

LAWRENCEBURGH.

SATURDAY MORNING, OCT. 31, 1835.

Mr. D. Green, Editor of the United States Telegraph, has given notice that he is about to transfer his publication office eastward. Dr. E. R. Gibson, is to continue the Telegraph at Washington.

The Wabash Courier speaks of the change after this manner:

The United States Telegraph, of the 5th inst. gives notice that it will hereafter be conducted by Dr. EDWARD R. GIBSON, the Associate Editor of GEN. D. GREEN for the last three years. If, as it appears by this movement, the Telegraph must die, it is consoling to know that the Doctor's skill in administering opiates will prevent the agonies of a sudden dissolution.

Cleared this week for New Orleans, eight flat-boats, well laden with cattle, hogs, hay, oats, corn, &c. principally the products of the Miami bottoms. The aggregate value of their cargoes, is estimated at $19,675. The following are the shipments:

No. 24. Isaac Bruce owner—Cargo, assorted, value $1600.

No. 25. Jeremiah Howerton own—Cargo, assorted, value $1800.

No. 26. George Harwood owner—Cargo, 100 head of hogs; 28 head of cattle; 600 bushels corn—value, $1075. The above were insured at the Lawrenceburgh Insurance Office.

No. 27 & 28. O. P. & S. Ludlow owners—Cargo, 100 tons hay—value, $1500.

No. 29. Geo. W. Cochran owner—Cargo, 60 tons hay; value 700.

No. 30 & 31. Daniel McMullen owner—Cargo, 108 tons hay; value 1080. Insured at the Protection Insurance Office.

The river, operated upon by the late rains, which seem to have been very heavy to the east, has been unusually high for the season. The low bottoms in some places were overflowed, and fears entertained for the safety of the unpiled corn. We have heard of no damage to the crop, in this section, and as the water is falling, none need be apprehended at present. Business is tolerably brisk along the river, though rather early in the season for the commencement of the heavy trade.

We see it stated that Judge White has been unanimously re-elected United States Senator, by the Legislature of Tennessee.

Arrangements are being made by the Post Master General for carrying the mail three times a weekly between Cincinnati and St. Louis.

The Life and Trust Company have made an arrangement with the branch of the U. S. Bank, Cincinnati, by which its business is transferred to the Company, and the branch ceases to exist.

The New Orleans Bee, of the 9th inst., quotes flour at $7 1/4 to 7 3/4 per bbl.—Corn at 70 cents per bbl.—Sugar, best, at 9 to 9 1/2 cents per lb.—Coffee, best, at 13 to 14 cts. per lb.—Bacon, hog round, at 6 to 8 cents per lb.—Lard at 8 1/2 to 9 cents, plenty.

The election of Mr. Conwell to the Senate, in Franklin county is regarded by some of our editorial brethren, as a favorable omen for the White Water Canal. Col. Hutchens (his competitor) was thought not to hold quite the right views, in reference to that work, and hence his defeat by a large majority. No anti-canal man goes to the legislature from that quarter. Right enough.

The Wheeling Gazette says the Ohio river was higher on the 23d instant, than it has been since the flood of 1832. Much damage was done to corn and fencing on the low bottoms.

Pennsylvania Elections. The gubernatorial election in this State has resulted, as we expected, in the choice of Joseph Ritner. His vote, though large when compared with the other candidates separately, yet it will vary but little from that of 1832. The administration gain during this time, as shown by the vote of Wolf and Muhlenberg, is over 12,000; and it is believed that the counties to be heard from will increase it to 13,000. The returns received give Ritner 82,583; Wolf 53,716; and Muhlenberg 36,768.

The recent elections in Ohio, Georgia and New Jersey have resulted favorably to the administration or Van Buren ticket. Ohio has elected a decided democratic Legislature, which may be considered as ominous of Mr. Ewing's fate for re-election to the Senate. From the returns received, the administration majority on joint ballot is 20, certain; and we calculate on more. Last year we were that much in the minority.

The Union party in Georgia have achieved a most triumph victory over the Nullifiers and their allies by the election of an administration governor, members of Congress and a large majority in both branches of the State Legislature.

