

PALLADIUM.

Lawrenceburgh, August 24.

We are requested to say that Samuel McCurdy is a candidate for school trustee. We have been requested to say that Geo. Cable is a candidate for justice of the peace in this township.

On Thursday last our town and vicinity were visited by a shower of rain, that lasted for 2 or 3 hours. The effect has been most pleasantly felt in the coolness of the air, and the revival of scorched and suffering vegetation.

The Cholera, it appears from the report of the mayor, has entirely ceased at Cincinnati.

The Ohio river is extremely low. Steam boats, of light draught, continue, however, to ply between Cincinnati and Louisville. A "broad horn" occasionally slides along south, under the operation of manual power, at the rate of 8 or 10 miles per day.

Steam Mill.—On Saturday evening last, a meeting of the citizens of this place was held at Mr. Hunt's Hotel, to devise ways and means for the erection of a steam flouring mill. The meeting was organized by calling Walter Armstrong, Esq., to the chair and appointing Maj. John P. Dunn secretary. After some remarks by the chairman, in explanation of the object of the meeting, a committee, composed of George Tousey, James W. Hunter, and John P. Dunn, was appointed to ascertain who, and what number of persons, were desirous of engaging in the work, and what amount of capital would be required to carry the object of the meeting into effect. The meeting then adjourned to this evening, to meet at the same place and hear the report of the committee.

Those who feel an interest in the prosperity of the place, and surrounding country, are earnestly solicited to attend to-night, and by their united exertions, aid in the promotion of an object of great importance to our citizens in general.

The returns from the several congressional districts in this state, confirm our report of last week, excepting the 2d district, in which it seems the result is yet doubtful. The contest lies between John Ewing and John W. Davis, and not George Boon, as was at first reported. The Indiana Democrat says "we have an unofficial statement from all the counties [in the 2d district] which places Dr. Davis a few votes ahead of Mr. Ewing. The vote is so close that there can be no certainty of the actual result, until officially returned to the secretary of state."

John Carr, Ratliff Boon, Jonathan McCarty, Amos Lane, George L. Kinnard, Edward A. Hannagan, and either Dr. Davis or John Ewing, compose the delegation to congress from this state. The official vote in each district will be given as soon as ascertained.

The Louisville Advertiser gives the following statement of the votes for member of congress in the 13th district, Kentucky:

MR. CULLEY.—You will confer a favor to the public by inserting the name of A. St. C. Vance as a candidate for justice of the peace at the ensuing election, and oblige MANY VOTERS.

ELECTION RETURNS.

We present the following as a correct list of members returned to Congress from this state. In the first district, we have not ascertained to a certainty whether Mr. Lyon or Mr. Boyd have been elected, but are of the opinion, from information received, that the former gentleman has succeeded by a considerable majority.

The result of this election, has terminated in the choice of nine National Republicans, to four firm friends of the Administration. This result is not at all unexpected, when we take into consideration the management in the formation of the Congressional Districts by the last Legislature of Kentucky.

A HEROINE.—Beat this! An old maiden lady named Witman, of Mountjoy township near Elizabethtown, Lancaster county, Pa. in the 80th year of her age, did, a few days ago, mow and make an acre of heavy grass into hay. Well may the county of Lancaster be denominated the garden of America—when her fair daughters are able and willing, at such an age, to undergo such industry.

"I would much sooner," exclaimed the immortal Franklin, "see a spinning wheel than a shuttle than a parol—A knitting needle than a visiting card." 'Tis in the country—the farm houses—and among our good old dames such pleasant sights may be seen.

