canada due to the inability to get raw sugar.

Senator Watson had asked Sir George Foster for an explanation because of the complaint of a number of Indiana wholesale grocers and sugar brokers that their contracts for delivery of Canadian sugar had been deliberately disregarded by the Canadian refineries.

Complaints Heard in Senate.

Demands that the government take immediate action to relieve the sugar shortage and prosecute profiteers were made today in the senate.

Senator Owen (Dem., Okla.) declared an Oklahoma wholesale merchant had written him that "outside speculators are deliberately buying up and hoarding sugar."

Senator Swanson (Dem., Va.) said the situation was "serious" and that either the congress or some governmental department should take "some strenuous action and see that the situation is improved." He recommended that the senate finance committee investigate the situation with a view to recommending "some way to get rid of this difficulty."

Senator Smoot (Rep., Utah) declared the government should have

"BIG FOUR" DELEGATION ISSUE SHARPLY DRAWN.

DEMOCRATS FOR EDWARDS

NEWARK, N. J., April 27.—Chief interest in today's preferential presidential primary in New Jersey was focused on Republican contests, where the voters were asked to express their preference either for Leonard Wood or for Senator Hiram W. Johnson. Democratic voters were not asked to indicate a direct preference. The unopposed "big four" Democratic delegation is pledged to the candidacy of Governor Edward I. Edwards. Each party will elect twenty-eight delegates to their respective conventions.

In the Republican contest Johnson has made a vigorous campaign and on account of the size of the state and density of population has been able to reach most of the industrial centers with his peculiarly Johnson campaign appeals. It is the industrial districts where labor disturbances have been frequent that are counted on to give the bulk of the Johnson vote.

The Republican state organization has split on the "big four" delegation to the Chicago convention, and from a state standpoint this contest overshadowed the Wood-Johnson contest.

Attitude of State Press.

The press of the state has feared the "big four" contest as a big fight for political leadership between Senator Walter E. Edge and E. C. Stokes, former Governor, chairman of the Republican state committee. Senator Edge and his colleague, Senator Frelinghuysen, who were left out of the "big four" slate prepared by the state organization, became candidates pledged only to the choice of the Republican voters as expressed at the primary.

Stokes, together with John W. Griggs, of Paterson; Thomas L. Raymond, of Newark, and William N. Runyon, of Plainfield, comprise the regular organization slate pledged to the candidacy of Leonard Wood.

Thomas R. Layden, of Paterson,

G. O. P. OF WASHINGTON STATE IN CONVENTION

POINDEXTER INDORSED; WOOD SHOWS STRENGTH.

FIGHT OVER INSTRUCTIONS

BELLINGHAM, Wash., April 27.—Election of fourteen delegates to the Republican national convention, ten of them by districts and four at large, was the principal business before the Washington state Republican convention, in session here today. In addition, a successor to S. A. Perkins, Tacoma, as national committeeman, was to be chosen and a platform comprising state and national planks adopted.

At a caucus late last night a resolution was adopted for presentation to the convention instructing delegates to the convention in Chicago to support Senator Miles Poindexter for the presidential nomination as long as they should see fit.

Fight Over Binding.

A fight was expected over the proposal to bind the delegation to support a second choice candidate if Senator Poindexter should fail of nomination. Wood, Hover and Johnson supporters had been active and all claimed strength for their candidates.

Realizing that Senator Poindexter has little chance of being nominated at Chicago, the Republicans in their precinct meetings leading up to county conventions, which chose delegates to the state convention, elected representatives with a view to the course the delegation to the national convention should take when Poindexter is eliminated. At several of the county conventions, notably King county, in which Seattle is situated; Pierce county, in which Tacoma is situated, and Clark county, it developed that Leonard Wood was in the lead.

Wood Forces in Control.

In both King and Pierce counties the Wood forces were in control. Pierce county, where S. A. Perkins, national committeeman, lives, refused to indorse him to succeed himself as national committeeman and indorsed

WOOD-HARDING CONTEST IS OHIO PRIMARY ISSUE

HEAVY REPUBLICAN VOTE EXPECTED AS A RESULT.

COX, DEMOCRAT, UNOPPOSED

COLUMBUS, O., April 27.—Ohio voters were today expressing their preference for presidential candidates and electing delegates to both the Republican and Democratic national convention. The principal primary fight was that between Leonard Wood and Senator Warren G. Harding, Ohio's "favorite son," for the Republican presidential indorsement and for control of the forty-eight delegates to be chosen for the national convention at Chicago.

Governor James M. Cox was unopposed for the presidential indorsement on the Democratic ticket and all delegates are pledged to him.

The contest between Wood and Harding has been one of the most spirited that has taken place in Ohio in recent years. Forty-three candidates for delegates are pledged to support Wood, while forty-eight are pledged for Harding.

Predict Good Wood Showing.

The supporters of Wood were not saying that Wood would carry the state but were predicting that he would make a good showing—as good as he made in Illinois in his contest with Lowden. It seemed to be the general view that Harding must make even a better showing in Ohio than Lowden made in Illinois if he is to keep the standing in the presidential contest that is desirable. Governor Lowden in Illinois received only about 70 per cent. of the vote of his party.

A heavy Republican and a light Democratic vote was in prospect. There were contests for delegates on the Republican ticket in every district except the two in Cincinnati and the Twenty-first (Cleveland).

Republican voters had the choice today of expressing preference for William Grant Webster, of New York, or Elwood Hamilton, of Hammond, Ind., for Vice-President. There were no candidates for Vice-President on the Democratic ticket.

Charged With Violating Law in Releasing Aliens Slated for Deportation.

IMPEACHMENT IS PROPOSED

Committee Chairman Offers Report Reviewing Actions of Assistant Secretary of Labor.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Charges that Louis F. Post, assistant secretary of labor, had violated the law "in behalf of aliens who have contempt for this government and who are trying to overthrow it," were made before the house rules committee today by Chairman Johnson, of the house immigration committee.

Mr. Johnson was the first witness in the investigation of Mr. Post's conduct in handling deportation proceedings against radical aliens. He was followed by Representative Hoch (Kas.), whose resolution looking to the possible impeachment of the assistant secretary is before the committee.

Represented by Counsel.

Mr. Post was represented by counsel.

Chairman Johnson presented a report of committee investigators, prepared by W. A. Blackwood, of Seattle, Wash., which reviewed many deportation proceedings in which Mr. Post was said to have canceled deportations recommended by immigration inspectors and the immigration bureau. The cases, Mr. Johnson said, were those of "alien communists and anarchists."

Alleges Plot Against U. S.

"There is no doubt," said Mr. Hoch, "that there exists a widespread and carefully planned effort to Russianize this country—to overthrow the government by force and violence. The movement is not only against orderly government, but is against the institution of marriage, the church, religion and all the essentials of civilization."

The report, according to Mr. Johnson, showed that the assistant secretary followed "for a time the opinion of Secretary Wilson" that membership in the Communist party was ground for deportation but that he later "changed his mind" and ordered many communists freed by canceling the deportation warrants.

Says Laws Are Violated.

"Mr. Post called for cases," declared Johnson, "to be sent to him at the rate of ten a day and still later at the rate of 100 a day. These cases going over the heads of the commissioner-general of immigration and the law clerks of his bureau, and without having received his signature, were ordered canceled by Assistant Secretary Post. The report also shows a decision by the assistant secretary in cases in which he undertook to define the word 'anarchist,' and to affirm that congress could not have used the word as a verbal brick bat."

Chairman Johnson declared "the public is not seeing red without a reason."

"It is seeing its laws violated by public officials," he declared, "in behalf of aliens who have contempt for this government and who are here trying to overthrow it, and who are in league with similar revolutionists throughout the world."

Ludwig C. K. Martens, self-styled Russian soviet ambassador. Representative Hoch said, was among those released without bail.

Doubts Violation of Law.

Representative Tincher (Rep., Kas.), declared that while Post had "unquestionably abused his discretionary authority" he doubted whether he had "violated the law."

Representative Siegel (Rep., N. Y.), complained that many radical aliens had been set at liberty in New York city after being taken to Ellis island for deportation, and he blamed Post for their release. The committee adjourned without arranging further hearings.

ON LOOKOUT FOR DE VALERA

Detectives in Ireland Inspect Passengers on Ships.

BELFAST, April 27.—A special force of detectives boarded the Anchor line steamer Columbia on her arrival at Moville today and minutely inspected the passengers and their passports. It is reported they were searching for Eamonn DeValera, "president of the Irish republic," whom the authorities believed was on board. A similar investigation took place at Londonderry when passengers were landed.

SHOWS WOOD AS LOGICAL REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE

CHOICE OF THE MAJORITY

The Indianapolis News Bureau, 33 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The New York Tribune, recognized as the most influential Republican newspaper in the east, expresses the view today that it has already been clearly demonstrated that Leonard Wood is the choice of more Republicans than any other candidate for the presidential nomination. Says the paper:

"Today it is Wood against Johnson in New Jersey; Wood against Harding in Ohio; Wood against Coolidge in Massachusetts; Wood against Poindexter in Washington; Wood against Borah in Idaho.

"It is significant of the presidential nomination campaign that General Wood is entered in all the five states, whereas no other candidate is entered in more than one. Leonard Wood's friends are seeking to ascertain the attitude of the voters toward their favorite in every state, while none of his rivals cares to do this.

Only National Candidate.

"General Wood is thus disclosed as the only national candidate, as a candidate whose reliance is not on any group interest or on any accident of birth or residence. He appeals to his fellow-countrymen as an American.

"There is no small degree of instruction in this circumstance. It shows that public opinion, its winds blowing according to its own laws, recognizes in General Wood a national man. This distinction came to him, as the same sort of support came to Blaine and Roosevelt, because his allegiance during his long career has spontaneously run to the whole of the republic and not to any special part of it. Popular feeling seems equipped with a sixth sense.

"General Wood is the choice of more Republicans today than any other candidate. He may not command a majority, but it is admitted he has a large plurality. He is the only presidential aspirant with a chance of success on the first ballot at Chicago. All the others base their hopes on what may happen at the convention—on a stroke of lightning that will convert a minor fraction into a major one."

LEVEE GIVES WAY; 4,000 ACRES OF LAND FLOODED

STOCK HAD BEEN REMOVED

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

VINCENNES, Ind., April 27.—Four thousand acres of land were flooded when the Niblack levee on the Wabash river gave way here last night as a result of high waters, caused by recent heavy rains. It is estimated that $100,000 worth of growing wheat was destroyed.

The levee was at the place Maria creek enters the Wabash and it was expected to break at any time. All live stock had been removed from the bottom lands.

Illinois Bottoms Flooded.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

SULLIVAN, Ind., April 27.—The Wabash river at Riverton receded today, although the Illinois bottoms are flooded for miles in every direction. Families along the river have been busy for a week moving out of the flood district. At Hutsonville, Ill., a squad of men has been at work forty-eight hours reinforcing the levee with sand bags.

Much Grain Under Water.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

PETERSBURG, Ind., April 27.—White river reached a stand here Monday night after attaining the highest stage since 1913. Much wheat and oats are under water and corn planting in the bottoms will be delayed at least two weeks.

TERMS ACCUSATION BY SIMS AS 'MONSTROUS'

REAR-ADMIRAL M'KEAN DENIES WHOLE DECLARATION.

SAYS IT IS UNJUSTIFIED

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Characterizing as "monstrous" Rear-Admiral Sims' declaration that delays by the navy department prolonged the war four months and cost 500,000 lives, Rear-Admiral J. S. McKean told the senate investigating committee today that "had it been made by any foreign official, allied or enemy, it would have aroused the indignation of the whole American people."

"Had it been invested by the inflamed, exaggerated, diseased ego of a patient in St. Elizabeth's, the government hospital for the insane, no one would have been surprised," the admiral said.

"That it was made under oath by a rear-admiral of the navy on the active list, president of the naval war college, in a hearing before a committee of the United States senate, is, in my opinion, an insult to every officer and man now in the navy or who served in the navy during the world war.

Denies Sims' Accusation.

"I do not believe that any one short of the good God himself has sufficient knowledge of the various elements and factors entering the war and the causes of its conclusion to justify him for one moment in charging that the navy or any of its officers were responsible for the loss of any part of the 2,500,000 tons of allied shipping claimed to have been unnecessarily lost, nor least of all do I believe that there is any human being with sufficient information and sufficient knowledge to justify him in charging the necessary loss of the life of one of the 500,000 allied soldiers to have been due to the errors of the navy. This monstrous charge has been or will be disproved in every item."

COMING TO INDIANAPOLIS.

The Rev. N. S. Sichterman Gives Up Pastorate at Elwood.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

ELWOOD, Ind., April 27.—The Rev. N. S. Sichterman, who has been pastor of the Presbyterian church here for the last three years, has resigned and accepted a call to the Grace Presbyterian church at Indianapolis. He will preach his farewell sermon next Sunday.

Mr. Sichterman was married about a year after coming to this city. During his pastorate the Elwood church gained largely in membership and at the recent meeting of the Muncie presbytery showed that for the first time in its history it was free of indebtedness.

EXPLOSION IN GAS PLANT.

One Man Killed and Five Injured at Des Moines.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 27.—One man was killed and five were injured in an explosion in the engine room of the Des Moines Gas Company plant today. The explosion occurred in a part of the plant through which practically all gas for the city passes, and as a result there was no gas for industrial or domestic purposes after the accident. The cause has not been determined. The dead man is Phil Devine, superintendent at the plant.

Three of the injured are in serious condition.

More than two hours after the accident gas was burning in the part of the plant where the explosion occurred.

REVOLT CASUALTIES HEAVY

800 Men, Women and Children Killed in Guatemala.

SAN SALVADOR, Republic of Salvador, April 27.—Men, women and children to the number of 800 were killed in the recent fighting in Guatemala City during the revolt which resulted in the overthrow of President Manuel Estrada Cabrera, according to the latest advices received here from Guatemala. Numerous adherents of Cabrera, who remained faithful to their chief, were killed in their own houses, the advices say. Many Guatemalans who fled from the country are returning and are being received with enthusiasm.

Guatemalan refugees here recently sent a communication to the new president of Guatemala, Carlos Herrera, who led the revolt which ended with Cabrera's downfall, asking that Cabrera be tried by competent court. President Herrera, in reply, declared that his government was in favor of trying Cabrera in the Guatemalan courts.

BUREAU TO CARE FOR THOSE GOING TO FRISCO

DEMOCRATS TAKE UP TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM.

COMMITTEE IS ANNOUNCED

The Indianapolis News Bureau, 33 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—A departure in the management of political conventions has been started by the Democratic national committee, which has opened a transportation bureau at Chicago to care for the delegates, alternates and spectators who will go to San Francisco to attend the convention June 28. The shortage of railroad equipment and the flood of traffic on all roads are responsible for the innovation.

For the return trip from San Francisco a system has been worked out whereby the visitors can buy eastbound tickets within thirty-six hours after the convention opens, the tickets to call for return passage eight hours after the convention closes. The biggest problem in convention transportation always has been the return trip, as the closing time is always uncertain.

E. K. Bixby, a transportation official of the Pennsylvania railroad system, has been placed in the service of the Democratic committee and will take charge of the transportation bureau. He has obtained the co-operation of the Association of Western Passenger Agents and the Pullman Company has promised him first call for its parlor car equipment.

The transportation committee of the Democratic national committee, which is directing the work, includes Charles Boeschenstein, of Illinois, chairman; Isadore B. Dockweiler, of California; W. W. Marsh, of Iowa; Fred B. Lynch, of Minnesota, and Patrick H. Quinn, of Rhode Island.

JAMES LARKIN CONVICTED.

Irish Labor Leader Found Guilty of Criminal Anarchy.

NEW YORK, April 27.—James Larkin, Irish labor leader, charged with criminal anarchy, today was found guilty by the supreme court jury before which his case was presented.

THREE DIE IN STORM.

Kentucky Woman and Two Children Are the Victims.

MUNFORDVILLE, Ky., April 27.—Three persons were killed by a heavy wind and hail storm which swept over this county today. At Cub Run the home of a Mrs. Childers was wrecked, killing the mother, a sixteen-year-old son and a baby.

LIND REVIEWS EFFORT AS A WILSON EMISSARY

RELATES CONDITIONS AS HE SAW THEM IN MEXICO.

SAYS ISSUE IS ECONOMIC

WASHINGTON, April 27.—John Lind, former Governor of Minnesota, described today to the senate committee investigating Mexican affairs his efforts as a special emissary of President Wilson to get Victoriano Huerta to abdicate his power as dictator in Mexico and permit a new government to be set up there in 1913.

Mr. Lind refused to detail conversations with the Mexican chief or instructions given him by the President except as they were outlined in printed memoranda which he submitted.

"My object, according to my instructions, was to bring about an adjustment between the contending powers," he said, "so that the country could have peace, and a de facto government be set up which the United States could recognize."

Did Not Mean Huerta's Passing.

"That involved the elimination of Huerta, did it not?" he was asked.

"Not necessarily," Mr. Lind responded. He referred to President Wilson's memorandum, published at the time, which suggested a general armistice and the conduct of an election at which Huerta would not be a candidate. American financial aid for Mexico was promised.

"We wanted to get a free and fair election," Mr. Lind continued. "Huerta rejected all propositions, declaring that the Carranza forces were rebels and should be treated as such.

"Though I'll admit that the struggle for power among a few is to some extent the cause of Latin-American disorganization, the primary causes, it seems to me, are social and economic."

On Tropical Plantations.

"In the tropical plantations owned by Americans, I saw men working almost as slaves, guarded by men with revolvers and whips and locked up at night. The mines in the north and commercial enterprises, of course, are carried on in a different fashion."

"Don't you think American influ-

DISPUTE CONTENTIONS OF CHICAGO RAILROADS.

"OUTLAWS" NOT YIELDING

CHICAGO, April 27.—Contention of railroad officials that 80 per cent. of the normal freight traffic was being moved in the Chicago district were disputed today by manufacturers, who declared receipt of raw materials was seriously curtailed and that outgoing shipments were far below the normal of the period before the strike of insurgent railroad employes began.

Embargoes on many roads were declared still to be in force intermittently. Coal and food supplies, which have preference, were reported to be moving normally.

The insurgents have indicated no disposition to yield, and railroads today went ahead with efforts to facilitate operations. The Railway Managers' association announced that 1,983 strikers had returned to work.

The Indiana Harbor belt and the Chicago junction lines, the two switching district roads, are handling all business offered by the connecting lines, the Railroad Managers' Association announced. They moved 827 cars yesterday as compared to 1,200 on the same day a year ago.

HEARING FOR SHORT LINES.

Wage Board Announces That Cases May Be Taken Up.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Short line railroads may be heard on the wage demands of railroad workers before the railroad labor board finally adjusts the pay controversy.

Chairman Barton announced today that the board had this matter under advisement. E. T. Whiter, chairman of the railway executives' committee, told the board that his committee represented 115 of the 600 roads of the country and that these 115 had between 80 and 90 per cent. of the total mileage.

The board today refused to grant hearings on the wage demands of striking railroad employes at Philadelphia and Pittsburg and the non-

SUFFERED NERVOUS ATTACK

Dr. L. E. Cox, age thirty-seven, until recently a practicing physician at Greenwood, committed suicide Monday night in a room at the Norways Sanatorium, 1820 East Tenth street, by hanging himself to a bedpost. He was dead when Miss Chissy Brian, night nurse, found him.

Dr. Cox suffered a nervous breakdown several weeks ago and was brought to the sanatorium for treatment a short time later.

According to the information obtained by Dr. Paul F. Robinson, coroner, Dr. Cox tied one end of a sheet around his neck, attached the other end to the bed post and swung his body to the floor.

Dr. Cox is survived by a widow, three children, his father, Sampson Cox, of Birdseye, Ind., and one brother, Dr. Homer W. Cox, of Indianapolis. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at Greenwood.

EIGHT FARMERS ON JURY IN RAY MURDER CASE

NONE OPPOSED TO THE DEATH PENALTY.

SYMMES DEFENDS NEGRO

A jury composed of eight farmers, a retired business man, a jeweler, a grocer and a mechanical engineer, will decide the fate of William Ray, alias William Hart, colored, who is on trial in the criminal court on a charge of murder in the first degree, accused of killing Martha Huff, age fourteen. The jury was impaneled two hours after court opened today.

Claris Adams, prosecuting attorney, in an opening statement to the jury, told of the murder of the girl, who was lured away from her home, assaulted and stabbed to death. The evidence would show, Mr. Adams declared, that Ray was the murderer. He said the prosecution would demand that Ray be sentenced to death.

Names of the Jurymen.

The jury is composed of John E. Evard, 1112 North New Jersey street, a jeweler; Charles S. Earl, Wayne township, a farmer; William H. Rose, Southport, a retired farmer; Henry R. Whitinger, Washington township, a farmer; David A. Small, R. R. J, a farmer; William A. Holler, R. R. P, a farmer; Walter E. Holler, Franklin township, a farmer; Daniel Lucas, Washington township, a grocer; Thomas Helms, Castleton, a business man; Joseph J. Matlock, Perry township, a farmer, and Paul S. Schwartz, Washington township, a mechanical engineer.

Walter E. Holler, a member of the jury, is a son of William A. Holler, also on the case. The elder Holler is a member of the regular panel of jurors in criminal court. His son was drawn on the special venire of 150 talesmen for this case.

Mr. Adams in questioning the jurors asked not only whether each man had any conscientious scruples against the death penalty, but whether each man would seriously consider the death penalty in Ray's case if all the charges were proved beyond reasonable doubt. Each man accepted said he was in favor of capital punishment in certain cases, and said he would consider capital punishment in arriving at a verdict in Ray's case.

Talesmen Challenged.

The talesmen were questioned for the defense by Frank A. Symmes, county attorney for the poor, who was instructed by the court to defend the negro. During the questioning two men were challenged peremptorily by Mr. Symmes. Edward G. Tansel, of Clermont, was challenged when he said he was acquainted with the parents of Martha Huff. James Doeppers, 3229 North New Jersey street, was challenged at the suggestion of Ray, who remarked to his attorney that "that man don't look good to me."

Edward Retmeier, 6381 East Washington street, and Frank Daugherty, 131 North Denny street, were challenged by the defense when they said they had formed opinions as to the guilt or innocence of Ray. The state challenged Charles W. Hale, 2254 North Alabama street, a member of the committee on publications of

YEGGMEN GET LITTLE MONEY AT BLOOMINGDALE BANK.

EXPLOSIVES BREAK WINDOW

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

BLOOMINGDALE, Ind., April 27.—Yeggmen used three explosive charges in an unsuccessful attempt to blow open the safe of the Bank of Bloomingdale before daylight today. With the exception of a small amount of money outside the inner safe, the robbers failed to obtain anything of value.

The large plate glass in the front of the bank building was broken by the force of the explosions. The yeggmen forced a rear door of the building with tools stolen from a section tool shop on the Cincinnati, Indianapolis & Western railroad. The bank carries full insurance against loss by robbery.

Residents of the town noticed the shattered bank window before the bank opened for business and learned of the attempted robbery when an investigation followed. The number of explosive charges used by the yeggmen was determined by the number of holes drilled in the safe.

THOUSANDS CHEER SPEECHES OF WOOD

First Day of His Campaign in Indiana Is Marked by Unusual Interest in the Candidate.

BIG CROWD AT EVANSVILLE

Coliseum Is Jammed With People Long Before the Hour Set for the Candidate to Begin Address.

[By W. H. Blodgett, Staff Correspondent of The Indianapolis News.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 27.—Leonard Wood, candidate for the Republican nomination for President, who began the first day of his active campaigning in Indiana yesterday with an address at Danville followed by speeches at Greencastle, Brazil, Sullivan, Vincennes and other places, ended with a presentation of his views to more than 4,000 persons in Evansville last night. The Soldiers and Sailors' Coliseum, where the meeting was held, was crowded to the doors an hour before the general arrived there and streets in its vicinity resembled an ocean with human waves.

It was the biggest meeting and the warmest reception given to any candidate in this city for years, and, while the friends of General Wood expected a good turnout, they were not prepared for the crowd that came to hear and see Indiana's favorite Republican candidate for the presidency. The meeting was in keeping with the atmosphere of friendliness that has surrounded the general every place he visited in the state. If ever a candidate for a high office received a cordial welcome from Hoosiers, it was Leonard Wood.

To Enthusiastic Crowds.

Yesterday he spoke ten times and always to enthusiastic crowds. At Vincennes, where it was not expected he would have much of a crowd because of the lateness of the hour in the afternoon, more than 2,000 persons tried to get into the Courthouse and then rushed to the Grand opera house. At the little town of Decker a crowd that appeared to come from nowhere assembled and the candidate made a talk that was repeatedly cheered. He spoke for twenty minutes to a large crowd from the rear of the train at Princeton, and a large delegation from that city accompanied him to Evansville.

Whenever the train stopped there was always a crowd, and, if he did not have time to address it, the general went to the door to say how do you do. Harry G. Hogan, the Indiana manager for the Wood campaign, was in charge of the party, and so well he had the schedule organized that there was very little delay. Many times General Wood complimented Mr. Hogan on the very successful organization and told the newspaper men that no state in the Union was better organized for him than was Indiana.

Before Ed Henning, Vanderburg county Wood manager, called the meeting at the Coliseum to order, J. R. Gillette, city organist, gave a recital on the Coliseum organ, the third largest in the United States, an entertainment that brought from Gen. Wood many hearty compliments. When the general began to speak the great audience found him a regular person. As he entered the building he was greeted with cheers and the audience, as one person, stood up and saluted, the general returning the salute in regular military style. It was with difficulty that he wriggled his way through the throng outside the door; every one wished to shake hands with him and one fond mother insisted that her babe should go through life with the distinction to have been kissed by General Wood. In his speech he touched on a number of questions before the public at this time.

Situation in America.

"The situation in America today," said the candidate, in speaking of general conditions, "is a little like the situation illustrated by a conversation between two colored men shortly after the armistice was signed, one, an enlisted man and the other an officer. The officer was try-

EX-SERVICE MEN PLAN TO BREAK RINGS' GRIP

POLITICAL VIGILANCE ORGANIZATION NEWLY FORMED.

OLD PARTY WAYS RESENTED

33 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—At a conference here yesterday steps were taken to organize an ex-service men's national political vigilance committee. Grant T. Trent, of Rogersville, Tenn., was elected temporary chairman and George S. Carll, Jr., of Indianapolis, temporary secretary. It was agreed to hold another meeting at an early date to perfect a permanent organization and plan for the extension of the committee's activities into each state and territory by providing for county and state committees along the lines of the two great political parties.

"It is apparent that the old organization leaders in both parties," said Trent, "are preparing to place the sign of 'no service men need apply' on the doors of the Chicago and San Francisco conventions.

Ex-Service Men's Situation.

"There is no organization of service men which is making an effort to secure the proper representation in the party councils of the men who won the war. A scanning of the list of delegates already selected for both national conventions will reveal the astonishing fact that former soldiers will have about as large a representation on the floor of the convention as the people of Guam. The same condition obtains with respects to the candidates nominated and being considered for nomination for state and county officers throughout the country.

"It is true that General Wood is the most prominent candidate for the Republican nomination, but the old line Republican leaders are insisting that he should be eliminated solely on account of his military service. They do not otherwise question his fitness for the high office. General Pershing is scoffed at as a presidential possibility. The conditions in the Democratic party are even worse, as not one of the gallant soldiers of the war has even presumed to regard himself as eligible for the Democratic nomination.

Even While War Was Raging.

"This conspiracy to eliminate the soldiers from direct and active participation in the affairs of the two great political parties was conceived and put in operation even while the war was still raging. It will be remembered that no serious effort was made by either of the two parties to extend the rights of suffrage to the 4,500,000 men who were in the service. Under an act passed by parliament English soldiers and sailors exercised the right of suffrage whether they were serving in France, Italy, South Africa or on the high seas with the fleet. During the civil war our soldiers voted on the battlefields.

"The 4,500,000 men on discharge from the service found that the organizations of their respective parties were in the hands of a few men who stayed at home. What our committee wishes to do is to force some recognition for ex-service men in the affair of both parties. These men learned to stand on their feet during the great emergency and their calm judgment will be invaluable not only to the political parties but to the country as a whole. We intend to have ex-service men affiliated with both political parties on our committee and conduct our campaign along this line."

For State Forest Reserve.

Several hundred more acres will be added to the state forest preserve, near Henryville, if the state conservation commission can obtain the land at reasonable prices, it has been announced. W. A. Guthrie, chairman of the commission; Richard Lieber, director, and C. C. Deam, forester, were looking over the ground today.

TO ORGANIZE NEW PARTY.

Committee of Forty-Eight Convention Called at Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 27.—A national convention of the committee of forty-eight to form a new political party will be held in Chicago July 10 to 13, it was announced by M. C. Harrison, divisional director of the organization. The new party "representing the needs and hopes of average American men and women, will conduct an aggressive campaign against both the reactionary old parties and in support of a constructive program of economic, social and political progress," an announcement said.

The committee, which adopted a platform and a statement of aims at a convention at St. Louis last December, has a membership of 50,000, Harrison said. Two thousand are expected here for the convention.

The organization's platform includes: Public ownership of transportation, including stockyards, large abattoirs, grain elevators, terminal warehouses, pipelines and tanks; public ownership of other public utilities and of the principal natural resources, such as coal, oil, natural gas, mineral deposits, large water powers and large commercial timber tracts; no land, including natural resources, and no patents to be held out of use for speculation or to aid monopoly, and taxes to force idle land into use; equal economic, political and legal rights for all, irrespective of sex or color; immediate and absolute restoration of free speech, free press, peaceable assembly and all civil rights guaranteed by the Constitution; abolition of injunctions in labor cases; right of labor to share in the management of industry and labor's right to organize and bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing.

Notice to Telephone Subscribers

For the convenience of those subscribers who have both Bell and Automatic telephone service, we have moved the Commercial Office of the Automatic Plant (formerly the Indianapolis Telephone Co.) to the TELEPHONE BUILDING, CORNER NEW YORK AND MERIDIAN STREETS, WHERE ALL BILLS SHOULD BE PAID AND APPLICATION FOR AUTOMATIC SERVICE MADE.

Plans for unifying the telephone service in Indianapolis are proceeding as rapidly as conditions will permit. On account, however, of the great amount of work to be done and the difficulty of obtaining and installing the necessary equipment no definite date can now be set for the exchange of service between the Automatic and Manual Systems.

THOUSANDS HEAR LEONARD WOOD GIVE VIEWS ON FIRST DAY OF HIS CAMPAIGN IN INDIANA; EVANSVILLE COLISEUM IS PACKED

ing to make the private do a little more work. The private objected, saying 'I enlisted for the duration ob de wah, de wah am ovah, and I ain't goin' to work no moah.' The officer looked at him in a puzzled manner for a moment, and said: 'You are right, the war is over but the duration has just begun.' Our war is over but the duration has just begun. We are confronted with these problems and we must meet them as we have always met any problems confronting us.

"Today there is a general condition of world instability and a curious spirit of unrest. We find it even in the country, although there is no special reason for it here. It seems to have come across the sea.

"If we look over Europe today we see the big Red wave of so-called Bolshevism rolling westward, we see it becoming more orderly as it goes along. It has satiated itself with lust, with murder, with the destruction of property, the destruction of government; everything that is bestial and indescribable. It is a destructive force, in no way constructive. Tired now, it is turning again toward order as have all such movements throughout the world's history. They are peculiar movements; they are destructive. They serve no good purpose.

"Unhappily with the return of conditions of stability has come an organization, military in character, and very strong. The Red armies are now well equipped, well organized, and they are under the ablest German, Austrian and Russian leadership. They are headed west and no one knows just where they are going. This movement is causing great unrest to those who fought the war. If we find the man power of Russia, and the near east behind German leadership, and the resources of Russia and the near east behind the German shops, the German factories, the German chemists, and the German scientists, the question as to who has won the world war is yet to be decided, for the war will be actually won, broadly speaking, by that nation or group of nations which quickest come into production, and which quickest gain economic and commercial supremacy in Europe.

Look Ahead; Stand Steady.

"So we must look ahead. Now is our time to stand steady; our feet on the ground, our eyes on God, our ideals high and holding on to the Constitution. The Constitution is the bulwark of our liberty. Do not listen to any of the superficial agitators, who think the time has come now for things new. There are few new principles of government. There are no great new principles, suddenly springing into life. Now and then one hears the enunciation of an old principle, but the people who are discoursing the most are those who know least. We want to make progress, of course, but we want to make it sound and safe. We want no blind leap in the dark, we must place our feet securely and go ahead when we know where the road leads on which we are traveling."

General Wood added that the American government rests on certain simple basic principles; that all men are equally endowed by the Creator with certain inalienable rights—life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. The government, he said, is instituted to secure these rights and every one must see to it that in this country a government under the Constitution, government responsibility for justice in the broadest sense, is maintaining the inalienable rights of the minority and each individual composing it. This country must give a real opportunity to every citizen to better his condition and the conditions of those depending on him, by thrift, economy, industry, initiative, skill and ability, the general continued. There must be security for the fruits of enterprise, he said, and there must not be established a condition under which the rewards of industry and idleness, ambition and indifference, intelligence and stupidity, are the same. There must be no discrimination based on religion, race, occupation, wealth or poverty which results in adding to or taking away from any one opportunity to participate in the government of his or her country by vote.

Stands For Basic Principles.

"We must plant our feet firmly and go ahead steadily standing for these basic principles of government, which are eternal," the general said, "just as eternal as the basic principles of morality. The basic principles of government are as sound as the Ten Commandments or the Lord's Prayer, and they are just about as unexciting and commonplace. They do not appeal to those who desire change for change's sake. But, just as the Ten Commandments and the Lord's Prayer lie at the foundation of our moral and spiritual life, so do these basic principles of government lie at the basis of stable government, and we must adhere to them.