In New Jersey we are successful. Out of 14 counties heard from, the Democratic ticket had succeeded in nine certain, "probably (says a letter) in ten, and I should not be surprised if the Whigs had only three."

IMPORTANT FROM TEXAS.

The New-Orleans papers of the 12th instant contain important advices from Texas, from which it appears that hostilities between Mexico and Texas are about to commence in good earnest. We extract the following from the New Orleans Courier: War in Texas—Gen. Cos landed near the mouth of the Brazos with 400 men. The steamer Onaschia arrived this morning from Natchitoches, and brought an extra sheet of the Red River Herald, from which we make the following extracts. The accounts are several days later than those before published.

Isaac Parker has just arrived from Texas, bringing the intelligence that Gen. Cos has landed near the mouth of the Brazos with 400 men, with the intention of joining the 700 federal troops stationed at San Antonio de Bexar, and marching upon the people of Texas. He has issued his Proclamation, "declaring that he will collect the revenue, disarm the citizens, establish a military government, and confiscate the property of the rebellious." Messrs Johnson and Baker bore the express from San Felipe to Nacogdoches. Stephen S. Austin has written to several citizens of Nacogdoches, that a resort to arms is inevitable.

They have hoisted a flag with "The Constitution of 1834" inscribed on it, and two hundred Freemen gathered around it, determined to stand or fall with it.

We subjoin the following letter from General Houston to the gentleman who brought the intelligence:

SAN AUGUSTINE, TEXAS.
5th Oct. 1835.

Dear Sir—At your request I hand you a memorandum, that you may be informed of our situation. War in defence of our Oaths, and our Constitution, is inevitable in Texas!

If VOLUNTEERS from the U. States will join their brethren in this section, they will receive liberal bounties of land. We have millions of acres of our best lands uncultivated and unappropriated.

Let each man come with a good rifle and one hundred rounds of ammunition—and come soon.

Our war cry is "Liberty or Death!" Our principles are to support the Constitution, and DOWN WITH THE USURPER!!! Your friend,
SAM. HOUSTON.

THE GAMA GRASS.

His patch of gama grass is about one-sixth of an acre in extent, and is the produce of between thirty and forty roots, which were subdivided and transplanted last spring. These he had carefully preserved, without cutting, for seed, with a view of extending its cultivation upon a large scale, the ensuing year. Unfortunately, however, for the entire realization of his wishes, a day or two prior to our visit, his cattle, by one of those accidents which will occur in despite of the most active vigilance, had got in and demolished the greater portion of his seed stalks, and we do not wonder at it, for it is one of the most tempting grasses we have ever seen. He had, however, previously saved a considerable quantity of seed, from which, together with the roots, which will bear the most liberal subdivision, he will be enabled to plant out three or four acres next spring. We were not aware until we went to Brookland Wood, that any gentleman in our neighborhood, had growing any thing like the quantity which we there saw, and our surprise was the more agreeable on that account. For ourselves, we have never doubted for an instant the vast superiority of this grass over all others, because there has been a concurrence of opinion among all those who have written upon it, from North Carolina to the Mississippi. But if we had doubted, all our scepticism would have been removed, on viewing Mr. Caton's patch. Those stalks which were remaining untouched, were from six to seven feet high, studded on two sides from the earth to the top, with long blades of the most rich and luxuriant fodder. When we speak of the stalks of this grass being six and seven feet high, we do not desire to be understood as wishing to convey the idea of its being coarse, for according to our notion of coarseness, it is any thing else; and it should be recollected, that it was the growth of the whole season, whereas it will bear cutting for hay every thirty days, and for soiling every fifteen or twenty days. If cut monthly and cured for hay as directed by our correspondent, 'Agricola,' we feel assured not only that it would yield as much as its warmest advocate has ever claimed for it; but that it will make a most delicate, nutritious, and acceptable food for stock of all kinds.

