

LAWRENCEBURGH.

SATURDAY, JULY 12, 1828.

We have been informed, on good authority, that ISRAEL T. CANBY is positively a candidate for Governor of this state; his name has therefore been inserted in our list of candidates.

Not knowing the determination of Mr. Plummer, his name does not appear to-day in our list as a candidate for representative, agreeably to the nomination made.

It is understood that the candidates for the Senate, and probably some others, intend to address the public at this place on Tuesday next.

In our columns, to-day, we publish, under the head of Gov. RAY, several articles of a rather singular character, connected with the politics of the time. The position in which they place Mr. Ray, is far from enviable; and the sooner he clambers out, either by throwing up his pretensions to a re-election, or by meeting the charges boldly by explanation, if it were possible, the better it will be. Candor however requires of us to say, that in this section nothing could have produced a greater change to his prejudice, than the appearance of the letters and remarks alluded to; and unless something turns up to interrupt the current of popular opinion, he will soon scarcely have an advocate to plead even an excuse for his inconsiderate conduct. We regret, sincerely regret the necessity which compels us to speak thus of the man whose cause we once espoused, and to whose re-election we were favorable. Should we now withdraw from him the fault lies not with us—we cannot restrain men within proper bounds, nor sometimes account for the singularity of their actions. All we can do is to estrange ourselves from them, as no longer worthy of our confidence.

Cotton.—Raw Cotton has risen in price several cents on the pound. It cannot at this time be purchased by the quantity in Cincinnati at less than 12 1/2 cts. per pound, and is in demand, and scarce at that price. If this be an effect of the tariff, the east and west, instead of the South, should reprobate the measure as laying a tax upon them for the benefit of the Cotton planter. It requires some time, however, for large bodies of water, agitated by the winds, to find their wonted level; so it is with regard to the much contested tariff law. This measure was matured amidst the whirlwind of party spirit, and launched on the rough sea of sectional prejudice. Guided by vigilant hands it has withstood the buffeting of the tempest. The storm though still fierce is subsiding—the waves are dissolving to a level with the unquiescent waters. In the distance is discovered a joyous multitude hastening from the East, the West, the North, and the South, to welcome its safe arrival in the haven of peace, as the Ark of good promise, and the hope of protection.

No Slander.—A late Kentucky paper says: "we are authorized to announce John Bush as a candidate for a seat in the next Legislature, and also, to say that he is half a hog and half an Alligator." Pity Mr. Bush has none of the snapping turtle in him, or he would be a real "ring-tail'd roarer," a fair "Mississippi sawyer" of a fellow, and entitled to the vote of every Steam Boat on the western waters.

The lovers of poetry, love tales, and light reading, must not get frightened at the innovations made upon their territory by "Revolutionary Claims," as we shall be able in a short time to dismiss them, and take theirs under consideration. In the mean time we would have them recollect that we have been attentive to their interests for several years; and have spent much time and labor in enriching and beautifying their premises with sweetest shrubs and flowers "from various gardens culled," without enjoying the luxury of one bountiful repast for all our troubles. It may appear singular that our claims should be so long postponed, and now recognized with those of Revolutionary officers and soldiers; but so it is—we shall have more REAL cause for merriment on the winding up of this business, than all the poetry or love tales we ever published furnished.

Contrary to the advice of many of his friends, as we are informed, Gen. Scott, a few days since, wrote to the acting Secretary of War, insisting upon the arrest of Major Gen. Macomb, for issuing orders to him; or in case the President should decline this measure, Gen. S. insisted on being arrested himself, and requested that the court marshal to be detailed should be selected by ballot from thirty officers to be designated by the Executive, for that purpose—Gen. S. of course reserving his right of challenge—and that "a highly respectable" Judge Advocate should be designated to conduct the trial. The letter to the acting Secretary was written in the most respectful terms, and in language showing that he honestly believes that Gen. Macomb has no right to command him. To these questions, as we are informed, an answer was returned, reminding Gen. S. that he was now on furlough, and directing that as soon as that expired, he should proceed to his post at the west; and informing him that if he did not think proper to resume his command, and submit to the orders from the department, the United States would have no further need of his services.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

CAVALS vs. RAIL ROADS.

A legal contest has arisen between the Ohio and Chesapeake Canal Company and the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road Company. The subject of controversy is the right to use the grounds in certain places on the margin of the Potomac, for the sites of the Canal and Road. The Canal Company claim a preference, as prior in their proceedings. The Rail Road Company as prior in their actual location, and in making contracts, and applying for condemnations. The County Court of Chancery of Washington County, Maryland, at the suit of the Canal Company, have granted an injunction against the proceedings of the Rail Road Company. From all I can see of the proceedings, I apprehend it is an unnecessary strife. A proper spirit of accommodation would much better enable both parties to effect their objects, than an appeal to the laws of the country. Cin. Gaz.