"We must get back to a government under the Constitution. Those who strive to lead you away from the constitution strive to lead you toward chaos. Hold onto the Constitution as you would hold on to life itself, for it is our secure anchor. We must get back to a government under the Constitution just as quickly as we can, with each department of the government functioning strictly within its own limits.

"Theodore Roosevelt stood for a government under the Constitution. In the last talk I had with him he spoke of the Constitution and said he believed if those who had written it had to do the work over again, and had in their possession all the experiences of our national life, they would write the Constitution as it is today.

Asks For More Team Work.

"There must be more co-operation, more team work between the executive and congress. The centralization of power incident to the conduct of the war should terminate now that the war is over. It tends to paralyze initiative and responsibility on the part of those responsible for the conduct of not only national, but even state and community affairs. The Constitution contemplates well balanced division of responsibility. The President is charged largely with the administration of the federal government at home and is the spokesman of the nation within constitutional limitations abroad. Congress is in a very real sense the representative of the people. The only way that the best results can be obtained is by thorough team work, co-operation and co-ordination.

"We want to get back to the normal conditions. We do not want a one-man power; we do not want one department of government dominating another. We want the well balanced government provided by the Constitution. We want in office of high administrative and executive authority, men who do not think they know it all. We want men possessed of the instinctive tendencies of Lincoln and Roosevelt. Lincoln gathered about him men like Seward and Stanton, not because they were friends of his, but because he was seeking men to help him save the Union. Roosevelt had with him men like John Hays and Elihu Root, men of conspicuous ability.

"Conscious of the integrity of his purposes and the honesty of his designs, he brought to his aid the very best men of his time. He was not afraid of competition. There was no thought of bringing about him men above whose heads he would loom large. He was looking for men who would really help him in building up the nation and conducting government on sound lines.

Best Assistants Possible.

"We must reorganize our government on these lines, by putting in positions of responsibility men who are instinctively anxious to get the best assistants they can get; and, having gotten them, will give them a large measure of discretion and authority in handling the affairs of their departments; tell them what they want and then depend on them for results. In other words, men who will remember the old saying: 'If you have a good watchdog, don't bark yourself, at least don't bark all the time.' There is no man more dangerous in high office than the man who surrounds himself with rubber stamp puppets.

"We must cut down the high cost of living. The effort in that direction must be commenced first by thrift among ourselves, by efforts to get back to a normal basis of living, by stopping the wild spending of money. We are still spending money with too lavish a hand, both individually and as a nation. During the war we spent money recklessly; we spent it with both hands, shoveled it overboard. We have come out of the war with a debt of $26,000,000,000, besides some $10,000,000,000 loaned abroad, and which we may or may not get back.

"The cost of government is very heavy and we want to cut it down as rapidly as possible. We must demobilize that great and very expensive army of civilian employes, which was built up during the war and which, now that the war is over, is no longer needed. There should not be an unnecessary officeholder in the government service; the force of the salaried unemployed must be mustered out; not an unnecessary estimate should be submitted to the treasury, or any unnecessary work undertaken until we have re-established the balance between income and outgo and brought the country back to stable financial equilibrium.

Expense of Government.

"You will find government office buildings and office forces increasing and spreading in every direction, both in state and nation. The expense of government is growing enormously without any corresponding increase in efficiency. All these things indicate lack of sound administrative principles, which result in an enormous and unnecessary financial burden upon our people.

"We must begin to measure the expenditures of our government in millions rather than in billions. We must reduce the cost of the government, for if we can do that we shall be able to reduce the public national debt, which will in turn tend to reduce the inflation of our currency, make our dollar worth more than it is now, and also reduce the high cost of living."

The question of military training was discussed by General Wood so plainly that every one understood and the great audience frequently interrupted with applause.

"Our military policy will depend very largely on our foreign policy," he said. "Our foreign policy is not aggressive, consequently our military and naval establishments do not need to be the 'largest in the world.' We do not want a large army. We want a small but highly efficient one.' I recommended to congress an army of from 200,000 to 225,000 men. This would be double the size of the army we had before the war, and little more than a third the size of the army of 576,000 men recommended by the administration. An army of 576,000 men would cost us $1,000,000,000 a year and I can see no reason for it.

Good Navy, Always Ready.

"Then we must have a good navy always ready. Not the biggest navy in the world, but a sufficient one. You people have been learning what constitutes a good navy. Good ships, filled with trained men do not constitute a good navy. A good navy means the best ships you can build, combined with a highly trained personnel and well disciplined officers, skilled in fleet maneuvers. A scattered fleet is an invitation to attack.

"We want a good, small army sufficient for the police needs of the nation. What of the Philippines, where you are doing one of the finest pieces of nation building any people ever did, and it is not finished yet; a garrison for Hawaii, one of the bulwarks of the defense of the Pacific coast; a garrison for Panama and our sea coast defenses and a mobile expeditionary and training force.

"The national defense act has declared that we are to keep our militia. Hence, back of the army and navy will be the militia, and, as long as we have it we must loyally support it; do our best to fill it up and make it an efficient force. Try in every way to help the militia as long as it is a part of the military establishment.

"Back of that you must have your reserve corps of officers, men who have had training. We have them now in these youngsters who have been through the great war. Then we must have the munitions of war made and stored for an emergency. We must remember that you can not do things over night and that modern war comes like an avalanche, not like a glacier.

National Service Training.

"Back of the army, navy and militia you must consider some form of training for national service. This is something you must decide for yourselves. Every political charaltan, every un-American person, pretty much has been attacking universal training for citizenship on the ground of militarism. You men and women know that your men have come back from war hating war. That war and training produced nothing of a militaristic spirit in them.

"We must interest all Americans in this most important subject at least to the point of understanding what the government wants to do, and giving it careful attention. Some people love to call the plan compulsory military training. This is not the sole purpose of the measure and they should know it. Military training is only a part of the plan which taken as a whole is really universal training for citizenship.

"The present administration, and we should give it credit, has put out a fine and a wise program, one which has been under discussion for many years, which provides for a short period of training. It may be four or it may be six months, that point remains to be determined; but the essential thing to remember is that it occurs only once in the boy's lifetime, somewhere between the ages of nineteen and twenty-one, and the boy can select the year and the time of the year for this training. It comes only once in his lifetime, however, unless he wants to be an officer, and then he must volunteer in order to take the additional training.

No Increase of Liability.

"Another thing to remember is that it in no way increases the liability of the boy for military service, because the men will be drawn under the draft if war ever comes again; but it does increase the possibility of your boy coming back home alive, and that is something you are all deeply interested in. It does increase that probability, but it in no way increases his liability for service.

"Now what is the government going to do with your boy? There has been a tremendous lot of nonsense talked upon this subject. As I said at the beginning, it does not create a spirit of militarism. You could not create it by this means. Haven't you the answer to all that foolish talk in the return of your men, nearly five millions of them? They have come back from the war from overseas, from the navy, from the marine corps, from the training camps and have gone back into civil life so quietly you have hardly noticed it.

"There is not a man or woman who can truthfully say that these men have come back loving war. You know they have come back hating it, as do all soldiers, sailors and marines who know anything about it. They have come back with a broader moral and spiritual vision. They have come back with a broader human sympathy, a better understanding of the world, a greater love of peace, a greater interest in the problems of mankind, and a greater love of their country. They have come back to you better all-round men; a greater force for stability, peace, law and order and respect for government than they were before they went. They are proud of their uniform, but they are proud also of being back home as plain citizens of this republic.

Benefit For Youths.

"What is the government going to do with your boy when it gets him? It is going to do this: First, he is going to receive a very thorough physical overhauling. If he has any remedial defects he will be given an opportunity to have them corrected; bad eyes, bad teeth, rupture, any one of hundred defects that boys grow up with occasionally.

"Then if he has no trade or occupation he will be consulted, and what seems to be the best trade or occupation will be picked out for him, and he will be started on it. If he has a trade he will be given an opportunity to improve in it. If he is an agriculturist he will be given general talks and instruction along agricultural lines. He will be given talks on American history, the Monroe Doctrine, on the meaning of the Constitution, in other words, it is a vocational education and citizenship training as well as military training. Only a part of the time is to be devoted to military training and taken as a whole it constitutes a training in citizenship.

"In addition to this certain other things will happen. He will come under the finest democratizing influence you can imagine. You know what it means when you get all types of men, men from every walk of life, rich and poor, newcomer and native born, Jew and Gentile, Catholic and Protestant, together; men from all blood strains, for we as a people represent all the great blood strains of the world, all standing together shoulder to shoulder as they did during the war, dressed alike, working alike, living alike, under the best possible sanitary conditions, under rigid discipline, well looked after, and all under sound mental, moral, physical and vocational training.

Eradication of Vice.

"Then back of all this is perhaps a still more important thing: All these men will be rid of the effects of vice disease. If you are familiar with the public health reports you know that in destructive effect vice is a very tremendous giant in comparison with which war is but a tiny pigmy. Vice is the greatest destructive force we have to combat. It lies at the very fountain head of our national life, and its far-reaching effects run for generations.

"Now, doesn't it mean something to all of you if a boy can put in from four to six months under the conditions I have described, and at the same time be rid of anything which is a menace to him, to the woman he may marry, or the children he may raise? Doesn't it mean something to get rid of these things and send him back to you sound in body and clean in soul with better co-ordinated mind and muscles, greater respect for authority, with settled habits of regularity, and basic military training so that he may be an effective citizen in time of war as well as in time of peace; send him back to you possessed of a better knowledge of the elements which make up our population; a truer conception of the value of all the racial strains he may come in contact with and with narrow prejudices which arise between men in different walks of life, and of different racial and religious groups obliterated. It is going to have the most tremendous and far-reaching effect upon the stability of this nation.

"That is all this government is trying to do. That is all there is to this system of training. It is the finest thing any government has ever put out; and if I had a hundred boys I could not imagine four to six months that could be more profitably spent than under this training.

Fakers and Pacifists.

"There are a lot of fakers and pacifists who are trying to misrepresent it. They are the same type of men as those who delivered our country into war unready and unprepared. They close their eyes now and say, 'There's no need of doing anything, the world has changed.' You must remember, you fathers and mothers, that if the dead in these great cemeteries in France could rise and speak again with living voice at least one-third of them would hold up their hands and say to you:

"'We are not the dead of the enemy; we are your dead in more senses than one. We are the dead of American neglect; lack of vision; failure of learning the lessons of the past. You gave us neither time nor opportunity for training. We were short in air service and in other things. We were willing, but largely useless sacrifices. You drafted many of us in July to be killed in September. In the name of those who will fight for America at some future day, we beg you to give them a better chance than you gave us, for we are the unnecessary dead. Those who come after us are entitled to a sporting chance; to an opportunity for reasonable protection.'

"We do not want it to occur again, and you must remember that it is the opinion of the world, so far as great statesmen and great soldiers are concerned on both sides of the war, that if America had been reasonably ready there would have been no war. I have spoken a great deal of the German, French and other European armies and know their views. The Germans counted always on our not being able to get in effectively for about three years, and we did not.

"We spent nearly three years in introspection in an effort to determine whether it really was a holy war and one that concerned us. All that time we were building factories, foundries and machine shops for the allies to make arms. When we did go in they turned them over to us, so in a measure we were really preparing during those three years. But even after we came in we did not have an American cannon on the battle line save several naval guns, nor an American built fast fighting plane, not one. And it was over a year after we went in before we had any substantial force in combat on the other side."

General Wood denounced those whom he termed fakers about promising shorter hours of work, higher wages, no taxes, something to be got without effort, as the most dangerous people in the country.

Political Fakers Denounced.

"They are only excelled at this moment," said the general, "in their danger by that class of political fakers who are going about striving to gain personal popularity and votes by arraying one racial group against another or by rousing the prejudice of one religious group for another. Both of them are dangerous, both of them are public enemies and they are people against whom we must turn our faces like flint. We want to give labor an absolutely square deal and we want to give capital an absolutely square deal. They are one and inseparable. There is no line of separation between them. Either one alone is worthless, but together they produce what is known as prosperity and we want to bring them together. I've had to meet some rather ugly strike situations in the middle west and wherever there has been radicalism and trouble and dangerous situations, I have always found the alien Red in control. We want to get rid of the alien leader, the professional agitator. I have found American workmen at least 95 per cent. square and wanting to run straight, but we must interest ourselves more in these problems.

"The danger in America is not so much from the Red element as it is from our own indifference. We discuss these things academically, but we do not get out, take our coats off and work on the problem. In every class of industrial and social reform what is needed is betterment by action, betterment in practice. We should welcome experiments which promise success and then profit by general application of the lesson taught.

"Everywhere labor is acquiring definite rights in its employment, interest in business, interest in profits and the regulatron and control of business. These rights and interests carry with them definite obligations. We must remember, above all things, that labor is not a commodity and that the issue between those who work and those who direct work must be solved upon the basis of the square deal.

"We must consider labor and business together for unless a business prospers labor can not prosper and the country can not prosper. We must see to it that prosperity comes in full proportion, both to business and labor. We must help good business, for this helps labor and the two in combination result in prosperity and increased production, which means better living conditions and lowering the high cost of living.

Rewards of Efficiency.

"Suffering in old age can be mitigated through a system of old age pensions and insurance against accident and sickness. These can all be secured for comparatively small cost. Those who speed up the work for the purpose of efficiency should see to it that the increased profits of such increased efficiency benefit both the toiler and those for whom he works. There must be no limiting of production. We must insist upon the utmost efficiency, but a proper proportion of the rewards of efficiency should go to the worker, and he should have such representatron in and knowledge of the business as will satisfy him that justice is being done.

"We find a growing interest all over the country in co-operation and an increasing appreciation of the fact that there must be some relationship between the prosperity of an industry and the prosperity of those who work in it, that I think is being gradually admitted everywhere.

Human Element Necessary.

"Profit sharing schemes are almost as numerous as the firms that use them, but they do not reach the great bulk of labor. You can legislate for hours of labor, hours of recreation, for fire protection, for sanitary conditions, everything in the way of security, but you can not legislate the one big important thing into the hearts of the men, and that is the spirit of the square deal, the spirit of the Golden Rule. Without it, all your legislation is pretty nearly unavailing, because you do not get close to the people who work. You must introduce the human element into the relations between those who direct work and those who work. You can not get along without it. There is nothing new in this principal."

Before going to the meeting, Gen. Wood met many of the leading Republicans of the First district at the McCurdy hotel and after the meeting a large delegation escorted him to his train. General Wood and his party left at 10 p. m. for Pittsburg, changing cars at Terre Haute at 1 a. m. instead of at Indianapolis, as was the original intention. Despite the strenuous day, General Wood was in fine fettle and will continue his Indiana campaign tomorrow. He will spend most of the day in the north part of the state and will speak at Ft. Wayne in the evening.

RECEPTION AT SULLIVAN.

Schools Dismissed in Honor of Visit of Leonard Wood.

[From a Staff Correspondent]

SULLIVAN, Ind., April 27.—Leonard Wood, speaking in Sullivan Monday afternoon in behalf of his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination, received one of the best receptions that thus far have marked his invasion of Indiana. Schools were dismissed and teachers with their pupils were downtown to greet him when he arrived on a special traction car from Terre Haute. Business houses were profusely decorated and hundreds of automobiles, covered with American flags, came from all parts of the county.

There was a slight fall of rain during the morning, but when a special traction car, bearing the general and his party, arrived from Terre Haute the sun was shining brightly. A great audience assembled at the principal corner and listened with interest to what the candidate had to say.

National Chairman's Home.

Sullivan is the home of Will H. Hays, Republican national chairman, and General Wood regarded it as a compliment to himself that his visit should be so generously received. And the general put at rest the rumors that, in the event of his nomination, he would ask that some one other than Mr. Hays have charge of the national committee.

"I feel," he said, "that the Republican party is very fortunate in having a chairman whose interests are single to the success of the party at the polls, and I feel that the national committee has adopted a wise policy when it insists that its chairman shall run the campaign of whoever is nominated. This sound policy should, in my opinion be adherded to.

"Indiana is to be congratulated that one of her trusted and distinguished sons is in the position of national chairman, I refer to the Hon. Will H. Hays. He is a man whom I and my political manager, Colonel William Procter have the utmost confidence in."

The reference to Mr. Hays was received with great applause. General Wood spoke of the Republican party, talked to the farmers and the workingmen, and made pointed references to many of the issues in the campaign. His words were lustily cheered.

"The Republican party is again in control of congress and will shortly be in control of the country," said the general. "There is a great political contest coming on this fall, and in going into it the party must not place too much confidence in winning on the other party's mistakes. There is no more unsound or dangerous policy.

Makes Plea for Harmony.

"We must unite the different factions of the Republican party from the heart out, not from the teeth out. The old so-called progressive and conservative groups must become a solid homogeneous party. The country is tired of knocking, of pulling things to pieces, tired of hearing about the mistakes of the war. It wants a constructive policy and that is what the Republican party must do. It must look forward.

"We are now the leading nation of the world, the most powerful. We have the bulk of the world's wealth; we have a position of leadership we could not escape if we would. Now is the time to get together. Our road lies ahead, not behind. We are through with the fighting in this war, but there are many problems in front of us, problems of readjustment, which follow every great war. There is nothing of politics in them. They are straight problems of sound government and of an efficient and economical administration. Many of them are difficult, but they are not particularly serious, if we will meet them in the same spirit of co-operation with which we met the problems of the war.

"I think today the most dangerous men we have in public life are those men who are trying to advance themselves by creating religious, radical or class prejudice. Unhappily there are some of that type, and others even strive to build up a personal following by driving a wedge between ourselves and the allied group of nations with which we fought the great war by trying to break up the friendship which existed between us at the close of the conflict.

One Mass of Americans.

"Nothing is more harmful, nothing more un-American, or more unpatriotic. It should be the effort today of every man who claims to be an American, to bring together in one homogeneous mass the various racial and religious groups in this country. We must fuse them into one great mass of Americans, Americans who know no distinctions of race or creed of any kind.

"We ought to forget and we must forget that there ever was such a thing as a hyphenate. The war is over; we have done our part in it. Our men did more than well, they did splendidly. Every man, woman and child who did his or her best to help win the war is entitled to be considered and known as an American—not as a German-American, Italian-American or any other kinds of American—and to remember only that they are Americans. Measure your Americanism by the way they have done their citizenship duty and are doing it now. We have in our population a mixture of practically all the blood strains in the world and we can ill afford to permit any one to strive to advance himself, his policies, his theories, or his career, by creating racial or religious antagonism.

"Speaking of religion, it is vitally important to us as a nation that we hold on to our religion. We must not drift away from it. A nation without religion is a nation in its moral decadence. We must have enough religious tolerance to treat all religious groups fairly and justly. We want and must have a government run without prejudice because of race, color or religious belief."

Words For the Farmers.

Speaking to the farmers in the audience General Wood said, "we have another question, which is of nation-wide importance; in fact there are few questions more important, and that is the problem of American agriculture. In all great crisis of our national history, the farmer has stood pre-eminently as a typical American. The typical farmer in our country has been the man who owns the land, which he tills himself, with the help of his sons and a few hired men. The farming population is the great stabilizing force of this nation. The farmer is never an agitator, he is always steady, he believes in God, he reveres the Constitution and the sane and sound policies and traditions, which are the foundation stones of this republic. The farmer is the steady fixed point about which the uneasy may move, but is never shaken by it.

"Today, however, the men and women are drifting from the farms to the city and we must do everything possible to reverse that condition. If our agriculture ever drops to the point where we become an important nation our whole military and naval policy will be entirely changed and we will have to have the biggest navy in the world in order to keep the sea routes open for the free importation of food. We must do everything we can to make life more attractive on the farm, build up better lines of communication, better roads, give the farmer schools as good as those in the cities, and encourage the building up of the proper kind of co-operative organizations among the farmers. I do not mean the vicious kinds that we find in certain sections of the northwest. But I mean the right kinds of co-operative associations among the farmers, both for buying and selling, in order to bring them nearer to the consumer to insure their receiving their fair share of the consumer's dollar.

Share of Consumer's Dollar.

"Today there is a very broadspread spirit of discontent on the part of the farmer, a feeling that he is not getting his fair share of the consumer's dollar. There is a feeling that his services during the war was not adequately recognized. The farmer sent 2,000,000 men to the war, he sent his women in full proportion into all lines of war activity, and yet short handed, and under every sort of handicap, the farmers of America rendered magnificent service in feeding not only the army of the United States but the army of Britain and of France, and in large part of the other allies. It is well for us to remember that if the American farmer laid down, or struck the war would have been lost by the allies.

"Agriculture is the very backbone of our wealth. It is the main source of our original wealth, and the agricultural population is the great source of stability in this country. We went to do everything we possibly can to aid the farmer.

"These things I have been talking to you about are not at all exciting. They are rather elementary and basic. There is not much new in the fundamntal principles of government except to those people who know nothing of what has gone before. We want to stand steady; don't rock the boat. Hold on to the things we know are good. These common sense, plain things are just about as unsensational as the Ten Commandments or the Lord's Prayer, but as the Ten Commandments and the Lord's Prayer lie at the very basis of our spiritual and moral life, so do certain basic principles and policies lie at the foundation of our national stability."

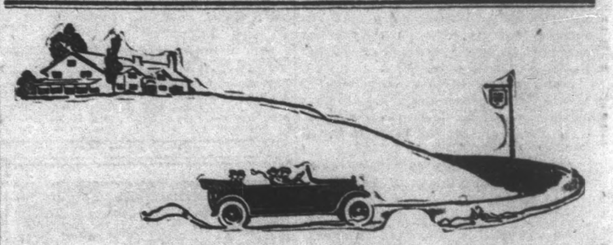

Better Pay for Teachers.

Noticing the presence in the audiences of the school children and their teachers, the general said:

"You must look after your public school system also. The schools are slipping all over the country. The average pay of an American school teacher in 1918 throughout the whole nation was a little under $700 a year, or about two-thirds what we pay a Mexican laborer, who comes across the border to shovel sand on the Southern Pacific. These are disagreeable facts, but they must be faced. Today there are 300,000 teachers in the teaching force of America who have not been able to pass grade examinations for the grades which they are teaching. There are 146,000 vacant school rooms. Why? Because you are not paying your school teachers as well as you are paying your ordinary laborers.

"A man said to me the other day: 'It looks rather inconsistent in a great republic such as ours, based squarely on its public school system and its system of education generally to see a man driving nails into a board getting twice the pay of the men and women who are trying to drive ideas into the heads of the children of America.' There is no class of people in America that is doing more important work than these men and women who are teaching in the schools and colleges of America. They have our children in their hands day after month, and year after year; they after month, nd year after year; they are forming their characters, giving them ideas of government, and you do not want the children of America taught by a group of people, who are shamefully underpaid, discontented, and who feel that their profession is not appreciated and is not receiving the recognition which is due it."

A reception committee from Sullivan met General Wood at Terre Haute and escorted him to this city. The committee was composed of Walter F. Wood, Robert P. White, John C. Chaney, B. T. Llundbled, C. F. Datey, A. D. Cutler, Emerson Watson, H. E. Steele, W. T. Mallott, Will A. Thompson, H. B. Wiltse, Harve Gordon, Martin Miles, J. B. Miller, O. L. Springer, Ed Ley Rogers, T. A. Combs, John Ersinger and C. H. Stratton.

It is easy to see why our belief that the Hupmobile is the best car of its class in the world is so widely shared by others. For example, THE COMFORT CAR is held at a consistently LOWER depreciation, and a HIGHER cash value, in any market. The fact is that these are sound values. They go right back to long life, noteworthy economy, satisfactory service and conspicuous performance—the sound and substantial foundation stones on which the good name of the Hupmobile has been built.

PROBE OF STATE FARM CHARGES IS UNDER WAY

COMMITTEE NAMED BY GOVERNOR HEARS M'NULTY.

CHARITIES BOARD MEETS

Governor Goodrich has intrusted to a committee of his own selection the investigation of the charges made by Charles O. McNulty that Indiana State Farm prisoners are poorly fed and mistreated. The board of state charities committee on penal institutions also is making an investigation.

On the Governor's committee are Judge J. P. Hughes, of the Putnam circuit court; Dr. Charles P. Emerson, dean of the Indiana University school of medicine, and Judge Alonzo Blair, of the Shelby circuit court. It examined McNulty, whom the Governor summoned here yesterday from his home in Big Rapids, Mich.

McNulty is said to have reiterated before the committee his former charges made by letter to Dr. John N. Hurty, secretary of the state board of health.

The board of state charities was in quarterly session today. Because this is the first meeting since its Marion County Jail supervision was so severely criticised in federal court, it was expected that the criticism would receive some consideration before the close of the session.

Articles of Incorporation.

Tech Class Play Given

The June, 1920, seniors of Technical High School gave their class play, "Prunella," a comedy in three acts by Lawrence Houseman and Granville Barker, at the Murat theater, Monday afternoon and evening.

The work of Elizabeth Nunlist as Prunella, a girl imprisoned in a garden by her three maiden aunts, Dorothy Fellows, Dorothy Wilson and Irma Pike, and of Lawrence Neidlinger as Pierrot, leader of a circus, brought much praise from the spectators.

Trent McMath played well the role of Scaramel, servant to Pierrot. The parts of the gardeners were taken by Frank Trost, Norman Thayer and Mathew Farson. The statue of love, Otto Mahrdt, held the same position during the entire play.

"Prunella" was staged under the direction of Miss Florence Farman. Miss Elizabeth Kaltz, assisted by Otis Igleman and Genieve Hughel, supplied the music.

WOOD INDORSES HAYS AS CAMPAIGN LEADER

WILL MAKE NO CHANGE IF HE IS NOMINATED.

PRAISES HOOSIER'S WORK

CHICAGO, April 27.—Will H. Hays, Republican national committee chairman, has been indorsed by Leonard Wood as campaign manager, if the general is nominated by the convention here June 8.

This announcement, made by Wood headquarters, was said practically to assure Mr. Hays of the position, no matter who is nominated, and to set at rest rumors that Wood, if successful in the convention, would appoint Frank Hitchcock, former postmaster-general, his campaign manager.

The Republican national committee, meeting here in November and again in February, went on record as opposed to the selection of any one other than its chairman as campaign manager. Most of the candidates seeking the nomination indorsed Mr. Hays, but the position of General Wood remained in doubt, following the arrival here of Mr. Hitchcock and the circulation of reports that he would displace William Cooper Procter, of Cincinnati, as the general's preconvention campaign manager and as director of the election campaign should Wood be nominated.

Mr. Hitchcock has since returned to New York and Mr. Procter, in an interview, announced that "so far as I know, I am to remain in charge of General Wood's preconvention campaign." The interview followed a conference with Wood.

Leaders for Hays.

The question of Republican campaign management was brought to a head last week when national committeemen and regional heads of the party voiced objections to the selection of any one but Mr. Hays for the position. Among the most ardent supporters of the chairman are Fred Upham, national treasurer, and Victor Heintz, in charge of the Republican regional headquarters here. Mr. Heintz announced that he would resign unless the committee's indorsement of Hays were accepted by the successful candidate.

"I am not in favor of a return to the 'good old days' of politics," Mr. Heintz said, "and I will not be a party to turning the clock back a decade to the gumshoe, pussy-footing period. Will H. Hays represents the type of leader who can direct the party to success next November."

The tension produced along "presidential row" by the stand of the Republican leaders was visibly relaxed following General Wood's announcement. The formal statement from Wood headquarters said:

"Despite rumors to the contrary, Will H. Hays, Republican national committee chairman, will handle the campaign of Leonard Wood if he is nominated. This was definitely decided by the general himself.

"'The Republican party is back in power,' he said. 'It has a remarkably efficient national chairman, Mr. Will H. Hays, a most capable man and devoted to the best interests of the party. The Republican party has a very sound policy, with which I am in hearty accord, of allowing its national chairman to conduct the campaign of whoever is nominated, and to carry on so that there will be no swapping of horses crossing the stream.'

Up to New Committee.

The present national committee will not appoint the campaign manager. That will be left to the committee which comes into office following the convention, but as it is expected that a majority of the present committee will be re-elected, Republicans here expected the policy of the present organization to be carried out.

The national committee meets here May 10 to complete plans for the convention, including the selection of a temporary secretary and other officers.

Senators Lodge and Borah have both been mentioned along "presidential row" as possible choice for permanent chairman.

GOVERNMENT WORK OPEN.

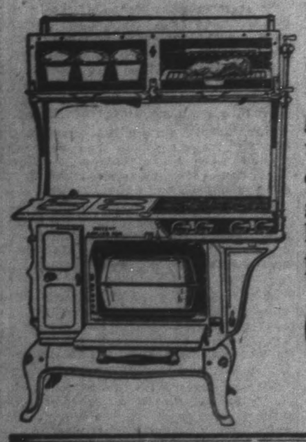

Civil Service Examinations During Next Few Weeks Announced.

Civil service examinations are being offered for the next few weeks to persons interested in obtaining positions in the government service. The list includes stenographers, typists, trained clerks of various kinds, teachers in the Indian service and in the Philippines, social welfare and other workers in the bureau of health service, and certain professional and technical specialists in other departments.

Persons interested in the government work can obtain details of the civil service requirements by conferring with R. F. Stuart, secretary of the local board, at Room 421, Federal building.

Facts Every American Should Know

THE war is over. We did what we set out to do. But victory left some things to be accounted for. And this is one of them.

The Government said to the Waltham Watch Company: "We need your skill and creative genius in this national enterprise." Waltham came to attention, saluted, and went to work.

Let us imagine for a moment what happened. Here were over five thousand people, and a great organization suddenly turned aside from supplying the normal demand for Waltham products to the abnormal demands of war and its accessories.

What this entailed cannot be told here, but the genius of Waltham is American genius and deeds speak louder than words.

AMERICAN ships and the large accretions to our glorious navy could not go to sea without accurate, delicately adjusted chronometers—and they were supplied by Waltham.

American aeroplanes could not climb into the skies without clocks that would withstand the vibrations of powerful motors and abnormal extremes of temperature—demanding the most exact horological adjustments—and they were supplied by Waltham.

American motor transports and automobiles required speedometers and sturdy shock and stress resisting timepieces—and they were supplied by Waltham.

Our beloved soldiers, who fought and died for us, needed watches, and thousands of Walthams went into battle and kept record of Time that shall ever be memorial.

Indeed, "Waltham" in Paris supplied service 'behind the lines' for repairs, etc., and was officially recognized as Watch headquarters for the A. E. F.

And this is not all—

SOMEWHERE in the United States Uncle Sam approves the gifts that his sons of genius create for the glory of his name.

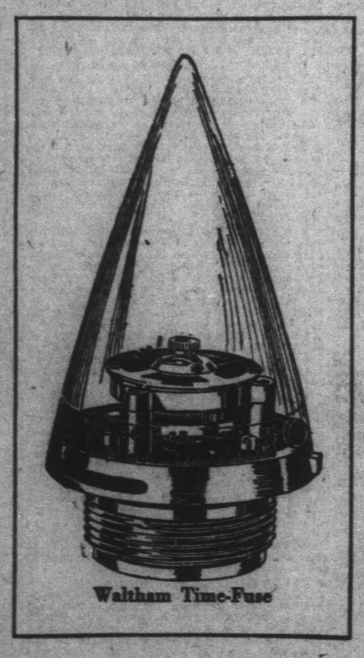

It is night. A few hooded and powerful electric lights search the darkness to reveal a huge gun, around which are gathered a few men who serve this giant of strength.

A sharp word of command! A flame of fire! A concussion that rocks the earth! The roar of a shell! A few tense, numbered seconds! Then, out there on the far horizon, a burst of fire miles away—an explosion timed to infinitesimal moments by Waltham.

This, the triumph of Waltham genius—a time-fuse that splits a second into a hundred parts—that far exceeds in instantaneous accuracy all other time-fuses hitherto invented—that sends each shell to its destination governed by Waltham's inventive genius hidden in the apex of the shell.

Imagine this device, light enough and of such delicate accuracy to explode the charge at a hundredth of a second, fired in a shell with a velocity of 2,700 feet per second, and leaving the gun's rifled barrel at 25,000 revolutions per minute.

Talk of "position" time-keeping—here is a whirligig of motion—a "position" test that subdues competitive argument. And imagine a timepiece strong and durable enough to endure a blow, a strain, a stress of two pounds to each grain of its weight. A terrific reaction for the honor of America when the gun is fired.

Waltham Time-Fuse

NEVER in the world's history has there been such miraculous time-keeping, such performance, such absolute reliability under such abnormal conditions. As Americans, we have a right to be proud of Waltham genius.

But if it had not been for nearly three-quarters of a century filled with work behind the Waltham time-fuse, it would not have been years in front of all others. Pre-eminence is its own reward.

Years of concentrated development on an infinitesimal unit—ofttimes out of sight in the works of the watch—have added renown to the name of Waltham.

The Waltham Watch, upon whose universal time-keeping the sun never sets, is but an older brother of this marvelous time-keeper in the shell.

WE have told you these facts because they supply some reasons why Waltham Watches are not plentiful. We are concentrating every resource of our organization to meet a national demand which is a tribute to Waltham excellence.

We know that if your dealer cannot supply you immediately with your choice of a Waltham Watch he will be able to supply you before long. And a Waltham Watch is worth waiting for. Grade for grade no foreign watch can compare with it.

WE have made many statements of Waltham invention in the mechanics of watchmaking—we have opened the door of the "works" in a Waltham Watch and created American pride in this Waltham masterpiece. We have claimed world leadership in watchmaking. "Here are the proofs" has been our challenge and our pride.

Proofs we have given and still more proofs we intend to give: science at its utmost in the alloy of a metal, in the polishing of a part, in the setting of a jewel, in the hardening and tempering of steel, in the design of a balance staff, in the bend of a guard pin or the structural curve of a spring—little things, hidden things.

Yet it is these scientific inventions, developments—call them what you will—that have carried the fame of Waltham unto the uttermost ends of the earth.