It has been said that the 'trouble' of setting it, is so great as to deter farmers and planters from venturing upon its culture. For ourselves we hold it that no business man ought to acknowledge any such word in his vocabulary, and least of all, an agriculturist. But if it must be recognized as legitimate, it should be relatively considered, and if relation be had to its endurance and yield, even a diligent farmer would acknowledge that the trouble was the mere coinage of a feminine brain. From one and a half to three tons per acre, scarcely ever exceeding two, is about the average production of most other grasses, under good management, in the most favorable seasons. Clover must be sown every second year, as also many other of the grasses; timely every seven years. At each of these alternations of culture, the expense of ploughing, seeding, and sowing, have to be incurred. The gama grass, when once set, lasts for seventy years, and it cut once a month from the 1st of May till the 1st of November, both months included, 'Agricola' says it will yield three hundred thousand pounds of green grass. In the curing, by his mode, the loss in drying was as fourteen to six; at which rate the aggregate amount would yield in dried hay sixty-four and a quarter tons to the acre. This result seems startling, and it really is so; but from what we have seen of the grass, and from the concurrent opinion of 'Agricola' and others, we concede to it our most implicit belief. The aggregate assumed by this writer, is one at which he had a right to arrive. He weighed the product of several of the plants or bunches, and they weigh five, fifteen, sixteen and seventeen pounds each, in all fifty-three pounds, or an average of thirteen and a quarter pounds at each cutting, seven in number. This would carry us into the consideration of nearly two millions of pounds of the green grass, instead of the three hundred thousand, as assumed by 'Agricola'; and, indeed, this latter aggregate is nearly fifty per cent, less than the reduced average weight of the plant, eight pounds, which for safety sake, he also assumed. If we calculate the saving of labor, which a grass that last seventy years will effect, admitting that it should only yield thirty tons of hay to the acre, we must at once reject the plea of 'trouble' as wholly untenable. And then, the difficulty of propagating it; is more imaginary than otherwise: the seed soaked in a solution of hot water and soot forty-eight hours, we have had come up in fifteen days, and as to the transplanting an industrious hand ought to go over half an acre a day with ease, and surely no farmer or planter would deny so much homage to so good a plant as the gama.

Stephen Burroughs. We stopped, says a correspondent of the Boston Atlas, nearly an hour at the ancient town of Trois Rivières. It is built close upon the river, and to my eyes presented an aspect of gloom and decay. This place is the residence of the once notorious Stephen Burroughs, the celebrated counterfeiter, whose name was not unfamiliar in Massachusetts some years since. His memoirs furnished one of the most remarkable chapters in the annals of knavery. He now officiates here as a Catholic priest. His son is a resident of Quebec, and is said to be one of the wealthiest and most respected citizens of the place. The Lady Superior of the Convent which was destroyed at Charlestown, has taken up her abode at Trois Rivières.

Revival of the Blue Laws. A member of the Massachusetts Legislature has introduced a bill to fine any person $40 who travels on Sundays.

THE TWO FRIENDS AND TWO BOOKS. In a grander company of a Scottish regiment forming a part of the British army in Spain, were two privates, known among their comrades as the "two friends," from the steadiness of their mutual attachment, and otherwise much respected for propriety of conduct. In one of the last skirmishes which took place among the lower Pyrenees, when our brave fellows drove their opponents from one entrenchment height to another, to the very confines of the "sacred territory," one of the "friends" received a severe wound on the thigh. During the few weeks in which our troops were in cantonments previous to entering France, the wounded of the regiment in question lay in a church, and among them the individual now mentioned; his friend, in the intervals of duty, most affectionately watching over him. On one occasion our informant, while visiting and cheering the sick of his own company, finding himself placed within a few feet of their bed, could not in a position where he remained unseen, could not forbear stopping to admire the behaviour of the two friends; and, as he confessed, his heart melted even to tears, on hearing their conversation. "Jamie," said the wounded man, "I feel sad strong to-day, that I fain would hear you read to me." "I am most willing," replied his companion; "but I fear we can get no books here, and it is far to my quarters, an' ye ken I dinna like to leave you." "Look," was the answer, "into my knapsack; there are two books, the Bible, and Burns' poems! If ye read," continued he, looking up to his friend with a grateful smile, I dinna muckle care which ye get." But seeing his companion look grave and rather displeased, the patient immediately added, "Oh, dinna think, Jamie, I undervalue the word o' truth, or would compare the divine volume wi' any lamna production, but what I mean is, that in my present condition, my mind, when ye read Burns, would be sure to turn on something gude, for his descriptions are sae clear, and sae sweet, that they bring their days and other places to my mind—my pains are forgot—my thoughts wander far away—our ain lamses bese before me, wi' their green knowes, gowans, an' glinting burn—an' oh, Jamie, I think upon my mither, an' upon Jeannie—an' my heart, a' the same as wi' my Bible, rises to God, through whose kind providence I hope to return, never to leave them nor Scotland mair!" The soldiers mingled tears and sobs together.