THE BUFFALO.—If it is true, as we have seen it stated in the St. Louis Republican, that those vast regions of the far West, hitherto covered with Buffalo, are deserted by that animal, a curious and interesting question will arise as to the cause.—Whether they have emigrated, time will explain; but why those vast and fertile prairies, and the salt licks, to which in herds of hundreds of thousands, the noise of their feet sounding like rumbling thunder, they have so long wended their way, should be deserted, is a question we have no means of solving. We know, they and the Indians have receded from the beginning, and gone, always in advance of civilization. The approach of the white man has been alike startling to both. Once, the plains of Illinois, and of the states nearer home, were covered with Buffaloes; and the Indians were there with their numerous bands. Now both are gone—gone over the great water, the Mississippi. A panic would seem to have followed them there; and onward they seem to have gone, breasting, or perhaps crossing, the Rocky Mountains: the Indians must follow. These animals are their bread, and meat, and clothing; they furnish the Indians with beds also. They are indispensable, in the present condition of those remote Indians, to their existence. No wonder they are represented as starving, and that the traders, deprived of their usual means of subsistence, should be obliged to trench upon their stores of tongues, and, in other respects, look about them for means of living. Too long has a war been carried on by traders upon the Buffalo, for their tongues and tallow. It is said the Buffalo feels secure when with the Indians, but that he flies at the approach of the white man, and is alarmed at the sound of his gun. The Indian shoots—the sharp shrill sound of his rifle soon passes away, and is not soon repeated. He goes to the carcass, cuts off the meat, and is satisfied. The white man's rifle is ever ringing. Whole herds are shot down—not for subsistence, but for the tongues and tallow, as articles of traffic. As many as ten and twelve thousand tongues have been sometimes brought to market in a single boat! This may have been the cause of the disappearance of the Buffalo from these immense plains, inhabited by them for ages.

Comm. Herald.

We have been informed, that on an estate of General Wade Hampton, on the Mississippi, a little above New Orleans, out of fifteen hundred slaves, more than seven hundred have been destroyed by Cholera.

Fire at Connersville.—We regret to learn that the citizens of Connersville, were visited on Monday evening last, [Aug. 12.] by a very destructive fire. The particulars, as we have learned, are as follows: the fire was discovered about 9 o'clock issuing from the back part of the Grocery and Liquor Store of Mr. WORSTER, on Monroe street, which soon resulted in the entire destruction of the whole block of buildings from FRYBURGH's corner to Mr. WATTON's; comprising three Stores and two dwelling houses. Mr. WORSTER, we are sorry to add, is left entirely destitute—not being able to save a solitary article of goods. The others were enabled to save the greater portion, though in a confused and destroyed condition. The flames spread with such rapidity that it was with the utmost exertion on the part of the citizens that the adjoining block, was saved from sharing a similar fate. We have not learned how the fire originated—the loss of property is variously estimated at from 25 to $30,000. Particulars next week. Brookville American.

Fire. A Black-Smith's Shop was consumed by fire on the night of the 5th inst. at New-Trenton, Indiana. Loss, about $150. Ib.

The Indiana Democrat says: "We are requested by the Agent of the three per cent. fund to give information, that four hundred dollars are now in his hands, for each of the counties in the State, to be applied under the appropriation of last winter."

Beat this who can.—A little girl, 11 years old, daughter of Wm. Vandemark, of this town, spun on a common wheel, and reeled the same, 110 knots first quality woolen yarn, commencing at sun-rise and finishing at sun-set. This, truly, is great, considering that 40 knots is a good day's work for an experienced spinner. We repeat it; beat this who can, and we would be pleased to record other instances of this kind. Phelps Journal.

A South Carolina paper mentions a lady of that state who has one hundred thousand silk worms busily engaged, and that she expects to raise silk enough by the latter part of August, to manufacture more than a hundred yards of cloth. Two other ladies are also mentioned who have made silk cloth, and sold it for $2 per yard.

A Sailor's Explanation.—There is, in England, a tomb-stone bearing the following inscription:

D. D. D. D. D. D. D.

and the visitors of the yard are frequently puzzled to decipher its meaning. It is called the Seven D's. There were one day two ways trying to give it an explanation, but without effect, when an old tar, steering his course to that track, came to anchor. I say, Jack, said one of them, what's the meaning of so many D's on that stone! Why, you lubber, that's Doctor Dudley's grave, and, according to my reckoning, it means, "Do Dear Devil Decently Damn Doctor Dudley."

