

PALLADIUM.

Lawrenceburg, April 28.

We wish to inform delinquent subscribers, that we are making out their accounts and forwarding them in their papers. We hope those who find themselves in arrears for one, two or more years, will be good enough to acknowledge the same, either by payment or by note. It may be well enough to state, that by a rule adopted, accounts are forwarded to all delinquents at the end of each year.

The first election for directors of the Lawrenceburg Insurance Company, was held on Monday last, and the following named gentlemen elected, viz: Stephen Ludlow, Norval Sparks, David Guard, Enoch D. John, Thomas Shaw, Jacob Hays, John P. Dunn, George Tousey, and Omer Tousey. At a meeting of the directors, Stephen Ludlow was chosen president, and Thomas Porter secretary. The board, we understand, is now ready to transact business.

The Delaware Gazette of the 17th inst., states that "the committee sent to Philadelphia to investigate the affairs of the U. States Bank, have closed their labors. Mr. McDuffi left Philadelphia for Washington, on Sunday last."

ROADS A law of the last session "to prevent soles and expensive applications to the general assembly, relating to state roads," authorizes the board of county commissioners, upon the petition of persons wishing to change state roads running through their lands, to appoint three commissioners to view the same, and upon their report (favorable) to order new road to be opened at old one vacated. The same act also provides for altering state or other public roads & highways, on the application to the board of commissioners of twelve house-holders the township where the change is desired. Twenty days notice is to be given, particularly describing the change proposed to be made.

We have been politely favored, by Mr. Hendrie, with a copy of Mr. Webster's report on a subject of apportioning representative in Congress among the several states. The report assumes a different rule of apportionment, from the one adopted in the House, providing for the representation of fractions, and increases the number of members from 240 to 256. Indiana, we discover, gains nothing by Mr. Webster's complex rule of apportionment, but Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, &c. &c. do. The increased members is one reason why we should oppose the bill. Two hundred and forty members we think in all conscience enough, and too many, unless they are men of more industry than a majority of the present congress. Just imagine a house composed of 256 members, and each infected, like many of our congressmen, with the itch for debate, and how long would it take to dispose of the public business? The long session now extends to the middle or last of June; increase the numbers 43, and the session will last the whole year.

The apportionment bill had not passed the Senate on the 19th inst., but Mr. Webster was pledged to call it up on that day. We were glad to hear this declaration. That legislative courtesy, as it is called, which prevails in Congress, of waiting till every member is in his seat, before an important measure to the country can be acted on, is much to be deprecated. In local matters, it is no doubt very proper that the members immediately interested should be in attendance when they are acted on; but that on general subjects the proceedings of the houses should be delayed from day to day, and from week to week, through courtesy to members who are absent, peradventure amusing themselves, or recruiting from the effects of a previous night's debauch, is out of the question, and is a downright abuse, of which the people ought to complain.

We take pleasure in stating that the delegations from Indiana, in both houses, are punctual in their attendance; and are not of those to whom we would wish to make an allusion, as asking for courtesies to the evident injury of the public business.

Congress. It will be seen by the report of proceedings given in another column, that the lower house of Congress is busily engaged in trying Gov. Houston, for an alleged breach of privilege, in assaulting and beating Mr. Stanberry, a member. We apprehend the whole will terminate in froth and vapor. Mr. Stanberry certainly transcended his privilege in attacking Gov. Houston in violent speech in the house, and the latter in availing himself of an opportunity to retaliate, has most probably laid himself liable for a breach of law, but not of privilege, as we understand it. The constitution protects members in the prosecution of such duties as may be for the advantage of their constituents, but not in slandering and assaulting the character of individuals.

Whenever a member so far forgets his high duties as to step aside to gratify private pique or personal revenge, he abandons his character and privilege, and can no more claim an immunity at the hands of Congress, than if he were a private citizen.

We extract the following from the Louisville Advertiser of the 21st inst. It contains the fullest, and probably the most authentic list of the persons lost by the destruction of the Brandywine, we have seen.

We have been favored by a gentleman who was on board the Brandywine with the following list. It is apprehended that it does not embrace the names of all the sufferers. The reports that have reached here, lead us to believe that more than one hundred persons were lost.