You protect your investment. You are assured time-keeping dependability. You forestall costly repairs. You own the utmost in fine watch-making when you buy a

THE ALLIED NOTE

In their note to Germany the allies refused even to consider the German request that the treaty be so modified as to permit the German government to have an army of 200,000 instead of 100,000 men. The position taken is that there can be no concessions of any sort "as long as Germany is failing to meet the most important obligations imposed by the peace treaty and does not proceed with disarmament, on which depends the peace of the world." It is pointed out that many engagements are still unfulfilled, especially those concerning the destruction of war material, the decrease of effectives, the supplying of coal, reparations, and the expenses of the armies of occupation. Nor has the German government given satisfaction for "criminal attacks which several members of the allied missions in Germany have been the victims of."

The allies fully "realize the difficulties met by the German government," but "they are unanimous in declaring that they can not tolerate a continuation of these infractions of the treaty of Versailles, that the treaty must be executed and remain as the basis of relations between Germany and the allies." If necessary to compel compliance there will be further occupation of German territory, though the allies "have no intention of annexing any part of the German territory." The purpose of the note is to bring Germany to a realization of the fact that the treaty means something, and to make her understand that the allies are united in their determination to enforce it.

Yet with these points gained, the authors of the note make it clear that they are prepared to deal fairly and even generously with Germany. Here is the conclusion:

If a satisfactory settlement is arrived at on these points the allied governments will be willing to discuss with the German representatives any questions which affect the internal order and economic wellbeing of Germany. But Germany must understand that the unity of the allies for execution of the treaty is as solid as it was for war, and that the only method of taking her place in the world is loyally to execute the engagements to which she has subscribed.

Germany's fate, therefore, is very largely in her own hands.

ARREST THREATS

Denial that the department of justice authorized such tactics as were used by its representatives at Cleveland was expected so there is no surprise at such a message. John Sawken, representing the justice department, told 1,500 striking railroad men they could return to work or go to jail. District Attorney Ed S. Wertz was said to have authorized the ultimatum. One of the spokesmen for the strikers summed up the situation by declaring that "if we have violated a law, we are guilty whether we return to work or not. If we have not violated a law, no threats can legally be made to force us to return to work."

While no statement has been made by Attorney-General Palmer, a telegram was sent to Cleveland by Assistant Attorney-General Ames in which he repudiated the action of Sawken and Wertz, adding that such a threat was improper. What effect that will have on the strikers has not yet developed although it may have a tendency to encourage them in their contentions.

The chief trouble comes from the attempt of an unauthorized agent of the justice department to bluff men into working. There is no law forcing men to work. Those who have no means of support may be arrested for vagrancy and in some states there are laws calculated to reach lazy husbands, but the strike situation comes under neither of these acts. Under the Lever act it is possible to prosecute men who conspire to hamper the production and distribution of necessaries, and that law has been invoked in some places. The action of such men as Wertz and Sawken has weakened the department of justice's position and the officials in Washington will have difficulty in getting back to a place where they can approach the issues on the broad ground of justice to all concerned.

THE OLD CLOTHES MOVEMENT

In old-time stories, before heroines began to wear such expensive clothes and smoke cigarettes, the hero was as likely to be poor as rich. "He was the son of poor but honest parents" was the favorite way to introduce him. Later on, when he walked into the picture, the author showed that his clothing was old and patched, but it was carefully brushed. There the hero stood, a battered hat in his hands, his clothing old and worn, but always carefully brushed. The reader and the characters in the story did not pay much attention to the clothing. Rather did they look for traits of honesty, thrift and industry.

There came a time, in fiction and in fact, when people were urged to dress the parts they wished to play in life. Men began to believe there was no truth in the assertion that clothes do not make the man. Two men of equal abilities might apply for a position; the man who dressed the part was likely to get it. Men found themselves in places where they were called upon to associate with others of more wealth and higher social standing. They dressed in accordance with the standards they hoped to reach. Not long ago a story gained popularity throughout the country that dealt with a young man who invested heavily in a "dress suit" and persuaded his business associates he was a rising young plutocrat because he had the necessary costume to go with the part. More and more the argument has been driven home that the well-dressed man is a successful man. Patches denoted poverty and ragged edges were out of keeping with our conception of push and energy.

The overall movement is a fad. One of its by-products may be the reinstatement of old clothes to their former standing in business and society. As long as a suit is worth wearing it should be worn, whether it is in style or not. Men are coming to that conclusion, although they have just begun to think about the matter. One man could not fight the system that said all successful men must be well dressed, but several thousand men acting in concert can call attention to their own worth and ability instead of posing before their employers like clothing models. An old expression is that "if the shoe fits, wear it," and that should hold good for shoes, suits, hats and gloves. If they fit, and are wearable, wear them, regardless of their age.

LODGE'S ALARM

Senator Lodge warned the country yesterday in his most impressive manner against a great "danger" which threatened. There are so many dangers in our path, according to our alarmists, that one more does not greatly matter. The senator read to the senate a press dispatch in which former President Poincaré, of France, Andre Tardieu, and others were reported to have said that the allied diplomats proposed to pool all war debts, and to have the United States assume the financial burden of restoring Germany. "This presents," said the Massachusetts senator, "a very serious danger to the United States and the American people."

What that danger is we are not informed. Certainly the allied powers could not impose such a charge on this government, nor would they even think of attempting it. As far as we can see, the only danger is that we might, of our own will, decide to assume the burden. That would be a very foolish thing to do, and there is not the remotest possibility that our government will adopt any such policy. It may be that Poincaré and Tardieu favor such action, but even so there does not seem to be any danger. Nor does the fact that we are not a member of the league of nations save us, or even, as was suggested, make it "impossible" for us to take the action proposed. If this nation was a member of the league it would be under no obligation in the matter. It would be free to do as it pleased with regard to it then, as it is free now.

There does not, therefore, seem to be any "very serious danger to the United States and the American people." The country can rest quite easy. No one is going to pick the nation's pocket — unless it be our own profiteers — and the only burdens that are being imposed on the treasury just now are bing imposed by congress. But it is most cheering to know that we have on guard in Washington such a watchful sentinel as Senator Lodge, even though he does sometimes start at shadows.

THE NOLAN BILL

The federal real estate tax bill introduced by John I. Nolan, of San Francisco, who represents Senator Johnson's home district and is affiliated politically with Johnson, proposes a tax of 1 per cent. on all real estate valuations in excess of $10,000. It amounts to a repudiation of all that is left of the tradition that the federal government shall not levy a direct tax, a tradition which has been steadily encroached upon until it is hardly more than a memory. Nolan's argument is that land is about the only form of wealth not subject to a direct government tax, so why not go the limit?

The proposed measure is vigorously opposed on all sides. In particular the farmers are fighting it with every means they can command. City real estate associations are deeply aroused by the prospect, and are carrying out a strenuous campaign in which they charge, among other things, that insidious radicalism is behind the measure, that it is another scheme to make the wealthy bear the expense of government. This latter argument will not convince any one that the bill is wrong, but there is every likelihood that the opposition of the farmers will defeat it. They say they do not like it, which assertion in campaign year is influential.

By placing the deadline at $10,000 the bill invites the support of the real estate owner who has become such primarily because he wishes to own a home; but whatever support of the small holder is achieved by this device is more than offset by the circumstance that the farmer is taxed not only for his home but for his plant, his means of livelihood. From the farmer's point of view it is not a tax but an imposition.

BUSINESS ENGLISH

The following sentence appeared in a letter dictated by a New York banker: "The Blank National Bank has carried an account with us since 1907, which is about the time that the bank first opened for business." There can be no doubt about the meaning of this sentence, yet such is the present standard of business English that when an officer of the bank objected to the use of "is" and said it should be "was," the sentence was referred to a dozen eminent authorities on grammar. Some voted for "is," some for "was," and the most eminent of all said it was not a question of grammar but of philosophy.

There was a time when authors of textbooks on English composition drew upon famous authors for examples of good English. One of them recently departed from the beaten path and, to the vast benefit of his book, included some business letters from well known firms and a few advertisements that he had clipped from magazines and newspapers. These examples of business English were models of plain writing. The author of each had a clear, definite idea in mind, and proceeded directly to the business of conveying it to his reader's mind by the use of common words. There was no striving for literary effect, and that itself is the first attribute of good literature.

The reason for this improvement in business English is that business firms have discovered that a business letter tells almost as much by its general appearance and style as by the meaning conveyed. Clear writing is, after all, only clear thinking, and the firm that insists upon clear-thinking correspondents is likely to be abreast of the times in all other departments. Viewed broadly, the improvement is also a sign of more efficient thinking in all lines of human endeavor.

THE COAL TRUST CASES

By another 4-to-3 decision the supreme court yesterday sustained the government's charges of illegal combination against the Reading Company, a Pennsylvania holding corporation, and certain of its railroad and coal subsidiaries, and ordered their dissolution. The arrangement was held to be a flagrant violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, and the court declared that there was a clear purpose to suppress commerce and competition. A "dominating control" had been secured over two competing coal interests and two competing interstate carriers, and the court found that this "dominating power was not obtained by normal expansion to meet the demands of a business growing as a result of superior and enterprising management, but by deliberate, calculated purchase for control." As a result there had been unlawful discrimination against other coal shippers.

Chief Justice White and Justices Holmes and Vandevanter dissented. The chief justice based his opinion on the ruling of the court below, which, to his mind, was conclusive. When such eminent authorities disagree the mere layman does not find it easy to say where the right, as a matter of law, lies. There will be a feeling that a severance of these interests will be for the public good, at least among those who recall the abuses that were unearthed six years ago, and which led to the institution of the suit which has just been decided. It was not simply a matter of destroying or restraining competition between carriers, but of destroying competition between coal companies, and discrimination in favor of the owners of certain companies.

At any rate the court has held that what was bad business, from the point of view of the public, is also bad law. It may be that the people will gain from the ruling, though it must be said that it is not always easy to sever interests.

BUYING MONEY

A southern Indiana bank heads its newspaper advertising with this statement:

The cheapest thing today is money. A load of corn, a week's wages, an acre of land will buy more money today than for a long time. While it is cheap get it and save it. Pay your debts with cheap dollars. Save them to invest in a few years when they will bring more.

People are complaining that everything is high. They speak of the prices of clothing, fuel, food and the like, but they forget that money is cheap. When a man can buy $10 with a day's work he gets more dollars than under ordinary conditions. When a farmer buys a large number of dollars with a few bushels of grain he has made a good trade. Yet there will be many who argue that when cheap money is bought it can not be exchanged for anything unless there is a considerable amount of it. That, in a measure, is true, but the ease with which money can be obtained under present conditions is to be remembered.

The thrifty housewife preserves fruit and vegetables in the season when they are plentiful and cheaper than at other times. When money is high and hard to get little of it is saved. When it is cheap and a man can buy more dollors with his labor, it is time to save. If money is idle some of the principal must be taken to pay the taxes on it. Cheap money invested in sound securities, such as government bonds or thrift stamps, not only guarantees the return of the principal but the payment of interest as long as the investment runs.

COMMUNIST BELIEFS

The secretary of labor has been studying the national program and manifesto of the Communist party to determine whether members of that party who are not American citizens are subject to deportation under existing laws. His conclusions are printed in the Monthly Labor Review. The Communist program is found to contain the following:

Strikes of protest develop into general political strikes and then into revolutionary mass action for the conquest of the power of the state. Mass action becomes political in purpose while extra-parliamentary in form; it is equally a process of revolution, and the revolution itself in operation. * * * The Communist party shall participate in mass strikes, not only to achieve the immediate purposes of the strike, but to develop the revolutionary implications of the mass strike. * * * The revolutionary era compels the proletariat to make use of the means of battle which will concentrate its entire energies, namely, mass action, with its logical resultant, direct conflict with the government machinery in open combat. All other methods, such as revolutionary use of bourgeois parliamentarism, will be of only secondary significance.

The secretary decides from these and similar quotations that the Communist party is not merely a political party seeking to control governmental affairs, "but a revolutionary party seeking to conquer and destroy the state in open combat. And the only conclusion is that the Communist party of America is an organization that believes in, teaches and advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the government of the United States." Congress, the secretary says, made the law and the Communists made the facts. Consequently it is mandatory upon him to deport such alien Communists as he finds.

Why a lesser official than the secretary should revoke the deportation orders issued to send alien Communists back to their native lands is yet to be explained. Alien Communists have no place here, and a federal official who makes it possible for them to remain can hardly be considered in sympathy with the government that employs him.

PLAY BALL

The cushion barrage which terminated the double-header at Washington park Sunday will go down in local baseball history as a striking example of what happens when professional athletes take liberties with the American sense of fair play. The fans took a hand in the contest only when they felt that the players had quit playing ball and started out to beat the clock. The game then ceased to be baseball, and the situation created was a challenge to every fan who wanted to see the Indians win, hence the free speech, cushions and general debate punctuated with a few slugging matches.

There is a serious side to the rumpus, for no town wishes to be known as unwilling to give two professional ball teams a chance to fight it out according to the rule books. Indianapolis, however, has never been charged with wanting the sporting qualities necessary to support a losing team, nor, even in the more remote days, when pop-bottle sniping was considered as a privilege which went with the admission fee, were the fans ever looked upon as a menace to visitors. But there can be no doubt that no town will long tolerate free-for-all cushion fights on Sunday afternoon, even though the provocation be great.

In the situation that developed Sunday any crowd of American fans would have done about the same thing. Manager Hendricks and Manager McCarthy are both too old at the game not to know that when they began the funny business at the tail end of a long afternoon, with the fans hungry and craving a little diversion, they were taking a long chance on just what happened, and yet both managers can be pardoned a certain degree of liberty in taking the means at hand to get credit for a game. Accusing the fans of breaking up a ball game is going too far; they merely took a hand in a stalling match, and the question of sportsmanship is not involved. Yet there is no escaping the fact that every sincere admirer of the greatest of sports will regret that the game ended any other way than by straight ball playing.

Hats in the political ring will have to be moved over a trifle to make room for Champ Clark's houn' dawg. Mr. Clark announces that he does not mean to lift a finger to get the Democratic nomination for President, but he adds that "Barkis is willin'." The Clark entry brings no new element into the national situation. He has been a candidate for President before. In his autobiography he says that the nomination was stolen from him at Baltimore. It is not expected that the national army men will begin forming Clark clubs at once, as he said that in Missouri a conscripted man was regarded as little better than a convict.

MINERS SEEK MEETING WITH COAL OPERATORS

TWO FACTIONS DIFFER ON POWDER QUESTION.

SCALE REPORT IS DELAYED

[Special to The Indianapolis News]
TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 27.—Coal miners of district No. 11, United Mine Workers of America, which comprises the greater part of the Indiana bituminous field, have asked for another convention with operators for Thursday, it is understood, to discuss the powder question before acting on reports of the wage scale committee. It is said that the miners insist on a fixed price for powder for the full contract period of two years, while the operators ask that the market price during that period be the basis of the rate charged the miner.

The miners first demanded that none except union powder be handled, but the operators refused that demand. The operators say that the cost of powder fluctuates, depending on the price of materials and freights and that they can not in justice to themselves agree to a fixed price for two years.

The matter has been considered by a subcommittee of the subscale committee. The latter is still in session and the miners' convention, which held a closed session Monday, adjourned subject to call when the joint scale committee is ready to report. It is believed this committee will complete its work by tomorrow.

TO TAKE STRIKERS' PLACES

Twelve Members of Big Unions Will Work at Cincinnati.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]
SEYMOUR, Ind., April 27.—Twelve members of the local Order of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen went to Cincinnati today to report at the terminals of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad there to do switching during the outlaw strike of switchmen. The volunteers agreed to go to Cincinnati following a joint meeting of the two organizations Monday.

It is believed that other brakemen and conductors, who have lost much time since the strike became effective, will aid in handling the freight in the Cincinnati terminals within a short time. The organization here announced that it represented the switchmen in making a contract with the company, and, since an unauthorized attempt is being made to violate the agreement, they have the responsibility of carrying it out in good faith.

Conductors Condemn Strike.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]
LOGANSPORT, Ind., April 27.—Logansport railroad switchmen are still on a "vacation," according to the officials of the local Yardmen's Associations. Railroad officials announce that the switching on local lines is being handled very satisfactorily by the men who remained at work and by the new switchmen. At meeting of the Logan division No. 110, Order of Railway Conductors, held here Sunday the following resolutions were adopted:

"Resolved, That Logan division No. 110, O. R. C., is in favor of the switchmen receiving an increase in wages through the lawful and recognized channels, as in the past, and pledge our moral support to this end. We condemn unreservedly the unlawful and ill-advised movement that is now trying to stop the railroads from performing their duty, and further

"Resolved, That Logan division No. 110, O. R. C., hereby pledge ourselves to help the railway officials restore the same to their normal conditions."

Near Normal at East Chicago.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]
EAST CHICAGO, Ind., April 27.—Switching on the Baltimore & Ohio Chicago Terminal railroad, which serves a number of the industries of East Chicago and Indiana Harbor, is now almost normal and the plants are again operating at practically full capacity. The Interstate Iron and Steel, the only plant which was completely shut down because of the strike, has opened again. Other plants also have taken back men who were laid off.

Practically none of the striking switchmen has returned to work, and the railroad has employed new men, many of whom are inexperienced and cause delays in switching. The striking switchmen have taken other jobs in the industries of the city and say that they will never return to the railroads unless the increase is granted.

Two More Yardmen Return.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]
ANDERSON, Ind., April 27.—Two members of the Anderson Yardmen's Association, who left their work April 11, together with sixty-three other switchmen, have returned to work on the Pennsylvania yards. Three of the switchmen who walked out have now resumed their places. The return of the two men was the second break in two days in the local strike situation.

MADE NO MONEY FOR HIM.

Machine Supposed to Turn Out Bills Causes Arrest of Mike Popa.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]
EAST CHICAGO, Ind., April 27.—Mike Popa told Nick Boboc that he had a machine for making crisp new $1 bills and that he was willing to sell it for $1,100. He said all that was necessary was to take a few pieces of paper, place them in small compartment of the machine, press a telegraph key, which was mounted on the top, and the bills were made. After pressing the new bills between two boards for five hours they would be ready for circulation, he said.

Boboc left Popa, ostensibly to get the money, but instead he notified the authorities who arrested Popa. Popa says that he paid $1,800 for the machine and that he was trying to get some of his money back.

CAR AND AUTO IN COLLISION

Six High School Pupils of Shelbyville Have Narrow Escape.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., April 27.—Six pupils of the Shelbyville High School narrowly escaped injury yesterday when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by an eastbound Indianapolis & Cincinnati traction car at a street crossing in this city.

Lloyd Monroe, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Monroe, who was driving the automobile, failed to see the car in time to avoid a collision, and the car, which was traveling slowly, struck the front of the automobile. Misses Mary Whitmer, Deloris Hey, Ellen Pope, Zola Monroe and Gladys VanGordon were in the machine, but none was injured.

CRUSHED BETWEEN CARS.

James M. Males, of Anderson, Fatally Injured in Yard Accident.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]
ANDERSON, Ind., April 27.—James M. Males, age fifty-four, a car inspector in the Big Four railroad yards here for more than ten years, was fatally injured last night when he was crushed between two cars. He died a few hours later in a local hospital.

It was said that signals on the car where Males was working were misinterpreted. His right side and right leg were terribly mangled. He is survived by a widow and three children. Edward Males, of Indianapolis, and Thomas Males, of Lafayette, are brothers.

Mr. Tarkington's Capital Comedy.

Preceded by a fanfare, a blowing of trumpets and glorifying heralds from the east and the west none but so first-class a play as Booth Tarkington's "Clarence" could have failed to disappoint the audience that greeted its first presentation in the city of its author at English's Monday night. That it realized the happiest expectation that could have been entertained for it was evidenced after the third act when the applause by accurate stop-watch count continued for seven minutes. Again and again the curtain went up on a bowing, hushing company. After several minutes of applause the orchestra resumed its duties, but it was drowned out, and obliged to cease operations while the curtain was again taken up and down repeatedly.

Memory calls no such ovation to mind at a regular dramatic performance in an Indianapolis theater. How much was tribute to Mr. Tarkington's play and how much to Gregory Kelly and Ruth Gordon, the adolescents of the piece, whose friends hereabouts are numerous, is impossible to determine and beside the point. Obviously, a large share was intended for the two young players whose appearance on the stage alone after repeated indications of the desire of the audience plainly nervous to the point of disaster, but happy, was the cue for another outburst; but there were looks about for the elusive Mr. Tarkington, who lurked somewhere in the shadows of the theater.

The nature of the play is by this time pretty well known to all who make a habit of the theater. It is Mr. Tarkington's best work in the field of playwriting. He brings to it for the first time the tools, the point of view, the sharpness of observation, the effortless humor that has brought him distinction as a novelist. Sound, honest playwriting this and capital entertainment, sly and charming in its humor, with little of the usual theatrical trickery and keen in its characterization, supremely so in the cases of the two adolescents with whose interesting affairs the piece is largely occupied.

The story is not inherently dramatic, but highly interesting as illumined by the Tarkington talent for plausibly picturing people, especially youngsters, as they are. Clarence, of the title, is an odd, spectacled representative of the 4,000,000, droll in humor, a charming eccentric who overhears the family secrets of a business man of wealth and is thereafter invited into his home as a combination employe and guest.

The ex-soldier, whose tragedy is that he has been shot in the liver at target practice and whose chief recommendation to his employer was a misinterpreted statement that he could drive army mules without swearing, quickly enters into the good graces of the family and eventually, if perhaps only temporarily, irons out the difficulties with which it is beset through a father preoccupied with business, a hysterical, jealous mother, a pretty governess, and the love troubles of two very real youngsters.

Gregory Kelly is the boy of the piece, a youngster of perhaps eighteen, who involves himself with the housemaid by a furtive kiss and lives to regret it when the pretty governess comes on the scene. Mr. Kelly, badly bothered by first-night nervousness, gave nevertheless a capital performance in a role of the sort that he does better perhaps than any other American actor.

That much was expected of Mr. Kelly, but Ruth Gordon's extraordinary success with the part of the other youngster was more surprising. A highly capable actress she has shown herself to be in her Stuart Walker engagements, but she has done nothing during the summer so good as her performance in "Clarence." The highly-strung, impulsive, hysterical American flapper could not be more plausibly pictured. Both her performance and that of Mr. Kelly seemed superior to that given in New York. Robert Adams as Clarence lacks the odd charm of Alfred Lunt, but does well enough and other parts are acceptably played.

Marie Cahill Vaudevilling at B. F. Keith's.

Marie Cahill, long a favorite in musical productions, has stepped over to the two-a-day for a season, and right merrily she is doing her round of songs and conversational comedy. Always a cheer-bringer, Miss Cahill maintains her stride in vaudeville. She sings songs in a Marie Cahill way, and gives the audience a laugh with her impersonation of a she-gossip indulging in her favorite pastime over the telephone.

The comedy hit of the bill is Bert Baker and company in a lively sketch called "Prevarication." The story deals with the antics of a gay old bird who is caught mingling with other women. Then he begins to lie to his wife, and a neat job he does of it. But, of course, he finally is trapped, and a domestic storm follows. The Baker comedy is full of amusing situations.

Marie and Mary McFarland give a concert program of the popular classics. They have delightful voices. Allan Schofield is at the piano. Another good musical feature is Maleta Bonconi, the violinist. Miss Bonconi is a performer whose program always wins.

Reno, a tramp cyclist, gives an imitation of Joe Jackson, the famous tramp comedian. Billy McDermott, another tramp comedian, holds the stage for about thirty-five minutes with an act that should be over in fifteen. His imitation of Sousa and Creatore is his best feature, although this is not a new phase of his work. Fallon and Brown are sidewalk comedians who were buck privates in the 27th division. Nolan and Nolan close the bill with a good juggling act.

Lyric—Vaudeville.

Repeated encores prove the popularity of this week's Lyric bill. More than one act is so persistently applauded that the show is temporarily held up. The Chalfonte sisters, two muscular dancers, open the bill. Pauline Starr follows with child impersonations and character songs. Wild Zimmerman comes next with a representation of the peace table, his impersonations including Clemenceau, Lloyd George, Wilson, Pershing and others. Then Carl and Inez go on, and their guitar and dancing keep them in the spotlight a long time. Rawin and Clare are next, and their "school days" act bids fair to hold the stage twice its allotted time. Nixon and Sands, a capable dancing team, stop the show with their high-kicking cakewalk, and change clothes with amusing results. Skipper, Kennedy and Reeves are a lively trio of dancers and comedians. The Violin Misses, occupying the headline position, are attractively costumed and their act is prettily staged. Music and dancing make up the act. Motion pictures are shown, as usual.

INDIANA NEWS IN BRIEF

HUNTINGTON—S. E. Lahr, formerly of Huntington, has been elected superintendent of schools at Dunlap, Ia., according to word received here. He has been superintendent at Cumberland, Ia.

SEYMOUR—The First Baptist church of this city, which has a quota of $20,000 in the new world movement, has obtained pledges of approximately $12,000. The campaign will be continued during the week.

ANDERSON—Ministers and stewards of the Muncie district conference of the Methodist Episcopal church were in session here Tuesday. The centenary movement and missions were the principal topics discussed.

SHELBYVILLE—Shelbyville Baptists have raised $20,000 of their $36,000 quota in the county quota of $80,000 in the new world movement. Mt. Pisgah has obtained its quota Ernest G. Reece, of this city, is the campaign manager for Shelby county.

PETERSBURG—The home of Charles Miley, five miles east of Petersburg, caught fire from a defective flue Monday afternoon and was burned. Neighbors saved most of the household goods. The loss was $4,500 and only partly covered by insurance.

BRAZIL—Charles Heacox, age forty, of Harmony, was seriously injured Monday by a fall of slate in a mine at Glen Ayr. He suffered a fracture of the right arm, a broken back, and was crushed in the chest. He was taken to a hospital at Terre Haute.

TERRE HAUTE—The county commissioners Monday approved the remonstrance of residents of Harrison and Honey Creek townships against the proposed construction of a hard surface road on the line between the two townships. The petition for the road was ordered dismissed. It was estimated that the road would cost about $90,000.

ALEXANDRIA—No clew to the identity of the men who entered the Powers garage at Gaston and stole $900 worth of auto tires and inner tubes and some money from the cash drawer at the Barnhart grocery, has been found by the local police department. The robbers escaped in a large touring car.

FRANKLIN—A. M. Leakey, Johnson county director of the Liberty loan world movement campaign, reports $30,708 raised Sunday by three Baptist churches in the county. The other Baptist churches in the county have not yet reported. The Franklin Baptist church pledged $19,886; Second Mt. Pleasant, $8,322, and First Mt. Pleasant, $1,500.

COLUMBUS—A serious shortage of teachers in Bartholomew county next year is predicted by Samuel Sharp, county superintendent, who says that at the examination for teachers' license last Saturday, only thirty-four applicants appeared. At an examination held in the same place in April, 1915, seventy-two took the examination. Many of the schools in the county closed last week.... The Baptist church at St. Louis Crossing was the first in Bartholomew county to reach its quota in the interchurch world movement campaign. The quota of $1,505 was exceeded by $55.

LOGANSPORT—A committee of the Logansport Federation of Teachers has presented a new wage scale to the city school board, asking for considerable increase in teachers' salaries, based on training plus experience. The minimum wage asked for teachers in the grades is $1,000 a year, the minimum now being $650. The minimum asked for high school teachers is $1,900, against a present minimum of $1,125 a year. The school board has asked the committee from the federation to attend the meeting of the board, May 3, at which a decision on the proposed scale will be given.

SULLIVAN—An overall and gingham dance was held at Hymers Monday evening. A fine of 1 cent was assessed for wearing jewelry or linen collars. Sullivan High School boys appeared in their classes Monday morning wearing blue denim.... The annual commencement of Haddon township was held Monday evening at Paxton. The address was made by A. M. Hall, a member of the state board of education.... The baccalaureate sermon for the New Lebanon High School graduates was preached at the New Lebanon M. E. church Sunday by Rev. C. B. Hershey, president of Union Christian College, at Merom. The commencement exercises will be held Thursday, May 6.

JEFFERSONVILLE—Cement Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Prather, has presented two brothers, Jefferson Prather, age eighty-two, and David Prather, age seventy-six, with badges of honor as a mark of the completion of their jubilee as members of the lodge. The two were initiated at the same time, and have retained their membership in the same lodge continuously. A banquet marked the celebration of the anniversary.... Opportunity to study music will be given at the Indiana Reformatory to a number of men besides the thirty who compose the regular band, it has been announced. A night class in music has been formed for the accommodation of those who wish to learn music without leaving their regular jobs in other departments of the institution.

WINCHESTER—Commencement exercises for the schools of Washington township, including Lynn, Bloomingport, Carlos City and Beech Grove were held in the Christian church at Lynn Monday evening. Professor Thomas F. Moran, head of the history department of Purdue University, made the address. H. K. Grisel, county superintendent, presented the diplomas and an orchestra from Richmond provided music. Wayne township was to have held its commencement exercises at the Wayne school building Tuesday evening. Music was furnished by the Parry orchestra of Winchester. The Jackson township commencement will be held Thursday evening, April 29, at the Jackson consolidated school. Music will be provided by the high school orchestra. Diplomas will be presented by County Superintendent H. O. Griest. Nettie Creek township commencement exercises were held Saturday evening at Losantville.

HAGERSTOWN—Hagerstown members of the Improved Order of Odd Fellows celebrated the 101st anniversary of the order at the lodge rooms Monday evening. William H. Manifold, of Indianapolis, made the principal address. Miss Lelia Cheshire, president of the Rebekah assembly, also spoke.... Commencement week for the Hagerstown high school began with a baccalaureate sermon by the Rev. Charles W. Chadwick at the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening. Commencement exercises will be held in the Christian church Thursday evening, and the address will be made by the Rev. Birchard Brundage, of Anderson. The annual banquet and reception for the seniors by the High School Alumni Association will be held at the I. O. O. F. hall Friday evening.

STRAW VOTE AT PURDUE.

Students and Faculty Members Vote on Fourteen Candidates.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]
LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 27.—Purdue University students and faculty members voted today at an election to determine their preference for presidential candidates. Much interest was taken in the procedings and a heavy vote was cast. Fourteen candidates were voted on.

The Republican list included Wood, Harding, Johnson, Lowden, Coolidge and Pershing. The Democratic ticket carried the names of Bryan, Cox, Edwards, Hitchcock, McAdoo, Palmer and Wilson. Hoover was voted on as a nonpartisan candidate. Purdue is the second college in the state to take such action. Butler College previously held an election of this kind.

Fast Trip by Airplane.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., April 27.—Ben [Special to The Indianapolis News] F. Harrell, pilot for the Huntington Aeronautic Company, and his mechanic, F. C. Fredericks, arrived in Huntington Sunday, coming from Montgomery, Ala., to Huntington in less than ten hours' flying time.

The company has contracted with A. C. Ward, who has trained in the navy flying corps, and he probably will pilot a seaplane about Lake Wawasee and other northern Indiana lakes. The company also is negotiating with Ralph R. Huntington and J. R. Haylor, of Bloomington, to act as pilots during the summer season. Both are in college now.

Marriage Annulled by Court.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]
SHELBYVILLE, Ind., April 27.—The marriage of Mrs. Emma Conway and Walter L. Conway was ordered annulled yesterday by Judge Alonzo Blair in the Shelby circuit court, after a hearing on a complaint filed by Mrs. Conway to set the marriage aside.

Mrs. Conway testified that she married Conway when she was fourteen years and ten months old. She swore to the clerk of the court that she was twenty-one years old when the marriage license was issued. She lived with Conway two years, she said, because he threatened to have her arrested for perjury if she left him.

Combination Ship Is Launched.

PHILADELPHIA, April 27.—Rear-Admiral Benson witnessed today the launching of the 12,000-ton combination cargo and passenger steamship Creole State at the Camden yard of the New York Shipbuilding Corporation. His daughter, Mrs. Mary Benson Krafft, of Annapolis, was the sponsor. The Creole State is about 80 per cent. completed. It is a sister ship of the Panhandle State, and the Old North State, recently launched. It is 522 feet in length and has a beam of 62 feet and a depth of 31 feet 9 inches.

Butchers and Helpers on Strike.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]
LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 27.—Fifty butchers and helpers employed at the Dryfus Packing and Provision Company's plant here went on strike today to enforce a demand for an eight-hour day. A week ago the butchers asked for a 20 per cent. increase in wages and an eight-hour day. The company granted the wage increase, but refused the eight-hour day demand. During the absence of the manager the men walked out.

Man Fatally Hurt in Dynamo.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]
VINCENNES, Ind., April 27.—Alva O. Huffer, age thirty, is dead as the result of injuries received when he was caught in an electric dynamo at Lawrenceville, Ill. Following the accident, Huffer was brought to a local hospital, where he died. The body was sent to his former home in Muncie. A widow and one son survive.

Revealed

Now, on a sudden, I know it, the secret of life.
Why the very green of the grass in the fields with betrayal is rife.
The whirr of the grasshopper by the wayside proclaims it to all;
'Tis unrolled as a scroll to all eyes in the curve of the waterfall.
But, for me, I can only wonder at mortals—the secret out;
For they see, hear, taste, smell, feel not what heaven reveals all about.
—Harry Lyman Koopman.

UNION IS AROUSED OVER SCHOOL BOARD ACTION

TEACHERS' COUNCIL LEADERS DROPPED AT LAFAYETTE.

EXPLANATION IS SOUGHT

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 27.—The Central Labor Union, of Lafayette, asked the city school board today to inform the public why G. Ray Sharp, principal of Linwood school, and Deborah Elliott, high school instructor, are to be dropped from the city schools next year. The two teachers have been leaders in the public school teachers' council, which has been working for higher salaries for teachers. It is alleged that they are not to be re-employed next year because of their activities in the council.

