

LAWRENCEBURGH.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1827.

Niagara Falls.—To-day, at 3 o'clock, P. M. the largest vessel on Lake Erie, dressed like a pirate, with a black flag, will make a perpendicular descent of 160 feet over the Falls of Niagara. The proprietors of the Falls' Hotels, have been making great exertions to insure a safe passage, by throwing empty casks into the rapids above, to ascertain the most eligible spot from which to start the "condemned vessel." The animals on board are to be let loose simultaneously with the entering of the vessel into the rapids, one mile above the Falls. Should any of them survive the closing scene, and be retaken, it is contemplated to send them to the museums at New-York and Montreal.

The Contest.—As we published in our last number the pamphlet of Mr. Merrill, at full length, we had hoped this week to be able to give an ample refutation of most of the charges contained in it, from the Governor's own hand. But in this we have been mistaken—the Governor appears, so far to treat them with silent contempt. It is true that many of the charges are of too trivial a nature to deserve a serious notice; but there are some of a more serious aspect, which we should be pleased to see successfully refuted. A writer in the last Indianapolis Gazette has given a condensed view of Merrill's pamphlet, and summed up the whole in 31 specific charges against the Governor; 26 of which appear to stand wholly upon the assertion of Merrill, unsupported by evidence. The public would do well to suspend their opinions until they hear both sides of the question, as the friends of Mr. Ray have pledged themselves to prove the whole of the charges against him, either false or innocent in themselves. It is not our intention to take a part in this unpleasant controversy; nor shall we act otherwise than as impartial umpires between the belligerents. But for the honor and character of the state, even if we had no respect for the man, we do hope the Governor or his friends will repel the charges preferred against him. If he is guilty of all the charges contained in the pamphlet, then will the people set in judgment upon him;—but if he is innocent, if a factious party are determined to overthrow him; if he has been unjustly arraigned before the bar of public opinion;—then we wish him a triumphant acquittal;—then we hope that he will come out of the fiery contest, uninjured by the flames;—and then we shall not be the last to do him justice.

The Raleigh Star gives a list of the members of Congress elected at the late election in North Carolina. The following named gentlemen are returned to the 20th Congress, to wit. 1st district, Lemuel Sawyer, re-elected. 2d do. Willis Alston, re-elected. 3d do. Thos. H. Hall, vice Richard Hines. 4th do. John H. Bryan, re-elected. 5th do. Gabriel Holmes, re-elected. 6th do. Daniel Turner, vice Welden N. Edwards.* 7th do. John Culpeper, vice Archibald McNeill.* 8th do. Daniel L. Barringer, re-elected. 9th do. Augustin H. Shepperd, vice Romulus M. Saunders.* 10th do. John Long, re-elected. 11th do. Henry W. Conner, re-elected. 12th do. Samuel P. Carson, re-elected. 13th do. Lewis Williams, re-elected.

* These gentlemen were not candidates.

We have a word or two to say to the editors of the Cincinnati Republican, in return for the favor they have, perhaps, concluded they were conferring on us, by crediting, as editorial, to the Palladium, a communication headed "Jackson in Indiana," and signed "one of the people." We shall always be happy to receive from our editorial brethren, a proper acknowledgment for the productions of our pen, (as we hate piracy,) but have no desire to wear the laurels of others or become responsible for their improprieties. The article, above alluded to, was inserted in such a manner as to show it was a communication and not our writing, and, therefore should have been credited as such, and not as the legitimate offspring of the editors of the Palladium; for we can assure the editors of the Republican the bantling was none of ours.

FOREIGN ITEMS.

By the Steamboat Line.—Havre papers to the 1st July have been received by an arrival at New York. They furnish but little news. The capitulation of Athens on the 2d June is announced. The Greeks were permitted to return home, and the Philhellenes, among whom was Col. Fabvier, were released upon their parole. The Greek Committee of Paris had sent 30,000 francs to the Committee at Napoli appointed for the purchase of provisions, and were about to remit another sum of the like amount. Despatches had been received at Marseilles from Lord Cochrane, and there was a report that the Greeks had taken vengeance for their losses before Athens, and resumed their former position. We are of opinion that this capitulation did not embrace the garrison in the citadel of Athens, which at last accounts was in possession of the Greeks.