List of passengers burnt or drowned on the steamer Brandywine, on Monday night the 9th April at half past seven o'clock, in the Mississippi river at Twelve Outlets.

Mrs. Walker and infant, Mr. Robert Stothard, and Benjamin Murrill, of Nashville; William Sparks, of Vicksburg; J. H. Hillyard, Williamson co. Tennessee; H. H. Dauphin, Shawneetown; D. Farley, River's Woodard; Leonard Hamilton, and Joseph Ford, Washington, Ky.; Abraham Osborne, Ohio; John Mock, Harrison co. Indiana; Benjamin Williams, Meigs co. Ohio; Mr. Downs, Cincinnati; Edwin B. Bee, Athens, Ohio; John Mortimer, B. Mortimer, Mr. Rolls and Mr. Casure, Maysville, Kentucky; Mr. Wright, and Mr. Moore, residence unknown; L. Tracy, Miamilton, Ohio; John Adams, Robinson, Tennessee; E. Wright, Jos. Saunders, and Wm. Atterbury, Hart county, Kentucky; Brice Jackson, Montgomery county, Tennessee; Mr. Leonard, Mr. Moore, and Mr. McMann, residence unknown; 15 others names unknown; 4 deck hands; Clerk of the boat; John Davis, a boy attached to the Steamer, Kentuckian, and 12 colored persons.

SHOCKING OCCURRENCE.—We learn from the Canadian Emigrant, that on the 7th ult. a man named Drouillard came to the house of one W. Jones, in Baldoon, the township of Sembra, Upper Canada, stating that some one was in pursuit to kill him, and that he had great trouble with his brother. Mr. Jones seeing that he was not in his right mind, endeavored to soothe him, and asked him if he would be reconciled to his brother if sent for. To this he assented; but soon slipped out of the house and took to the woods, being followed 3 or 4 hours by Mr. Jones and several neighbors, who not being able to overtake him gave up the pursuit. This was in the forenoon. Drouillard arrived at the house of a Mr. Reynolds, 12 miles from where he had first started, in the evening.—He there stated that he was crazy, and wished to be bound. This was done, when, on saying that the fit had left him, he was unbound. This was repeated three times. After being loosed the third time, he seized a scalping knife from the fire place and stabbed Reynolds three times. Reynolds' wife, who had gone to bed, being awakened by the noise, got up, and on entering the room found her husband and Drouillard over him holding by the hair with one hand, and having the knife in the other. She instantly seized D. by one arm while her husband wrenches the knife from him and threw it out of his reach. D. then drew R. to a corner of the house where was an axe, which he and Mrs. R. seized hold of at the same time. Not being able to wrest it from her, D. then grasped her husband by the throat, holding him by the hair with his teeth. Reynolds now called to one of his children to hand him the knife, which having obtained he cut D.'s throat, who instantly expired. Reynolds died the next day. Both of these unfortunate men have large families.

From the Trenton N. J. True Amer.

The President has concluded, and the Senate has ratified, treaties with nearly all the Indian Tribes with whom we had, or were likely to have, any difficulty. We expect a treaty to be concluded with the Cherokee soon, and all the Georgia matters will certainly be amicably settled on terms advantageous and proper. The President and his Cabinet are indefatigable. In spite of the efforts which are made by the Clayites & their allies, the government of the people looking only to the great interests of the country, is advancing steadily in the discharge of its duties, and steadily growing in the estimation of the country. The Democratic party, purified by its reverses, and strengthened upon PRINCIPLE round the TRUE TESTS—the support of the administration and its measures, is daily consolidating and becoming invincible. The Aristocracy are in the hopeless minority—they may struggle on until they fall—then they will see that Mr. Clay cannot get fire States, that he will be beaten in the Democratic States of New-England, and routed horse and foot by the Democracy of New-Jersey. They will hardly make a bite of him and his party in New York—and South and West of us we shall make mutton of him—all mutton. Even Kentucky will go against him—the Hunters of Kentucky! There is no mistake.

It appears from paragraphs in the newspapers, that the cold and unfavorable weather has almost entirely destroyed the prospect of a crop of wheat, in various parts of Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia—insomuch that some farmers in the latter States are ploughing up their fields.
