from the 22d to the 29th inst. 3358 hhd.
tobacco, 8653 bbls. flour, 9577 do. corn, 3016 do. Pork, 2692 kegs lard, and 711 bbls. whiskey. The stock of tobacco and Cotton on hand in that market at the above date, is said to be larger than it has been for four years past.

The trial of J. O. Beauchamp, for the murder of S. P. Sharp, came on in the Franklin Circuit Court, on Monday the 8th inst. The court after some preparatory business, adjourned to Thursday.
The editors of the Argus and Commentator were, at the suggestion of the defendant's counsel cited to appear before court for contempt of authority in various publications by them made, calculated to prejudice the defendant's case. In a country like ours, it would be very difficult to prevent people from speaking or writing on subjects of this kind, whether it prepossesses the public opinion or no; and to punish them for it, would be equally as difficult, under existing laws.
—to speak his thoughts is every freeman's right; and reason, and a respect to justice, are to a great extent, the only restraint.

Distressing Accident.—On Friday the 12th inst. Mr. John Eads, a citizen of Boone County, Ky. loaded his wagon with the intention of coming to this place, and, as it is supposed, while crossing a mud hole at no great distance from his house, was, by a sudden turn or jolt of the wagon, thrown from his seat and killed—the wheel drawing his head under it while his feet remained fast in the tongue above.—In this horrible situation he was dragged some rods, when the team stopped. He was found by a boy some time after, who gave information to his friends, when the body was extricated from the wagon. Mr. Eads has left a wife and family to mourn the loss of an affectionate husband and kind father.

Congress.—In Senate, April 3, the bill making appropriations for the mission to Panama, was taken up and passed by the following vote:

YEAS—Messrs. Barton, Bell, Bouli-nv, Chase, Clayton, Edwards, Harrison, Hendricks, Holmes, Johnson, Ken. Johnston, Lou. Knight, Lloyd, Marks, Noble, Reed, Robbins, Ruggles, Sanford, Seymour, Smith, Thomas, Willey—23.

NAYS—Messrs. Benton, Berrien, Branch, Chandler, Dickerson, Eaton, Findlay, Harper, Hayne, Kane, King, Macon, Randolph, Rowan, Tazewell, Van Buren, White Williams Woodbury
—19.

The Senate proceeded to reconsider their amendments made to the Judicial Bill, which had been disagreed to by the House, when it was decided by a vote of 29 to 12, that the amendments should be adhered to. If the Senate stick to their amendments, the Bill may be considered as gone by the board.
The Bankrupt Bill was taken up, and a motion made to postpone it, which did not prevail. It may yet pass the House this session.

We have always been disposed to admit into our columns every article calculated to interest our readers or advantage the public, and sometimes, through a spirit of accommodation, have published those we believed had very little of either of those qualifications. It is something in that spirit that we have given "Economy" a place in our paper.
It is very probable that many abuses are committed on the people by a prodigal expenditure of money, which never come to their knowledge. But why is it? It is because the board never made an expose as they should do. A copy of the receipts and expenditures is made out in November in each year, in as short a manner as possible, and stuck up at the Court-house door, (now we suppose it will be put on the wall,) where it is seen perhaps by a dozen or two people, who, if they have time to spare when they come to town and patience to endure the cold, may read it.—We admit that the county Commissioners have a right, by law, to do so, which, when done, they conceive to be the extent of their duty. But stop; does not the law say they may publish such expose in a newspaper, if there is one published in the county? It does. Now we would ask these gentlemen "who gag at goats and swallow Camels," if they would not be doing their duty more fully were they to have it made out at full length, and published in a paper where every man could see and read for himself, than to have it stuck on some nook or door about the Court-house, where not ten out of a hundred see it? The people would then see how allowances were made, and who got more than what was justly due. We venture to predict that if that course should be adopted, the funds of the county will not be seen selling for less than two thirds their nominal value.

A friend has favored us with the following article, giving the origin of the word Atlantia. To the curious, and to those who are fond of reading for information, it will no doubt be very acceptable.

"Atlantia."—The fine steam boat of this name, now running on the Ohio, is the namesake of a lady of antiquity, much celebrated in her time. She was born in Arcadia. It is said that her father, who was a king, being desirous of raising male issue, exposed her to wild beasts as soon as she was born. That she was suckled by a she bear, and preserved by shepherds. She became a huntress, and one of the swiftest and most beautiful in the world; and determined to live in perpetual celibacy.