In France, Spain or Portugal no events of much political interest have occurred since our previous advices. It was rumored that the French government had appointed the Count de la Ferronaye to be ambassador to Spain, and when this should be officially known, the Duke de San Carlos would be sent to France by the Spanish government in the like capacity.

Immediate hostilities between the French squadron and Algiers were expected, the Dey having refused the required satisfaction. The corsairs were all blockaded in Algiers by the French squadron on the 16th June.

The British Consul at Tripoli has despatched a cutter to Malta to announce that the Dey endeavors to pick a quarrel with him, and to implore the aid of the English squadron stationed in the Mediterranean.—Boston Patriot.

It is expected that the whole of the Ministerial arrangements, in the completion of which some delay occurred during the late Parliamentary conflict, will be now made in the course of a few days. Mr. Canning it is reported, will return to the Foreign Office, retaining however the dignity and privileges of Premier. The Duke of Portland is thought likely to succeed to Mr. Canning's present situation; and the Marquis of Lansdowne takes the Home Department. It is not improbable, also, that Lord Holland may take some office. No change will be made in the government of Ireland before Christmas.

Melancholy accounts are received of the damages occasioned by heavy rains and inundations, in Croatia, Carinthia, Carinola, Styria and Tyrol. At the distance of one or two leagues from the banks of rivers, the inhabitants were obliged to take shelter in the upper stories of the houses. The Danube, on the 22d June, had fallen 9 feet 2 inches above 0. The hopes of an ample harvest have been destroyed.

A violent storm, of the 3d ult. had been distinguished by several electrical phenomena, in the department of the Meuse. Many accidents happened of a singular nature, but no lives were lost.

France. Gen. La Fayette has been elected deputy for the department of Meaux. The election took place on the 21st June, and, in spite of the infamous measures which were taken by the French ministers to defeat the efforts of the liberal party, the latter came off triumphant.

France seems somewhat uneasy—as a result of the censorship, the Paris Journal des Debats of the 30th June, has two blank columns under the head of variety!

Execution of the Pirates.—On Friday last the three Spaniards Pepe Couro and Felix, were executed at Richmond, Va. agreeably to their sentence, for piracy and murder committed on board of the brig Crawford. They were conducted to the place of execution by the volunteer companies and the city guard, and attended by the Catholic Priest, several clergymen of other denominations, and two or three gentlemen who spoke the Spanish language. The multitude which attended was immense—supposed to exceed 7,000. When mounted on the scaffold, the prisoners declared, through the interpreter, that they were not only guilty of the crimes for which they were then about to suffer, but of many others, and acknowledged that their punishment was just. When the prop was withdrawn, (says the compiler) they fell so suddenly, that the ropes by which Pepe and Couro were suspended, broke, and they fell to the ground. Felix, being not so heavily remained suspended. The others were considerably injured by the fall, and the pressure of the cords around their necks. They struggled upon the ground for a few seconds, apparently in great pain. Pepe soon rose upon his feet, and threw himself in the attitude of supplication to heaven. Couro remained on the ground. As soon as possible, the Deputy Marshals had the platform again raised, placing the legs of Felix (who by this time was dead) upon the top of it, his body remaining still suspended. Pepe was then again conducted up, and ascended the steps with apparent strength and resolution. Couro had only the appearance of life, and was carried up. The ropes were again fixed—Couro was able to stand after being upon his feet. Neither spoke, and Pepe remained in a supplicating attitude. The prop being again removed, they were left suspended and soon breathed their last.

