

LAWRENCEBURGH.
SATURDAY, March 20, 1830.

Mr. Chilton's Speech. We present our readers to-day with the remarks of this gentleman, on the subject of a reduction of salaries, and pay of members of Congress. The masterly and eloquent manner in which he presents his views on retrenchment, does him much credit; and cannot fail to have a powerful and lasting effect upon the minds of the industrious and working part of community. Unlike the wild, senseless vagaries of the peerless and "godlike" Barton, it addresses the better feelings and understandings of all classes; and will be recollect and admired, when the inimitable senator and his bagatelle will be forgotten, or only remembered as the low reckless traducer of public and private worth.

Hunting.—The editor of the Logansport Times, in noticing the result of a "circular hunt" in Pennsylvania, which, after encircling 3 1/4 acres of scrub oak, enclosed a snow bird and alarmed a rabbit, politely invites the hunters to come to Logansport where game is plenty. A few of those engaged in the fall hunt, (says the editor) have returned and reported 10,000 deer and a vast deal of small game, such as bear, wolf, &c. as the result of their hunt. Ten thousand deer!—it outgoes any thing in Lewis & Clark's journal of a trip to the Rocky Mountains, and fairly establishes the reputation of the editor for a good story.

Newspapers. In 1818 there were 10 newspapers printed in North Carolina; since that time they have increased to 20. In 1816, Indiana had 4 weekly newspapers; the number is now 17—the increase of population has been in a greater ratio for the same time.

Mr. Clay. This gentleman left New Orleans about the first instant on his return home. It was expected he would spend a few days among his "old friends" at Natchez, partake of a public dinner, and, in return for a complimentary toast, give them a pithy speech on the dangers of military domination. Can any statesman inform us when he will visit Indiana for the same laudable purpose? He ought never to think of rest these "potent" times, but be ever and anon moistening the kindred clays with copious and refreshing admixtures of table eloquence, and other exhalations.

List of the killed and wounded by the bursting of the boiler on board of the steam boat Helen M'Gregor, as reported in the Memphis paper of the 26th ult.

The small pox is raging in Wilton Kennebec county, Maine, with distressing and fatal effects. A letter from that town dated the 19th inst. says, that three persons had died of the disease, and fourteen more were sick.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, yesterday, Mr. Hendricks presented two memorials from the Legislature of Indiana; one praying the extinguishment of the Indian title to lands in that state, and the removal of them beyond the Mississippi, & another praying that congress may not interfere with existing laws in relation to the transmission of the mail. Several other petitions were presented by Messrs. Woodbury, Naudain and Barnard. On motion of Mr. Smith, of Maryland, the Senate took up the general appropriation bill; when a discussion arose on the amendment reported by the Committee on Finance, which strikes out the provision restraining the contingent fund of the two houses of Congress from the payment of any printing other than that usually ordered. The amendment was supported by Messrs. Chambers and Barton, and opposed by Mr. Kane. Mr. Clayton continued and concluded his speech in reply to Messrs. Grundy and Woodbury.

In the House of Representatives, Mr. Johnson, of Kentucky, Chairman of the committee on the Post Office and Post Roads, presented, from that Committee, a report upon the subject of the transmission of the public mails upon Sundays; concluding with a resolution that the committee be discharged from the further consideration of the various memorials presented to the House respecting it.

The report, which is of considerable length, presents a luminous view of the arguments heretofore advanced upon the question; and will, we are assured, amply gratify public expectation upon this interesting subject. A debate arose upon a motion of Mr. Chilton to print ten thousand copies of the report. Mr. McCreery, a member of the committee, stated that, inasmuch as he dissented from a majority of the committee in their report, it was his intention to present a report from the minority as soon as he should have prepared it. The report of Mr. Johnson was, ultimately, ordered to be referred to a committee of the Whole on the state of the Union. Mr. Coulter moved that the usual number, only, be printed; but before a decision was taken upon the question, the hour allotted for the consideration of reports and resolutions expired. The House then in Committee of the Whole, Mr. Philip P. Barbour in the Chair, resumed the consideration of the contested election case between Mr. Loyall and Mr. Newton, of Virginia. The former gentleman concluded his speech in support of his claim as recognized by the Committee on Elections, to assume his seat in the House; and was followed by Mr. Newton, in reply, until the committee rose, and the House adjourned.

Diabolical Outrage.—The mayor of Washington City, in a proclamation dated the 26 ult., offers a reward of 200 dollars for information that will lead to the detection of the perpetrators of an infamous and daring outrage, which is thus described in the proclamation:

About 9 o'clock last night a female, a respectable, but indigent widow, passing from her own house to a neighbor's, was assaulted at the corner of E. street and 8th street west, opposite the General Post Office, by two ruffians in the garb of men, (white men,) who, after gagging her carried her off into a retired place, and committed on her the most atrocious violence.

Distressing Accident.—We learn that on Friday morning last, about 4 o'clock in the dwelling house of Mr. Stevens, of Green, was discovered to be on fire, an effort was immediately made to arouse the family, who were asleep in the house. These exertions proved unavailing as respects Mrs. Stevens and an infant child in bed with her, were both consumed with the house and its contents.

