

Tell Lumumba

Continued from page 1

duct. The United Nations action here was endorsed in the final resolution of the conference.

The resolution expressed "regrets" that some incidents have troubled the collaboration and cooperation that must be wholehearted between the Congo Government and the United Nations. It urged that measures be taken to prevent their repetition.

THE RESOLUTION ALSO:

Recommended a conference of African heads of state in time to send their views to the United Nations General Assembly, which convenes Sept. 20.

Declared African assistance to the Congo should be increased and harmonized with all other aid, including that of the United Nations.

Condemned "secessionist and colonialist movements aimed at dividing the Congo" and declared the central Government to be the only legitimate and legal authority in the Congo. The resolution called on all Congolese leaders to preserve unity.

In his talk, Lumumba asserted, "We want no foreign military base in the Congo, even if it is to be controlled or managed by the United Nations."

This was an allusion to the base at Kamina in Katanga, which the United Nations has taken over from the Belgians.

The newspaper Congo published a formal full-column apology from Gen. Victor Lundula, head of the Congo Army, for the beating of the Americans and Canadians in Stanleyville.

Meanwhile the conference delegates expressed high appreciation for the efforts made by UN Undersecretary Ralph Bunche to mediate the civil strife in the Congo. After several representatives had vocally expressed their praise of Bunche, the group unanimously adopted a resolution addressed to Bunche at UN headquarters in New York.

While the group was heaping praise on Bunche, the noted American diplomat and Noble Peace prize winner was across the river in Brazzaville awaiting transportation back to the United States.

"I'm a patient man," the Undersecretary said in a tired voice. "But my patience has worn thin."

Dr. Bunche, who was Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's personal representative for two and a half months, spoke with feeling of the United Nations effort and of difficulties encountered by the international force.

He depicted as "a tragic, outrageous experience" the ordeal of eight American fliers and two Canadians who were severely injured by Congolese soldiers in Stanleyville recently.

Dr. Bunche visited the ten injured men at a hospital with Andrew W. Cordier, Hammarskjöld's executive assistant, and Maj. Gen. Carl Carlsson von Horn of Sweden, United Nations commander-in-chief.

Dr. Bunche said the American fliers had high praise for the Ethiopian soldiers who came to their rescue.

He said an American had told him that if the Ethiopians had opened fire it would have led to a blood bath.

HE SAID the wounded men had told of an Ethiopian nurse who threw herself on a Congo Army jeep as it took an American away. She was pushed off but she followed the jeep to a prison, where she, herself, was arrested and threatened with execution before Ethiopian soldiers rescued her along with the Americans.

Dr. Bunche said suspicion was the main difficulty encountered by the United Nations in the Congo. He said suspicion ran deep as a heritage from colonialism.

Dr. Bunche conferred with his successor, Rajeshwar Dayal, who has been India's high commissioner in Pakistan, before leaving his post.

—REGISTER TO VOTE—

N. Y. Teenagers

(Continued from Page 1)

animal called "paramesitium caudatum."

By chance, he tried a crude commercial animal-feed supplement made from dried material left over from the process of producing the antibiotic drug, streptomycin. The results were good.

Dr. Moses D. Tendler, director of Yeshiva's NSF program, remembered that this same streptomycin residue had been in local hospital use for 10 years as a "nutritive" for patients with advanced cancer. There also had been reports that the substance had occasionally slowed the growth or temporarily reduced the size of tumors.

BUT LENTENK's findings posed a seeming paradox: that is, on the one hand, the material stimulated growth in an animal, while on the other hand it apparently could inhibit growth in a tumor.

Patricia had been doing research into the possibility that human cancer is a growth "failure," rather than a growth speed-up as it has been considered.

She came up with evidence indicating that while a cancer may appear to represent accelerated growth of cells, actually there is a failure of some type in certain mechanisms going on in the nuclei of affected cells.

Thus, supervising scientists concluded, it appears consistent to consider young Lenten's material as a growth promoter—whether applied to the wiggly paramesitium or to attacking a cancer.

Patricia said she and her associates hope their work "will stimulate research on the idea that cancer is a systematic disease—involving the entire body—and that the tumor itself is merely the system."

Conceding that the view is quite radical, she added: "In fact, we believe that where certain drugs have worked temporarily in the treatment of cancer, their value has not been in their cell-killing properties, as is generally believed, but in overcom[ing] (cellular) growth failure in the system generally."