Com. Porter was invited to a public dinner at New Orleans on the 28th ultimo. In accepting the invitation, the Commodore observed "Although I am now engaged in the service of a sister Republic, I shall never cease either to be an American citizen, or to feel all the attachments of one to the country of my birth, and that to no place or society in the Union are my attachments more strongly fixed than in New Orleans, where, in former years, I spent the happiest period of my life."

The Fayetteville Journal states that a lot of 162 bales of Cotton sold in that town on the 14th instant at $9 20 per hundred weight.

By the schooner Susan and Phebe, arrived at Boston on the 13th instant in 32 days from Pernambuco, we learn that Peace was declared between Buenos Ayres and Brazil two days before she sailed. There were great rejoicings, and business, as well as the People, wore a new aspect.

Ship Beverly.—Capt. Abbot, of the Sarah Louisa, who left at Port Praya July 20, brig Doris, for Baltimore, informs that "the Doris, from Mesurado, reported, that the cargo of the late ship Beverly, of this port, burnt at sea, was daily drifting on shore at that place. 5 or 6 tons of white wax had already been picked up, with one or two casks of gin, and part of her spars, lower yards, jib-boom and flying jib-boom, and various other articles, more or less burnt, all corresponding with the dimensions of that ship so as not to leave a doubt but that they belonged to her. The cargo commenced drifting ashore about the last of April, and was daily landing.—The Doris had on board a ton of the wax, part of which was much burnt. Mesurado is at least 1000 miles from the place where the accident happened."

Canada.—The Election in Lower Canada has closed, and nearly all the returns have been received. The contest has been one of the most violent ever witnessed in the Province. A large majority of the last Parliament were opposed to the present Governor. It will be recollected that a new election was ordered, and the session abruptly broken up. A proclamation was made by the Earl of Dalhousie, charging the members with want of respect to his Majesty's officers, and of a just sense of the interests of the colony. The returns from all the districts give an increased majority to the popular side. In Quebec & Montreal, were the greatest efforts appear to have been made, the old members have been returned by increased votes.

American Presidents.—The "N. York Observer" has the following remarks: Washington, born Feb. 22, 1732, inaugurated, 1789, term expired, 66th year of his age.

J. Adams, Oct. 19, 1735, inaugurated 1797, term expired 66th year of his age.

Jefferson, born April 2, 1742, inaugurated 1801, term expired 66th year of his age.

Madison, born March 5, 1751, inaugurated 1809, term expired 66th year of his age.

Monroe, born April 2, 1759, inaugurated 1817, term expired 66th year of his age.

J. Q. Adams, born July 11, 1767, inaugurated 1825, term expires in 66th year of his age, if continued in office the usual period.

Counterfeiters. It is stated, says the United States Gazette, that the whole gang of rogues which for some time past have been engaged in making and passing counterfeit notes of the United States bank, of the denomination of twenty and one hundred dollars, have been arrested, after long and careful search, by the police of Philadelphia. The bank will hereafter issue the notes of hundred dollars and twenty dollars on a new plate.

Passengers. On the 18th Aug. there arrived at Baltimore a vessel from Rotterdam, with 155 Swiss passengers, one from Havre, via Portland, with 67, and one from Belfast with 160—total 382. The Swiss appear to be pretty "substantial" people, and as if they had something besides their industry, wherewith to make their way in this "new world." The others so far as we have seen of them, have an appearance of more than usual respectability. Very many passengers are arriving at New York and Philadelphia.

YORK, (U. C.) July 15.

Wonderful Escape.—On Saturday last just as the Canada was proceeding from Niagara to York, A. Heron, Esq. jr. editor of the Gleaner, undertook to put Captain Mundy of the Wood Duck on board. The skiff in which they had embarked coming in contact with the bow of the Steamboat, upset and both were drawn under the Canada! The wheels were stooped—the life boats lowered, and about a minute and a half after the upset, Captain Mundy arose apparently much exhausted. Capt. Richardson darted off the jolly boat, and rescued him from his perilous situation.