A labor union resolution, which was presented to the school board, asks the board to issue a statement of the board's side of the case, and, in the event that it is not unsatisfactory, the labor union men ask that the school committee of the city council investigate and inform the public regarding the matter. The board's announcement that the teachers are not to be re-employed has aroused much feeling, and several indignation meetings of citizens are planned.

WOMEN HEAR CANDIDATES

Moores, Spaan and Duffey Address Members of Woman's City Club.

Merrill Moores and Luke W. Duffey, Republicans, and Henry N. Spaan, Democrat, candidates for the nomination for congressman from the Seventh district, were the speakers at the Woman's City Club Monday night, at the first of a series of programs of the second and fourth Monday nights in the month.

Mr. Spaan reviewed the history of the Republican party, from a Democratic viewpoint, since the civil war, and concluded with a eulogy of President Wilson. He made an attack on the Republican congress declaring that it had killed the peace treaty. During his talk, he directed pointed questions at Mr. Moores, Republican member of the house of representatives, who, in his talk, made a reply to Mr. Spaan's accusations, emphasizing the fact that he had stood by President Wilson in all the war measures.

Mr. Duffey said that he believed in good roads, a national budget system, equal suffrage, a board for a just hearing of the grievances of labor, a soldiers' bonus, a firing squad for "red flag toters," an ample tariff to protect the new level of American wages, and a reduction of war taxes by extending the paying period.

Mrs. Leo K. Fesler and Miss Nina L. Cox, members of the program committee, will have charge of the program for the membership meeting Monday night, May 10. Demonstrations of the use of commercial products of interest to women will be given by members of the club.

War Mothers' Party.

The Marion County Chapter of the American War Mothers had its April party Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. L. Fitch. The program included a vocal duet by Mrs. E. F. O'Brien and Mrs. Lawrence Wells; readings by Miss Mary Florence Fletcher; a dance by Miss Louise Fitch, and a brief talk by Mrs. Elizabeth S. Carr, state war mother. It was an "earn-a-dollar" party, and $50 was given to the relief fund.

Mrs. Walter Marmon, who attended the D. A. R. congress in Washington, has gone to Boston, where she has been joined by her son and daughter, who are in eastern schools and by Mr. Marmon, for a visit. Mrs. W. H. Bobbitt, who attended the congress is at Baltimore and will spend a month with relatives in Virginia before returning home.

The first anniversary of the Woman's Rotary Club was celebrated yesterday with a luncheon in the Tyndall room of the Columbia Club. The long table, which was set for fifty members, was decorated in yellow, the club colors, large yellow candles alternating with spring blossoms. At every place a piece of the birthday cake was ornamented with one small yellow candle. Dr. Amelia R. Keller, president of the club, presided, and introduced the speakers, Miss Eleanor Barker, Mrs. Myra Richards, Mrs. Mabelle Pettigrew Mayer and Dr. Jane Ketcham. Mrs. Henry Ketcham, Miss Eliza Browning and Miss Olive Rush had charge of the arrangements and reception of the guests. The club has grown from a group of fourteen charter members to a list of seventy-five active and interested women, all representing some profession or business in this city.

The marriage of Miss Anna Horna and Norbert J. Fox took place this morning at SS. Peter and Paul cathedral and was followed by a wedding breakfast at the Hotel Severin. The Rev. E. J. Ritter officiated. The attendants were Miss Anna Malloy and Richard J. Fox, brother of the bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Fox left at noon for Detroit and other northern cities and will be at home at 218 North Jefferson avenue, after May 15. Among the wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Goebel, of Muncie, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Menstrup, of Cincinnati.

The Indianapolis Chapter of the Sweet Briar College Association was formed Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Victor R. Jose, Jr., for the purpose of assisting in the raising of the college endowment fund. Plans for the fund were discussed and the officers elected were: Mrs. Robert Davy Eaglesfield, chairman; Mrs. Kurt Vonnegut, vice-chairman; Mrs. Jose, secretary; Mrs. John Tarkington Jameson, treasurer. The chapter will meet next Monday afternoon with Mrs. Jose. Miss Emily McVea, president of the college, will come soon in the interest of the fund, and will be the guest of Miss Louise Bennett.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Mrs. Rhea J. Smith, of Lafayette, and Carl C. Reeves, of Indianapolis, which took place Sunday morning at 9 o'clock at the home of the officiating minister, the Rev. W. E. Cissna. Later a family dinner was served at the home of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Margaret E. Reeves. Mrs. Ollie Magee, of Lafayette, mother of the bride, was present at the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Reeves will make their home with the bridegroom's mother.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

PORTLAND, Ind., April 27.—Miss Mildred Reuter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Reuter, of east of this city, and Charles Howard Stevenson, of Pittsburg, were married yesterday at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. A. F. Linbeck, of the Congregational church, performed the ceremony. Miss Marian Dickson, of Pittsburg, was the bridesmaid and Horace Thomas, also of Pittsburg, was best man. Music for the reception after the wedding was provided by the Helmstetter Sisters' orchestra, of St. Marys, O. Immediately after the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson left by auto for Ft. Wayne and other places. They will be at home after June 1, at Coraopolis, Pa.

The bride is a graduate of the Ft. Recovery High School, Oberlin College and the Comstock School, of New York city. Many out-of-town guests attended the wedding.

CALL TO ZIONISTS.

Meeting in New York to Mobilize Resources for Homeland.

NEW YORK, April 27.—A call for an extraordinary convention in this city May 9 and 10, to mobilize resources for the actual work of preparing the Jewish homeland in Palestine was issued today by the Zionist Organization of America, following the action of the allied premiers at San Remo in granting recognition to the Jewish people.

The full quota of delegates to this convention is 1,700, on basis of one delegate for every 100 registered Zionists. Calling of the extraordinary convention will make necessary the postponement of the regular annual convention scheduled for Atlantic City May 30.

It was announced that the extraordinary convention, among other things, will give instructions to the American delegates who will participate in the international Zionist conference at Carlsbad, Czecho-Slovakia, July 4. Supreme Court Justice Brandeis will head this delegation, numbering thirty-nine.

SPEED MARKS CLOSE OF PRIMARY CAMPAIGN

CANDIDATES TRY TO SEE AS MANY VOTERS AS POSSIBLE.

GREAT INTEREST LACKING

Candidates realize that there are only a few days left in which to make votes and are scurrying about at top speed to see as many people as possible before May 4, the day of the primary. This is a peculiar campaign in some respects. As far as observers can judge, the people of Indiana have not become aroused particularly except in regard to lively interest in the outcome of the Republican presidential contest. Although Edward C. Toner, Warren T. McCray and J. W. Fesler have been working hard for a month in the effort to impress the voters in the choice of the Republican nominee for Governor, and all have had good audiences in most places, the great mass of voters do not seem to be much excited about the state situation. Each of these candidates is doing his best to create such a stir just before the primary that the voters will arouse from their lethargy.

Light Democratic Vote Likely.

On account of the absence of any real contests on the Democratic side, it is anticipated that there will be a light Democratic vote at the primary. The only ripple in the Democratic governorship contest was caused by the indorsement of J. Kirby Risk, of Lafayette, by William Jennings Bryan. Mr. Risk is running on a "dry" platform, and if the liquor question had become an issue in the primary campaign, he might have been more successful in attracting attention to his candidacy than has been the case. As the primary draws closer, it is felt that Dr. Carleton B. McCulloch, of Indianapolis, will win the Democratic nomination for Governor. Dr. McCulloch and his opponents, Mason J. Niblack, of Vincennes, and John Issenbarger, of North Manchester, have been conducting quiet campaigns in comparison with the Republicans.

Noblesville, Tipton and Kokomo were visited by Mr. McCray today, and Mr. Fesler is campaigning in Montgomery county. Mr. Toner is closing his second day of speechmaking at Evansville. Dr. McCulloch is devoting his energies in the central part of the state.

Shank Indorses McCray.

In an address on behalf of Mr. McCray's candidacy at the Shank storage house Monday night, Edgar Blessing said that Mr. McCray's record was clean and that he was a business man of high standing. Mr. Blessing said much "pernicious propaganda" has been circulated against Mr. McCray, but that Mr. McCray has not charged that either Mr. Toner or Mr. Fesler is personally responsible for the reports. In connection with his remarks on this subject, Mr. Blessing related that Mr. McCray had refused to vote for, Will Ade, his brother-in-law, when Mr. Ade was a candidate on the Progressive ticket. Announcement is made from the McCray headquarters that a McCray-for-Governor Club has been organized among Indianapolis railway employes. Addressing the meeting at the storage house, Lew Shank indorsed Mr. McCray, and also made his usual denunciation of Mayor Charles W. Jewett and his administration. Taylor Groninger, Henry Cochrane and others spoke at the Shank meeting which was under the management of Joseph Foppiano. Charles A. Bookwalter, who is supporting Mr. Fesler, and was advertised to speak at the meeting, did not speak. He had been called to Chicago, it was said.

Fesler Workers Optimistic.

The Fesler workers say that although there is some McCray talk in Marion county, Mr. Fesler will carry the county by a large vote, as his popularity is great in his home county. It is said at the Fesler headquarters that the lastest reports from Evansville, Terre Haute, Ft. Wayne, Lake county and other points show that Mr. Fesler is making gains. The Fesler managers express the greatest confidence that Mr. Fesler will prove to be the best vote getter. The Fesler claims on great gains in Lake county are disputed in a statement issued from the McCray headquarters, which says Mr. McCray will carry that county.

In spite of the fact that the real contest seems to be between Fesler and McCray, the Toner forces are busy and are also claiming extensive gains. Among the men who are quoted as having made statements recently favorable to Mr. Toner are C. F. Kingman, of Hammond; C. A. West, of Lafayette; Louis Strack, of New Albany; C. A. Kleinknecht, of New Albany; L. A. Browning, of Bedford; Homer Showalter, of Wabash; John Payne, of Connersville, and Morris Callahan and Harry Carmony, of Marion, all of whom say there are many friends of Mr. Toner in their communities.

Craig Has "Dry" Platform.

While the liquor issue does not seem to be generally at the front in the campaign, there is one congressional candidate, Dr. J. A. Craig, of Greenwood, candidate for the Democratic nomination for congressman from the Fourth district, who is running on a "dry" platform and has issued a statement to that effect.

A meeting of the Ninth Ward Democratic Club will be held tonight at Hamilton hall, Hamilton avenue and Washington street, where Henry N. Spaan, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the congress from the Seventh district, will be the principal speaker. Candidates are invited to attend a meeting of Wayne township Republicans tonight in Davidson hall, Flackville. Fesler workers will speak tonight at Republican meetings in Wayman's chapel, Seventeenth and Yandes streets, at Eleventh and Brook streets, 775 Indiana avenue and 1033 Keystone avenue.

The following members of the 139th Field Artillery Association have indorsed the candidacy of Robert L. Moorhead, formerly a colonel in the army, for the Republican nomination for state senator; Herman Hess, P. L. Nicholson, W. H. Landreth and Charles H. Ogle. They say:

"The qualifications which made him a good officer are the same which will make him a very worthy representative in the state senate. We are all 'for him,' of course."

Merrill Moores Active.

Merrill Moores, present congressman, and candidate for the Republican nomination for congressman from the Seventh district, is filling many speaking engagements. He made an address at noon before the Rotary Club and will speak tonight at a meeting of colored voters at the Ebenezer church. He will speak to the employes of the Link Belt Company Wednesday at noon. William R. Higgins, Mr. Moores's manager, says the campaign is progressing satisfactorily and that Mr. Moores is constantly gaining support. Luke W. Duffey, Mr. Moores's opponent, left Monday night for Atlantic City, where he will address the national convention of the United States Chamber of Commerce on good roads. During his absence, Arthur R. Robinson is making speeches for him. Mr. Duffey has been making an active campaign and has obtained many pledges of support, his friends say.

BRYAN SPEAKS AT GARRETT

Says He Hopes People Will Defeat "Wet" Platform Candidates.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

GARRETT, Ind., April 27.—William Jennings Bryan, en route from Chicago to Ohio where he will fill several lecture dates, spoke from the rear end of a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train here yesterday afternoon, delivering one of his characteristic denunciations of liquor.

"I am interested in having dry candidates elected," he said. "Twenty-six million women will vote this fall and they will vote 'dry.' I hope that all will do all they can for prohibition and that the people will defeat all candidates who are running on a 'wet' platform."

FOR NEW CONSTITUTION.

Toner Urges Convention—Address at Evansville on District Tour.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 27.—After speaking at Evans hall here tonight, Edward C. Toner, of Anderson, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of Indiana, will spend Wednesday in Morgan county and Thursday and Friday in Ft. Wayne and the Twelfth district, in the interest of his candidacy.

Mr. Toner made an address at the Louisville & Nashville railroad shops at Howell Monday, in which he said that he had no machine back of him.

"I am undertaking to show the state what a two-fisted man can do when relying on his own resources," said the candidate, "I am undertaking, also, to prove that the Republican party is not machine-controlled, and furthermore, that the honors of the Republican party can not be bought.

"The big question is whether a man in moderate circumstances or a poor man has a right to aspire to a high place. We are going to know more about this after the primary a week from Tuesday."

At Howell, Mr. Toner advocated help to tenants to own their own farms and homes, better working conditions, school support, and a new Constitution for Indiana.

The program for the afternoon session included a pageant by the members of the society of the Franklin Presbyterian church. The officers of the presbytery are Mrs. Albert Brown, Indianapolis, president; Miss Lucy Mayo, Indianapolis, recording secretary; foreign, Mrs. H. C. Robinson, Martinsville; treasurer, foreign, Mrs. Howard Stout, Indianapolis, and home, Mrs. H. G. Coughlin, Indianapolis.

CLUB MEETING AT SEYMOUR

Women of Fourth District in Annual Convention.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

SEYMOUR, Ind., April 27.—The annual meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs of the Fourth Indiana congressional district was held here today. Practically all of the twenty-eight federated clubs in the district were represented.

Miss Pearl Clark, president of the Tuesday Club, welcomed the visitors, and the response was made by Mrs. J. W. Riddle, of Lawrenceburg. Mrs. J. F. Goddard, of Greensburg, district chairman, presided. Mrs. O. M. Pittenger, of Indianapolis, second vice-president of the state federation, spoke on "Federation Extension" at the morning session.

Mrs. E. C. Rumpler, of Indianapolis, state president, spoke on "Indiana Federation of Clubs" at the afternoon session. "Thrift" was the subject of Mrs. Julia C. Henderson, of Indianapolis. Mrs. Felix T. McWhirter, of Indianapolis, discussed "Women in Political Parties." The election of officers was to be held at the closing session.

TO DISCUSS NOLAN BILL.

Real Estate Board Probably Will Oppose the Measure.

The Indianapolis Real Estate Board will discuss and take some definite action in regard to the Nolan bill, now pending in the congress, which would place a tax of 1 per cent. on all real estate valuations in excess of $10,000. The weekly meeting will be held at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday.

Resolutions condemning the bill were adopted at a meeting of the board of directors Monday, and the legislative committee also has recommended that it be opposed. The directors in their resolutions pointed out that it would put an additional burden on real estate which, in Indiana, the board said, bears about 75 per cent. of the entire burden.

John G. Brown, of Monon, president of the Indiana Federation of Farmers' Associations, said that a referendum vote of the county associations expressed, by an overwhelming vote, disapproval of the Nolan bill.

HAVERSTICK ROAD BONDS.

Tax Board Approves $116,000 Issue—Knox County Petition Approved.

A $116,000 bond issue for the Haverstick road, Washington township, Marion county, has been approved by the state board of tax commissioners. The road extends from Central avenue, through Broad Ripple, to a point near Nora.

The board authorized Knox county to issue $150,000 in bonds to enlarge the Knox County Good Samaritan Hospital.

This is Taffeta Frock Weather

These days of midspring tempt us to taffeta frock if we would be comfortable as well as unusually smart appearing. Taffeta for luncheon, for street, for business wear, is developed in dark-toned frocks; taffeta for the party is most likely of Madame la Pompadour printing.

Interesting Prices are These—

when tagged to navy blue taffeta frocks of a lovely lustrous quality and short-skirted, short-sleeved, round-necked modes.

Pompadour Taffeta Frocks

At $63.50 the values of Pompadour taffeta frocks in Copenhagen blue and rose grounds are very high, and the dresses themselves are not beggars for admiration and suitors. These, as might be expected, are done in skirt after the pannier fashion, modified, and in bodice of the rather fitted, old-fashioned effect. They are suggested as being suitable, too, for the bride's attendants to wear with picture hats copied from the period of which the frocks are taken.

Tricolettes From $49.50 Up

In navy blue and brown, tricolette frocks are coming more into their own as the season advances. Very gracefully and simply styled most of them, without much to do in the way of trimming. For smartness, however, they are not rivaled.

ORGANDY FROCKS for "Lambkins"

Of 2 to 6 Years

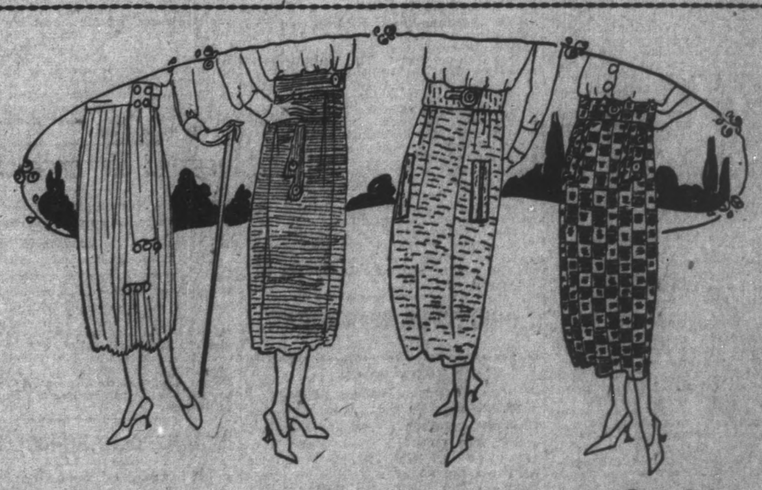

In evidence that your daughter of 2 to 6 years has not been forgotten in this purchase of dainty, adorable frocks of organdy, two were sketched—two of the cunningest, yet most inexpensive models.

The one at the right—the balloon has lost its charm for her—is of pink organdy, ruffled and ruffled and ruffled, and then embroidered in gay, contrasting yarn posies.

PENSION FIGURES SHOW MONEY COST OF WARS

BIG APPROPRIATIONS DO NOT INCLUDE LAST CONFLICT.

PROBLEM FOR THE FUTURE

33 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Agreement on the regular pension appropriation bill by the house of representatives has served to call attention to the permanent money cost of wars. This bill makes provision for the payment of pensions chargeable to the Mexican war, the civil war and the Spanish-American war. It carries appropriations amounting to $214,020,000. Legislation broadening the scope of the existing pension law, which law already has passed the house, will, if concurred in by the senate and approved by the President, increase the above sum $77,500,000, making a total of $291,520,000 chargeable to the wars prior to the recent world war.

The congress as yet has not been able to gain any very definite idea as to what the world war will cost in the way of benefits and pensions as the years go on. Just now it is concerned with the appropriations that must be made for the next fiscal year.

Estimates for Next Year.

The bureau of war risk insurance estimates the amount necessary to pay compensation for death and disability for the fiscal year beginning July 1 at $198,000,000; the federal board for vocational education estimates its expenditures for the next fiscal year at $125,000,000, and the public health service estimates that it will be called on to expend upward of $100,000,000. Those estimates aggregate $428,000,000 as the amount that will be required to discharge the obligations of the government to the survivors of the war with Germany during the next year.

These estimates, with which the appropriations committee is now dealing, does not take into account bonus legislation. If bonus legislation of the kind that has been proposed is enacted, it will call for an expenditure of upward of $2,000,000,000. That legislation, if enacted, will, of course be regarded as special. It will call for one payment only and money will have to be raised through special taxation of some sort.

Cannon Points to Future.

Joseph G. Cannon, the veteran member of the house from Illinois, in presenting the regular pension bill to the house, reminded the legislators that the government must not fail to give proper attention to the financial demand that will be made on it for years and years to come as a result of the world war. He reminded his fellow-congressmen that in the year 1918, according to the surgeon general of the army, there were 2,422,362 admissions to the hospitals for disease, 182,789 admissions for ordinary injuries and 227,855 admissions for battle injuries. Here, he pointed out, were nearly 3,000,000 admissions to the army hospitals in the year 1918, and while there were no doubt duplications of some men admitted to the hospitals more than once, no one could estimate accurately how many of these men with hospital records may be found totally or partly disabled and the cause traced to their war service.

He pointed out that the congress already had enacted a law and created machinery to meet any developments and the thing he would impress on the legislators was that they would have to be prepared as the years come on to appropriate necessary money to meet the estimates when they come from the various bureaus of the government in charge of machinery to care for the survivors of the war.

$1,000,000,000 a Year.

The venerable representative expressed the opinion that within ten years the congress would have to appropriate $1,000,000,000 a year to discharge its financial obligations to the survivors of all our wars.

"It is a living obligation," said Mr. Cannon, "but one that the government has already accepted. I call attention to the situation so that no one in the country need deceive himself as to the obligations we will have to meet in the future."

TWO GIRLS MISSING.

Relatives Ask Search for Mary Fender, 13, and Gertrude Lane, 16.

Charles Fender, 449½ West South street, has asked police and detectives to assist him in the search for his sister, Mary Fender, age thirteen, who disappeared from home Monday. He said the girl told her mother she was going to visit a family living in the 400 block in South Missouri street, but an investigation showed she did not go there.

When last seen the girl was wearing a red middy blouse, a plaid skirt, a brown coat and tan shoes.

Relatives have asked the police to search for Gertrude Lane, age sixteen, who is missing from her home at 29 South Oriental street. The girl was wearing a blue serge suit, a brown scarf, a broad-rimmed black hat and black slippers when she left.

Mrs. Earl York, 1736 Minnesota street, reported to the police that her husband, Earl York, age twenty-one, disappeared from home Saturday and has not been seen or heard from. He was wearing a green suit, a green cap, a light shirt with blue stripes and low tan shoes when he left.

Thomas Hart, age forty-eight, is missing from his home at 942 Arbor avenue, and relatives have asked the police to search for him. When he left he was wearing a brown overcoat, light trousers, a blue shirt and army shoes.

The police also have been asked to search for Elwyn T. Jones, who is missing from his home at 1724 Prospect street. When last seen he was wearing an army shirt, a brown cap, a dark suit, tan shoes and a dark overcoat.

Mrs. John Ryder, 230 North Senate avenue, reported to the police that her son, Clyde Ryder, age sixteen, left home a few days ago on his bicycle and left word he was going to Texas. She said he was wearing a Boy Scout suit and tan shoes when he left.

Richard McCreary, age three, son of R. E. McCreary, 3429 Ashland avenue, left his home this morning riding a tricycle. When he failed to return his mother became alarmed and called the police. The tricycle was found at Thirty-eighth street and Graceland avenue, but the boy could not be found.

DEFENSE OPENS CASE.

Prosecution Rests in Trial of Mrs. Sarah Tabor.

PAW PAW, Mich., April 27.—The prosecution rested its case in the trial of Mrs. Sarah Tabor, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of her daughter, Maude Tabor Virgo, late yesterday. Joseph Virgo, husband of the dead woman, failed to appear to testify.

Clyde Ketcham, counsel for the defense, at once began his opening statement. In addressing the jury he indicated that the defense would stress the testimony of expert witnesses in an effort to disprove allegations of an illegal operation.

Testimony of five county officials, including Prosecuting Attorney Adams, taken for the prosecution, was confined largely to a review of evidence previously introduced.

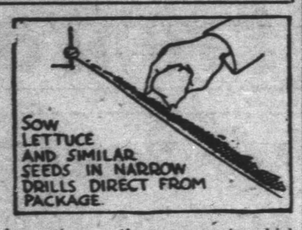

Goshen Company Mustered Out.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

GOSHEN, Ind., April 27.—Company F, Indiana state militia, organized here as a wartime move, was mustered out last night by Major Pease. Property of the company was sold at auction. Efforts to organize a national guard company here have extended over several months.

THE A B C OF SEED SOWING

[National Garden Bureau]

Do not sow too thickly. It wastes seeds and kills plants when transplanting time comes.

Sift the soil for the fine seeds finely.

Cover a seed four times its diameter. If very fine, merely sprinkle on the surface and press into the soil.

Water the soil before planting and settle it.

Have holes drilled in the bottom of the seed box, cover with pebbles, broken flower pots or crockery so that they can not clog.

Do not keep too wet.

Do not allow to become dry.

Water gently in order to avoid washing the seeds together.

A thick cloth over the surface of the soil until germination starts or a pane of glass will help. Water through the cloth and avoid washing.

Keep temperature as even as possible. An ordinary living room offers less extremes than a room in which fires are allowed to go out at night.

Avoid overwatering when plants first break through the soil.

Do not put manure in soil for seeds.

Do not allow seedings to remain too long before transplanting. They become weak and spindly when too crowded.

Sow the seed in rows in the boxes, leaving room to handle the seedings when it is time to transplant.

and Mulford L. Ballard, of East Orange, are the avowed Johnson candidates for the "big four." Sylvester L. Carrothers and Isaac N. Nutter, both negroes, are running as unpledged candidates for the "big four," having entered the contest, they said because the organization refused to give their race a representative on the ticket.

BAY STATE DELEGATE PRIMARY.

"Big Four" and District Convention Representatives For Each Party.

BOSTON, April 27.—Massachussets voters balloted today to elect four delegates-at-large to the Republican and Democratic national conventions and thirty-one Republican and thirty-two Democratic district delegates. None of the candidates for delegate-at-large appeared on the ballot as pledged for any particular presidential candidate.

Several contests were waged in both parties for district delegates. On the Democratic side these had no direct bearing on presidential candidates. Among the Republican candidates, several who have declared themselves in favor of Leonard Wood are opposed by men seeking to go to Chicago unpledged. Indications point to a light vote.

The understanding seems to be that the support of the great majority of the state delegation will go to Governor Coolidge for a complimentary vote and will then swing to Wood.

Principal interest centered in the contest for Republican delegates-at-large. Nine candidates, including four who are grouped, contested for the places. The group candidates, who under the law were voted for separately, are Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Frederick H. Gillett, Speaker of the national house of representatives; former Senator W. Murray Crane, and Edward A. Thurston, former chairman of the Republican state committee. Senator Lodge has announced that he will present the name of Governor Calvin Coolidge to the convention if the Governor desires it.

The other Republican candidates for delegates-at-large, are former Governor Samuel W. McCall, who has declared himself in favor of the nomination of Herbert Hoover; former Lieutenant-Governor Louis Frothingham, who has announced that he will vote for General Wood with Hoover as second choice; Congressman Alvan T. Fuller, who has publicly pledged himself to vote for Wood; Thomas W. Lawson and Russel A. Wood.

Only five Democrats presented to the voters. The "regular" state slate is composed of Senator David I. Walsh, Richard H. Long, twice Democratic nominee for Governor; District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier and Daniel F. Doherty, Former Congressman Joseph F. O'Connell, the fifth candidate, made his campaign on his declaration in favor of an anti-prohibition plank in the platform to be adopted at San Francisco.

Carver, Plymouth county, was the first town to report. The Republican count was Lodge, 17; Gillett, 9; Crane, 14; Thurston, 11; Frothingham, 11; Fuller, 12; Lawson, 11; McCall, 16; Wood, 6. All five candidates for the Democratic big four received one vote each.

Returns from Mashpee gave Lodge 11; Gillett, 8; Crane, 9; Thurston, 6; Frothingham, 12; Fuller, 8; Lawson, 4; McCall, 6; Wood, 4.

MAY TEST LEVER ACT.

Operators to Seek Injunction Against Removal to Indiana, Report.

Bituminous coal operators of Illinois may attempt to test the constitutionality of the Lever act through injunction proceedings to prevent their removal to this state for trial on the charge of conspiracy to violate the act, according to L. Ert Slack, special assistant to the United States district attorney.

Mr. Slack returned today from Chicago, where he presented the prima facie case against the operators in an action brought before a United States commissioner preparatory to obtaining an order of removal to the jurisdiction of the federal court in the Indiana district. The commissioner allowed a continuance to May 12 to permit the operators to prepare further for their defense.

Mr. Slack says the operators are determined to fight the conspiracy charge recently brought against 125 operators and miners by every available means. Their apparent purpose now, he says, is to petition for an injunction against the federal officials of this district to stop the action to have the defendants from Illinois removed to this jurisdiction.

The officials plan to bring removal proceedings in Cleveland and Pittsburg to obtain the appearance here of the Ohio and Pennsylvania defendants.

OHIO RIVER NEAR CREST.

Expected to Recede Soon—Wabash Is Rising Slowly.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 27.—The Ohio river, after rising for the last week, was virtually on a stand here today at 40.7 feet, which is a rise of three-tenths of a foot since yesterday. The river will start falling Wednesday night or Thursday, it is believed. The Wabash river continues rising and is now at 23.3 feet at Mt. Carmel, Ill., a rise of nine-tenths of an inch since yesterday. Green river is expected to continue rising for another day or two.

Al Brand, local United States weather observer, predicted frost for tonight in Evansville and the Ohio valley regions.

QUEEN MISS CAUSES SUIT.

$7,500 Sow Did Not Live Up to Expectations, Owners Declare in Court.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 27.—Queen Miss, 12376, a Poland China sow which broke price records here last January when she sold for $7,500, is the central figure in a lawsuit which was brought today in the superior court. C. W. Shoemaker and Charles Daugherty are suing Wallace & Baugh for the money they paid for the sow, alleging that they bought the animal as a breed sow and that she did not live up to expectations.

Evansville Man Dies of Injuries.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 27.—Frank Hermann, age forty-seven, who fell from a ladder in his stable here last Friday while feeding pigeons, is dead of his injuries. He is survived by a widow and three daughters.

EIGHT FARMERS ON JURY IN RAY MURDER CASE

the Christian Science church. Hale said he was opposed to the death penalty under any circumstances. Charles Bane, of Decatur township, was challenged for the same cause.

Mother a Witness.

Mrs. Hugh Smock, 420 Bank avenue, mother of the Huff girl, and Nora Smock, eleven, a stepsister of the girl, were to be among the first witnesses for the prosecution. The Smock girl was with her stepsister when she was lured away from her home by the negro. Other witnesses who saw the negro and the Huff girl in the vicinity of Eagle creek, past the end of West Washington street, were to testify, and police officers and detectives, to whom Ray made a confession of his guilt, were to take the witness stand. It was expected the trial would be completed late in the afternoon.

Crowds thronged the lower floors of the Courthouse during the day, but no persons were admitted to the courtroom, except the members of the jury panel, numbering 150, witnesses and other persons who had a direct interest in the case. Squads of police and detectives were stationed in the building and in the courtroom.

Refuses to Plead.

When Ray was arraigned he stood mute, refusing to enter a plea. Judge Collins ordered a formal plea of not guilty entered for him.

Mr. Symmes filed a motion to quash the indictment. This was overruled.

Two physicians, Drs. S. M. Tilson and Earl B. Rinker, who were appointed Monday by Judge Collins to examine Ray as to his mental condition, reported to the court. They said that Ray is of sound mind with sufficient mentality to understand the charge against him, and that he has a definite conception of right and wrong.

"BUCK PASSING MUST STOP"

More Balance and Stability Plea of Prominent Attorney.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

WEST BADEN, Ind., April 27.—"Until the end has been made of the national game of buck passing, there can be no end to the present industrial unrest in the United States." A Parker Nevin, of the New York bar, formerly general counsel of the National Association of Manufacturers and a member of the commission on foreign research, said here today.

"The transition from a war to a peace basis has caused a lack of balance and stability in economic forces," said Mr. Nevin. "Everybody is protesting against high costs, profiteering and other abnormal phenomena, but uniform constructive solutions are lacking. The overall movement is significant, for it reflects action by the people in curbing their personal expenditures and thus reaching profiteering whether by employer or employe.

"Labor is not a separate group. A constantly increasing wage carries no benefit if the buying power of the dollar is correspondingly lessened and the cost of normal necessities keeps ascending. What is needed especially is the closer and more analytical study of the wage scales to determine the chief cause of the difference between wage income and outgo."

HELD IN BANK THEFT CASE

Four Men Arrested at Elkton, Md., After Being Trailed in Auto.

ELKTON, Md., April 27.—Four men were arrested here today in connection with the Sandy Spring's bank robbery and murder yesterday when an officer of the bank was killed and a large sum of money taken.

The men, traveling in an automobile, were trailed to this place by a man who said he was State's Attorney Dawson, of Montgomery county.

The men gave their names as Charles Rothl, Newport News, Va.; Herbert Parks, Washington, D. C.; C. M. Master, Washington, D. C., and T. V. Henkel, New York city. According to Dawson, the Sandy Spring job was engineered by two Philadelphia gunmen who have committed similar crimes in that city.

MEETING AT GREENCASTLE

Historical Association to Be in Session Friday and Saturday.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

GREENCASTLE, Ind., April 27.—The thirteenth annual meeting of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association will be held here Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The history section of the Indiana State Teachers' Association will meet with the Historical Association Saturday. Many prominent Hoosiers are expected to attend the sessions, most of which are to be held in DePauw University buildings.

INDIANAPOLIS SCHOOL NOTES

ARSENAL TECHNICAL.

Wednesday will be observed in the school as Armenian relief day. Contribution boxes will be placed in the roll rooms.

A hike will be conducted next Saturday under the auspices of the Camp Fire Girls. Girls of the school and faculty members are invited.

The women employed in the school cafeteria will give a play entitled "How the Story Grew," Tuesday, May 4, at 3:30. The proceeds will go to the Armenian relief fund.

An Indian program was held Tuesday in Room 65 under the direction of the girls' council of the Technical Friendship club. Mrs. C. E. Titus sang a selection of Indian songs.

Pupils who served on the costume committee for the June senior play include Margaret Strassler, chairman; Lulu Harbison, Margaret McPhetridge and Mary McMeaus.