Her beauty soon gained her admirers, and to free herself from their importunities, she proposed to run a race with each one of them.
—They were to run without arms, and she was to carry a dart in her hand. Her lovers were to start first, and whoever arrived at the goal before her, would be her husband; but whoever she overtook were to be killed with the dart with which she had armed herself. It may be objected to her that she was not so reasonable in her likes and dislikes as the fair ones of this age, but this method put to the test the sincerity of her lovers. She considered a languishing death a cruel one; & did not "make calamity of long life"—she sent a great many of her lovers to "that country from whose bourne no traveller returns."—At length, she had a suitor by the name of Hypomenes, whom she did not entirely disapprove.—He was both swift and beautiful. But when put to the race, he had many apprehensions she would overtake him, and she was afraid she should too.—He had however been presented by Venus, with three golden apples from the garden of the Hesperides. (not that gold ever has any influence on the fair.) As he started in his course he artfully threw down these apples at some distance from each other.—Atlantia, charmed at the sight, stopped to gather them up as she pursued him. But he hastened in his course, and arrived first at the goal and thereby obtained her in marriage.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. APRIL 20.

Slave Trade and Piracy.—By Captain Clark, of the schooner Alert, arrived at this port from Martinico, we are informed that a short time before his arrival at Porto Rico, a French Slave Ship arrived there from Africa, with a cargo of slaves, which the masters sold to the planters for notes payable at a future day. No suspicion arose against the officers or crew, until, after waiting some time, they were induced for the sake of cash, to offer the notes at 50 per cent. discount, for a draft on St. Thomas, where he went with the ship and presented his draft, and was informed that it would be paid in a few hours. In the mean time, notice of foul play having been received from Porto Rico, a Danish sloop of war got under way, & took possession of the ship. The officers & crew were arrested, & on investigation it was found that the former officers & crew of the ship had been all murdered by the crew on the passage from Africa, excepting the 2d mate, whom they preserved until they arrived near Porto Rico, when they murdered him, chose their new officers, went boldly on shore, and conduced as above stated. The crew consisting of 17 persons, were to be executed at Martinique, soon after Capt Clark left.

A most extraordinary defeat of the mandates of justice, was witnessed in Charleston, S. C. on the 14th ult. A negro, convicted of arson on the 27th February last, and sentenced to be hung on the 14th ult. between the hours of ten and two, was, accordingly, conveyed to the gallows, erected for that purpose, at the usual place. But here an unexpected difficulty arose—there was no one to perform the office of executioner! The Sheriff of Charleston District, who did not consider himself as the officer, on such an occasion, of a Court of Magistrates and Freeholders, refused, under legal advice, to act in the matter; and the head Constable, to whom this duty had been assigned by the Court that condemned the criminal, refused to perform it. Whereupon, at 2 o'clock, the prisoner was carried back to the city, and is at present confined in the jail.

We know not, says the Charleston papers, what further proceedings are to take place; but the life of the culprit is of course safe.

From the Lewiston Sentinel.

Dog vs. Fish. The following singular story was related to us by a gentleman whose veracity may be relied on: On Wednesday, of last week, two daughters of a Mr. Canfield, who reside about five miles below this village, proceeded to the Niagara river for water, and were followed by the family dog. On their arrival, they discovered a substance of a singular appearance near the surface of the water, at a short distance from the shore, resembling a fish. They sent a stick in the direction of the object, which was followed by "Rover," who on discovering the supposed fish, "gave chase," and soon came "along side," made fast his "grapples," when he made for the shore, which he soon gained, notwithstanding he was compelled to contend against a strong wind and heavy swell, in triumph, with his prize, which proved to be a sturgeon, weighing 30 pounds.

A man from Shawneetown at New-Orleans, stepped on board of a boat to purchase some hams. After bartering for some time he took six dollars worth which were sent with him to his pretended dwelling, where he was to pay for them. While the man was waiting for him to bring the money from another room, the purchaser jumped from a window and "made himself scarce." On returning to the boat with his sad tale to his employer, he found him mourning the loss of his pocket book and five hundred dollars from the burden of which the ham purchaser had contrived to relieve his pocket while making the trade.

Female Ingenuity.—A singular instance of the escape of a man from jail, is narrated in the last Cheraw Gazette, by a correspondent of that paper. The man was confined under a conviction for a capital offence; his wife was permitted to furnish articles of food for his comfort; in one of the pies she sent him was concealed a gimlet, and some other small instruments; with these, the unfortunate man was enabled to cut his way out of the prison. We know not whether this circumstance is literally true; but the story is worth telling, as illustrative of the constancy and devotedness of the female sex.

Western Carolinian.

During the last week, one of our citizens, by way of replenishing his pocket with a little ready cash, carried a load of scallops to the manufacturing village of Pawtucket, and offered them for sale.
When the factory bell relieved the workmen from their daily labours, they eagerly pressed around the wagon to take a view of these tenants of our bay. One Hibernian mule-spinner perceiving a scallop with his shell opened in order to taste the evening breeze, and thinking his visit to the salt water might not have been recent, clapped his organ of scent within the shell of the fish, who not relishing the intrusion, hastily closed his doors upon the odiferous visitor; while the Hibernian called out lustily to the by-standers "murder the taste."

A man of a Family.—A man was bro't to the Police Office yesterday, to give bail for a friend for some trifling matter.
On being asked the ordinary question by the Magistrate, "Are you a man of a family?" he replied—"I guess you'd think so if you'd go home with me. I am living with my second wife, and have nineteen children!"