After a fruitless search of some minutes without any prospect of the enlightened editor making his appearance, the boat proceeded—a moan was heard issuing from the larboard wheelhouse. The wheels were again stooped, the jolly boat lowered, and to the great astonishment of all on board, our brother editor was found clinging to the axletree!—he sustained no injury.

Anecdote.—A worthy clergyman in the country caused a road to be made through his grounds for the accommodation of the neighbourhood. While he was superintending the workmen, a nobleman rode by, whose life was not quite so regular as it ought to have been. As he passed he accosted the clergyman thus—"Well doctor, for all your pains, I take it this is not the road to heaven." True," replied he, "for if it had been, I should have wondered at seeing your lordship here."

Illness is the hot bed of temptation, the cradle of disease, and the canker worm of felicity. In a little time, to the man who has no employment, life will have no novelty, and when novelty is laid in the grave, the funeral of comfort will enter the church yard. From that moment it is the shade, and not the man, who creeps along the path of mortality. On the contrary, what solid satisfaction does the man of diligence possess? What health in his countenance? What strength in his limbs? What vigor in his understanding? With what a zest does he relish the refreshments of the day? With what pleasure does he seek the bed of repose at night? It is not the accidental hardness of a pillow that can make him unhappy, and rob him of sleep. He earns his maintenance, and he enjoys it—He has faithfully labored in the day, and the slumbers of the night are a sweet retribution to him. To the diligent man every day is a little life, and every night is a little heaven. The toil has been honest and the reward is sure.

A nest of runaway slaves was discovered lately in the fork of the Alabama and Tombigbee Rivers by a party from the upper end of Mobile county (Al). The negroes were attacked and after a severe action, they were conquered, three of whom before their surrender were shot. They were about building a fort—the encampment is entirely broken up.

Opelousas Gazette

MARRIED.—On Saturday the 1st, inst. by Benjamin Fuller, Esq. Mr. JEREMIAH KNOWLAND to Miss PAMELIA BLASDEL, all of this township.

On Sunday the 2d, inst. by the same, Mr. JAMES WALDEN to Miss PRISCILLA PHILBRICK, all of this township.

On the death of Mr. HUGH DUNN, who died in October last—written soon after his death.

Departed youth! thy memory I revere,
(With mourning friends I mingled the sad tear)
Thy life, thy character I oft review,
And fain would add the tribute justly due.
Oh! has that bursting bosom ceased its sighs?
Has death forever closed those languid eyes?
No longer pain and sorrow to forego,
Nor writhe with anguish on the bed of woe,
And sweetly smile, while every passing breath
Proclaim'd within, the ravages of death.
Each pang, thou strove to hide from every eye,
Calm resignation mingled in each sigh;
Affliction's child! thou well deserv'st the name,
Affliction snatch'd from thee, the wreath of fame.

Fair science dawn'd upon thy early youth;
Thy life was fraught with wisdom, virtue, truth;
Philanthropy unfolded with thy mind;
Though firm, thy heart was dutiful and kind.
In folly's maze thy soul was never try'd;
A favorite author was thy joy, thy pride.
For years thou wast a prey to fell disease,
Thy youthful ardour, languish'd by degrees;
And while thy feeble tenement decay'd,
The world upon thy senses seem'd to fade.
Wrapp'd in thyself from every terror free—
"Calm and untroubled as a summer sea,"
Thy manly worth was only known to few,
A few choice friends, to those thou wast most true.

Endeared in life, and not forgot in death,
Thy memory shall end but with thy breath.
Thou wast a plant, ripe for an early tomb,
No earthly power could "antidote thy doom."
Why should we mourn for those who're early blest'd.

Who soon from life, from toil, from labor rest;
Who from the mid day's burthen are set free,
From care, from sorrow, and from misery
Who takes the cup of life and gently quaffs,
Shuns many evils of a lengthen'd drought,
Beware fond youth, who on life's ocean ride
And down her rapid current swiftly glide.
Seek first, that pilot who can safely guide;
Shoals, surges, quicksands thou canst not escape,
Billows on billows, thy frail bark await. M.