SHORTRIDGE.

The next hike on the schedule of the Physiography Club will be to Garfield park.

June 11 is the date set for the Alumni Association reunion. Ed Nell, Jr., and Mrs. Helen Warrum Chappell will provide the musical program.

A movement is under way to establish the custom of having an annual concert similar to the one held last week at the school. The purpose would be to have the parents of students attend and visit the school.

Many more names are on the All A plus honor roll for the present month than on the record just preceding this. The honor roll of perfect standard is as follows: Seniors, Gordon Griffith, Douglas Cook, Dorothy Rudy, Helen Nicholson, Edward McGavran, Mary Stokes and Vernie Warne; juniors, Ellen Coulsen, Dorothy McCullough; sophomores, Dorothy Overman, Brooks Blossom; freshmen, Frances Westcott, Dorothy Crosby, Lucy Ashjian, Lowell Weir, Halen Shaneberger, Elizabeth Garrison.

KIT OF COUNTERFEITERS FOUND IN AN OLD HOUSE

RECALLS DAYS OF 1877

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

GREENFIELD, Ind., April 27.—Interest in the arrest of counterfeiters here more than forty years ago, and their subsequent sentence to prison, after they had flooded Indiana and other states with some of the best half-dollars ever made was revived recently by the finding of molds and other equipment used by the counterfeiters, in an old house they occupied in 1877.

Alfred Teal and his son William lived in this house during the seventies. They were expert jewelers and owned a shop here. Alfred Teal also owned a plant for the manufacture of school desks and, with George Puterbaugh did an extensive business. They laid out Teal's addition to Greenfield, and always took a part in local affairs. The son had charge of the jewelry store.

Citizens Raided House.

Counterfeit half-dollars and nickels appeared in places visited by the men and suspicion was attracted to them, but it was many months before they were trapped. At that time Indiana was the scene of operations for another gang of counterfeiters, and the Teals plied the trade while federal agents were running down the other crowd.

Suspicion that the Teals were making spurious coin at their home was caused by unusual activity night after night in an upstairs room. One night men hid in a school building, across the street from the Teal home. Their observation convinced them that the Teals were making counterfeit money, but they obtained no conclusive evidence. Later Joseph Baldwin, at that time a business man here, saw a tree in a yard adjoining the Teal home and saw the men at their work. This resulted in a raid, the arrest of the men and the confiscation of molds, counterfeit coins, batteries, and other equipment. Alfred Teal died in prison, but his son served his term.

Molds and Coin Found.

William Bundy recently bought the property formerly occupied by the Teals, and is remodeling the house. William Dangler, a carpenter, in removing a partition, found a half-dollar. It was one made by the counterfeiters. Saturday, in removing another partition, Dangler found three sets of molds. They were attached to wires and had been lowered from the second floor between the plastering. Mr. Bundy will turn the equipment over to government agents.

CONVERTING PIONEER HOME

Sisters of Notre Dame Take Over Famous Baille Property.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

VALPARAISO, Ind., April 27.—The Baille homestead, which is near Chesterton and which was the first white settlement in Porter county and where the first child was born, is being transformed into a home for aged Catholic sisters of the Sisters of Notre Dame, of Milwaukee, Wis. All of the old buildings will be retained, including an old log chapel, and a new building will be erected for a summer school. Bishop Alerding, of the Ft. Wayne diocese, will soon elect a permanent chaplain for the institution, and Commissary Mother Koska, of Milwaukee, will select a sister superior.

The Baille homestead near Chesterton and the sand dunes, is the most historical spot in this part of the state. Joseph Baille, its founder, conducted a trading post there and a stopping place for early traders and explorers. He built his own Catholic church and the vaulted cemetery, still in fine state of preservation. Some Indians, converted by Mr. Baille are buried in crypts in the stone wall built in the hillsides. Miss Frances Howe, grand daughter of Baille, kept the home until her death, after which it was sold to settle the estate.

URGES CONTROL OF UNREST

Industrial Expert Tells Rotarians to Democratize Industry.

Unrest in American industry can not be and should not be overcome, but it may be controlled, D. D. Fennell, director of industrial relations of the National Association of Upholstered Furniture Manufacturers, said in an address on industrial conditions before the Indianapolis Rotary Club at the Claypool hotel Tuesday.

Industry, he said, must be democratized, and he advised the employers as the first step to move their mahogany desks, figuratively speaking, down from the private offices into the factories.

Labor leaders formerly were men of the highest ideals who sought only the good of the men, said Mr. Fennell. The trouble today is that the organizations are in the control of politicians who merely scheme for the perpetuation of every available office and their own jobs.

DIRECTORY MEN TO MEET.

Publishers Will Hold Annual Session in City June 4 to 6.

The annual convention of the Association of North American Directory Publishers will be held in Indianapolis June 4 to 6. The association members form a department of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, and its members will remain in Indianapolis for the convention of the Advertising Clubs June 6 to 11.

H. G. Farnham, of New Haven, Conn., is president of the association. R. L. Polk, of Detroit, of R. L. Polk & Co., is a trustee. R. H. Donnell, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs, is a director, and will attend the local sessions. About 100 directory publishers will attend, coming from all parts of this country and from Canada.

INDUSTRIAL AND FINANCIAL

BEDFORD—Flynn & Sharp, timber dealers, have bought the Red Cross farm, part of the estate of Dr. Joseph Gardner, for $25,000.

ANDERSON—The McCulloch Hotel Company has arranged to let a contract, probably Thursday, for a seven-story hotel here. Representatives of the company were at Indianapolis Tuesday on business concerning financing the project. Eshelman & Sons, of Anderson, submitted a bid on the building Monday, but the figure was withheld.

SHELBYVILLE—A complaint for a receiver, filed by Allen M. Grecian and other stockholders of the Pan-American Lumber and Investment Company, against the company, was dismissed Monday in the Shelby circuit court by the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs had charged that the company was insolvent and that there was no money on hand with which to pay a dividend of 16 per cent. that had been declared.

MUNCIE—The Muncie Products Company, a subsidiary of the General Motors Company, which is now erecting forty acres of factory buildings here to house its Indiana automobile and automobile parts plant, will celebrate with a formal opening Friday night the completion of two new factory buildings. They are the office and chassis parts structures. Machinery will be placed in the buildings next week. A reception, motion picture show, band concert, a dinner and a dance will constitute the entertainment. The new chassis parts building is said to be the largest of its kind the General Motors Company has erected in any of its factory units. The building will be used for the assembling of automobiles. The office building will house, besides the offices, the efficiency, other allied departments and the factory hospital. The second floor will contain a cafeteria, dining rooms and rest rooms and will be in the charge of the welfare department.

WASHHOUSE CASE NEAR END

Miners Return to Work, But Demand Investigation at Convention.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 27.—Three hundred miners employed at the Speedwell mine refused to work during the month of April, until Monday because of a dispute over the condition of the washhouse furnished the men by the company.

When the district convention is reconvened this week, it will be asked to investigate the alleged action of the state mine inspector in first upholding the contention of the men that the washhouse is unsanitary, and later reversing his decision.

The washhouse in question was constructed when the one formerly in use was taken over as a machine shop by the company. The men demanded that certain alterations be made, and the company says they were made. The mine committee, however, refused to approve the house, the company declined to make further alterations, and as a result the men have been idle since April 2. They returned to work Monday after the mine inspector had declared the house to be all right. The men immediately brought the matter before the convention in executive session.

OFFER PROFITS TAX BILL.

Representatives Rainey and Johnson Present Bonus Plan.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Bills proposing a retroactive war profits tax of 80 per cent. for raising money for soldier relief were introduced in the house today by Representatives Rainey, of Illinois, and Johnson, of South Dakota.

The fight for adoption of this proposal instead of a sales tax as favored by the Republican majority of the ways and means committee will be supported solidly by the Democrats and "insurgent" Republicans, Rainey and Johnson said.

On the floor of the house, Johnson, replying to a question of Representative Garner (Dem., Tex.) predicted that seventy-five Republicans would support the war profits tax plan.

ence and ideas have gone far toward ameliorating these conditions of Mexican labor?" the witness was asked.

"I don't think the influence of Americans has gone far in the south," Mr. Lind replied. "I think more has been done by Mexican workmen who have lived in the United States."

50,000 REVOLTING SOLDIERS.

Large Forces Opposed to Carranza Government in Mexico.

AGUA PRIETA, Sonora, Mexico, April 27.—More than 50,000 soldiers in Mexico now are in revolt against the Carranza government, it was announced at military headquarters here today. Nearly half this number, it was said, have joined the revolutionary forces in Sonora.

Mexico has been divided into four military zones, the first of which includes Sonora, Sinaloa and Nayarit, according to General P. Elias Calles, commander of the army of the northwest. Commanders for the central zone, gulf coast and southern zone have not been named, it was said, nor the boundaries definitely fixed.

The first decisive engagement of the revolution is expected at Mazatlan, Sinaloa, a west coast port, the possession of which will give the rebels the key to practically the west coast of Mexico, it was said. Another rebel force working farther south was expected soon to start an attack on the port of Manzanillo.

General Angel Flores continues to move slowly toward Mazatlan, repairing railway bridges and other property destroyed by retreating Carranza troops.

recognized Chicago express and freight handlers' union.

Timothy Shea, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, continued today the presentation of the firemen's demands, calling attention to the particular hardships of their work. He asked the board to grant relief to the men on duty on the larger engines either by requiring the installation of automatic firing machines or the placing of an additional fireman on duty. Firemen at present, he said, are compelled to perform labor much greater than the capacity of an ordinary man.

ULTIMATUM TO STRIKERS.

Michigan Railroads Set Time Limit for Their Return.

DETROIT, April 27. — Striking switchmen and yardmen on all Michigan railroads affected by the "outlaw" strike will lose their seniority rights unless they return to work before 6 p. m. today, according to notices posted by the roads.

The ultimatum was not expected to bring any marked break in the ranks of the strikers, who appeared today determined to hold out.

F. T. Hawley, conciliator of the department of labor, will make another attempt to appeal to the men today, it was said. A hearing was refused him Saturday.

TURN TO OTHER JOBS.

Cleveland Strikers Attend Meetings in Diminishing Numbers.

CLEVELAND, April 27.—The ranks of striking switchmen showed a rapid disintegration today. The men are going into other lines of work, strike leaders said. Where 600 to 800 men formerly attended meetings only 100 to 200 now attend and these talk of taking other jobs. Railroad officials today reported only a few of the strikers returning and freight movement at about 50 per cent. of normal.

PASSENGER TRAFFIC NORMAL

Erie Road Also Announces Freight Service Improvement.

NEW YORK, April 27.—For the first time since the railroad strike began the Erie railroad today announced that its passenger service was 100 per cent. normal. Freight movements also were reported improved, with through freight 60 per cent. normal.

Other railroads terminating on the New Jersey shore of the Hudson also issued optimistic reports. Many strikers had returned to Jersey yards, officials said.

$64,168 FOR EQUIPMENT.

Board Opens Bids for Hospital Power House Material.

Bids for the equipment to be used in the erection of a power plant at the County Tuberculosis Hospital were opened today by the board of county commissioners. The board had expected to have the power house built at a cost of about $100,000, but the equipment bids revealed that the cost of the equipment alone will be more than $64,000. Callon Bros. submitted the low bid of six bids received, $64,168. Other bids were: Freyn Bros., $65,733 W. H. Johnson & Sons, $66,543; Strong Bros., $67,275; Cotton-Weibke Company, $69,841, and Kruse & Dewenter Company, $73,674. Bids also were received for a smokestack and electrical equipment at the hospital.

UNDERWOOD SUCCEEDS TO SENATE LEADERSHIP

UNOPPOSED AT CONFERENCE OF DEMOCRATS.

RECORD ONE OF SUCCESS

33 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Senator Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, was elected minority leader of the senate at a conference of senate Democrats today. His selection means that for the first time in the history of the Wilson administration the Democratic party forces in the senate are to be directed by a man who is and has been a successful leader of broad vision and of conservative policies.

Two interesting features of Underwood's selection stand out, in addition to the fact of general recognition of his qualities for leadership. One is that the Democratic minorities in both houses are now controlled by former opponents of President Wilson for the Democratic nomination for President, and the other is that although Underwood is an out and out "wet," he was elected because Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, withdrew in the face of defeat following defection of his "dry" supporters because of his stand favoring light wines and beer.

Underwood Changes Front.

The fact that Underwood has been an opponent of the President for the presidential nomination does not mean, however, that there are to be radical differences of opinion between the two in regard to Democratic policies. Underwood, in fact, has come from a position of opposition to the treaty of peace to a position of absolute support of the President's position and there is no question but that Underwood will continue to work with Senator Hitchcock to have the treaty desires of the President carried out. While Underwood is a strong conservative, he seldom has permitted this mythical connection to interfere with his work for the best interest of his party.

When the Democratic administration came into control in 1913 it found Senator Martin, of Virginia, as Democratic leader of the senate and Underwood as leader of the house. While Underwood was still in the house some of the most constructive legislation of which the Democratic party can boast was enacted into law, principally through Underwood's efforts.

Succeeded by Kitchin.

When Underwood came to the senate he was succeeded by Representative Claude Kitchin, whose proclivities toward the provincialism of his home town, Scotland Neck, N. C., caused him to attain to the unenviable position of a liability to his party because of his unreasonable and unfair attitude on many questions. Kitchin remained leader in the house but Martin was succeeded by Senator Kern, of Indiana, in the senate.

Although Senator Kern was liked, and well liked, by every man in the senate, he was never regarded as a great leader and the Democrats, therefore, went through a period of mediocre leadership at a time when they needed big men most. On Kern's death Martin again succeeded to the leadership, and when Martin died, Senator Hitchcock became active leader.

But neither Martin nor Hitchcock was in the class with Underwood as a leader, and the belief is here that much of the unpopularity of the Democratic congress was due to the inefficient leadership of this period.

Now that Underwood has again become a leader the belief here is that he will do much to rehabilitate his party if he has his way, although there always will be some question whether Underwood will have his way, for he is a strong conservative and many of the tendencies of his colleagues and of the administration are toward radicalism.

bought the present Cuban sugar crop as refiners have paid as high as 19¾ cents a pound for raw Cuban sugar. He praised the beet sugar growers in this country, declaring that 53 per cent. of the beet crop had been sold at 10½ cents a pound.

Senator Smoot advised senators to report cases of alleged profiteering to the attorney-general.

Would Curb Speculation.

Blaming speculation for the high prices of sugar, Representative Howard (Dem., Okla.), announced that he would introduce a bill in the next few days designed to curb all speculation. He conferred with Mr. Figg and said he hoped to get the department of justice to support his measures.

SCULPTOR OFFERS WORKS

Valuable Barnard Sculptures May go Permanently to Madison Society.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

MADISON, Ind., April 27.—George Grey Barnard, the sculptor, has offered a collection of his works to the Jefferson County Historical Society for permanent exhibition in the Lanier museum here, provided the expense of having the exhibit shipped from New York is borne by the city.

Mr. Barnard was born and reared in Madison, but has attained fame as a sculptor both in this country and abroad.

WILL COME FROM CHINA.

A. R. Hager to Attend the Advertising Club Convention.

A. R. Hager, president of the Advertising Club of China, will come to Indianapolis from his home in Shanghai, China, to attend the sessions of the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, here June 6 to 10. Mr. Hager, in a letter to the Indianapolis hotel committee, asks that hotel reservations be made for himself and wife.

While several delegates are expected from England, none will come from France, according to present indications. Etienne Damour, general secretary of the Advertising Club of Paris, in a letter received in Indianapolis says "it is absolutely impossible for us to attend Indianapolis convention; business situation here is really too bad."

NEWS OF THE COLLEGES

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 27.—A committee consisting of Benjamin Bosse, mayor of Evansville, and Dean Torbit, representing the faculty of Evansville College, and Dr. A. E. Craig, chairman of the college trustees' committee on curriculum and faculty, was appointed at a meeting of the trustees of Evansville College, Monday, to visit the University of Cincinnati and investigate the co-operative plan on industrial engineering there. A similar course will open at the local college next fall. The Evansville Manufacturers' Association will be invited to send representatives along with the committee.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., April 27.—Prof. Aute Richards, head of the department of zoology in Wabash College, has resigned to accept a position as professor of zoology at the University of Oklahoma. He will leave at the close of the present school year to teach in the summer school at the university. Professor Richards came to Wabash in the fall of 1917. He is a graduate of the University of Kansas with the class of 1908, and the following year received his master's degree from the University of Wisconsin. Before coming to Wabash, he was with the University of Texas.

forenoon served to keep voters away from the polls. As was expected, the heaviest vote was being cast by Republicans, the contest between Senator Harding and Leonard Wood having aroused considerable interest among voters. A very light Democratic vote was reported, the absence of contests on the Democratic ballot serving to allay interest.

"Writing In" of Names.

Reports from Youngstown are said to indicate that many voters contemplated writing in the names of candidates whose names were not on the ballot. These reports did not indicate whose names voters contemplated "writing in."

Supporters of Leonard Wood have been saying for several days that an organized movement was under way to have the name of Hiram Johnson written in, the purpose being to aid Harding. Friendly feeling between the Harding forces and Johnson's managers was demonstrated early in the campaign when, after conferences, Johnson went on the ballots as second choice to Harding in certain districts. This was a privilege that was denied Leonard Wood except in the First and Second districts (Cincinnati) where it was evident that Wood was in reality the first choice of the voters. It has been apparent for some time that certain voting elements would be lost to Harding unless a "half victory" could be won for Harding by throwing them to Johnson via the "written in" ballot.

354 OF 1,500 PRECINCTS IN.

Johnson Retains Lead in Montana Primary Results.

HELENA, Mont., April 27.—Unofficial returns from the Montana presidential preference primary last Friday had been received by newspapers today from 354 of the 1,500 precincts in the state. The vote for the five Republican candidates for presidential nomination stood: Senator Hiram W. Johnson, 8,741; Leonard Wood, 2,669; Governor Frank O. Lowden, 1,991; Herbert Hoover, 1,877; Senator Warren G. Harding, 226.

Complete unofficial returns had been received from only one county—Silver Bow (Butte). State officials regarded it as probable that the results would not be definitely known until the official canvass, May 8.

Primary Election in Alaska.

JUNEAU, Alaska, April 27.—Principal interest in the primary elections held throughout Alaska today centered in the Republican contests for national committeeman and delegate to the Republican national convention and the race for attorney-general. Three candidates—John C. McBride, of Juneau, and Jack Schovin and Charles Herron, of Anchorage—were in the field for national committeeman. No presidential preference vote will be cast.

G. O. P. OF WASHINGTON STATE IN CONVENTION

Guy Kelly. The King county convention, representing the most populous county of the state, adopted a resolution "that the needs of the party demand a change in the national committeeman from this state and that S. A. Perkins should not be elected." Perkins is known as a standpatter.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer says the Wood forces put the resolution through and turned down a recommendation of Reeves Aylmore, county chairman, that Perkins be retained. The Tacoma Ledger says the Wood forces in control in Pierce county were behind the resolution indorsing Kelly for national chairman.

The indications were that Herbert Hoover stood next to

LOCAL NO. 261 ALSO WILL PREFER CHARGES

ACTION AGAINST MEMBERS WHO JOINED YARDMEN.

EXPULSION TO BE RESISTED

Charges will be preferred soon after May 1 against members of Local 261, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who have affiliated with the Indianapolis Yardmen's Association, the organization which is conducting the switchmen's strike here, according to an announcement made today by Edward Stewart, president. The official placing of charges has been postponed until the first of May because it is believed that several of the men will be expelled automatically through nonpayment of dues.

Local 374, which has preferred charges against 178 members, will hold the trials May 3, it has been announced by S. S. Long, new president who succeeded Marshall Rogers, who resigned following his joining the yardmen's association. No. 374 is proceeding on the theory that the men are participating in an unauthorized strike, whereas Local 261 will file charges alleging that the defendants have affiliated with another organization "presuming to represent" railroad switchmen.

Mr. Stewart said that probably 300 or more members of his local would either be dropped from the rolls because of nonpayment of dues or would stand trial on charges. The charges will be pressed by the two locals because their charters could be revoked if no action were taken.

Members of the yardmen's association have asserted that they will resist any attempt to declare them expelled. They will attempt also to collect on the insurance and protective dues, amounting to $2.25 a month, which they have paid. Union officials say this question has been decided several times in courts and that the men will have no redress unless they can show that their union trials were not carried out properly.

It's axiomatic that sound growth depends on merit. This store has kept pace with the growth of this city.

Sixty-six years of intensive effort to provide the people of this city with needed merchandise at fair prices has created a host of warm friends for this store, and we are gratified to note that the newcomers to this city are finding this store the economical place to shop.

Nemo Corsets

Self-Reducing Model Made of Government Airplane Cloth

By using U. S. government grade A, mercerized airplane cloth the Nemo manufacturers have brought the price of corsets down.

This cloth, with its distinction of having the maximum strength with the minimum thickness, is just the proper weight for a summer corset.

The model is designed for the comfort of medium and full figures. The long skirt correctly controls heavy hips and the Nemo self-reducing straps support and reduce the abdomen. The diagonal boning does its part in giving the much desired straight lines.

And Our Expert Corsetieres Will Fit These Corsets Without Any Extra Charge. Sizes 22 to 36.

CAN YOU ANSWER THESE QUESTIONS?

1. Why do the sugar berries and juniper berries stay on the bushes during winter?
2. Are there large springs in Florida?
3. At what time of day do birds work hardest?

Answers to Previous Questions.

2. What satisfaction can a camper take in disagreeable weather?

The camper-out often finds himself in what seems a distressing predicament to persons seated in their snug, well-ordered houses; but there is often a real satisfaction when things come to their worst—a satisfaction in seeing what a small matter it is, after all; that one is really neither sugar nor salt, to be afraid of the wet; and that life is just as well worth living beneath a scow or a dug-out as beneath the highest and broadest roof in Christendom.

2. Do birds ever change their habits of nesting?

Birds are quick to adjust their needs to the exigencies of any case. I have been in a deserted house, the chimney swallows entering the chamber through a stove pipe hole in the roof and gluing their nests to the sides of the rafters, like the barn swallows.

3. How does a bee fill her baskets with pollen?

See the bee going from flower to flower with the golden pellets on her thighs, slowly and mysteriously increasing in size. She dusts herself with the pollen of the flower, and then, while on the wing brushes it off with the fine brush on certain of her feet, and by some jugglery or other catches it in her pollen basket. One needs to look long and intently to see through the trick.

MAY MUSIC FESTIVAL TO HAVE LARGE AUDIENCES

Tickets Selling Rapidly for Three Days' Concerts at the Murat —Oberhoffer, Poet-Conductor.

The line of ticket buyers at the Ona B. Talbott office in the Hume-Mansur building when the single sale of seats for the May music festival opened Monday, gives indication of large audiences at all the concerts next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, and at the Wednesday matinee, at the Murat theater.

The events in the festival are as follows: Monday, Russian Symphony Orchestra, Henry Hadley, guest-conductor; Tuesday, Paulist Choir of New York; Wednesday afternoon and evening, Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra. The soloist for the matinee is Oliver Denton, pianist, and for Wednesday evening, Rafaelo Diaz, Metropolitan opera tenor.

The success of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra and its conductor, Emil Oberhoffer, is said to be due largely to the fact that they have grown in artistic development together. Mr. Oberhoffer went to Minneapolis twenty years ago, a young musician but well stocked with technical knowledge and not without a solid experience as a conductor. When he first took up the baton with the symphony orchestra, he impressed his musicians with his fine sensitiveness, and he has since become known as the poet-conductor, and as a master builder of programs. He seldom follows any strict chronology in his construction of programs, but seems to have talent for getting together compositions that make an admirable whole without repeating themselves.

For Lowden, but No Instructions.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 27.—The Republican Third district convention at Harrison adopted a resolution indorsing the presidential candidacy of Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, but decided to send the two delegates to the Republican national convention uninstructed.

The Sixth district Republican convention at Pine Bluff elected one uninstructed delegate to go to the national convention.

REPAIR WORK INSPECTED.

Emergency Method Is Explained to City Officials.

An inspection of street repair work in Meridian street near Ohio street was made by members of the board of public works, members of the city council and A. O. Meloy, street commissioner, Monday afternoon. Gus Schmidt, president of the council had requested the inspection.

It was explained that the holes were temporarily filled with a cold mix in the winter to protect the base of the street and that the repairs were the best that could be made in cold weather.

The city asphalt plant is now closed because the employes are on strike for higher wages. This has stopped all asphalt street repairs. Recommendations for increases in pay for laborers and mechanics have been placed before the council by the city officials.

LOGANSPORT PREPARES FOR WOOD APPEARANCE

NO HALL LARGE ENOUGH TO HOLD CROWD EXPECTED.

MEETING AT COURT PARK

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

LOGANSPORT, Ind., April 27.—Preparations are being made for the visit of Leonard Wood, Republican candidate for the presidential nomination, here tomorrow afternoon. Charles Shaff, chairman of the Cass county Wood organization, has announced that General Wood will speak from the grand stand in Court park immediately after his arrival from Marion at 1:30. He will make his address in the open as there is no building in this city large enough to hold the crowd expected to hear him. General Wood will be taken by automobile to Peru, where he will speak after appearing here.

At least one other Republican candidate for the Republican presidential nomination will visit Logansport this week. Hiram W. Johnson, United States senator from California, is to speak in the Elks' hall here at noon Thursday. Efforts also are being made here to bring Governor Frank O. Lowden to Logansport.

Other political meetings arranged for in Cass county are the address of Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, at the Nelson theater in this city Tuesday evening in the interest of Johnson, and the meeting to be held at Royal Center, near here, Friday evening, at which Harvey J. Sconse will speak in behalf of Governor Lowden.

Senator Kenyon has been campaigning vigorously for Johnson in the east but as far as is known he has made no speeches for Johnson in Kenyon's home state, Iowa, which the senatorial group at Washington decided early should be swung to Lowden.

Northern Indiana Tour Saturday.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 27.—Leonard Wood will devote Saturday to the northern edge of Indiana, arriving here at 10:40 a. m., and after a brief visit to his local Headquarters, going to Goshen for an address at 11:45. At 12:30 he will give an address at Elkhart, and will then return to South Bend to speak in the tabernacle at 2:30. From South Bend he plans to proceed west, speaking at New Carlisle, Laporte, Rolling Prairie and Gary.

Because it is impossible for Frank O. Lowden, Governor of Illinois, to obtain a speaking place in South Bend Friday it is probable that he will speak here Saturday night, following the address of General Wood in the afternoon.

In Interest of Wood.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

ALEXANDRIA, Ind., April 27.—The campaign for the Republican party in Monroe township will be opened Thursday evening at the city building, when E. B. Squires, of Chicago, Ill., a close personal friend of Leonard Wood, will deliver an address in his interest. Mr. Squires served as a chaplain in the 127th field artillery during the world war.

James A. May, a local attorney, who is an ardent admirer of General Wood, will preside at the meeting and introduce the speaker of the evening. The meeting is expected to be the largest one during the campaign on account of the popularity of General Wood's candidacy in this township.

BURNQUIST AT NEWCASTLE.

To Speak In Behalf of Wood—Lowden Cancels Engagement.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

NEWCASTLE, Ind., April 27.—Governor J. A. Burnquist, of Minnesota, will address a meeting here tonight in behalf of Leonard Wood's candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination. He will be the first speaker to appear here for any of the presidential candidates. Robert Hunter, county manager for General Wood, has arranged for the meeting and expects a large crowd to hear the Minnesota Governor.

Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, candidate for the Republican nomination for President, passed up Newcastle today in his tour of the state. He was scheduled for an address here this afternoon, but, because of throat trouble, canceled the engagement and went on to Richmond, where he speaks tonight.

Plans at Peru.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

PERU, Ind., April 27.—Plans are being made for a reception to Leonard Wood here tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock when there will be a meeting at the Wallace theater. Similar plans are well under way for a meeting next Monday afternoon for Senator Johnson. There is considerable interest in the candidacies of these two men for the Republican nomination for President, and notices are being scattered over the county drawing attention to the coming meetings.

Sentiment Favors Wood.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

COLUMBIA CITY, Ind., April 27.—Montaville Flowers addressed a meeting yesterday in support of Leonard Wood. Mr. Flowers urged the nomination of the general for President by the Republicans on the ground of his business and administrative experience in Cuba and elsewhere in the United States and also denied the assertion that General Wood was merely a military man. In Whitley county the prevailing sentiment seems to favor Wood over the field.

Meeting at Crawfordsville.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., April 27.—Leonard Wood, Republican candidate for the nomination for President, will speak in Crawfordsville next Friday afternoon from the steps of the Montgomery County Courthouse, while on his tour of Indiana. He will be met at Lafayette by a party of Wood supporters from Crawfordsville and brought here in autos. Edwin M. Erown, manager for General Wood in Montgomery county, will preside at the meeting.

Reception Committee for Wood.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

HUNTINGTON, Ind., April 27.—A large reception committee will go to Wabash Wednesday afternoon to meet Leonard Wood, who will speak immediately after his arrival in this city at 5:15 o'clock. The trip from Wabash to Huntington will be made in automobiles, with a short stop at Andrews. Montaville Flowers will speak at the meeting called at the Perfect theater at 4:30 o'clock, until the candidate arrives.

Boosters to Greet Wood.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

WABASH, Ind., April 27.—A reception committee composed of about 200 Wood boosters has been named by Frank Henley, county chairman of the Leonard Wood-for-President League, to meet General Wood when he arrives here Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. General Wood will speak at the Eagles' theater at 4:15. A delegation from Huntington county will meet the general here and escort him to Huntington.

New York Journal Price Raise.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The New York Journal, an evening newspaper controlled by William R. Hearst, announced today that beginning tomorrow it would advance its price from 2 to 3 cents. Increased cost of materials, machinery and labor and increased profits for news dealers were assigned as reasons for the advance. Advertising rates are increased.

ALONZO WALLICK DEAD.

Telegraph Operator at New Waverly for Forty-Seven Years.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

PERU, Ind., April 27.—Alonzo Wallick, for forty-seven years a telegraph operator for the Wabash railroad at New Waverly, just west of here, is dead of Bright's disease. He had been ill several months. Mr. Wallick was said to be the oldest operator in point of years of service in the employ of the Wabash company. A widow and one daughter survive.

BOYS HOLD UP GROCER.

Epidemic of Crime Among Youths at South Bend.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

SOUTH BEND., Ind., April 27.—Two boys, neither more than seventeen years old, entered the Joseph Levy grocery store about 11 o'clock last night and held up the proprietor, robbing him of $300. The boys escaped. Because of the epidemic of crime among boys of similar age the police and city court are determined to inflict drastic punishment on all law violators. Within the last two weeks two boys, now under arrest, stole three automobiles and attempted to shoot a police detective. Practically all the holdups committed since the first of the year have also been traced to boys under twenty years.

ENDS GRANT COUNTY TOUR

James W. Fesler Advocates Amendments for State Tax Law.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

MARION, Ind., April 27.—James W. Fesler, Republican candidate for the nomination for Governor, spoke in a dozen Grant county towns yesterday, winding up the day's tour with an address in a local theater in the evening. Mr. Fesler was introduced by George W. Steele, who represented the Eleventh district in the congress for sixteen years and who was a comrade of Colonel John R. Fesler, the candidate's father, in the civil war.

Mr. Fesler advocated reform in the taxing law. He said he believed the state board of tax commissioners should have appellate authority, but its sessions should be held in the communities where the issues were involved and citizens should not be compelled to go to Indianapolis. He said each community should have the right to determine its own levies and bond issues. He said, however, that he approved of the present tax law in theory, but believed it should be amended in the manner suggested.

The candidate asserted that he believes the Governor of a state should not encroach on the legislative or judicial powers, but should confine his activities solely to executive matters.

Notice to Gas Consumers!

While we are glad to be able to report an improvement in the outlook for gas coal, there is no improvement in the supplies on hand that can warrant a greater send-out of gas.

We have had advices that shipments of coal last week amounted to 8,000 tons, but we received only 5,200 tons and used 7,700 tons. If the railroads suffer no new backset, better supplies should be available by the end of this week. As soon as conditions make possible larger production of gas, larger quantities will be released.

Meanwhile, good pressure can be maintained only at these hours:

5:30 to 7:30 A. M. 11 A. M. to 1 P. M. 5 to 7 P. M.

At all other times the pressure will have to be too low to be depended upon, and when gas is used at such hours it should not be left unwatched, as it is likely to go out if many persons try to burn it at the same time.

ELIZABETH GREENWOLT A TOLL STUDENT 15 MONTHS AGO— NOW ASSISTANT TOLL INSTRUCTOR

"EMBRYO" PHONE GIRLS" LEARNING THEIR WORK AT THE EXPENSE OF THE COMPANY.

MABEL COMSTOCK HAS FOUND THE WORK INTENSLY INTERESTING FOR THE PAST 11 YEARS

A little over a year ago she was just another of the great army of unemployed American girls—clean, bright-eyed, alert and eager to grasp an opportunity. But she—like thousands of her sisters—lacked the one thing essential to a young woman's speedy success in the industrial world—a business education.

Today—just fifteen months later—she has a proud record of four promotions in as many seasons, and ranks as one of the successful Assistant Toll Instructors of the Bell Telephone Company.

Her rapid rise was due to the business education she received at the hands of the telephone company.

That—in a word—is the story of the remarkable success of Miss Elizabeth Greenwolt, who in January, 1919, was a student in the educational department, located in the great telephone building at Meridian and New York Streets, and who is today occupying the responsible, well-paid position of Assistant Toll Instructor.

It is not an unusual story. As a matter of fact it is one that is duplicated many times among the nearly a thousand happy young women who make it possible for Indianapolis to have telephone service.

