

PALLADIUM.

Lawrenceburgh, August 31.

We have been requested to announce Milton Gregg, Esq. as a candidate for justice of the peace in this township.

We have also been requested to announce Edwin G. Pratt, Esq. as a candidate for the same office.

TOWNSHIP ELECTION.

MONDAY, 9th SEPTEMBER.

For Justice of the Peace,

George Cable, A. St. C. Vance,
Milton Gregg, Hiram Wiley
Edwin G. Pratt.

The first annual fair of the "Kentucky North Bend Agricultural Society," will be held at the town of Burlington on the 25th and 26th days of September next. In our next paper we shall republish the Rules of the fair and the scale of the premiums, for the information of our agricultural and mechanical friends, whose presence on the occasion is respectfully requested.

"Western Comic Almanac." We have been favored by the publishers, (N. & G. Guilford & Co., Cincinnati,) with a copy of this work, and by way of compensation for the amusement it has afforded us, take this occasion to recommend it to the attention of our readers. "Laugh and grow fat," is its motto, and if any thing, in the shape of a book, can stir up the risible faculties, and encourage that happy state of feeling and health, usually observable in corpulent persons, the Comic Almanac is the thing. If any one doubts what we say, let him call at our office and be "fully persuaded," and then go and buy a copy; or perhaps we may have it in our power to furnish him one.

Fire.—On Wednesday evening last, the dwelling house and kitchen, belonging to Mr. Moses Tousey, on the opposite side of the river, were nearly destroyed by fire. The buildings were of stone, and it is thought the walls may be repaired. The fire is supposed to have originated from a stove in the kitchen, and had progressed to the roof of the dwelling house before it was discovered. By the exertions of Mr. Tousey's family, aided by a number of citizens from this place, the principal part of the clothing and furniture in the building was saved.

Between the 17th and 23d inst. 10 deaths by cholera occurred in Richmond in this state. The Palladium of that place, of the 24th, says the pestilence has nearly disappeared.

It appears from the returns received that no election has been effected for congress in the 2d district. The votes, as returned to the secretary of state, are equal in number for Dr. Davis and Mr. Ewing—each having 1519. The Constitution and laws make no provision for such a contingency; but it may be presumed, as no election has been effected in that district, the governor will order one, as in case of a vacancy by death or other cause. We have no complete returns from the other districts, save the 1st and 4th.

TO THE EDITOR.

BOONVILLE, Ind. August 20th, 1833.

Sir—Below you have a correct statement of the number of votes given to each candidate for congress, at the late election, in the first district in Indiana.

Yours, truly,

R. BOON.

Ed. Pallad.

The editor of the Cincinnati Republican hits at Mr. Hammond of the Gazette, and the numerous grumblers against the postmaster general, in the following humorous manner. By the way, it is the only proper mode to dispose of the complaints of certain editors:

MAJOR BARRY. We are sorry to perceive by the Gazette of yesterday morning, that the Postmaster General has been playing up some more of his pranks. The Fredericksburgh Political Arena, directed to the Gazette office, and dated May 28, 1833, only arrived in this city on Thursday morning last, having made the trip in seventy-eight days. Major Barry deserves a good scolding for this. Not long ago a postmaster, somewhere in Missouri, took the cholera and died in a few hours, all through Major Barry's negligence! Last spring, he very quietly permitted a heavy rain to fill up the streams in Ohio, and render them impassable! A short time since a chap, in the Hoosier country, cut open the boat of a stage, in search of the mail, but, not finding it, carried off a passenger's trunk—Major Barry never made the least apology for the accident! The next thing, he'll let the Ohio river get so low that steam boats cannot navigate it—and then if he does not receive a real hearty round of abuse from the National Republicans, we are mistaken. It is strange that the Postmaster General with the puissance of the Cincinnati Gazette staring him in the face, does not try to behave better.

The Norfolk theatre has been altered into a church.

By the Indianapolis mail of the 24th inst., we received from our respected friend, John Glass, Esq. the following particulars of a most distressing and bloody transaction:

NAPOLEON, IN., Aug. 23.

Horrid Butchery. Two men were mortally wounded on Thursday, 23d inst., one mile and a half north of Napoleon, on the state road leading to Indianapolis. A man, named John Bassel, was indicted for perjury and a writ handed to the officer to apprehend him. The officer summoned 3 citizens of the neighborhood to assist in taking said Bassel, and after he was taken, he requested to be permitted to go into his son-in-law's house, to make some arrangements and he then would go with them. When he got into the house he immediately seized his gun and butcher knife and gave battle. Daniel Booker, a stout, able bodied man, laid hold of the gun and a scuffle ensued, when Bassel let loose the gun and made at Jacob Hudson and stabbed him in the breast, the point of the knife ranging downwards, giving a deep wound, supposed to be four inches deep; then turning round gave Booker a mortal wound immediately under the shoulder blade, the orifice supposed to be three inches in length. Then leaving him put at the 2d man, who gave him a blow on the head which broke his club, and then retreated. Bassel then took to the woods and has not been taken. The neighbors have rallied to the amount of 30 or 40 and are now on the search of him. Booker cannot survive but a few hours; Hudson may with proper attention recover. The citizens have subscribed a handsome reward for the apprehension of Bassel. You will confer a favor on the public by giving this an insertion.