Portland Courier.

Murder!—We learn by a correspondent at Covington, in this state under date of the 26th ult., that on Saturday previous a man by the name of John Richardson, a resident of the county of Fountain, had murdered his wife. The circumstances, as related by our friend, are too appalling to recount. An axe is believed to have been the fatal instrument, by which the deed was accomplished. Jealousy is given as the cause. The relatives, on both sides, are said to be respectable.

Richardson has since confessed his guilt, we understand, and is now in confinement awaiting his trial.

Premium. A premium of TWENTY DOLLARS will be given by the publisher of the N. Y. Amulet, for the best original Tale, which shall blend the evil effects of intemperance and infidelity in the most vivid colours. It must be forwarded, free of expense, previous to the first of March, 1830.

Gastronomic Joke.—A loin of mutton was on the table, and a gentleman opposite took the carving knife in hand. "Shall I cut it saddlewise?" said he? "You had better cut it bridlewise," said his friend, "for then we shall stand better chance of getting a bit in our mouths!"

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

Letters of Jan. 1st from Leghorn state that advices had been received from Constantinople, announcing the disgrace of the Grand Vizier. The Sultan appears to wish to rid himself of the most obstinate of his Pachas, and it is believed that the Pacha of Scutari and the Pacha of Servia will be sacrificed.

The cold weather is a prominent topic of remark, not only in Paris papers, but to some extent throughout Europe. Many persons had frozen to death. Even in Spain the rivers were passable on the ice with loaded carts,—a circumstance which had not occurred before in 45 years. At Saragossa the trees of the promenade had been cut down, and the wood distributed to the poor.

France and Algiers.—The Constitutional says:—"Advices received from Mahon announce that the negotiations set on foot through the medium of England and Turkey, to bring about peace between the King of France and the Dey of Algiers, have just been broken off. The Dey has now the impudence to demand of France twenty millions instead of seven which he before claimed. Hence an expedition against Algiers in the spring is said to have been positively decided upon.

Odessa, Dec. 23.

We learn from Ismaili, under date of the 13th, that a tremendous explosion of the ship of the line the St. Nicholas and four smaller vessels took place there a few days before. Great mischief was done to the town by the fragments of the vessel and pieces of ice carried to it by the explosion. Two warehouses were completely destroyed, upwards of fifty houses unroofed and shattered, and 460 other houses had not a pane of glass left. The number of lives lost by this catastrophe is unknown, but six dead bodies have been picked up, and forty-two persons are wounded."

A correspondent of the Southern Religious Telegraph, proposes to establish "a Society for the suppression of Scandal, in all its branches." All persons on entering, are to give up all their old prejudices; to use no double dealing or equivocation; and to consider the names and characters of their fellow creatures as sacred. Each member is to repeat twelve times a day the following sentence: "Judge not, that ye be not Judged."

The Cherokee, Ridge, with a party of his people, lately burnt some cabins, which had been occupied by the whites, on the disputed territory, and on this occasion, or in some subsequent affair, an Indian is stated to have been killed. This has given rise to unfounded reports of the burning of houses and killing of people by the Cherokees in Carroll county. — Milledgeville Recorder.

The King's Cock Crower.—Among the customs which formerly prevailed in this country during the season of Lent was the following:—An officer, denominated the King's Cock Crower, crowed the hour each night, within the precincts of the palace, instead of proclaiming it in the manner of the late watchmen. This absurd ceremony did not fall into disuse till the reign of George I.

Singular Phenomenon.—In the populous township of Blyton and Blymen, which form one large parish, situated within a few miles of Newport, Shropshire, a male child had not been born during the last 24 years, until the 23d ult., and only one other within the space of 24 years.

The trial of Ebinezer Cox, accused of the murder of Thomas B. Dunn, Esq. late Superintendent of the Harper's Ferry Armory, came on before the examining court on Monday last. The accused was adjudged guilty, and remanded to jail to await his final trial before the Superior Court of law to be held for Jefferson county in July next.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE subscriber is informed, that in addition to other mortifications which she has endured from her husband Richard Arnold, she has now to bear that, of being advertised by him as a runaway. With her neighbors she will suffer no diminution of respect in consequence of this additional and unnecessary insult, but with strangers she may. She would therefore respectfully beg leave to state, that the causes which have occasioned the separation of herself and husband have arisen entirely with himself, and his unmanly treatment of her, and that so far from her leaving his bed and board, he has never had either house or home to take her to; and for the truth of these things, she can with confidence refer to her neighbors, who know both him and her.

THE ELEGANT HORSE

YOUNG FLOROZEL.

WILL stand the ensuing first Monday in April and ending the first day of July, the first week at the stable of James Backhouse, below Harrison, and the second week at the stable of Mr. Watson, in Elizabethtown; and so changing throughout the season.

Young Florozel is a beautiful dark brown; 6 years old; rising 16 hands; and in every respect well made and portioned for service under the saddle or in harness.—He was sired by the celebrated imported horse Florozel, considered one of the best blooded in the Union. Farmers and others would do well to examine Young Florozel before it is too late to secure the benefits of the present season. The terms are moderate, and produce taken in payment.

For particulars, see printed bills.