CONTENTED TELEPHONE EMPLOYES EXPLAIN ADVANTAGES OF THE WORK

According to Miss Greenwolt, the lot of the telephone employe is a most pleasant one. She smiles most affably as she tells you that not for the world would she trade places with other young women in offices and factories. "But," she adds, "it is a work any girl of ordinary intelligence can learn in a very few weeks—and best of all—she doesn't have to lay out any money for her telephone education. Instead of that, the company sends her to its own school and pays her while she is learning. As soon as she is out of the school her pay is substantially increased, and if she keeps her mind on her work there is no limit to the possibilities for advancement. I'm sure many girls would not be willing to work in offices and factories if they knew how attractive telephone work really is."

The visitor to any of the telephone buildings in the city—there are many of them scattered over Marion county—finds plenty to substantiate Miss Greenwolt's statements. The life of the telephone girl is a happy one—at least, in so far as the telephone company can provide for the happiness of its employes.

A GLIMPSE OF THE TELEPHONE GIRL OFF DUTY

For instance, on top of the "Main" building at Meridian and New York streets, there is a big glassed-in restroom where the girls spend their spare time. You can find little groups of them here at all hours, comfortably chatting, reading, resting on the wicker couches, writing to the "folks at home," playing the piano or dancing to the tunes produced on the perfectly modern Victrola.

You always find dancing in the restroom—no matter what else is going on. The happy, youthful spirits of the bright-faced girls seem to respond eternally to this well-named "poetry of motion."

Of good books there is a plentitude, supplied by the well-stocked shelves of a circulating library. The latest newspapers and magazines are also conveniently placed to while away an idle half hour.

Unlike most employes in other occupations, the telephone employe has access to this rest and recreation department at times other than the noon hour. She is employed for two periods of four hours each, each day. A fifteen-minute rest period is provided in the middle of these work periods, in addition to the full hour allowed for lunch. In this way the girl may visit the rest room once every two hours if she so desires.

Should she feel indisposed—a quiet nook in another part of the building is provided with hospital beds and cots. She can lie here in absolute quiet—subject to the ministrations of the capable first aid department at any time her health seems to demand it.

AND, OH GIRLS, THE HOME COOKING OF THE PHONE LUNCHROOM

At meal time she can buy a home like hot lunch at even less than it would cost her to bring the cold victuals from home. She may have her noon meal in this lunchroom—or she may take all three meals here every day—at a cost much lower than she would have to pay in lunchrooms or boarding houses that are maintained for profit.

At every meal she finds kindred spirits at her right and left hand. Girls of her own age, interested in the very things that engage her interest. It is an environment that must stimulate any alert young woman.

No doubt these are some of the reasons why many girls who started in telephone work ten or fifteen years ago are still glad to be enrolled as telephone employes. There are even some who have been on the local payroll for over twenty years. But in spirit of efficiency they are still "girls."

Not all of the young women in the telephone work are local operators. There is such a demand for competent people to fill the high positions, that almost any girl of apt mind can qualify for advancement in a comparatively short time.

PLENTY OF WORK FOR THOSE WHO CAN NOT REPORT AT 8 AND LEAVE AT 5

Another thing that makes telephone work attractive to young ladies who could not afford to seek other employment is the great adaptability of the hours. This is particularly advantageous to students—whether in high school or college—who find that the telephone company can give them fascinating and lucrative employment that will in no way interfere with their school work. Many an ambitious girl has paid her way through school by taking advantage of this opportunity—and it is always possible for more of them to do so.

Other girls, who prefer not to go all the way to the center of town each day for their employment, avail themselves of the opportunity to work in the various outlying exchanges within easy walking distance of home.

EXCEEDINGLY HIGH TYPE OF GIRL FOUND IN THE WORK

It is no doubt these factors of adaptability of hours to the needs of educated young women, the nearness of the work to the home, and the splendid provision made to interest girls of the right type in the work, and to fit them for it, that accounts for the exceedingly high standard of young woman found in telephony.

It is a work to which the fondest mother can safely entrust the morals of her daughter. The girls are chaperoned by well educated, refined women who are on hand in every department to watch over their welfare. You see these matronly looking women with their kindly, smiling faces in the rest room, the locker room, the educational department and the lunch room, as well as in the work rooms.

These older employes seem to take an unusual interest in helping the newer girls adjust themselves to their environment. They see to it that no girl gets to the great switchboard until she has become thoroughly accustomed to the work.

NO NEED FOR TIMIDITY ON THE PART OF NEW EMPLOYES

From the moment the prospective employe steps into the enrollment office she is met in a way to assure her that she need have no fear of being embarrassed with her new occupation. For weeks she is schooled in the mechanics of telephony from the standpoint of both the local and long distance operator. She is taught the extreme simplicity of what to outsiders at times seems to be a hopelessly complex operation. She has it demonstrated to her that it is easy to give a subscriber the right number—and to do it quickly. She is taught what the various signals and signs of telephony mean—and how they operate.

And long before she is asked to take her position in front of the great switchboard she is given practical experience work in a "laboratory," that is an actual switchboard room in miniature. Here, before a practical working switchboard, she receives and transmits calls just as she will later do when she gets into the actual work. The only difference lies in the fact that until she is absolutely sure of herself she gets no calls from the subscribing public. Her "number, please," is spoken into a phone, at the other end of which is an instructor, whose sole interest in life is to make the learner a more efficient operator.

Should the student make mistakes in her practice work she is shown how to correct them—and how to avoid them in the future. She learns exactly what to do and say under all circumstances. Every condition that can possibly arise when she is seated before the big switchboard taking her instructions from the general public, is duplicated over and over again before the schoolroom switchboard. And her education is stimulated by the fact that other girls, to right and left of her, are doing the same thing.

At first the calls are given to her slowly. As her efficiency increases, they are speeded up until at last she is handling calls as rapidly as they are ever handled even in the rush hours. And then she is ready to graduate into the actual work.

But, unlike most business schools, this one has paid her all the time she was learning—instead of asking her to pay it. This one gives her a permanent position immediately upon graduation and sees to it that her salary is advanced and her opportunities increased as her service lengthens.

SICK BENEFITS, INSURANCE AND PENSION FOR FAITHFUL WORKERS

Should she take sick, a special insurance feature, to which she contributes nothing, pays her a sick benefit. After a reasonable length of service she is likewise entitled to a death benefit—and after a still greater length of service to retirement on a pension—should she so desire.

At all times her health is guarded. She is protected from disease by unusual sanitary precautions. Every girl is entitled to free consultation with the company's physician. Lungs, heart, eyes and hearing are also watched, both for the good of the employe and for the good of the service. This means less time off on account of sickness—and a remarkable freedom from those periods of depression known as "the blues," to which many feminine workers in other fields are so frequently subject.

There is at all times a friendly rivalry between the girls in the various exchanges—each trying to excel the other in good spirits and efficiency. Nor are the girls in the outlying exchanges at all willing to admit that their sisters in the central building have any advantage that can not be duplicated in the other exchange buildings. Some of these girls in the outlying buildings even insist that their own rest and recreation rooms are cozier and more attractive than the beautiful restroom in the "Main" building.

ANOTHER "SUCCESS STORY" FROM THE IRVINGTON EXCHANGE

For instance, their is Mable Comstock, of the Irvington office, who is perfectly content to help handle the phone traffic of Indianapolis' classic suburb. Miss Comstock says that as a convenient homelike place to work, the Irvington exchange can not be equalled anywhere. She is decidedly proud of the cozy type of bungalow architecture used in the building, the great trees back of it and the homelike lawn and hedge in front. "It's like working in your own home," she says—"almost like not being at work at all."

Eleven years ago Miss Comstock was a messenger. A little later she enrolled in the telephone school, and since then her rise has been rapid. She has become by turns, operator, recruiting officer, supervisor and clerk. Those who know her say that, like many other girls, the cheerful associations she has built up in telephone work, and the attractive nature of her employment, will probably add materially to the length of her service. Unless, of course, she should at some time before that period has elapsed, go the way of so many telephone employes. "From telephone bell to wedding bell," say the happy telephone girls, "is not always a long step." Growth of business is not the only reason why there are always vacancies to be filled in the telephone industry. Scores of girls leave every year to take up happy home duties.

At any rate, it is true that there is no over-abundance of telephone employes. Any clean-thinking girl of ordinary intelligence can quickly qualify for the work. Her pay starts the moment she enrolls in the training school. It commences to advance the moment she leaves it. The position—with its many opportunities for advancement—is hers as long as she is willing to give service efficiently and pleasantly.

POSITIONS OPEN NOW FOR AMBITIOUS GIRLS

Opportunities are now open for beginners in both the local and the long-distance departments. Good positions at attractive hours also await experienced telephone operators who are always glad to return to this desirable work.

It is a position that requires no previous experience and offers speedy advancement. The girls are not put to work answering calls until they have been given suitable training. The pay starts the moment the girl is enrolled in the telephone school.

As a matter of fact, the rate of pay while learning is really higher than that usually paid to stenographers and bookkeepers just out of business college. Yet stenographers and bookkeepers are not paid at all while they are learning their professions. Indeed, many of them not only have no income while attending school, but have to pay from $50 to $100 for the privilege of learning.

Contrasted to such conditions, what business opportunity is brighter than that offered to girls who take up telephoning—a free education in a work that offers lifetime employment—pay while learning—immediate advancement—and an opportunity to work up to an unusually well-paid, responsible position.

DESCRIBES WOOD AS CONSTRUCTIVE

Gov. J. A. Burnquist Asserts General Is Strongest Candidate of This Type.

NOON MEETING AT ENGLISH'S

Speaker Is Introduced by Mayor Jewett, Who Strongly Indorses the Candidacy of Wood.

Governor J. A. Burnquist, of Minnesota, addressing a meeting at noon today at English's opera house in support of Leonard Wood for the Republican nomination for President, said there are three types of candidates: One appealing to the radical element, one to the reactionary politicians and the third, a constructive type, appealing to the majority of the Republicans. Leonard Wood, he said, is of the constructive type. Governor Burnquist said in Minnesota it is expected that the unanimous vote of the delegation to the national convention will be cast for General Wood.

The Governor pointed out that in a multiplicity of candidates for presidential preference there is danger that a man who does not represent the sentiments of most of the Republicans will obtain a plurality, and he said it was essential that "we should unite on one man," who is neither a radical nor a reactionary and who is truly representative of the opinion of the Republican party as a whole on constructive and orderly government.

The Governor covered much ground in a half-hour speech. He has a clear voice and commanding presence. He was cheered most enthusiastically when he said that if the time comes when a man is condemned and rejected because of his military service for his country, "then the death knell of our republic has sounded."

Governor Burnquist was introduced by Mayor Charles W. Jewett, who indorsed the candidacy of Leonard Wood as one "who is pre-eminently 100 per cent. American." Mayor Jewett spoke of Governor Burnquist as the "great war Governor of Minnesota," courageous and fearless. Charles W. Moores was temporary chairman and Mayor Jewett permanent chairman of the meeting.

Constructive Type Desired.

"The main issue in this campaign is the selection of a candidate who is of the constructive type," said Governor Burnquist. "In order to do so, it is necessary that those who believe in the selection of such a candidate should unite on one man for that position. The dividing of such an element through a multiplicity of candidates may result in a plurality for a radical or a reactionary candidate. General Wood, who has shown himself to be the strongest candidate of that element, should receive their united support. In Minnesota, we expect that the delegation from our state will cast a unanimous vote for General Wood at the Chicago convention. He has carried several other states and up to the present time has more delegates than any other candidate.

"Any candidate who appeals to racial, class or religious prejudices is unworthy of the highest position within the gift of the people. Leonard Wood stands for the proposition that this should continue a government for all the people instead of a government for a class or a few.

"Any candidate who is willing to surrender his power of appointment or his conscience as to what is right or wrong to any individual or dictating organization, whether it be one of business men, laborers, farmers or politicians, is unfit to be President of the United States. Leonard Wood found that the promises of his first manager would embarrass him in the matter of appointments if he were elected President. He, therefore, severed connections with him, saying, 'I would rather go down to defeat than to surrender the executive power of appointment to any one man or set of men.'

Public Record Important.

"In the selection of a candidate for President, it is exceedingly important that the man who is selected should have a record in public office. Statements as to what a man will do count for very little compared with what he has already done. We can not afford to try experiments in the highest office in the land. Of all the candidates, General Wood has had the most varied experience. He has, from the beginning of his public career up to the present time, shown himself to be a public official of constructive efforts and ideas. His administration in Cuba is looked on by those who know that as the history as its greatest achievement. What he did in Cuba was reepated in a large measure in the Philippine islands.

"The general has taken the correct stand in the matter of the adoption of the proposed league of nations agreement. He does not believe that the treaty should have been defeated but takes the position it ought to be Americanized; that this country should have the right to withdraw from the league without any conditions; that America's internal questions should be left to her alone; that American troops should not be used except as authorized by the American congress representing the American conscience and public opinion.

Favors American Legion.

"The general is strongly in favor of such an organization as the American Legion. He realizes that all the members of the Grand Army of the Republic will, within a few years, be gone. Some organization that has stood for the same spirit of Americanism and American unity that that organization has always shown should take its place. The best organization to assume such a position is the American Legion.

"General Wood is opposed to militarism and to the Prussianizing of the American spirit. Although the war department advocates a standing army of more than 500,000, General Wood takes the position that an army of about 200,000 will be sufficient.

"Although there are some who are trying to create prejudice against the general because he has worn the uniform of his country, I feel sure that the Republican party and the American people will not discriminate against him for that reason.

"If the time ever comes when the people of this country shall discriminate against a man because he has been in their military service, the death knell of the American republic is sounded. The Republican party has not discriminated against her military leaders in the past and I do not believe it will do so now. For forty years after the civil war every candidate for President on the Republican ticket had been in the military service of his country. Let other parties discriminate against a man of this type if they see fit, but let the Republican party and the American people go forward with General Wood, with, as he has said, 'our feet on the earth, our eyes on God, our ideals high but steady.'"

Remarks by the Mayor.

Mayor Jewett's speech introducing Governor Burnquist follows:

"The United States never needed the Republican party more since the civil war than at this time. The equilibrium of the nation must be restored. This can be accomplished only by courageous intelligence and conservative leadership.

"The economic and industrial conditions of this country today demand leadership that is 100 per cent. American. We need a man as President of the United States who is fundamentally and uncompromisingly for the Constitution of our government and who will fearlessly and intelligently preserve, in any crisis, law and order. We need a man for President of the United States who is a practical human being, with human sympathy but at the same time with a vision and a foresight in the application of practical, simple principles of justice.

"We need, as President of the United States, a big man who is capable of selecting the finest expert ability to administer the various departments of government. The success of the administration of our federal government depends upon great men to fill the great positions of administration. We have suffered as a nation because of the mistaken idea of our chief executive that he could successfully administer the federal government single-handed and alone. We need a man as President who is big enough to select as his subordinates the best intelligence and courage in the American republic, and who is sufficiently great himself to be a leader in his own cabinet.

"We need a man as President of the United States who commands the respect and confidence of conservative business, as well as conservative labor of the United States. General Wood has proved by deeds and accomplishments that he is pre-eminently 100 per cent. American; that he is a great general and knows the value of aids and assistants; that he commands the respect of the conservatively progressive people of the entire nation. The nation needs such ladership today."

Vice-chairmen of the meeting, appointed by Scott Brewer, chairman of the Marion county speakers' bureau, were: Henry R. Danner, Fred C. Gardner, O. D. Haskett, Henry W. Bennett, William M. Taylor, Dr. Henry Jameson, Charles C. Perry, Robert H. Tyndall, George E. Hume, Herbert R. Peck, George C. Brinkmeyer, Augustus Coburn, Henry C. Atkins, Fred L. Willis, Frank F. Powell, William E. Day, John R. Kinghan, C. V. Griffith, H. F. Clippinger, Dr. Frank B. Wynn and J. A. Atherton. Ushers named are T. Harvey Cox, Harding W. Hovey, Joe R. Beckett, Robert McCord, Remster A. Bingham, W. Clyde Allen, Fred R. Pitcher, William Russell Stuart, Robert Brewer, Marshall Doeller, Robert Winslow and William H. Remy.

Enthusiastic Meeting Expected.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 27.—F. A. Tedford, county manager for Leonard Wood, today announced his reception committee for General Wood's visit here Friday and it includes many of the leading citizens of the county—business men, farmers, doctors, lawyers and university professors. The vice-presidents of the Wood League of this county, including Fred Prass, Edgar D. Randolph, J. D. Bartlett, Charles H. Henderson and Richard Sample, will go to Linden Friday and meet General Wood and his party, board the Monon train and escort them to Lafayette.

The indications are that the Wood meeting on the Lincoln Club porch Friday afternoon will be one of the most enthusiastic political rallies in the history of the county.

Flowers Speaks for Wood.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

KENDALLVILLE, Ind., April 27.—Montaville Flowers spoke yesterday afternoon at the local theater in behalf of Leonard Wood, saying that General Wood's record fully justified him in his ambition to occupy the presidential chair. He briefly reviewed the career of General Wood in Cuba and the Philippines, and said that he was qualified to handle the questions that now confront the American people.

"He is more like Theodore Roosevelt than any other living man, and is the greatest living American today," said Mr. Flowers.

COAL MEN URGED TO USE THE NEWSPAPERS

BLACK DIAMOND EDITORS SPEAK AT CONVENTION.

500 DEALERS ARE PRESENT

Retail coal merchants were urged to maintain close relations with their customers through the newspapers by Charles Lee Bryson, editor of the Black Diamond, of Chicago, at the opening session of the fourth annual spring business meeting of the Indiana Retail Coal Merchants' Association, at the Hotel Severin this afternoon. Five hundred dealers are in attendance. The meetings close Thursday with a trip of inspection through three Clinton mines.

Editors of newspapers, Mr. Bryson said, are the spokesmen of the coal dealers' customers. He urged the dealers to keep the newspapers informed of market conditions, coal supply, etc., so that the public may know when best to buy. "When the public becomes convinced that you are conducting your business open and above board," he said, "you will find a marked change in their attitude toward you."

The convention was opened by E. E. Heller, of Indianapolis, president. A short discussion followed Mr. Bryson's talk. The dealers will attend a theater party at Keith's tonight. At the Wednesday morning session, Walter McDougal, of the Wolf Company, of Indianapolis, will talk on "Taxation." At the afternoon session Ellery B. Gordon, of Philadelphia, secretary of the National Retail Coal Merchants' Association, will talk on "Profits and Profiteers." Morton A. Gould, president of the Indiana Bituminous Coal Operators' Association will also talk. Charles A. Bookwalter and Elmer Stout will be the chief speakers at the annual banquet Wednesday evening. The Miners' Band of the J. K. Deering Coal Company, of Clinton, will play.

The mine inspection trip will start Thursday morning at 7 o'clock. The trip will be made by special train. The plant of the Indiana Coke and Gas Company at Terre Haute will also be inspected. R. R. Yeagley, secretary of the association, will have charge.

ACCUSE SYRIAN MERCHANTS

Credit Men Investigators Point to National Defrauding Scheme.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Federal indictments similar to those which have been returned in Washington, N. C., charging twenty-eight Syrian merchants with conspiracy to defraud, soon will be sought in many other parts of the country, it was announced here today by the National Association of Credit Men, which has been co-operating with federal agents in an eight months' investigation said to involve the loss of millions of dollars.

Charles D. West, manager of the association's investigation and prosecution department, declared that the association had discovered traces of a nation-wide plan, engineered by educated Syrians, to defraud clothing and textile jobbers and wholesalers. He said that the general scheme was to set up certain Syrian merchants in business, show them how to operate small stores and to build up credit. When this was done, according to West, the "higher ups" instructed the small merchants to buy on credit large amounts of fine silks, laces and other textiles handled easily by traveling peddlers. West declared that after the goods were received, many of these small merchants disappeared and the "higher ups" obtained the merchandise and disposed of it.

GRAND OFFICER O. E. S. ARRIVES FOR SESSION

FORTY-SIXTH ANNUAL STATE MEETING OF ORDER.

REPORTS BEGIN WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Minnie E. Keyes, of Lansing, Mich., right worthy grand secretary of the General Grand Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, arrived in Indianapolis today for the forty-sixth annual session of the Indiana chapter which will have its formal opening Wednesday at 10 a. m. in the auditorium of the Masonic temple. Mrs. Keyes will be one of the honor guests at the banquet of the Past Grand Matrons and Patrons' Association this evening.

The credentials committee went into session this afternoon in the library of the Masonic temple, and will continue its work all evening. The committee on charters and dispensations met in the forenoon.

Heard Officers' Reports.

The morning session will be devoted to reports of grand officers. Charles J. Orbison, grand master of the Grand Lodge of Indiana, F. and A. M., will welcome the grand chapter on behalf of the Grand Lodge. Officers will be elected in the afternoon.

Mrs. Cora B. Holland, of Indianapolis, grand matron, will preside, assisted by Moses E. Black, of Muncie, grand patron. Other officers are as follows: Associate grand matron, Jennie H. Ackerly, of Frankfort; associate grand patron, Will H. Arnett, Kokomo; grand secretary, Nettie Ransford, Indianapolis; grand treasurer, Mamie Conrad, Warsaw; grand conductress, Mary Viton, South Bend; associate grand conductress, Effie Harrison, Clinton; chaplain, Dr. Olin E. Holloway, Knightstown; marshal, James R. Brown, Sullivan; organist, Goldie F. Albrecht, Indianapolis; grand Adah, May E. Reem, Princeton; grand Ruth, Ola J. Barnard, Eden; grand Esther, Mabel Burns, Newburg; grand Martha, Louise Klingler, Brazil; grand Electa, Myrtle Staley, Tipton; grand warder, Sadie P. Warnecke, Greensburg.

Finance Committee Meets.

The finance committee, composed of Andrew Rieman, of Connersville, and John B. Hessoud and Ella Buchanan, of Indianapolis, met Monday at the home of Mrs. Ransford to examine the books and reports of the secretary and treasurer. The annual reception and ball will be Wednesday evening.

Farmer Sentenced for Larceny.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

MUNCIE, Ind., April 27.—Thomas Walburn, age fifty-five, of near Eaton, received a sentence of two to fourteen years at the Indiana State Prison yesterday in the Delaware circuit court on a charge of grand larceny. Walburn, who is a wealthy farmer, was accused of stealing clover seed, valued at $400, from the Elliott elevator at Eaton about a year ago. He was arrested at Redkey, where, it is alleged, he tried to sell the seed.

INDIANAPOLIS AND VICINITY

Brief Notes of the Day.

The Idlewild Club will meet Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Frank Aldrich. Mrs. George Garner will talk on the use of substitutes for potatoes and sugar.

The Only Euchre Club will give a card party today in Masonic hall.

The Chatter and Stitch Club will meet Thursday with Mrs. C. L. Biltmeier.

The Frances Willard W. C. T. U. will meet all day Wednesday with Mrs. A. R. Gray, 3964 Park avenue.

The Housewives' League of the Eighth ward will meet this evening with Mrs. Anna Wagner.

The local Plumb Plan League will meet tonight at the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers' hall, Massachusetts avenue and New York streets.

One Bidder for City Loan.

The Union Trust Company was the only bidder for the temporary loan of $125,000 for the city health department today. The interest rate was 6 per cent. The loan will be payable in December. Robert H. Bryson, city controller, said that the trust company made the bid as a matter of accommodation to the city after it appeared that the city would not receive any bids. The money received through this loan will enable the health department to continue the operation of the City Hospital, which the shortage of finances threatened to close for a time.

Citizens' Schools.

The Tenth ward citizenship school will have its second meeting next Friday evening at 7:30 at the Prospect Street School of Music. Miss Eliza G. Browning will speak on "Political Parties and the Party System." The Eleventh ward school will have its first meeting Friday evening at Greer street community house. The Rev. Charles H. Winders, secretary of the Indianapolis Church Federation, will speak on "Good Citizenship." Mrs. E. E. Eulms is ward chairman.

Motion to Dismiss Denied.

Edward Stevens, one of the alleged yeggmen arrested at the Hotel Severin April 18 by local detectives, was bound over to the grand jury under $5,000 bond on a charge of having explosives in his possession unlawfully, in city court Monday afternoon, after Judge Walter Pritchard had denied a motion of his attorney to dismiss this charge. He was bound over to the grand jury under a charge of burglary Monday morning, under $10,000 bond.

Struck By Automobile.

Ora Davis, 325 North Harding street, reported to the police last night that he was bruised about the back and head when a passing automobile ran into his bicycle as he was riding west in Michigan street. He said the driver of the machine stopped and asked if he was hurt and, on learning he was, shout "good-by" and drove away. Davis gave the license number of the car to the police.

Sent to City Hospital.

Virgil Derrett, 2018 Mabel street, was sent to the City Hospital Monday night after he had been found injured at the side of the Belt railroad tracks, about 100 feet east of Shelby street. He was hurt about the back and arms and the police were of the opinion he had been struck by a train. Derrett was unable to tell how the accident happened. His condition is not believed to be serious.

Conference of Librarians.

A conference of library delegates appointed by the Governors of Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio, Illinois, West Virginia and Michigan, will meet tomorrow in the Hotel Severin to discuss the enlarged program movement of the American Library Association. Carl H. Milam, general director of the movement, and C. B. Roden, director of the central region, will speak.

169 Building Permits in Week.

Walter B. Stern, city building commissioner, today reported to the board of public safety that 169 building permits were issued last week with a total valuation of $148,804. The board promoted Frank Schleuter, of truck company No. 11, to chauffeur and Frank Braun, motor mechanic with the rank of lieutenant in the fire department, was promoted to the rank of captain.

Housewives' Meeting.

A proposal that city dwellers plant fruit trees in their lots for shade and utility purposes and that cities put trees in parks, will be laid before the Marion County Housewives' League by Frank N. Wallace, entomologist for the state conservation commission, tomorrow, when the league meets in the L. S. Ayres & Co. tearoom.

Mrs. Ransford, of Indianapolis, who has been grand secretary of the Indiana chapter, Order of Eastern Star, for twenty-six years; Mrs. Holland, of Indianapolis, grand matron of the chapter, and Mr. Black, of Muncie, grand patron, are prominent in the state convention of the order this week at the Masonic temple.

RESOLUTION OPPOSES GRANTING OF BONUSES

U. S. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OPENS CONVENTION.

FOREIGN CREDITS TOPIC

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 27.—The United States Chamber of Commerce would go on record as opposed to the granting of a bonus to soldiers who served in the world war by adoption of a resolution submitted for action by the resolutions committee at the opening session of its eighth annual convention here today.

The resolution declared that "not only 500,000 negroes in the south, who probably would receive $500 or $600 each, would immediately quit work until the money was spent," but predicted that there would be generally "an orgy of spending," that labor would be disorganized and productin decreased.

The chamber also received a report of its national committee on European finance in which it was asserted that while American bankers and business men are friendly toward aiding in the rehabilitation of Europe by private investment, no such action can be looked for until peace has been formally concluded and the United States government has adopted a definite policy of sanction and co-operation.

Revision of Taxation.

Revision of the excess profits and income taxes "so that large investors can afford to put their funds in other than tax free securities" is urged in the report, the point being made that only by the freeing of large capital can any appreciable progress toward meeting Europe's needs be made.

Discussing the need for a fixed governmental policy of sanction and co-operation, the report said there was no thought of suggesting that the government alter its policy of not increasing the $10,000,000,000 it already has advanced to European countries.

"Without in any way entering into the political aspects of the treaty of peace or the league of nations," the report says, "it is necessary in a discussion of the conditions influencing American investment in Europe to point out that the continued existence of a state of war has not served to improve that confidence in conditions overseas which must always be the basis for forming credit judgments.

"A most immediate and important problem for this country," the report continues, "is how to extend further credits to foreign nations without bringing about added inflation at home. It is generally conceded that further inflation of our credit structure must be checked if commodity prices are to decline or even to remain stationary. Advancing commodity prices would more than offset any gain to European purchases through better exchange rates.

"In the United States it is quite clear that at least two things must happen to improve our domestic situation before we can safely grant further large credits abroad. (a) The first is diminished home consumption and the saving resulting therefrom and if possible increased production. (b) Second, there must be a revision of our system of income taxation."

Ferguson on High Cost.

The high cost of living may be attributed in part to "corporation baiting," Homer Ferguson, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, told the convention today.

"Those responsible for corporation baiting are making the most noise about profiteering," Mr. Ferguson said. "A good deal of the increased cost of living is due to tomfoolery," he declared. Mr. Ferguson cited railroad legislation as one form of corporation baiting.

"The nation's railroads now are in such shape," the speaker asserted, "that grain can not be hauled to market and coal can be mined but four days a week, because of the car shortage. Today a million tons of food in the area around Hampton Roads can not be hauled to market."

Mr. Ferguson condemned the federal tax system, and was cheered when he said the organization would poll chambers of commerce in all cities on a program for changes in tax laws.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS IN MONEY CAMPAIGN

INTERCHURCH WORLD MOVEMENT WORK.

ALLOTMENTS ALREADY MET

Reports of the money raising campaign of churches of thirty denominations which is in progress this week, continued to be encouraging today in this state. SKELETON TO BE BURIED IN SELVAGE BURIAL LOT

BROTHER OF MISS SELVAGE BELIEVES SHE WAS MURDERED.

NO NEW INQUIRY LIKELY

The skeleton of Carrie T. Selvage, who disappeared in Indianapolis twenty years ago, which was found Monday in the attic of a brick building at 1333 North Capitol avenue, will be buried Friday afternoon in Crown Hill cemetery at the side of the grave of her mother, it was announced today. Relatives have not fully decided as to the nature of the services in connection with the burial.

The finding of the skeleton solved, in part, some of the mystery attending the woman's disappearance and terminated one of the most extensive searches in which local police and detectives ever were engaged.

"Of course it is a matter of great satisfaction to members of the family to know that our sister's bones have at last been found," said Joseph W. Selvage, a brother of the woman, "but there is still a big element of mystery in the case."

Advances Murder Theory.

Mr. Selvage said the more he thinks of the case the more he is convinced that his sister did not climb to the secluded corner of the attic of her own accord. It is his belief that her body was taken there after she had been killed.

"The position of the skeleton clearly indicates this," he continued. "It was in a sitting posture, the upper part reclining against the wall in the corner, and the skull was in its regular position until the coroner and I started to remove it. If sister had starved herself to death she surely would have had some kind of struggle and would not have died in that position."

Another thing which Mr. Selvage said convinces him that his sister was taken to the attic by some one is the fact that her false teeth, which she was wearing at the time she disappeared, were missing when the skeleton was found. The teeth, he believes, were removed to cover any trace of the supposed crime.

Opposes New Investigation.

"It would not have been necessary to kill her by crushing her skull or by using some other means of violence," he continued. "The purpose could have been accomplished by administering poison or by giving her too much electricity. It is really impossible to believe that she, weak and half-blind as she was, found that hole herself."

In view of the fact that twenty years have elapsed since Miss Selvage disappeared, Mr. Selvage said he believes it would be useless to start another investigation of the case. "He is anxious, however, to get in touch with the nurse and the matron who were at the old Union States Hospital at that time.

Cantrell Stories Recalled.

Mr. Selvage spoke of the efforts made by himself, his brothers and the detectives to run down the statements told by Rufus W. Cantrell, the grave robber, who at various times confessed that he and his coworkers murdered the woman. He said much time and money was spent in investigating these stories and that each one proved groundless.

When Cantrell was arrested in Detroit in 1915 he made an alleged confession to Detroit detectives in which he said that he and several negro companions abducted Miss Selvage, imprisoned her in the basement of an old house for several days, then murdered her and sold her body to a medical college.

MURAT SHRINERS PLAN AN ORIENTAL FESTIVAL

"ARABY" TO BE GIVEN THREE NIGHTS, MAY 24, 25 AND 26.

WILL BE OPEN TO PUBLIC

A three-night oriental festival will be given by the Shriners of Indianapolis at the Murat theater, May 24, 25 and 26 for the benefit of the Portland pilgrimage fund, which will be used to send Murat's uniformed organizations to the meeting of the imperial council of the order in the western oasis in June, it was announced today.

The title of the coming production is "Araby" and it will be the most pretentious entertainment ever planned by Murat temple. It will be provided entirely by the members of Murat and more than 300 nobles will take part. The entire scenic and electrical equipment of the theater will be utilized and the rich coloring of the Shriners' costumes will present an unusual carnival picture. The temple has much musical and histrionic talent among its members and all these forces will be employed. The show will be under the direction of the ceremonial committee and Harry Porter has been designated as the director. A business committee has been appointed and the show will be conducted as a regular theatrical performance.

"Araby" will follow the lines of some of the stories of the "Arabian Nights" and will introduce all the uniformed organizations that take part in the regular ceremonials of Murat temple. The entertainment will be open to the public on all three nights.

Murat temple has decided to send its patrol, band, gun squad and chanters to the Portland meeting and Elmer F. Gay, potentate, is planning that the temple also shall represent the city of Indianapolis creditaby. The entertainment now being planned is expected to assist in the expense involved.

DECLARES LIVE ISSUE IS HOW TO RAISE REVENUE

LOWDEN POINTS TO WASTE OF MONEY AT WASHINGTON.

ADVOCATES BUDGET SYSTEM

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

ANDERSON, Ind., April 27.—Frank O. Lowden, Governor of Illinois and candidate for the Republican nomination for President, in an address here Monday night, said that the expenditures of this country have been rapidly mounting for years until at the present time they have become of very serious concern to the people and that it is a serious business proposition which the country must face if it is to avoid the rocks of bankruptcy.

"A live issue at the present time is how, by taxation, to raise revenue sufficient to pay the expenditures of government, without checking and often destroying legitimate business," the Governor said.

Government Expenses.

In discussing the expenses of government and ways of meeting them, the speaker called attention to the work of his administration in Illinois in consolidating 125 boards and commissions into nine departments, with a director at the head of each and the establishment of a bugetary system. He said that is exactly the thing that must be done in Washington if the enormous increase in appropriations is to be checked. He called particular attention to duplication of effort at Washington, citing instances in eight different departments.