Bassel is a man of a swarthy complexion; of a small size; about 5 feet 6 or 8 inches high; about 50 years of age, with a scar over one of his eyes; rather a down look. It is reported he left Ky. for killing a man there.

PRINTERS LOOKING UP.

The late elections in this State show that Editors, like others, will get into office occasionally. Mr. Kinnard, (late one of the Editors of the Democrat,) is elected to Congress for the Marion District; Mr. Ewing, (the Ex-Editor of the Wabash Telegraph,) from this District; Mr. Culley, of the "Lawrenceburgh Palladium," is the Senator from Dearborn; Mr. Morrison, of the Democrat, Senator from Marion and Hamilton; Messrs. Marks Crume and Caleb B. Smith, (both Ex-Editors,) Representatives from Fayette county, and Mr. James H. Wallace, from Jefferson county. The Senate of the United States, in its wisdom, proscribed Editors as a class—the People, in their wisdom, will reverse the judgment, where talents, honesty, and political experience shall justify the choice.

Wabash Courier.

A letter from New Orleans of the 31st ult. to a gentleman in this city, says—"For a few days past, the weather has been moist, hot and disagreeable, in the extreme; yet the health of the city continues good. Since the cholera has ceased to kill the natives, they have again commenced dueling. Five were fought last week, only one, however, proved fatal. We fear it will be long ere public opinion will correct this abominable practice."

FRANKFORT, KY. AUG. 28.

THE CHOLERA.—We can now say with some degree of certainty, that Frankfort enjoys, at this time, good health. The Cholera has entirely subsided—no case having occurred, as we understand, for upwards of a week.

CONGRESSIONAL ELECTION.

We learn that the Sheriffs for the fifth Congressional District, met in Harrodsburg on the 20th inst., when the poll books of Mercer, Jessamine, Anderson and Garrard, were counted, and resulted as follows:

	Moore	Letcher
Mercer	1469	690
Garrard	247	1075
Jessamine	474	551
Anderson	436	199

2626 2515

The Sheriff of Lincoln, as will be perceived from his address, having withdrawn, the certificate was made out in favor of Mr. Moore, signed by the three sheriffs first named.

Mr. Moore, it is understood, immediately proposed to Mr. Letcher, to relinquish their respective claims, and to run the race over, or for both to retire and give place to other candidates; and thus prevent a furious and demoralizing contest. The vote of Lincoln, added to the above, would have given Mr. Letcher a majority of thirty-eight. The vote of that county stands, for Moore 501, for Letcher 650.

The friends of both parties are said to have been very violent, active and confident.

P. S. We understand by last night's mail, that Mr. Letcher has refused to accede to the proposition made by Mr. Moore, of both retiring and giving way to other candidates, or that they themselves run the race over again. In consequence of this refusal on the part of Mr. Letcher, to do that which is unquestionably fair and honorable, we are fully persuaded that Mr. Moore will not relinquish the certificate of his election, or surrender that right so inestimable to the people of the fifth Congressional district; but that he will stand firm to his post, unswayed by the boisterous epithets of his opponents. Should Mr. Moore insist on his right, we presume this matter will come under the arbitration of Congress, where justice must triumph and the voice of the people be established.

Scorpions.—A French physician, who had paid great attention to the habits of scorpions, says that the female instructs her young by degrees in the mode of hollowing out her burrow or nest. He allowed himself to be frequently stung by them, and he discovered that the effects of the poison became less and less painful at every repetition, so that by degrees he became almost proof against their venom. He describes the part affected as becoming much swollen and extremely painful immediately after the infliction of the injury, and according to the constitution of the individual this painful feeling continues from 24 to 48, and sometimes 72 hours. But the most peculiar effect is a sudden and complete prostration of strength, to such an extent that the patient becomes at once deprived of the power of supporting himself. This curious symptom induced the doctor to propose the use of the sting of the scorpion in medicine in cases where it became necessary suddenly to reduce the pulsations of the heart.