—REGISTER TO VOTE—

THE INDIANAPOLIS RECORDER
Published Weekly by the
GEORGE P. STEWART
PRINTING COMPANY, INC.
Main Office 518 Indiana Ave.
Indianapolis, Indiana
Entered at the Post Office, Indianapolis, Indiana, as second-class matter under the Act of March 7, 1879.
National Advertising Representative
Interstate United Newspapers, Inc.,
546 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.
Member: Audit Bureau of Circulation, National Newspaper Publishers Association, Hoosier State Press Association.
Unpublished manuscripts, pictures and cuts will not be returned unless accompanied by postage to cover same.
Subscription Rates: 1 Yr. $3.00 4.00
City 3.25 4.50
Indiana 3.50 4.50
Elsewhere 3.50 5.00
Single Copy Price 15¢

THE "Y" OAK TREE: This beautiful young pine oak tree stands on the grounds of the Fall Creek YMCA in front of the youth department, gradually pushing its limbs upward toward the heavens. It is growing taller and stronger each day as would a young boy growing into manhood. This tree represents the thousands of young boys whose lives were influenced by the late John Edward Harper, who died April 22, 1959. Mr. Harper was a teacher at Crispus Attucks High School and a volunteer worker in the "Y" for 17 years, and he directed the annual state conference for Hi-Y boys sponsored by the "Y". Last week a group of boys dedicated this tree, with Mrs. J. E. Harper unveiling the bronze stone. On it the following is engraved: "Given in loving memory of John Edward Harper, in appreciation of his life of service to the youth by Dr. and Mrs. Oakel Fowler Hall, Mrs. H. Frederick Willkie, H. Frederick II, Arlinda, Julia and Hall Willkie.

er in the "Y" for 17 years, and he directed the annual state conference for Hi-Y boys sponsored by the "Y". Last week a group of boys dedicated this tree, with Mrs. J. E. Harper unveiling the bronze stone. On it the following is engraved: "Given in loving memory of John Edward Harper, in appreciation of his life of service to the youth by Dr. and Mrs. Oakel Fowler Hall, Mrs. H. Frederick Willkie, H. Frederick II, Arlinda, Julia and Hall Willkie.

Hits Sweepstakes, Hires His Own Pullman Car for Tour of Nation

HOBOKEN, N. J. — It takes a long, hard dream, luck in the Irish Sweepstakes and your wishes may come true as they did for retired Pullman porter William Tyler.

The 78-year-old Tyler constantly dreamed of leasing his own Pullman car for a trip around the country.

True to his dream, Tyler passed through this city in the private car aboard the Lackawanna Railroad with his wife and six friends, as a result of a lucky first place ticket in the Irish Sweepstakes last May.

This lean, alert man with a jaunty cap and high button shoes, said that he missed the old steam locomotives that ran during his railroading days and finally his lifelong ambition had been realized.

"How I used to love the sound

Little Rock Judge Rules Negroes Must File Individual School Suits

LITTLE ROCK—While the U. S. Supreme Court in Washington has moved to step up the pace of public school integration in several areas of the South at the start of the school year, a Federal judge of the school year a Federal judge ruling which could slow down school desegregation in the South if the ruling is upheld by the high court.

The high court this week rejected pleas for delay at Houston, Tex., largest segregated school system in the South, at New Orleans, where state and federal officials have been at odds for weeks, and in Delaware.

The first grade at New Orleans was ordered integrated Sept. 8 by Federal District Judge J. Skelly Wright. However, he granted a delay until Nov. 14 when the board contended it could not implement the ruling at the start of the school year after Gov. Jimmie Davis seized control of the school system Aug. 17. A three-judge court returned control of the New Orleans school to the school board last week but the governor asked the high court to stay the order. In Little Rock, U. S. District Judge John E. Miller said in effect, that Negroes must file individual suits rather than class actions in any future school integration matters. This would make it impossible for a number of Negroes to join in a single suit aimed at compelling a school board to assign them to schools for white persons.

THE JUDGE said this week that the Little Rock school board was using the Arkansas pupil placement law fairly in refusing to shift 14 Negro pupils from all-Negro Horace Mann High to predominantly white Central, Hall or Technical High.

The Negroes filed their protest against the school board's handling of the placement law as a "class action" on behalf of the class or group they represented.

Wiley Branton, Negro attorney or the plaintiffs, said "I don't think there's any question but that we'll have to appeal the order."

The school board already has assigned 13 Negroes to one-white Central and Hall High school for the fall term. The assignments were made under the placement law.

The Little Rock ruling came on the same day arrangements were made to provide a separate high school for Indians at Lillington, N. C.

Net Star Slain

Continued from Page 1

to his knees on the sidewalk.

His attacker, identified as Eddie Lee Harvey, 22, Casterlow's wife related, then ran back to the car and was handed an automobile bumper jack by one of the other two men.

As Mrs. Casterlow and her niece and nephew stood screaming, Harvey, who admittedly had been drinking, started to unmercifully beat his dying victim about the face and head, police said.

Casterlow was pronounced dead on arrival at Detroit's Receiving Hospital.

Harvey, who fled the scene on foot as his two companions sped away in the car, was apprehended minutes later less than three blocks away as he stood cowering in a garage. Officers cruising nearby heard Mrs. Casterlow's screams and spotted Harvey as he ran into the alley.