"There is no co-operation. There is duplication everywhere and as a consequence there is an absurd waste in expenditures," he said. "With a real budget system made up by a courageous man who plays no favorites, but insists that the public when it expends a dollar shall receive a dollar's worth of service, this deplorable and enormous waste would begin to disappear."

Suffers With Sore Throat.

Governor Lowden spoke before a large gathering at the Grand theater. His speech was similar to the one made in Indianapolis recently when he advocated a budget system for the government.

The Governor was still suffering with a sore throat, but he spoke an hour in a rather low, yet clear, voice. A large reception committee met him at the Grand hotel when he arrived from Muncie at 6 o'clock. W. L. Taylor, of Indianapolis, who accompanied Governor Lowden, addressed a dinner party of the committee for a few minutes in behalf of the candidacy of Mr. Lowden, who then appeared in the dining room and spoke briefly, expressing gratification over his reception and regret that his affliction interfered with him dining with the party. He then returned to his room and rested until the hour for his address.

Returns to Indianapolis.

Governor Lowden had planned to remain here over night as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Durbin, but, wishing treatment by a throat specialist and to visit his Indianapolis headquarters, the Governor left for Indianapolis soon after the night meeting. Accompanied by Mr. Taylor and a few friends, Governor Lowden traveled to Indianapolis in the Union Traction Company private car Martha.

Governor Lowden was introduced here by W. T. Durbin. The reception committee was composed of business men and manufacturers, selected by Joseph E. Hennings, Madison county manager of the Lowden campaign, but they were men who also served on other reception committees and will accord a reception to Leonard Wood here next Monday night.

ENTER CHAMP CLARK.

Former Speaker Will Try For Presidential Nomination.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Champ Clark, former Speaker of the house of representatives, has decided to become a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, it was announced here yesterday by Mrs. Julia Sanders, an officers of the Swastika Club, a woman's political organization.

Mrs. Sanders said that Mr. Clark had made known his decision to her over the telephone from Washington, explaining he desired to make the announcement through a woman's organization "in appreciation of the charming compliment the women voters of the country have paid him" by supporting him during his public career.

"I would be glad to serve the people as I have served them for twenty-three years," said Mr. Clark. "I am not going into any state to wage a fight for delegates to the Democratic national convention. As a poor man I can not buy political patronage."

RIVERS AND HARBORS SUM.

Senate Increases Amount From $12,000,000 to $24,000,000.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The senate yesterday increased the lump sum appropriations in the rivers and harbors bill to $24,000,000 on motion of Senator Harrison (Dem., Miss.). The bill as passed by the house carried $12,000,000, which was raised by the senate committee to $20,000,000. The vote was 34 to 22.

The bill was passed by the senate after it had been amended.

RESTAURANT FIRE FATAL.

Owner Dies of Injuries. Had Planned to Return to Home in England.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

FT. WAYNE, Ind., April 27.—George Bobilya, of South Whitley, died in a hospital here yesterday of burns suffered when his restaurant was destroyed by fire following an explosion of gasoline. Bobilya had just sold his restaurant and was ready to yield possession and return to his former home in England to live.

Western Union Conference.

Lake division officials of the Western Union Telegraph Company, with the managers of all the larger Indiana offices, opened a four day's conference at the Hotel Severin today, with A. C. Kaufman, of New York, general commercial agent of the company, presiding. A. A. Brown, manager of the local office, said the conference was called to lay before officials a plan of business expansion by substitution of the telegraph for the mails.

Among the prominent officials present are A. C. Cronkhite, general manager of the Lake division; C. J. Eldridge, Detroit, general commercial agent of the Lake division, and E. Boening, Detroit, commercial superintendent of Indiana and Michigan. The conference is being held in the hotel clubrooms.

Art Commission Organizes.

The state memorial art commission, appointed by Governor Goodrich several months ago, met Monday with the Governor. Robert F. Daggett, Indianapolis, was elected chairman, and Mrs. Melville F. Johnston, of Richmond, was elected secretary.

PLAN RETROACTIVE TAX.

Democrats and Insurgent Republicans Have War Profits Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—A retroactive tax on war profits has been definitely agreed on by house Democrats and "insurgent" Republicans to raise money for soldier relief legislation. Representatives Rainey (Dem., Ill.) and Johnson (Rep., S. D.) announced that a bill would be introduced providing for the collection of the tax.

The plan of the Republican leaders has not been finally agreed on, but its main provision probably will be the imposition of a 1 per cent. tax on sales. The battle on financing soldier bonus legislation, scheduled to commence in the house May 3, promises to hinge on these two conflicting schemes for meeting the expenses involved.

Under the former bill an 80 per cent. tax will be levied on individual and corporation incomes over and above the "pre-war income" with an exception of $20,000 for individuals and $100,000 for corporations.

"In case of an individual," the bill proposes, "the term 'war profits' means the amount by which his average net income for the taxable years 1917, 1918, 1919 and 1920, less his average income, war profits and excess profits taxes for such years exceed his net income for the taxable year 1914.

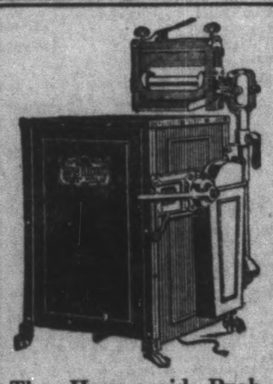

"In case of a corporation in existence during the pre-war period, the term 'war profits' means the amount by which its average net income for the taxable years 1917, 1918, 1919 and 1920, less its average income, war profits and excess profits taxes for such years exceed its average net income for the pre-war period (the calendar years of 1911, 1912 and 1913) plus or minus, as the case may be, 10 per cent. of the difference between its average invested capital for the pre-war period and its average invested capital for the taxable years 1917, 1918, 1919 and 1920."

EVANS' E-Z-BAKE FLOUR

Reddy Baker and the E-Z-Bake girl are here. They are going to assist in telling you some real facts about flour that every one should know.

These facts will be of great benefit to the housewife, whether she bakes her "own" or buys from the baker.

Indianapolis is noted for its fine bread. All over the country Indianapolis bread bears a reputation for its flavor, texture, whiteness and real goodness.

Much of the bread baked in Indianapolis is made from flour milled by the Acme-Evans Co.

Just as the experts of the Acme-Evans Co. mill the flour from which Indianapolis bakers make their bread—so these same experts produce a flour which is especially adapted for use in the home—EVANS'S E-Z-BAKE FLOUR.

A series of ads will appear in the local papers explaining the goodness of E-Z-BAKE FLOUR and just why it is especially adapted for use in the home.

How the new flexible fabric universal joint absorbs the shocks that wear out your car

A RAPIDLY spinning flywheel suddenly locked with a motionless rear axle—that's what happens when you start your car. A ton or more of dead weight must be moved the instant you throw in the clutch. The tremendous power from the engine is hurled along the drive shaft.

Metal universal joints transmit with no cushioning whatever the full impact of this terrific force. No matter how carefully you engage the clutch, a violent blow racks the transmission and the whole rear axle assembly. As metal joints become worn the strain is intensified.

In building up the flexible fabric discs the several layers of fabric are put together so that the strands in each piece run in a different direction. This patented fanwise construction provides the greatest tensile strength. In a laboratory test made recently at Purdue University the drive shaft itself was twisted at a total stress of 21,700 inch pounds without injury to the universal joint.

Cushioning the shocks in the drive shaft

There is now a way to absorb these blows. Constructed of flexible fabric discs, the Thermoid-Hardy Universal Joint effectively cushions the shocks that rack your car.

You feel no jerks, no rattles when you throw in the clutch. With the Thermoid-Hardy Universal Joint your car starts smoothly—runs quietly with the minimum of jar and vibration.

Enormous strength is given the Thermoid-Hardy Universal Joints by the patented fanwise construction of the fabric discs illustrated below. By no other construction can uniform strength and elasticity be obtained. Having no metal-to-metal wearing surfaces the Thermoid-Hardy Joint cannot wear loose. It requires no lubrication—no constant attention.

Adopted by leading manufacturers

Over fifty manufacturers have adopted the Thermoid-Hardy Universal Joint as standard equipment. It has stood severe endurance tests—in many cars running 60,000 miles without replacement or adjustment.

When you ride in a car equipped with Thermoid-Hardy Universal Joints, notice the absence of backlash, jerks, and rattles that are so common with metal joints. Observe how smoothly the car starts—how much more quietly it runs—even over rough roads.

Send for our new book, "Universal Joints—Their Use and Misuse." It will give you in detail the construction of the Thermoid-Hardy Joint, records of performance, opinions of leading engineers and manufacturers who have adopted it.

TWO PITCHERS LAND IN NET OF LOCAL CLUB

OWNER SMITH TO TAKE LEGAL ACTION AGAINST CAL CRUM, CONTRACT JUMPER.

Indian Happenings

Sale of Pitcher Carl Adams to Tulsa (Okla.) club of Western League.

Failure of deal in which Indians traded Eddie Zwilling, outfielder for Pitcher Herb Hall, of Kansas City club.

Jumping of contract by Pitcher Cal Crum, to the Bethlehem club of the Steel League.

The closing of deals for two new pitchers, the loss of one of the tribe's regular pitchers by contract jumping, the sale of a former Indian star who failed to come back and the failure of a deal between the tribe and Kansas City, are some of the incidents that marked the departure of the Indians on a long road trip. There are other deals pending and when the club returns it should be in good position in the pennant race.

The Indians started the season with a first-class team except the pitching department, which was early recognized as being weak. Propositions made by President W. C. Smith to club owners in all parts of the country are beginning to bear fruit and Manager Hendricks is satisfied the club will be a winning one. Several deals still are pending.

Fordham College Star.

Hendricks had been after Jimmy Lynch for some time. The youngster is a Fordham College star who made his debut in professional baseball with the Boston Red Sox this spring. On the early training trip Lynch showed unusually well, shutting out the Giants in one of the exhibitions. Smith was able to buy him when the Sox reached a point where they were compelled to reduce their player limit.

Jess Petty will join the tribe in Columbus on Wednesday, according to a wire from the Cleveland club. Petty pitched last season for the Milwaukee club and he showed so well with that losing outfit that Cleveland took him over.

It was Herb Hall who blocked the deal that would have sent Zwilling to the Blues. Hall still is the property of the Blues, but last fall he entered the employ of Nordyke & Marmon Company, and is still there. Recently he heard the call of the diamond by working out with the Indians, and he seemed about ready to return to organized ball.

Manager McCarthy, of the Blues, and Hendricks, of the Indians, arranged the deal with the permission of Zwilling, who lived last winter in Kansas City. Zwilling was about ready to take the train to join the Blues when word was received that Hall balked at the deal, and Zwilling remained with the Indians.

Fails to Come Back.

It was a sincere disappointment to the tribe bosses when Carl Adams was sold to the Tulsa club. Adams formerly was an Indian star and was sold to the Chicago Cubs in 1917. When the war came, Adams went to France for about two years and saw hard service. When he returned he failed to recover his old-time pitching efficiency.

Cal Crum was noticed hobnobbing several days with Rozey Roach, manager of the Bethlehem Steel League, and he was warned by Owner Smith that legal action would be taken against him if he jumped his Indian contract. He failed to report at Monday's practice and Manager Hendricks was informed that he had taken his belongings from the park and left on an early afternoon train with Roach. It now remains to be seen if Crum's signed contract with the Indians will hold good in an injunction suit.

BREWERS WANT NIXON.

MILTON DIVES FLAMING RACE CAR INTO OCEAN

NEW WORLD'S RECORDS FOR ONE AND TWO MILES ON DAYTONA BEACH.

DAYTONA, Fla., April 27.—Crossing the finishing line at the rate of 156 miles an hour on Daytona beach, this morning, Tommy Milton, speed king, found his car in a sheet of flames from a defective carburetor. He steered the car, a sixteen-cylinder Deusenberg racer, into the ocean and saved his life. Milton had just broken the world's speed record for one and two miles. His mile was in :23:07 and the two miles in :46:24, breaking his own marks of :23:56 and :47:16 made Sunday.

The former marks held by De Palma were :24.02 for the one mile and :49.56 for the two miles. Milton who was nearly fatally burned in a race at Uniontown, Pa., last September, noticed fire coming from beneath the hood just before he reached the point where Fred Wagner was stationed with the checkered flag, but Milton did not shut off until he completed the distance.

Whole Car in Flames.

By that time his whole car was burning and the spectators and officials were horrified. Retaining his presence of mind Milton realized his only hope for escape depended on the ocean and he header for the water as soon as his speed was sufficiently slackened to permit the dive. The car will be repaired and sent for marks up to twenty miles tomorrow.

O. K. At Riverside Hatchery.

The present Riverside fish hatchery arrangement between the Marion County Fish and Game Protective Association and the state conservation commission will be continued for another year, George N. Mannfeld, chief of the fish and game division, state conservation department, said today. The division has 300 breeding bass at the hatcheries. It put out 112,000 fingerlings from the place last year and plans to put out more than that this year.

BASEBALL SIDELIGHTS

With the H. C. L. still soaring high, a Crum from the Indian tribe will not be permitted to get away without a fight.

It may be that Mr. Crum failed to look before he leaped.

Dutch Zwilling always has been rated as a fast outfielder, but his trip to Kansas City and back breaks all speed records.

Jack Hendricks sings it like this:

When a manager loses his trouble begins.

The Indians went all the way to Columbus for a bit of cloudy, colder and rain, a dish they could have had at home.

Adding insult to injury, the weather man dished up snow today for Minneapolis and St. Paul. It begins to look like an early winter.

The Indian management found Monday's rain cloud to be one with a silver lining. No time was lost in calling off the final game of the series with the jinx, otherwise the Colonels.

But where the tribe bosses were glad the other managements were sad. It rained all the way around the A. A. circuit.

Everett Scott, Bluffton boy, with the Red Sox, celebrated the making of a new record of 534 consecutive games by knocking a home run, helping to beat the Athletics.

Babe Ruth returned to the Yankee lineup, but failed to hit in a pinch. The Yanks rallied in the ninth inning and beat Washington.

Artie Nehf, from Terre Haute, and known as McGraw's $40,000 peach, was hit hard in the first inning, Brooklyn and Marquard beating the Giants.

Poor support from the Braves kept Joe Eschger from putting out the Phils.

Veach's home run in the ninth kept the Tigers from being shut out by VanGilder, a recruit, who held them to three hits. The Browns won, 4 to 1, making it nine straight defeats for Detroit.

Jess Petty was released by Cleveland, but he is still an Indian. Woof! Woof!

The Keyless Lock Company's team lost to the Linwoods Sunday, 4 to 2. Skaggs pitched a great game for the losing nine, allowing one scratch hit and fanning fourteen batters. A triple play in the ninth inning saved the game for the Linwoods. For games with the Keyless Lock team call Woodruff 8141 and ask for Weaver.

The Arlington Red Sox won their opening game from the Waldon team, 12 to 4. The Arlington club desires to hear from local nines. Address J. W. Young, 1800 Vermont avenue, Connersville, Ind.

Maywood opened the 1920 season at Maywood Sunday and defeated the Rector A. C.'s, 19 to 5.

The Martinsville Grays were defeated by the Columbia A. C.'s, of Indianapolis, 6 to 2, in a well-played game. Martinsville was unable to hit O'Connor with any regularity.

The Indianapolis Trojans will play the opening game at Beech Grove, Sunday, at 2 o'clock.

The Tigers easily defeated the Military team, Sunday, 8 to 0. The feature was the pitching of Fultz. A game is desired for Sunday with a fast local team. Call Automatic 51-086 and ask for Richard.

The Oliver A. C.'s had easy picking Sunday, when they defeated the W. I. A. C. at Rhodius park, 16 to 2. The Oliver A. C.'s will travel during the next few weeks, taking on the Arlington team next Sunday and later the Connersville Reserves. For games, address R. E. P. Box 285, Indianapolis.

The Marion Ramblers will open the season at Danville, Ill., Sunday. Henn and Dume will form the battery.

The Tartars had a successful start Sunday when they downed the Hoosier Flyers, 9 to 0, and the Dardanelles, 24 to 7. The fielding of E. Klaiber and the timely hitting of Quill featured both games.

The Rector A. C.'s will meet Wednesday night at the clubrooms.

The Rupp Juniors played a practice game Sunday. They will start the regular season May 2. A game is desired. Call Prospect 1964 and ask for John. All players will be in uniform.

The St. Paul baseball club will open the season Saturday with the Tuxedo club at Willard park. All players are asked to be on hand at 3 o'clock.

The St. Philips Juniors claim a forfeit game from the Arsenal Cubs. The game was to be played at 10:30 Saturday morning. For games call Woodruff 3793.

The Indianapolis Independents will hold their meeting Wednesday night, in the poolroom at West and Washington streets, at 7:30 o'clock. For games call Circle 3735.

The Indianolas are in the field this year under a new management. For games call Belmont 2494 and ask for Claude.

The Baron A. C.'s will hold a meting tonight. All players are urged to be present.

Catcher Schaefer, last year with the Acton Comets, is requested to get in touch with Del Griffin at the Nordyke & Marmon Company immediately.

A new team is now playing in the Indianapolis field. Any player who is fourteen years old and desires a tryout, call Circle 6386 and ask for Robert.

QUARTER MILLION PAID FOR GREAT RACE SIRE

PRINCE PALATINE TO BE BROUGHT FROM ENGLAND TO KENTUCKY.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 27.—Edward F. Sims, moving spirit in the racing stable campaigned under the name of J. W. McClelland, has completed a deal for the purchase of the thoroughbred stallion Prince Palatine for $250,000, according to a special telegram from Lexington, Ky., and printed in Louisville newspapers today. Prince Palatine is the sire of Donaconna and Prince Pal, which are among the leading Kentucky Derby candidates and other horses of note in America and Great Britain. He is now in England and will be brought to Mr. Sims' farm near Paris, Ky.

The purchase price, according to Lexington advices, has been exceeded only by the amount paid for Tracery, which recently was bought by a South American for $265,000.

Noted English Golfer to Play American Champion

ABE MITCHELL.

It is reported in British golfing circles that Abe Mitchell will be the English player that Walter Hagen, professional open champion of the United States, will meet on the British links during the coming season. Vardon, Ray and Taylor, other English champions, are to put on exhibitions with the young American.

More Trouble for Dempsey

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—Evidence indicating that the marriage of Maxine Wayne Dempsey to Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, at Farmington, Utah, in October, 1916, was in violation of the Utah divorce laws, and therefore invalid, was made public by the bureau of investigation of the department of justice here today.

The result of the investigation, it is said, will give Mrs. Dempsey the right to testify against Dempsey and Kearns. Dempsey has been finally divorced, but at the time the letters on which the indictments are based were written Mrs. Dempsey still was his wife. On that account, had the marriage been unquestioned, Mrs. Dempsey could not have testified against her former husband, according to the authorities.

U. S. G. A. Rules Meeting.

NEW YORK, April 27.—An invitation of the United States Golf Association to send delegates to the rules conference to be held here next Friday, has brought acceptances from many sectional bodies. Wilbur Brooks, president of the Western Golf Association, will attend and there will also be representatives from the Missouri, Ohio, Texas, western Pennsylvania and Wisconsin Golf Associations. Others, unable to have representatives present, have sent expressions of confindence in any action that may be taken.

Sunday School Opening

The opening date of the Sunday School Baseball League has been set for May 1. The schedule for the first day's play follows:

League A—Southport Baptist vs. Morris Street M. E. (Riverside No. 3). River Avenue Baptist vs. East Teath Street M. E. (Fairview No. 2). First Baptist vs. Broadway M. E. (Garfield No. 3).

League B—First United Brethren vs. Zion's Evangelical (Willard Park). Eighth Christian vs. Olive Branch Christian (Riverside No. 8). Third Christian vs. St. Paul M. E. (Riverside No. 9).

Believes in Signs

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 27.—A large sign on the bill boards at Bosse field was put up Monday by the First Baptist church of this city. This is the first instance of a church using the bill boards at the baseball park for advertising. The sign invites the readers to attend services at the First Baptist church, of which the Rev. J. F. Rake is pastor.

State Bowling Holiday.

FT. WAYNE, Ind., April 27.—Monday was a holiday at the state bowling tournament, none of the bowlers striving to break the records.

Several good bowlers are left on the card and are expected to break into the leading ranks this week.

15-ROUND DECISIONS BIG BOOST TO BOXING

CHAMPIONSHIP BOUTS MAY NOW BE STAGED IN NEW YORK STATE.

NEW YORK, April 27.—New York is going to give boxing the chance of its life and the whole country will be watching the experiment.

Actuated by the wave of popular favor that has brought boxing to Kentucky, caused an increase in the number of rounds from six to eight in Philadelphia and from eight to twelve in New Jersey, the solons of New York have lent ear to the clamor and approved of fifteen rounds to a decision. Experts agree that the Walker boxing bill, crowded with safeguards, is one of the best boxing laws ever passed.

The wohle punch of the bill is in the clause creating a commission to license clubs, boxers, referees, physicians, judges, managers, trainers, seconds and timekeepers. The license commission consisting of three members who serve without compensation, acts independently of the state athletic commission of three members at $5,000 a year.

Two Judges to Decide.

Upon the insistence of the International Sporting Club, that no-decision fighting was the real cancer of the sport and that a law without decision would invite abuse, the legislature approved fifteen rounds with a decision to be given by two judges or the referee if the judges disagree.

Clubs in cities of the first-class must pay a fee of $750; in second-class cities, $500; elsewhere, $350; physicians, referees, judges and managers, $25; timekeepers, boxers, trainers and seconds, $5. Five per cent. of the receipts goes to the state as tax.

DEMETRAL AND CALLERINI MAY APPEAR IN MAT BOUT

M. Charleston, Indianapolis wrestling promoter, is attempting to arrange a finish match between William Demetral, the Greek, and Joseph Callerini, Italian heavyweight, which he plans to stage at Tomlinson hall on Thursday night, May 6. Charleston has gone to Chicago, where he expects to get the signatures of the big grapplers on a contract.

Demetral is widely known as one of the best heavyweight wrestlers in the game, while Callerini, who is comparatively new to America, is rated as a comer. Callerini recently held Waldek Zbyszko to a draw in a match lasting two hours. He has been meeting the best heavyweights on the Pacific coast.

READY FOR PENN RELAYS.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., April 27.—Coach J. R. Townsend, of the Wabash College track and field team, has his men ready for the Penn relay meet to be held next Saturday at Philadelphia. With the winning of the two-mile relay event last Saturday at the Drake University carnival at Des Moines, Ia., the Scarlet team should place high in the Penn meet. The Scarlet team composed of Brown, Eastlack, Manley and Gustafson, won the two-mile event in 8 minutes 15 2-5 seconds, within 2-5 seconds of the record. Coach Townsend entered his men in the two-mile event to try and establish a two-mile record. Wabash teams coached by Townsend already hold the record at Drake for the half-mile and the mile events.

In starting the cushion shower at Washington park last Sunday did the fans think the game was over and that the Indians had won because of the 6 o'clock closing law? Did they deliberately start the shower with the hope of stopping the game and thus winning it for the Indians, or were they disgusted and started the shower to boost the Colonels?

All brands of arguments have been going along on these lines, and those that thought the game was over because of the law seem to be in the majority.

Some disgruntled fans still are peeved over the spectacle produced by thousands of flying cushions. The following was part of an argument overheard at a downtown hotel.

First Fan—That kind of an exhibition does not speak well for baseball?

Second Fan—What are you talking about? That's the liveliest finish I've seen since the good old days of baseball and it shows the game is coming back with a rush.

First Fan—It was very unsportsmanlike for the Indians to purposely delay the game with the hope of winning on a technicality.

Second Fan—O, rats! Supposing the shoe was on the other foot, don't you think the Colonels would have stalled to win? Was it sportsmanship for the Colonels to try and strike out?

"Say you fellows," said a third fan, "that was such a bum exhibition of baseball by both teams that the uproarious windup made it real entertainment for any one with red blood. Just like the old days when George Hogriever wanted to fight everybody." The arguments are up to President Hickey, of the association, who is considering a protest made by the Indians following the forfeiture of the second game to the Colonels. Baseball should be orderly, but nearly all the fans want a little more fighting spirit.

LAUREL HALL'S BIG STRING NOW IN TRAINING AT STATE FAIR TRACK

There's some new interest at the state fair ground this week, for on Monday Walter Cox moved in from Laurel Hall with over fifty head, which are numbered among his training stable inhabitants. It was showering at intervals when the Yankee reinsman started his big cavalcade from the mammoth Fletcher farm to the mile track, but a bit of rain in a season like this doesn't matter with Cox, and the string of horses from farm to track kept up unceasingly until they were all safely stowed away in the barns on the north side of the big oval.

There were some signs of activity on the big course Monday, for in spite of the continued rain the trainers were getting pretty good footing for their charges on its surface, and were taking advantage of all the opportunity presented. If the rain does not persist there will be lively times within a few days, for with the addition of McGregor the Great (4), 2:03¼, and the balance of the stars of the Cox stable, there will be a very notable lot taking regular work here.

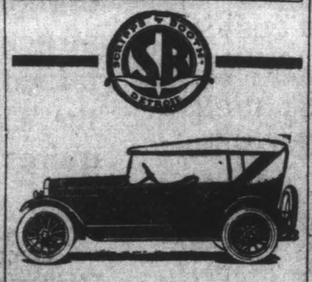

More Royalty Arrives.

A shipment of equine royalty arrived at Laurel Hall the last of last week, coming from Castleton farm, Lexington, Ky., and the property of A. B. Coxe, the millionaire breeder of Paoli, Pa. The shipment consisted of Miss Bertha Dillon (4), 2:02½; Nella Dillon (3), 2:05¼, and Dorothy Axworthy, 2:21¼, the dam of Chestnut Peter (3), 2:05¼. These mares will be bred to Peter the Great, 2:07¼, this season. Mr. Coxe, their owner, is a sportsman who took up breeding through his love for it, and as a diversion. With the young stallion, Dillon Axworthy (3), 2:10¼, he attained signal success, first on the turf, and later as a sire, his get racing phenomenally fast at an early age. Both Miss Bertha Dillon and Nella Dillon were sired by him and both became Futurity winners, as well as acknowledged sensations.

Former Famous Athlete.

To those who recall athletic records of twenty-five or more years ago, the name of Alexander B. Coxe will be recalled as one of fame on Yale's football field. Mr. Coxe is a veritable giant, yet perhaps due to the exertion of the athletic field his health is not of the best. In the trotting sport he finds the recreation which his physician prescribes.

Two recent foals at Laurel Hall, belonging to Thomas D. Taggart, son of Indiana's famous politician, are not by Peter the Great. One was sired by San Francisco, 2:07¾, its dam being the former Grand Circuit performer, Fair Virginia, 2:07½, while the other was sired by General Watts (5), 2:06¾, and its dam is Lady Axworthy, by Axworthy.

TENNIS

NEW YORK, April 27.—The tennis team which will represent the United States in the Davis cup matches in England next July will sail May 29, so that the players can compete in the English championship tournament beginning June 21, the United States Lawn Tennis Association announced last night.

The fourth member of the American team has not been selected, but will be either Wallace F. Johnson, of Philadelphia; Charles S. Garland, of Pittsburg, or Richard Harte, of Boston. The choice will be made after the three men have finished their matches at the West Side Tennis Club, beginning May 23.

The three team members already chosen are: William M. Johnston, of San Francisco, the national champion; William T. Tilden II, of Philadelphia, and R. Norris Williams II, of Boston.

Reds to Celebrate

CINCINNATI, O., April 27.—Saturday, May 22, was announced today by President August Herrmann of the Cincinnati National League baseball club, as the date on which the 1919 world's championship pennant will be hoisted at Redland field, Mayor John Galvin has agreed to declare a half holiday in the city so that as many fans as possible may witness the ceremony.

The National League banner, the first ever won by a Cincinnati club, will be raised on May 11. There will be special ceremonies on both dates.

Navy Crews Victorious.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 27.—The Crimson, of Harvard, was trailed in defeat over the two-mile course of Severn river by the Annapolis midshipmen in the three-cornered rowing regatta between varsity, second varsity and freshman eight-oared shell crews yesterday afternoon. The navy victories in each instance were clear cut and marked the second great triumph the sailors have recorded over Harvard oarsmen in two years.

Canada Team Wins Title.

ANTWERP, April 27.—The Canadian hockey team last night defeated the Swedish team by a score of 13 to 1, in the final game for the Olympic games hockey championship.

The defeats of the United States and France last night brought the Falcons, of Canada, and Sweden into the final. The Falcons, of Canada, accomplished the defeat of the United States, 2 to 0, while Sweden won from France, 4 to 0.

SCRAP NEWS and GOSSIP

CANTON, O., April 27.—Jack Britton, welterweight champion, won the newspaper decision over Jock Malone, of St. Paul, in a tame twelve-round bout here last night.

PHILADELPHIA, April 27. — Mike O'Dowd, the middleweight champion, outclassed Knockout Samson, of Philadelphia, here last night by such a wide margin that the police ordered the referee to stop the bout in the fourth round. The fight was scheduled to go six rounds.

MUNCIE, Ind., April 27.—Tommy Teague, local lightweight, scored a knockout over Joe Riley, of Cincinnati, last night in the third round of their scheduled ten-round bout. Hope Mullen, of this city, had a good shade over Joe Lehman, of Toledo, in ten rounds. It was a slashing battle.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Passage by the legislature of the Walker bill, sport promoters hope, will revive boxing in this state to a plane equal to that of twenty years ago, when world's championships were contested here. Governor Smith is certain to sign the bill.

The sport was placed under a state athletic commission by the Frawley law in 1911 and was abolished in 1917. Before the Frawley law the sport operated under the Horton law, which permitted twenty-round bouts.

In the best days of boxing James J. Jeffries won the world's heavyweight championship from Bob Fitzsimmons in 1899, and later defended it here against Tom Sharkey and James J. Corbett.

At Pennsylvania Relay.

PHILADELPHIA, April 27.—The Redlands College squad of runners from California, the first out-of-town arrival here for the Pennsylvania relay carnival Friday and Saturday, were to have their first workout on Franklin field this afternoon.

Eliminate Chance From Your Clothes Buying

Don't be satisfied with anything short of all-wool. Don't be content with the mere phrase, as there is a kind of "all wool" that is inferior to even an adulterated fabric. Be a stickler for the finer points of good tailoring and be sure that you are getting them. Don't expect to get satisfaction from cheap clothes, you'll be disappointed. Kahn clothes cost no more than some—less than others, but you'll never find the Kahn label in any garment not in every way worthy of your fullest confidence.

Kahn Clothes, Made-to-Measure are $50 And Up

Kahn Clothes, Ready-for-Service are $35 And Up

A thousand tailors are kept busy in our big shops, making Kahn clothes, for which the market is the entire United States. In the "off" season we keep them busy making our ready-for-service clothes—there are no "dull days" at Kahn's. In the field of quality-clothes production ours is the largest concern in this country, and probably in the world. You can safely trust your clothes commissions to such an institution.

GREGORY KELLY TO HEAD COMPANY AT ENGLISH'S

STOCK SEASON SUMMER OF 1921 AND TWO YEARS THEREAFTER

RUTH GORDON PRINCIPAL

Arrangements have been completed with Lee M. Boda and Ad Miller, of the Valentine company, whereby Gregory Kelly, well known in Indianapolis through his connection with the Stuart Walker company, will organize and operate a stock company in Indianapolis at English's during the summer of 1921 and for two years thereafter, to be headed by Mr. Kelly and Ruth Gordon.

It was Mr. Kelly's intention to bring a resident company to this city for a season beginning June 5 this year, but George Tyler, the producer of "Clarence," prevailed on him to continue in that piece for its Pacific coast engagements, which will continue throughout the summer.

Nationally Known Actors.

Nationally known actors will be engaged for other leading parts. If the Stuart Walker company returns to the Murat next year for its annual season, Indianapolis will be one of the few cities in the United States to harbor two first class stock companies simultaneously.

Mr. Kelly makes the following statement regarding his plays:

"Having had so much pleasure playing before Indianapolis audiences in the past, we are desirous of playing here each year and as we have not been given the opportunity of appearing here this summer, we have decided to operate a stock company of our own in a special season at English's each year.

Comedies to Predominate.

"Comedies will predominate. We think that people want to laugh—especially in the summer—and our experience in Indianapolis has been that such plays as 'Fair and Warmer,' 'Nothing But the Truth' and 'Too Many Cooks,' provide ideal hot weather entertainment. The company will be made up of actors and actresses of standing in the theater, and every attempt will be made to make it an organization worthy of the support of Indianapolis.

"The company will have the backing of a well known theatrical man. We had intended beginning the first of our annual seasons this year, but as our arrangement with George C. Tyler is that we will continue to play in Booth Tarkington's 'Clarence' until next fall, when we will appear in a new play under Mr. Tyler's management, our first season will begin at English's theater in May, 1921."

LEAVES THE REFORMATORY

William Block Walks Away While Painting Superintendent's House.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., April 27.—William Block, age twenty-five, walked away Monday afternoon from the Indiana State Reformatory. He had been painting the superintendent's house. It is believed he is under arrest at North Vernon, according to reports from there. Block ran away last June, but returned voluntarily three months later. He was sentenced from Henry county August 5, 1918, for obtaining money under false pretenses.

Information was received at the reformatory that two of the nineteen men sent recently to the new Indiana farm colony for the feeble-minded at Butlerville, to help put the institution in readiness, have run off. They are Joseph Fahrenholtz, age twenty, sent from Dearborn county, October 22, 1919, for vehicle taking, and Joseph Williams, age twenty-two, a negro, sent from Vermillion county November 11, 1918, for grand larceny.