Malcolm's travels.

We are informed that the steamer Boons Lick whilst running on the Mississippi a short distance above New Orleans, burst her boiler. Two men were killed, and a number badly scalded; supposed to be 30 or 40. We have no farther particulars, only that she was in the act of running a race against the steamboat Rob Roy.

New Albany Gazette.

From an official document just published, it appears that there have been in all since the establishment of the U. S. military academy at West Point in 1802, 785 graduates, who have been disposed of as follows:

Speculation in new hands. A fair was held lately by the ladies of Christ Church, Green Bay, from which the fair traffickers realized about two thousand dollars. This was a capital ample enough to be traded upon, and the ladies forthwith commenced operations. They went to an auction of real estate, and there bought four lots, which they sold again the same day at an advance of eleven hundred dollars. The whole amount, therefore, of their gains was upwards of $3,100, and may be looked upon as a pretty fair operation, every thing considered.

Courier.

AGRICULTURAL FAIRS. It is with peculiar satisfaction that we perceive from our exchange papers, that almost our whole State is alive on the subject of agriculture. Not only have numerous societies been formed throughout the State, but what is of much greater value, these are receiving interest and permanency from the arrangements making in every direction for holding agricultural fairs this fall. The premiums proportioned at these fairs, considering the infancy of our existence and operations, are remarkably liberal.

Our agricultural law passed in February last, and we are proud to say, that now, Indiana has a larger number of agricultural societies than any other western State. And we doubt not, there will be more agricultural fairs this autumn, in Indiana, than in all the other western States together. This is a good beginning—may we hold on our way rejoicing. "God speed the plough."

NEW BUSINESS. Old boots and shoes are now purchased by cart loads in New-York city, and taken to an establishment near Harlem, where they are manufactured into Prussian blue, a species of paint, very valuable, not until recently made in this country.

A USEFUL ARTICLE. A minister who has been labouring at the west, informs that he lately spent a night with a family which within a year had settled in Illinois; and from wrong information about transporting and purchasing household goods they had come on without the means of comfort. The good woman of the house baked their bread in a common bakepan, then boiled them coffee in the same vessel, then stewed them some pork in the same; then dipped out some of the fat with a cup, on the inner side of which she put a piece of rag to make a lamp by which they might see to eat supper; and then the minister's horse eat his mess of oats out of the same omnibus of cookery.

CURE OF AGUE AND FEVER. Take three drachms of Yellow Bark, six table spoonfuls of Port Wine, two table spoonfuls of French Brandy, and the juice of a lemon; mix them together, and take a table spoonful three times a day when the chill and fever are off, until the whole mixture is taken.

The above is a simple mixture that can injure no person, and is worth a trial. It has not been known to fail where it was properly used.

Respectfully, yours,

EDM. F. BROWN.

The New Orleans Bee of the 2nd inst. says: "We are pleased to find that the journalists throughout Louisiana do not write so despondingly of the cotton and sugar crops as heretofore; although most of them admit, that the produce of the present year will be less than that of last. The favorable state of the weather during the past month augurs well for the sugar crops."

A BARGAIN.

THE undersigned, intending to transfer his Publication Office to the Eastward, offers to sell the PRESSES, TYPE and MATERIALS used in the Public Work. The mercenary owners of the Globe have boasted that the printing of the House of Representatives would be the reward of their political prostitution. It may be so; but if there be any Editor or Printer of the party who dares to become a competitor for the printing, we will furnish an office and the materials to do the work, and take orders on the Clerk of the House in payment.

The Patronage of the Departments is worth from twelve to twenty thousand dollars per annum, and that of the House as much more. The Globe has been for years in the enjoyment of the one, and is sufficiently rewarded. Especially as its Editors are so much opposed to all monopolies.