A strange murder was last month perpetrated in Germany, 3 miles beyond Heidelberg, by a man on his step-brother. They were continually wrangling, & on this occasion one happening to have procured a larger sum of money than the other, the less fortunate son, in a fit of jealousy, complained to his father. The old man then exclaimed, "Go out and strike him dead," and the son obeyed his father by cleaving the head of his unfortunate brother in two with an axe commonly used in hewing wood. The culprit immediately fled, but was soon apprehended and secured, and while being conveyed across the Neckar, leaped into the stream with the intention of drowning himself. His design, however, was frustrated, and he was brought to Heidelberg, where he is confined awaiting his trial.

Singular Prescription.—"I heard the other day," said Grenville, "that some distance up the country a poor fellow was lying on his bed dying: he had been given up by the surgeons, but was still visited by them, more from matter of form than for any hope of his recovery. His brother officers had been giving a party among themselves; the wine circulated freely, and, in short they drank so much as to be lost to every sense of feeling. With one consent they all sallied forth to the dying man's bungalow—one taking a cracked flute, a second an old violin, a third some tumblers, &c. and the rest tontons, or any thing they could lay their hands on to make a noise.—They then marched round his bed, playing the Dead March in Saul." Whether his anger at such treatment or his excitement brought about a reaction, I know not; but true it is from that moment he gradually recovered, and is now able to laugh at the joke, thank them for it, and disappoint the subaltern below him, who had marked him out as a sure step."

A Steel Trap.—A gentleman who had long been subject to the nocturnal visitation of thieves in his orchards, wishing to preserve his property without endangering any one's life, procured from an hospital the leg of a subject, which he placed one evening in a steel trap in his garden, and next morning sent the officer round the town to announce that "the owner of the leg left in Mr. —'s grounds last night, might receive it upon application." He was never robbed again.

POSTAGE.—Some of the Ohio editors are in favor of increasing the postage on newspapers, passing from one state to another. If this subject is again agitated, we will give our vote for a rate of postage on newspapers something like the following: If carried out of the state where printed 2 cts. Within the state and over 100 miles 1 ct. Within the state and under 100 miles 1/2 ct. To any place in the same county, free.

Mount Vesuvius has been in a state of eruption since the 25th of May, and is daily thronged with thousands, many of whom pass the night at the brink of the crater among them are considerable numbers of English. About fifty paces from the burning bed of lava, booths are erected for supplying refreshments.

ALEXANDRIA, (La.) July 10.

It is with feelings of pleasure of an ordinary kind, we announce to the public, the gratifying intelligence that the scourge has passed away for ever. We have had no cases now for nearly two weeks. The planters have moved their slaves from the Pine Woods, and are cultivating their crops as usual, confident the epidemic has passed. We have had a gloomy time while it prevailed in our town and neighborhood. We have had very few deaths in town; there were many scattering deaths through the parish; but in Bayou Rapide, the greatest mortality prevailed that we have yet heard of in any part of our country. In the parish, we have not lost more than 250 slaves out of about 8,000. The sickness we learn has abated in the parish of Natchitoches also; they have lost nearly 200 slaves in that parish.

We learn by the Chardon Spectator, that a great riot took place at the Mormon settlement in Jackson Co. Missouri, not long since. A Mormon preacher recently arrived at Kirtland from the "promised land," relates that just before he left the inhabitants of the neighbourhood of Mount Zion attacked the Mormons, and tarred and feathered some of the leaders of the sect, because they refused to recant their faith.

Such conduct towards the members of any community, however wild and extravagant may be the principles of the creed which they adopt, is exceedingly reprehensible. Though we give no credence to the pretended high authenticity of the Golden Bible, yet an acquaintance with Mormonism as exhibited in the lives and conversation of many of its disciples, convinces us, that if embraced in all sincerity, it will go quite as far in the work of reforming the creature, man, as some of the more popular isms of the day. "By their fruits ye shall know them."

Casualty.—Yesterday morning about two miles west of this town, on the Mansfield road, the Mail stage upset, having at the time several passengers within, some of whom received more or less injury, but the principal sufferer was Governor, Miller, of Indiana, [Missouri] who had the bones of one of his shoulders badly broken. He was brought back to this place, where medical aid was afforded, and the fractured bones set.—He now lies at Judge Coulter's Hotel.

ON the first inst., a man by the name of MILLER, passing through the wood-land, belonging to the heirs of A. Muldrow, dec'd, in Woodford county, near Sublett's Ferry, discovered the remains of a man lying by the side of a log; the skull fractured in two places, and the under jaw bone broken.—The body being completely putrified, it is impossible to give a description of his person. He had on a pair of striped cotton pantaloons, a yellow silk vest, a check shirt and a white linen roundabout; 76 cents in specie, a few pieces of copper, a silver pencil case, a sun-glass, a screw with a lock of light hair wrapped round it, a gimlet and some few nails were found in his pantaloons pocket.

An inquest was held over the body, and a verdict of murder rendered, against some person or persons unknown.

The above reward will be paid for the apprehension and conviction of the perpetrator of the murder, by the