Four Hoosier educators are on the program of the federal and interstate rural education conference to be held at Berea College, Berea, Ky., May 8-11. They are: L. N. Hines, state superintendent of public instruction, who has been conducting a rural school betterment campaign in Indiana; W. W. Black, Indiana University professor; Fred H. Cole, Porter county school superintendent, and J. H. Jolliet, Parke county superintendent.

SPEAKS AT ALEXANDRIA.

Dr. Carleton B. McCulloch In Rapid Tour of Madison County.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

ALEXANDRIA, Ind., April 27.—Dr. Carleton B. McCulloch, of Indianapolis, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, spoke here Tuesday at the city building.

Dr. McCulloch came to Alexandria after speaking at Pendleton in the morning and at Anderson at noon, during the course of a rapid trip through Madison county. He spoke at Summitville late this afternoon, and this evening a big Democratic meeting will be held in Elwood.

TRADE MARK REG.

Are Your Motoring Days But a Gray, Ghastly Gloom?

Are you fed up on lamping but tail lights and spares? Are you left at the post when the cop signals "Go!"? And can you pass nothing but telegraph poles?

Your engine is shy on the go-get-'em kick. But there is a nostrum for all of these ills. The prescription reads:

Silver Flash Gasoline

Straight Run — High Test

You're pouring fast, happy miles into your car when you tank up with Silver Flash. You say good-bye to engine knocks and get a real thrill every time your foot touches the accelerator.

As soon as you load up with Silver Flash, you can take the old highway grouch out back of the garage and bury it deep.

Then go out and make dust—for some other poor fish to eat. Silver Flash carries the punch to speed you up steep hills, and makes your car get away like a ten-second sprinter.

Just start Silver Flash coursing through the veins of your car, and get the benefit of that extra power and extra mileage that you've always wanted.

The latest in Ice Cream bodies—a special-bodied Packard with separate compartments for the cream—salt—ice and empty cans. No BRINE to drip and ruin the truck's working parts.

What Will Your Truck Driver Save You This Year

HAULAGE conditions here in town will undergo a big change within the next year or so.

Merchants are putting their transportation on a more "brass tacks" basis. Big savings will be made.

It seems that the merchants who are making a haulage "profit" keep in touch with their drivers.

They receive first-hand information as to which truck is most economical to operate and maintain—the truck freest from repairs—or the truck which is quickest and easiest to handle.

It is interesting to note that the men who have learned Packard facts in this way are standardizing on Packards.

PACKARD represents the highest heat-treating achievement as applied to commercial vehicles. Parts of a Packard heat-treated show from 35,000 to 62,000 pounds per square inch more strength than the average of other makes.

Packard drivers like to keep costs—it's easy to show a big dollar-and-cents saving with a Packard.

BESIDES, the driver has a good chance to make a reputation for himself.

Any local business man interested in knowing what he can save with a Packard should come in and see some of the records of the 1700 Packard owners using the National Standard Truck Cost System.

Phone for an appointment with one of our transportation engineers. Let him show you hauling figures of Packard owners in the same line of business as your own.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to relatives, friends and neighbors for the many acts of kindness and sympathy extended us in the sickness and death of our dear mother, Mrs. Pearl Tumey. We especially thank Dr. C. E. Stephenson for his constant attendance and kindness, McNeely & Sons, undertakers, for their kind and efficient services; the employes of the toll department of the Central Union Telephone Company for their kind and sympathetic, the Prudential Life Insurance Company for their efficient service, the Fisher pharmacy for their kind and prompt services, and to all for the many beautiful floral offerings, and to each and every one who assisted us in any way. THE FAMILY.

In Loving Remembrance of August Carl Tamm, who died April 27, 1918, two years ago today.

The depth of our sorrow we can not tell
In the loss of him we loved so well.
And while he lies in peaceful sleep
His memory we shall always keep.

FEMALE HELP WANTED.

HAVE
you learned a "trade" that enables you to get a fat envelope every Saturday? Or do you just work around from one "job" to another?
Knowing a good "trade" is like having money in the bank. You always have capital on which to rely. If you contemplate learning a trade why not choose Glove Making,
because it is one that is solely for women; is the lightest of the needle trades, has no dull season, is neither noisy nor greasy, has no disagreeable odors, pays high rates and is located out of the factory district in plenty of sunshine and fresh air.

Exports of wheat and flour from July 1 to April 16 aggregated 157,539,000 bushels, compared with 235,917,000 bushels last year.

VISIBLE GRAIN SUPPLY.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The visible supply of grain, estimated by the New York Produce Exchange, is as follows: Wheat, 42,968,000; a year ago, 61,523,000. Corn, 5,680,000; a year ago, 3,581,000. Oats, 7,250,000; a year ago, 21,540,000. Rye, 18,030,000; a year ago, 17,234,000. Barley, 3,054,000; a year ago, 14,143,000. Changes for the last week are: Wheat, increased 553,000 bushels; corn, increased 359,000 bushels; oats, decreased 616,000 bushels; rye, decreased 536,000 bushels; barley, decreased 327,000 bushels.

Buys Argentine Seed Wheat.
BUENOS AIRES, April 27.—All seed wheat in the province of Chubut, southern Argentina has been bought by a North American firm, according to reports. This announcement, coupled with record exportations of wheat since January 1, which total nearly 80,000,000 bushels, has created some alarm, and newspapers are discussing danger of over-exportation.

WOOLEN COMPANY PROFITS IN 1919 $15,513,415 NET

Annual Report Says Tremendous Demand for Fine Goods Sent Prices Upward.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Net profits of the American Woolen Company for 1919 amounted to $15,513,415, less reserves for taxes and contingencies, according to the annual report, issued today.

Payment of dividends of $2,800,000 on preferred stock and $3,200,000 on common and depreciation of $3,733,611 left a balance of profit for the year of $5,779,804.

Surplus for 1919 amounted to $12,029,804, which, added to that of 1918, brings the total surplus to $31,754,426.

Reviewing the activities of the company for 1919, William W. Wood, president, said in part:

"The year 1919 has been a successful one considering the very unusual and disturbed conditions, and the readjusting of industry to pre-war or civilian basis. At the first of the year the cancellation of government contracts with no civilian orders in sight left a great deal of our machinery idle. On account of the unsettled conditions throughout the country there was no market for goods, but with the opening of our line in February at attractive prices the state of perplexity and pessimistic attitude of customers changed to a feeling of confidence and optimism.

"One of the features of the year has been the great demand for fine wool and cloth made of fine stock. This unprecedented demand for fine wools has resulted in tremendous increases in prices of fine stock. Since February, 1919, prices of these wools have risen 30 to 40 per cent. and at the close of the year were still advancing.

"The needs of the company for the coming season have been anticipated by securing advance supplies. The close of the year leaves your company with unfilled orders of sufficient volume to keep the machinery fully employed well into the year of 1920 and with good prospects of full production for the year."

VARIOUS PRICE ADVANCES.

All grades of white sheeting have been advanced in price at local wholesale dry goods houses. The increases vary from 2 to 36 cents a yard. One grade of brown bunting is ¼-cent a yard higher.

Pinto beans are ¼-cent up and table salt has advanced 25 cents at local wholesale grocery houses. Alcohol, nonbeverage, has jumped 35 cents at wholesale drug houses, but gum camphor is 25 cents a pound lower.

Tinners' steel supplies have gone up with the rise in the steel market. Increases range from 75 cents to $1.20.

Junk dealers' prices, on the other hand, are lower. Scrap iron is down 15 cents a hundred pounds. Rubber prices are 1 to 2 cents lower. Calfskin is 2c a pound lower.

Chicago Grain Stocks.
CHICAGO, April 27.—Wheat stocks in all positions in Chicago decreased 471,000 bushels last week; corn, 7,000 bushels; oats, 135,000 bushels; rye, 586,000 bushels, and barley 48,000 bushels. Details follow, the last three ciphers omitted except in totals:

	Public.	Private.	Total.	Last year.
Wheat	2,513	5,777	8,093,000	9,621,000
Corn	95	1,130	1,225,000	939,000
Oats	588	2,238	2,826,000	3,500,000
Rye	480	584	1,064,000	1,396,000
Barley	283	385	618,000	3,261,000

INDIANA WRITER DEAD.

Marjorie Benton Cooke, Richmond, Pneumonia Victim at Manila.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Marjorie Benton Cooke, author and monologist, is dead at Manila, P. I., according to a cable message received here. Her death resulted from pneumonia. She was forty-four years old.

Miss Cooke was born in Richmond, Ind., and was graduated from the University of Chicago. She was the author of numerous short stories and of several books and plays.

Born and Reared at Richmond.
[Special to The Indianapolis News]
RICHMOND, Ind., April 27.—Miss Marjorie Benton Cooke, the novelist, whose death occurred at Manila, P. I., was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Cooke, of Richmond. She was born here forty-four years ago, was educated in the public schools of Richmond, and after her parents moved to Chicago twenty-five years ago, attended schools in the east.

Miss Cooke's father was at one time city clerk of Richmond, and her mother was a daughter of General William P. Benton, one of the prominent civil war figures of Wayne county and eastern Indiana. Miss Cooke and her mother were both ill in New York with influenza during the winter, and had gone to the Philippines for a brief stay in the hope of recovering their health.

A letter received Saturday by a Richmond relative said they had arrived in Japan for a short stay, and would proceed to Manila. Besides her mother, Miss Cooke is survived by a brother, Edison Cooke, of Chicago.

PONTIAC MURDER MYSTERY

Michigan Police Work to Solve Telephone Operator's Death.

PONTIAC, Mich., April 27.—The body of Miss Vera Schneider, age 20, telephone operator, killed in a vacant house in a restricted residence district here Saturday, was taken to Elkton, Mich., today for burial at her old home, while authorities here and at Detroit continued their search for her assailant.

The local police were looking for a man who on several occasions recently had annoyed the young woman with his attentions and the Detroit officers were checking up the statements of Alfred Webb and his wife in an effort to substantiate or disprove Webb's alibi.

Webb was in jail at Detroit, having been spirited away from Pontiac last night when a crowd of 1,500 persons, including many women, surrounded the county jail and threatened violence. He was held without a warrant pending investigation of his story to the effect that he had known the Schneider girl and accompanied her home from work two nights last week, but had spent last Saturday and Sunday with his wife at Detroit. Mrs. Webb corroborated the statement.

LEGION MAY DAY PARADE.

All Posts of County Called to Meet Saturday—Concert at Monument.

All Marion County American Legion posts have been called by J. J. Swan, chairman of the Marion county Americanism committee, to assemble in Pennsylvania street between New York and Vermont streets Saturday at 2:30 p. m., to march in a May day parade. The plan was decided on following a suggestion at a county meeting Sunday that radicals should not be permitted to monopolize May 1 as a day for their demonstrations.

Russell Ryan has been appointed chairman of the parade committee by Mr. Swan. The other members are Judge Solon J. Carter and James S. Dale. A band concert and speeches are on the program for a patriotic demonstration at Monument Circle. The route of the parade will be: Pennsylvania street to Washington street, west to Illinois street, north to New York street, east to Meridian street and south to Monument Circle.

Taft Speaks at Tuskegee.
TUSKEGEE, Ala., April 27.—Former President William H. Taft was the principal speaker today at the Founders' day exercises of Tuskegee Institute. Mr. Taft reviewed the life of Booker T. Washington, founder of the institute, and congratulated the schol on the progress made since its founding. Many persons from the north and south attended the exercises.

ABANDON CAR AFTER WRECK

Two Young Men Escape From Stolen Machine—3 Other Cars Taken.

An automobile belonging to William R. Hirst, 523 East Fifty-first street, stolen Monday night from in front of 3439 College avenue, was recovered a few hours later after the thieves had driven it into a machine driven by Russell E. Lee, 2840 Ruckle street, at Central avenue and Fall creek boulevard. After the collision, two young men who were in the car jumped out and ran.

Four young men were seen stealing an automobile from in front of 621 Fulton street. The car belonged to Louis Chevrolet, 26 West Thirty-sixth street, automobile race driver.

Two other automobiles, one belonging to Walter F. Gimmerman, 1812 Central avenue, and the other to William H. Barrere, Jr., of the Hotel Lincoln, were reported stolen. The car belonging to Barrere was found a few hours later.

Clarence Axe, 503 South Harding street, is under arrest on a charge of vehicle taking. According to Detectives Fields and Winkler, Axe is alleged to have stolen a car belonging to William Birchfield, 635 Holly avenue, from a garage in the rear of the 400 block in Division street in December, 1919.

SOFT DRINK RULING GIVEN.

More for 10 cents or 7-Cent Limit, Wyckoff Says.

Either the size of soft drinks and bottled sodas must be increased three ounces, to be sold for 10 cents, as proposed by the Indianapolis Association of Retail Druggists, or drinks at the present size must not be sold at more than 7 cents, according to a ruling given today by Stanley Wyckoff, fair price commissioner, for Indiana, to the association. This will be enforced, he said, by ordering ice cream manufacturers not to deal with retailers who do not obey the order. Should the ice cream men violate this their ration of sugar can be stopped, Mr. Wyckoff said. The druggists will hold a meeting Friday to consider the proposition.

An increase on ice cream to 65 cents a quart was approved by Mr. Wyckoff Monday after a demonstration showed that a shrinkage of about 25 per cent. is caused by packing the cream into paper buckets used for retail trade.

PROBABLY FATALLY INJURED

Edward Solomon, Painter, Falls From a Scaffold.

Edward Solomon, age thirty-six, 1055 Harlan avenue, a painter, was probably fatally injured today when he fell thirty feet from a scaffold on a building under construction at St. Peter street and the Big Four railroad. His skull was fractured, and physicians at the St. Francis Hospital, where he was taken, said he can not recover.

Solomon was working for the C. A. Wilhelm Company, contracting painters and decorators, 116 East Ohio street. He had been employed by the company about six months. The building on which he was working is being constructed for the Groth Company. He was walking on a board supported by part of the iron frame of the building. The frame gave way, throwing him to the ground. Bicyclemen Moriarity and Harris investigated. Solomon is married.

Dr. Carleton B. McCulloch Addresses Five Gatherings.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]
ANDERSON, Ind., April 27.—Dr. Carleton B. McCulloch, of Indianapolis, Democratic candidate for the nomination for Governor, was touring Madison county today. Dr. McCulloch made his first speech at Pendleton, where he spoke to more than 100 persons in a small theater there. He arrived in Anderson at noon, accompanied by John H. Heller, editor of the Decatur Democrat, and was the guest of Dale J. Crittenberger at lunch. Dr. McCulloch made a brief speech at the courthouse at 1 o'clock and later went to Alexandria and Summitville. Dr. McCulloch will close his Madison county tour at Elwood tonight.

When you offer collateral, the safer your securities are, the more you can borrow on them. Is it not significant of the safety of our First Mortgage Real Estate Certificates that one of our customers reports that he was able to borrow from his bank 100% of their face value?

CALL MONEY RISES AND STOCK PRICES WEAKEN

LOWER EXCHANGE AND FEAR OF FEDERAL TAXES.

LOANS UP TO 10 PER CENT.

Average Stock Prices

The average price of twenty industrial stocks Monday was $71.20, up 1.44 per cent. The average price of twenty active rails was 74.98, up 2.97 per cent.

Fears of drastic federal tax legislation and renewal of bear activity contributed to the irregularity of Tuesday's stock market. Sales approximated 1,350,000 shares.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Stocks were again influenced at the strong opening of today's market by favorable developments of the previous session, first gains extending from ½ to 1½ points. Reading eased slightly at the outset, however, the first sale of 4,000 shares at 91½ to 91¾ comparing with yesterday's final price of 92¼. Motors, oils, steels and textiles were prominent in the further rise. United States Steel, whose directors meet after the close of the market for action on the quarterly dividend, made only a fractional gain. Preliminary quotations for exchange on London indicated further heaviness.

The market reacted moderately in the first hour, General Motors making an extreme reversal of 5 points. Selling pressure at this period was ascribed to weakness of exchange and the proposed retroactive 80 per cent. war tax. All losses were recovered before noon, coal shares leading the rebound. Reading extended over 3 points from yesterday's best, while the first and second preferred issues rose about 8 points. Related coalers, notably Central of New Jersey, Delaware & Hudson and Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, were 3 to 5 points higher, and other rails gained 1 to 3. Pools continued active in oils, equipments, steels and textiles. Call money was freely offered at 7 per cent.

Buying of rails abated at midday, trading in equipments, steels and oils becoming more active. Baldwin Locomotive, American Car, Crucible Steel, Vanadium, Replogle, Pan-American, Sinclair and Atlantic Gulf were prominent at overnight gains of 2 to 3 points.

Call money rose to 10 per cent., provoking reactions of 2 to 10 points, with many actual losses of 1 to 5. The closing was heavy.

Union Pacific Income.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The net income of the Union Pacific Railroad Company for 1919 from all sources, after charges, federal tax payments of $34,419,213 and payment of preferred dividends, was equivalent to 18.69 per cent. a share on the common stock, against 12.87 in 1918, according to the annual report made public today.

COTTON PRICES REACT.

Weakness of May and Break in Sterling Exchange Check Buying.

NEW YORK, April 27.—There was a renewal of yesterday's buying movement in the new crop positions at the opening of the cotton market today and first prices were firm at an advance of 3 to 56 points. May was for sale at 41.00c, however, and the price of that position soon broke to 40.60c, owing to the circulation of notices, which were estimated at 700 bales or over and caused scattering liquidation. The weakness of the near position and the sharp break in sterling checked buying on the unfavorable weather news and after net advances of 60 to 80 points on July and later months, there were reactions of 20 to 30 points from the best.

May steadied after the early decline of about 30 points, and later months showed increasing strength during the middle of the morning, owing to the unfavorable showing of the official weather map and more numerous private reports of an unfavorable new crop start. May rallied to 40.95c, or 35 points net higher, while later months sold 45 to 70 points above last night, with July touching 39.38c and October 36.66c. The official forecasts suggesting clearing conditions in the eastern belt and warmer weather in the southwest tomorrow led to some realizing, however, and there were reactions of 40 to 45 points around midday.

The mid-day break extended to 38.58c for July and 34.95c for December or about 5 to 97 points net lower with near months relatively easy under realizing and selling for a reaction. Fluctuations were irregular with prices ruling about net unchanged to 20 points lower during the middle of the afternoon.

Futures closed steady: May, 40.75c; July, 38.60c; October, 35.50c; December, 34.87c; January, 34.20c.

—April 27—

A run of only 3,000 hogs and an equal number held over from the day before, were large enough to supply the demand.

An account of the light supply sellers asked up to $16.50, 75c to $1.00 higher, for light hogs, but the best early bids were not more than 50c higher. An embargo on the Big Four railroad on all eastern shipments interfered with outside business but the foreign orders were limited more on account of adequate receipts of hogs at the markets nearer home. Only about 1,000 hogs finally sold to outsiders and they were for points in Ohio.

In the earliest trading, Armour put up a drove of several hundred light hogs at $16.00, but other buyers were not offering more than $15.75 and an outsider finally obtained several loads at that price. Kingan & Co. then dropped their bid to $15.50, but there seemed to be no disposition to sell at that price which was only steady with Monday.

Only one good-sized drove of sows sold as high as $12.50 and most of the sales were at $12.00 to $12.25. Pigs were also only about steady, with sales from $14.50 down, but one drove of 135-pound pigs sold to a local packer at $15.50.

Kingan finally bought about 400 good light hogs at $15.75 and it was estimated that fully 2,000 hogs were left unsold.

Some Sales of Cattle Higher.

Cattle prices were fully steady or a little stronger than on the day before. Some of the business was 25c higher. There were sales of steers averaging more than 1,200 pounds at $13.25, heifers in carload lots as high as $12.65 and odd cows up to $11.50. For the first time in several days there was an advance in prices of bulls and $10.50 was the practical top price. The calf market started steady, with the best veals selling up to $18.00, but later, just as good kinds sold at $14.50. There was no change in the market for feeding cattle.

The local situation is still feeling the effect of the conditions at Chicago, but on the opening market this week the best price for steers here, $13.60, was 10c higher than in Chicago. According to reports Chicago prices are subnormal on account of the limited outlet for the live cattle as well as the dressed beef. The highest price here on Tuesday was $14.00, paid for fourteen thoroughbred black cattle raised and shipped by Ben Simmons, of Lebanon, who is a breeder of Angus cattle. They averaged 830 pounds and were sold by Gish, Carmichael & Co.

TORCH OF REPUBLICANS IS UPHELD BY HARDING

CANDIDATE AGAIN CONDEMNS STAND OF WILSON.

DISCUSSES WAR RESULTS

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 27.—President Wilson's course in dealing with the United States regarding the peace treaty and the league of nations covenant was vigorously condemned by Warren G. Harding, United States senator from Ohio and candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, in an address at the Lincoln Club in this city last night. Senator Harding was the first of the group of Republican presidential candidates to appear here and he was heard by an audience of several hundred men and women. George P. Haywood, former postmaster presided, and in connection with the speaking a public reception was held in which Senator Harding's wife greeted the citizens with her husband.

"I pledge you my word, fellow-countrymen," said Senator Harding as he began speaking, "that I am more interested in the success of the Republican party in this year of our Lord 1920 than I am in who is to be elected President. I am in this campaign primarily to hold aloft the torch of Republicanism."

Says Senate Was Blocked.

He devoted a major portion of his address to a discussion of conditions growing out of the world war. He said that the senate of the United States was prevented from restoring the country and the world to a peace time basis by the refusal of President Wilson to heed the voice of the American people. "But President Wilson did not keep us out of war," continued the speaker, "and he can not keep us out of peace."

The speaker declared for military training, but said it should be voluntary, not compulsory. He upheld his course in voting for the Cummins bill with its provisions for preventing conspiracies to tie up the transportation systems of the country, and said it was as fair to labor as to capital and the general public. On the subject of a merchant marine he said that the shipping now owned by the government as a heritage of the war should be sold to private companies and operated by them with the provision that every ship sail under the American flag.

Firm Hand in Mexico.

Concerning the Mexican situation, he said that a firm hand was all that was needed to settle the problem there. He said that "watchful waiting" was responsible for all the Mexican trouble. "The Republican party should write into its platform a pledge to make the American flag respected in every part of the world, including Mexico," he said.

"What the world needs more than anything else today is stimulated production," he continued. "Labor should receive its just reward. I am glad high wages are being paid, but they should mean something more than at present. High wages without increased production inevitably mean a constantly rising cost of living and additional burdens for the wage earners to bear."

Condemns Extravagance.

He declared strongly against government ownership of railroads and interference with private industry. The government, he said, is doing too much regulating and not paying enough attention to regularity. He condemned government extravagance and said it was reflected in the high cost of living. Taxes, he said, should be reduced, and the numerous commissions and unnecessary positions at Washington abolished.

In his plea for American sovereignty at all times he said: "I would rather break the heart of the world than destroy the soul of American nationality. The Republican party should resolve to cling everlastingly to American nationality and hold unabridged every inheritance of constitutional American liberty. There is this one consolation for us: Congress is functioning again and we shall soon put an end to one-man government. Our security is in coordinate government under the Constitution. Wartime burdens in time of peace show scant consideration of uncomplaining patriotism."

In closing, he declared for just compensation to the men who fought for America in the world war.

STEADY DOWN, HARDING PLEA.

Candidate Urges Common Sense in Crawfordsville Address.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., April 27.—Warren G. Harding, United States senator from Ohio, who spoke before a large audience here Monday afternoon at Masonic temple, in his campaign through Indiana for the Republican presidential nomination, made a strong plea for the people of America to "steady down, think straight and act with common sense," if they would bring this country safely through the crisis which it is facing in the early reconstruction days following the world war.

"What we need is not more liberation but more stabilization," said Senator Harding; "not more regulations but more regularity. We must get our feet squarely on the ground and see where we are going."

Senator Harding spoke at length on the league of nations covenant and why the United States senate refused to ratify it, after the President had given it to the senate with he admonition that it should be adopted "without even the dotting of an 'i' or the crossing of a 't.'"

"The European politicians traded Wilson out of his boots," declared Harding. "The President bartered away in his treaty the rich heritage of nationality, handed down to us by our forefathers. We must put our own house in order before we attempt to run the world. The President said something about the heart of the world. I had rather break the heart of the world than to destroy the soul of our beloved United States."

Senator Harding said he believed a standing army of 200,000 men would be sufficient for our needs in peace time, and expressed himself in favor of voluntary but not compulsory military training. He said the people of this country "want no Prussianizing over here." He criticised Wilson for trying to be the one big man in the world's affairs. "No one man is big enough to run these United States, let alone running the whole world," declared the senator.

Senator Harding was accompanied to Crawfordsville by Mrs. Harding. Before the address, which was delivered at 2:30 o'clock and which required more than an hour for its delivery, Senator and Mrs. Harding were guests at a reception at the Masonic temple. The senator was introduced by Professor Rollo W. Brown, head of the department of English composition in Wabash College, who is a native of Ohio. Mrs. Brown was reared in Marion, O., the home of Senator and Mrs. Harding, and is personally acquainted with them. Senator and Mrs. Harding left after the address for Lafayette, where the candidate was to speak last night.

HARDING REVIEWS STAND.

Speaks Before Putnam Republicans at Greencastle Meeting.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]

GREENCASTLE, Ind., April 27.—Warren G. Harding, United States senator from Ohio, who is seeking the Republican nomination for President, addressed a large audience of Putnam county citizens here this afternoon. He outlined his policies and again condemned President Wilson for his attitude on the peace treaty. Senator Harding urged the co-operation of all government agencies, the adoption of a budget system and the lowering of expenses. He also urged greater production and a fair wage for labor, saying that with increased efficiency high prices will abide and cheapened cost will attend.

He said the Republican party should oppose government ownership and nationalization of industry or any compromise with socialism. He praised the soldiers of the world war and said every party should pledge the gratitude of the republic to these men.

Senator Harding said he favored a big navy as the first line of defense for America, a stronger airplane force to assist the navy, a standing army sufficient to meet our needs and voluntary military training. He pleaded for the defense of our national rights, and urged the right of any American to go on a righteous mission anywhere in safety under the American flag.

Senator Harding was the second presidential candidate to appear here this week. General Wood spoke yesterday, and tomorrow Governor Lowden comes in the afternoon, and in the evening Senator Kenyon will speak in the interest of Senator Hiram W. Johnson. Senator Johnson may speak here Saturday.

SHORTRIDGE BREAKS EVEN

Affirmative Debaters Defeat Louisville—Negative Loses Contest.

A debating team of the Shortridge High School won Monday afternoon from a team from the Louisville Boys' High School, debating the affirmative of the subject, "Resolved: That the final draft of the league of nations covenant should be ratified by the United States." The other Shortridge team, with the negative of the subject, lost at Cincinnati to the Walnut Hills High School team of that city. The affirmative team of the Louisville school won from the Cincinnati negative team at Louisville.

The members of the Shortridge affirmative team were Richard Coons, Gordon Griffith and John Ferris, and of the negative team, James Jobes, Edward McGavran and Henry Stedfeldt. The judges of the debate in Indianapolis were Charles E. Rush, city librarian; Wendell S. Brooks, of the Brooks School for Boys, and Professor James W. Putnam, of Butler College.

WIRE COMMUNICATION TO BE REVOLUTIONIZED

GENERAL SQUIER REVEALS SIGNAL CORPS EXPERIMENTS.

INSULATION IS DISCARDED

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Telephone, telegraph and cable communication methods may be revolutionized as a result of experiments conducted by the army signal corps and described today before the National Academy of Scientists by Major-Gen. George A. Squier, chief of the corps.

Explaining how the army had obtained well nigh perfect results both in telegraphing and telephoning over bare wires laid in the water and on and under the ground, Gen. Squier predicted that the expensive heavily insulated land submarine cables now in use would be replaced by single bare wires over which a number of telephone and telegraph messages would be sent at the same time.

Across Potomac River.

General Squier told the scientists that both telegraph and telephone communication was established recently between Ft. Washington, Md., and Ft. Hunt, Va., three-quarters of a mile apart, on opposite sides of the Potomac river, by the use of bare phosphor-bronze wire laid in the river to connect the two stations.

Similar communication was established between two stations at the signal corps laboratory at Camp Alfred Vail, N. J., by using bare copper wire buried about eight inches in the earth and connecting the two stations about three-quarters of a mile apart.

As ocean telegraphy in its present form has reached a limit and submarine telephony is practically impossible, General Squier said, the hope for improvement lies in the adoption of bare wires laid in the water, using high frequency current, and in the study of the necessary changes.

War Brought Development.

While the germ of the present idea was noted by General Squier in 1910, it was not until the United States entered the war that the necessity for rapid development came. He told the scientists that the need of eliminating insulation arose when the United States was called on to supply the allies as well as itself. Machinery for insulating wire in use in this country had a capacity of only 8,000 miles a month, whereas 40,000 miles of wire monthly was required by the American army alone.

LABOR UNIONS MAKE PLANS FOR VISIT OF GLENN PLUMB

County Central Body Appoints Vice-Presidents of Reception Committee—Labor Day Parade.

All officers of local unions in the county and of state and international labor bodies were made vice-presidents on a reception committee for Glenn E. Plumb, advocate of the Plumb plan for ownership of railroads, by a resolution adopted Monday night by the Marion County Central Labor Union at its meeting at Labor Temple, 35-41 West Pearl street. Mr. Plumb will explain his proposal to have railroad ownership vested in the government, the employes and the present owners, at a meeting Sunday evening at Tomlinson hall, it was announced.

What part the C. L. U. should take in the centennial observance of the founding of Indianapolis in June was discussed, and the matter was referred to four groups of organizations, printing trades, railroad workers, building trades and all other locals. Each group was instructed to report its plans at the next semi-monthly meeting.

Discussion of the management of the annual Labor day parade occupied more than half of the evening, but no decision was reached on a proposed amendment to the constitution of the C. L. U. providing that a committee of five should handle the arrangements.

By failure of this amendment to pass, the management of the parade was left to the Labor day parade committee, composed of delegates from local unions whether affiliated with the C. L. U. or not, and an organization meeting of these delegates will be held Sunday in the Labor Temple.

Howard Robbins was elected and installed as recording secretary of the C. L. U.

BANKERS NAME DELEGATION

St. Louis Man to Head Party to Paris Chamber of Commerce Meeting.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Announcement was made today by the American Bankers' Association that Festus J. Wade, of St. Louis, had been appointed to head the association's delegation to the organization meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce in Paris, June 21. Other members of the delegation are: Johns P. Hagey, Chicago; W. L. Hemingway, St. Louis; W. H. Hooth, New York, and John Bollinger, Boston.

TO REVISE AMUSEMENT BAN

Methodist Conference Probably Will Take Action Secretary Says.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 27.—The Rev. Dr. Edmund M. Mills, acting secretary for the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which opens Saturday at Des Moines, Ia., has announced that the conference probably would revise the ban on amusements, changing it from a mandatory act in the book of discipline to a word of advice.

Memorials submitted to Dr. Mills from conferences in all parts of the country show that about one-third of the preachers wish to eliminate all reference to dancing, theaters and card playing, with the others uncertain as how to deal with the proposition.

In view of the fact that the preachers do not put men and women on trial for these amusements, Dr. Mills will move the elimination of the following words in that part of the book of discipline dealing with the trial of a member for imprudent conduct: "Dancing, playing at games of chance, attending theaters, horse races, circuses, dancing parties, patronizing dancing schools or taking part in such other amusements as are obviously of misleading and questionable moral tendency."

After striking out the words referred to, Dr. Mills would have a star placed at this point dealing with trials making it compulsory for the ministers to read the chapter on "amusements" under the head of "advice."

In the matter of laymen being seated in the annual conferences, the memorials show them to be defeated by at least 500 votes. The laymen carried the measure ten to one but were defeated by the ministers.

TO OPERATE MOTOR ROUTES

Highway Transport Association Also Votes to Incorporate—New Routes.

A decision was reached to take over and operate the established motor routes out of Indianapolis and to establish new routes in the state where adequate freight service has not been established, at a meeting of the executive committee and board of directors of the Indiana Highway Transport Association at the Chamber of Commerce Monday.

It also was decided to incorporate the association, with a capital stock of $50,000. N. H. Cartinhour, Frank Shellhouse and William G. Kreis were appointed a committee to draw up a charter. Stock in the corporation will be sold at $25 a share.

A committee of the association is to conduct negotiations with the Cincinnati, Indianapolis & Western Railroad Company to acquire the old freighthouse in West street to be used as a motor truck freight terminal.

Little Stories of Daily Life

Country Cured.

They were city folk, but they had gone to the country to spend the week-end and get "fed up." Early Sunday morning the farmer heard the city wife say to her husband: "John, how can you lay in bed; can't you smell that delicious ham they are cooking downstairs?"

At the breakfast she said: "This is the most delicious ham I ever wanted to taste, so rich in flavor, and nothing like what we get in the city. Would you mind selling me three slices for my sister. She is just crazy about country cured ham."

The farmer turned to his wife and asked: "Do you think we can spare her three slices?"

"Yes, I think we have enough to run us till Saturday," she replied.

A Common Wish.

Little Henry Hoanhammer is a typical Hoosier youngster, who uses his ears to good advantage. Since prohibition has been enforced in Indiana he has heard a great many remarks made by people who in the past were accustomed to imbibing occasionally. But recently he electrified his family by his own opinion.

The Christmas tree was aglow and every one was talking about its beauty, etc. Finally it came Henry's time to say something and he did. He looked at the brilliant tree. "Gee, it's all lit up," he sighed, "and I sure wish I was, too."

Glasses of Quality

When your eyes trouble you let our Optometrist examine them, correct the error of refraction and give you standard vision. Too much care can not be given to the making of eyeglasses and spectacles, to assure real ease and comfort to the eyes. Our glasses have a touch of distinction, individual fitness and beautiful adjustment. That is what makes them so much appreciated. We use care and taste in designing—shape the lenses just right and select the best looking mounting. We make the wearing of glasses a pleasure for you.

Consult Our Optometrist, Wm. T. Pfaff.