Sgt. McIntyre said that although he bore no marks or bruises of any kind, Harvey claimed Casterlow, who weighed well over 200 pounds, struck him first and he had acted in self-defense. He is being held for investigation for murder.

Harvey also disclaimed knowing the other two men, Sgt. McIntyre said, "but we have a positive identification on one of them and expect to pick him up any time."

Casterlow, who visited relatives in Muncie only three weeks ago, starred on the Muncie team that was edged by Little Milan in the state finals in 1954, and was one of the starters on the team that was stopped by Oscar Robertson, Inc. during the 1955 semistate.

Mrs. Casterlow said funeral services for her husband have been tentatively set for Saturday in Detroit.

—REGISTER TO VOTE—
A Newspaper route is good training. Help your child start a Recorder route in your neighborhood.

Woman Asks

Continued from page 1

children, not knowing who their fathers were.

For fourteen years, Ella Mae farmed out in Florida until the death of her foster mother, whereupon she came to New York, attended school and became a certified practical nurse. She wedded, gave birth to her children and later received legal separation from her husband.

It was then that she met Barber, moved into his basement apartment and accepted his name.

A couple of years afterward she met Noble on her job; at the time he earned $85 a week. Mrs. Barber told him that Barber was abusive and jealous.

Police argue that Noble of his own free will "got rid" of Barber for $300, and on pay day received $100 from Mrs. Barber who urged him to carry out his "promise."

Barber was found fatally stabbed and brutally stomped by a man, police contend to be Noble, who climbed through the window of the basement flat.

According to Mrs. Barber, hope of her sentence being reversed, lies in the hands of the Court of Appeals.

—REGISTER TO VOTE—

Appeal Case of Youth Convicted In Miss. Bus Incident

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A $50 fine levied against a young NAACP member for disturbing the peace and resisting arrest is being appealed.

Medgar Evers, state field secretary, also said "Interested Negro citizens who are sick and tired of police brutality" posted $1,000 bond for Johnny Frazier, 19, of Greenville.

The NAACP said in a statement that Frazier was beaten by officers "because he refused to move to the rear of a Trailways bus at Winona." Evers said Frazier has been under a doctor's care for a "bleeding nose" inflicted by the officers.

The claim that Frazier was beaten for riding in the white section of the bus was not brought out in the trial.

—REGISTER TO VOTE—

SMITH'S FOOD MARKET
4005-07 BOULEVARD PLAZA
Fresh Vegetables • Fruits
Choice Meats
Deliveries AT 2-450
QUALITY FOODS

Look At Your Shoes—They Talk About You.
Keep Them Looking Good!

SHOES FIXED
While You Wait
DELUXE
SHOE REPAIR
Expert Work — Speedy Service
2816 Clifton
Addis Jones, Prop.

OPEN DAILY 8:00 TILL 7:00 P. M.

JOHN L. WARREN sentenced to prison for life. How did he become a killer? (See feature story on Page 9).

Read The Recorder Classified Advertising Page Each Week
Call ME. 4-1545 and Place a Low Cost Classified Ad.

HOOSIER FENCE CO.
LOWEST PRICES... NO DOWN PAYMENT
ORNAMENTAL IRON AND FENCE
Material Only or Erected
Hole Digging Service Available
Call WA. 6-2434 East of State Fairgrounds 1701 E. 38th

SAM'S LOAN CO.
YOUR PAWN-BROKER FOR 25 YEARS
SAME COURTESY BUT A NEW LOCATION
CASH — LOANS — ON DIAMONDS CAMERAS
WATCHES MUSICAL
JEWELRY INSTRUMENTS
RADIOS TYPEWRITERS
LUGGAGE RECORD PLAYERS
TV. MISC. MDSE.
Out of Pawn Shotguns
PUMPS, AUTOMATICS, SINGLES, DOUBLES
ALL GAUGES — FROM $12.95
EASY CREDIT TERMS
SAM'S LOAN CO.
24 W. OHIO ST. ME. 4-4369

For Your Printing Needs

CALL—
THE INDIANAPOLIS RECORDER
Job Department
ME. 4-1545

STOP & SHOP
• SUPER MARKETS •

Food Discount Centers
HOME OWNED AND HOME OPERATED
Quantity Rights Reserved
No Sales to Dealers Please

LEAN AND MEATY

First Cut Pork Chops 39¢ lb.

LOIN Pork Roast 39¢ lb.

BUTTERFIELD 2 — 303 Cans TOMATOES 29¢

STOKELY'S FINEST Apple Sauce 25¢ 2 — 303 Cans

STOKELY'S FROZEN MEAT PIES 19¢ 8-Oz. Pie Each

Remember Your Total Food Bill Is Less When You Shop At STOP & SHOP—
WE GUARANTEE THE LOWEST FOOD PRICES IN TOWN
These Prices Good at 28th & CAPITOL STORE ONLY