N. Y. Gazette.

Cholera in Columbus. During the week ending August 5th, there were but 6 deaths from Cholera in Columbus. No new cases are reported in the adjacent towns. Probably Columbus is now entirely free from the disease. In the Penitentiary, from the 12th of July to the 6th of August there occurred 35 malignant cases of Cholera, and eleven deaths. On the 6th inst. but one patient remained in the hospital. A number of cases of diarrhoea existed, but nothing of the malignant disease. Ohio Atlas.

We learn from the "Far West," that the Cholera prevails along the Yellow Stone and Kansas rivers. A famine also threatens the inhabitants of the immense regions of the Upper Missouri.—No Buffalo had appeared upon the plains of that country during the past spring. Ib.

FOR THE PALLADIUM.
The following lines are supposed to have been the reflections of a gentleman on the death of his wife.

"When death calls:
The fairest works of nature fall."

Of my beloved I am bereft,
And in this world a mourner left.
My Eliza, though in youthful bloom,
Is summoned to the silent tomb.

To worlds above her spirit's flown,
On wings of love to Jesus borne;
Oh God! thou only didst her send
A few short years with me to spend.

And now she's gone and left me here,
No more my fire-side to cheer;
No more to hear her cheerful voice,
Or in her presence to rejoice;

No more to meet her lovely face,
Or in the sweet welcome trace;
No more to meet that speaking eye,
Which always bid my sorrows fly.

My loss in silence I will mourn,
Tho' grief my anguish'd heart has torn:
For loss of infant, daughter dear!
And bosom friend in one short year.

Thus all my comforts fly apace,
And leave behind naught but their trace.
I sickening turn me to my room:
But all is silent, void and gloom!

The loved one's gone, that used to greet
The sounds of my returning feet—
No cheerful voice salutes my ear,
To soothe my soul from heavy care.

Deprived of all most dear on earth,
I lonesome sit upon my hearth;
The slave of care and solitude,
And over joys departed brood.

O thou! who gives, and takes away
My ev'ry murmuring passion stay,
And grant thy grace and strength to give
While in this world I'm spared to live!

And when my days on earth are o'er,
Take me where parting is no more:
There on that sweet and fertile plain,
The friends I mourn I'll meet again!

The very frequent applications we have had for copies of Col. Boyle's recipe as a substitute for Paint, induces us to republish it. Maryland Republican.

To Make paint without White Lead and Oil.—Two quarts skimmed milk, two ounces fresh slacked lime, five pounds of whitening.

Put the lime into a stone-ware vessel, pour upon it a sufficient quantity of milk, to make a mixture resembling cream; the remainder of the milk is then to be added; and lastly, the whitening is to be crumbled, and spread on the surface of the fluid, in which it gradually sinks. At this period it must be well stirred in, or ground as you would other paint, and it is fit for use. There may be added any coloring matter that suits the fancy. It is to be applied in the same manner as other paint and in a few hours will become perfectly dry. Another coat may then be added, and so on until the work is completed.

This paint is of great tenacity, and possesses a slight elasticity, which enables it to bear rubbing even with a coarse woollen cloth, without being in the least degree injured. It has little or no smell, even when dry, is perfectly inodorous. It is not subject to be blackened by sulphurous or animal vapours, and is not injurious to health. All which qualities give it a decided advantage over the white lead.

The quantity above mentioned is sufficient for covering twenty-seven square yards with one coating.

Cholera.—Our village has been thrown into considerable alarm and excitement by the appearance of a few cases of Cholera among us. Our physicians have reported 6 cases that have occurred during the present week, which they suppose to be Cholera, 4 of which have proved fatal. It has thus far been confined to transient persons, whose habits and manner of living have been such as to render them most likely to take the disease—no cases have yet occurred among the regular citizens.