Extract of a letter dated S-lin's Grove, June 20
"This morning, at day break, we were awakened by the cry and the cracking of fire. We soon found it proceeded from the Paper Mill of Henry Snyder, who is absent from this city. The mill and its contents have been wholly consumed. Not even a sheet of paper was saved. The most distressing fact is, that three young men and two boys were burned to death. I hear that the property is insured for nearly half its value."

We understand that it has been the practice in this mill, as it is in every other, for the unmarried hands to sleep in the drying loft, as the coolest place in the mill. The loft we learn was hung full of paper, so that the young men and boys were in an instant enveloped in flames. We have not heard that their bones had been found, so as to determine whether they had made their way any distance from the places where they slept.

THE HORN SNAKE.—This beautifully spotted reptile is rarely to be found. One of extraordinary dimensions, upwards of five feet in length, and as thick as a man's arm was killed last week at the Union Forge. A gentleman who saw the animal describes the horn, not as a blunt protuberance from the tail, but a flint hard substance encased in a shield, and as sharp as a needle, which when attacked, the creature shoots from the scabbard and inflicts a wound which would destroy any thing it encounters. Naturalists have universally described the weapon of this snake differently, we have now a correct account of it.—The skin has been taken off, and no doubt Mr. Arthur the proprietor of the works, will present it to one of the museums. Woodstock (Va.) Paper.

From the Portland Yankee.

But the other day John Quincy Adams, Daniel Webster and a few more, had the good opinion of perhaps fifty—I speak at the outside—fifty men, who this week are half ready to crucify them all. And why? Simply because the duties on foreign merchandise imported into this country are augmented—no matter why. I'll grant you the measure does not appear to be a wise one, that in fact it appears to be a thing of plot and counterplot for the advantage of New-England, where the great manufacturing powers of the country is concealed; I grant you, moreover, that the idea of diminishing the influence of England on us—by diminishing our debts to her people, is one of the most amusing absurdities of the age—for of course the more we purchased of her, and the more we owed her, the more dependent she would be on us, not we on her. But what of all that?—Does any man here suppose that the people who have formed the law, or voted for it, are all knaves and fools? that they have all had their price? No indeed—and our folks would be the first to resent the charge; but in a moment of inconsiderate boyishness, they get together and try to make something of what they suppose will turn out a very unpopular measure; first, by exaggerating all its errors and faults, and then by charging the whole to their political adversaries. The Jacksonites complain of the tariff—but then who made the tariff? Why Mr. Adams to be sure. But the Adams-people, they complain of the tariff too: And why?—because they could not help themselves; they were obliged to vote for it, by the power of the Jacksonites; who are therefore answerable for the mischief. They could do no better—ergo they are to be excuplated; just as the framers of the federal constitution were, for admitting slave representation—they did the best they could. At the south, they charge the tariff to the north, and here at the north, they lay it to the south; and so we have it—on all sides and on every side. Meanwhile this poor tariff is lost sight of; nobody knows whether it is what people say of it or not—nobody cares indeed, so that the newspapers are able to grind it up into political ammunition—paper pellets.

China.—A very extensive rebellion in Chinese Tartary, has been lately suppressed. Eleven of the leaders of the insurgents were put to death as victims to the spirits of the Chinese officers who had fallen in the war. The boundary of the emperor's dominions has been re-established from the desert of Kobi to Cashghar.

Deac. Jesse Joy, of Southampton, Mass. killed a calf a few days since, between 5 and 6 weeks old, which weighed 33 pounds per quarter, and the skin 22 pounds. (154 lbs.) The head, hoof, and intestines must have weighed considerable.

Doct. Cogswell's
REMEDY FOR BOWEL COMPLAINTS.
It is prepared from vegetables, and is perfectly harmless. Its effects are to relieve the pain, to heal and strengthen the stomach and bowels, and restore their natural action. It is intended both for children and adults. Certificates of a great number of cures that have been effected by it, in Cincinnati, might be given, but a single trial will satisfy any one of its efficacy.

We the subscribers have used "Dr. Cogswell's Remedy for Bowel Complaints," for ourselves or families, and from the great benefit which we have derived from it we cheerfully recommend it to the public as a medicine of great efficacy in those diseases for which it is designed, believing it to be superior to any thing of the kind with which we have been acquainted.
