Hand in Adriatic Dispute.

ROME, Jan. 24.—Premier Nitti is in complete accord with Clemenceau and Lloyd George in his efforts to settle the territorial dispute in the Adriatic between Italy and Jugoslavia, according to an official communique issued Friday. Two Indianapolis Banks.

Should a German-born American wish to help a German cousin get a good Sunday dinner, all he needs to do is to purchase a "food draft" from the Indianapolis banks and, without further worry, the bank officials will make out the proper draft, notify the New York office, and the draft will be payable in a number of European cities.

Stocks of food will be carried by the American relief administration in Hamburg, Warsaw, Vienna, Prague and Budapest. Supplies include flour, bacon, beans, corned beef, lamb, vegetables, oils, condensed and evaporated milk.

This new plan has been approved by the American Bankers' association, according to a circular letter mailed to the Merchants National bank.

Surplus funds of the relief administration will be used in behalf of the European children's fund.

Coolidge Has But One Creed 'WHO'LL RUN FOR PRESIDEN'—No. 10

'Law and Order' His Slogan

GOV. CALVIN COOLIDGE.

By H. P. BURTON,
Special Correspondent of The Times.

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—It was through no casual play of chance that Calvin Coolidge, governor of Massachusetts, uttered those words that broke the back of the famous Boston police strike: "There is no right to strike against the public safety by anybody, anywhere, anytime." Those words changed through the nation and have caused him to be made one of the candidates for the presidency of the United States.

These words typify the original spirit of Puritan America. Undoubtedly Calvin Coolidge possesses more of the authentic flavor of the Pilgrim character than any man standing before the people today.

TRACES BACK TO 1630.
To understand Calvin Coolidge, and the slogan that has made him famous, one must know that his forebears came to America in 1630, and that his blood is the blood of the men who could not permit dissolution of their own rules. If they were going to preserve themselves against the Indians.

Calvin Coolidge is a typical downeast Yankee, with a silent manner, a face that betrays nothing and a voice that rasps like the Vermont wind. In a crisis one would think that he had never learned to smile, and reporters that "didn't" the Boston police strike said he made one in an hour's conversation with me, he told many jokes, some of them on himself, and his laughter was fairly constant.

If Coolidge makes a run for the presidency it will be upon that creed of the Pilgrims, "law and order." An interpretation of this battle cry from the lips of the man who framed and uttered it is of great interest to the country; and I asked Calvin Coolidge to expand his ideas on this subject.

"And there you have it—the full circle of the mind of Calvin Coolidge, and you see that the man who enunciated for the country the aphorism of Lincoln's brevity and Lincolnian lucidity did not just happen without warning upon this high moment like a figure in a drama, suddenly coming to a new power; but that he was a man who had trained his mind and training had trained him to speak.

Calvin Coolidge is no man of one part. He is a man of one creed, a creed absorbed from the granted earth of New England, a creed stern and strong but filled with a passion for the right, the strict sense of right as it is given to few creeds to hold.

CANADA PAPER FIGHT STILL ON

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, Jan. 24.—A serious situation, which may be taken up internationally, was evident here today in the troubles between Manitoba and Saskatchewan newspapers and the Ft. Frances paper mills, an American-owned concern.

Three Winnipeg newspapers have managed to resume publication with a four days' supply of news print, following a week's suspension during which all the newspapers in the two provinces had been forced to suspend. It is believed that another suspension is inevitable next week.

The troubles grew out of a refusal of the paper mills to furnish news print to the papers. The four days supply granted by the mills was given only under stipulation that all back accounts be paid and the present delivery paid for in cash. Only one paper was able to lower terms, but it split its supply with two others.

There was great rejoicing on the part of the public at the resumption. The bill creating such a court, designed primarily to protect the public from "warring factions" and at the same time give ample protection to both capital and labor, became a law in Kansas today with its publication in the official state paper. The measure was signed last night by Gov. Henry J. Allen, following adoption by both houses of the legislature of the conference committee's report.

The entire personnel of the court has not been selected. W. L. Higgins of the lower house was the first selection. His appointment was to be confirmed by the state senate this morning.

ORDER STRIKERS BACK TO WORK

Italy Gives Rail Men Until Jan.
27 to Return to Jobs.

ROME, Jan. 24.—Striking Italian railway workers today were ordered by the government to return to work by Jan. 27 or be discharged.

The announcement was made in the official bulletin of the ministry of transportation. The strike "continues," but the situation "is improving in northern and central Italy," the bulletin said.

Estimates of the coming more reckless as the strike progressed, advice indicated. Fearing sabotage, the government has increased its guards.
