

MURAT CHANTERS ARE GREETED BY PACKED HOUSE

High Artistic Quality Revealed
by Musicians at Public Concert.

By GRACE HUTCHINGS.
A capacity audience greeted the Murat chanters at the Meridian Street Methodist church last night when they gave their first public concert. The chanters are working, under the direction of Arnold Spencer, to make Indianapolis and Murat, if not famous, at least well known, when they go to Portland, Ore., next June to the Shrine convention.

Some of the best male voices of the city are in the choral and they gave a most delightfully pleasing concert. All the numbers were well chosen and were sung with finish and attention to detail, the voices blending well.

The numbers were "Evening" (Abt), "Marching" (Trotter), "Annie Laurie" (Gibbel), "The Crier Blossom Kiss Her Feet" (Hawley), "Landlighting" and for an encore they gave a dashing little negro song, "Swing Along," with so much rhythm that the audience quite "swung along" with them. In the "Evening," Franklin Taylor took the solo parts, and in "Marching" the solos were taken by William Cox. These soloists substituted for Ellis Stuart, who was unable to be present. Seldom has a male chorus of our city made a more creditable appearance and Indianapolis will be proud to be represented in the western city by the Murat chanters.

PIANIST AND ORGANIST OFFER SELECTIONS.

Assisting on the program were Miss Dorothy Knight, organist; Pasquale Tallero, pianist, and Franklin Taylor, bass. Miss Knight played the brilliant "Pomp and Circumstance March" (Elgar), one of the most brilliant and effective numbers written for organ, giving it an authoritative interpretation. Mr. Tallero contributed two groups of piano solos, "Valse in E Flat," "Nocturne in F Major," "Impromptu in A Flat," "Fantasie in F Minor," (Chopin); "Dances of the Gnomes," "Halki Eski," "The Lark" and "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 12" (Liszt). Mr. Tallero proved himself a virtile and interesting pianist. His readings were musically, his technique was of the outstanding number of his selections was the Chopin fantasia, which he gave with a dash and brilliancy that was most admirable.

MR. TAYLOR'S SONGS WELL RENDERED.

Mr. Taylor's solos were "Without You, Dear" (Metcalfe), "You Are All That I Love" (Woodford-Fine), and the old-time favorite "Pirate Song" (Gilbert). Mr. Taylor sang with his customary beauty of tone quality and musical interpretation, giving each number an artistic rendition.

Mrs. Alonzo Walker played the accompaniments for Mr. Taylor and Palmer Laycock accompanied the chanters, adding their full quota to the success of the evening.

Children's Aid Will Review Year's Work

The last year's work of the Children's Aid association will be reviewed at the annual meeting, which will be held in Ayres Tea room, on Feb. 9, at 12 o'clock. Reservations are being made at the office of the association, 55 Baldwin block. All who have contributed and supported the organization previous to the institution of the war chest are considered members and will be welcome at the annual meeting, it is announced.

REAL ROMANCE, IN PICTURE PLAYS

contributes to the screen in "Even As Eve," the Circle theater's attraction all of next week.

The story is adapted from Chambers' novel, "The Shining Band." Grace Darling has the leading role, although the picture is not what is generally known as a "star" production. The heroine is a young woman who through her father's hatred of society is forced to live apart from the world. The two are really hermits in the lonely cabin in the heart of a great estate in the Adirondacks. By chance the girl meets a young cynic who is soured on the world and womanhood in particular. They do not fall in love at first sight, but actually in the cynic telling her that she could never be a lady. The girl promptly responds by slapping his face. This, of course, leads to a very interesting plot which concerns the effort of a group of rich men to rid their club property of what they consider a nuisance, the father and his daughter.

A new comedy, "A Twilight Baby," produced by Henry Lehrman, will also be shown on the bill, and Miss Mary Holland, soprano, will be the soloist.

NAOMI CHILDERS WILL BE SEEN.
Mr. Smith's theater will offer an entertaining program all week, with the presentation of Basil King's novel, "The Street Called Straight," featuring Naomi Childers, Milton Sills, Charles Clary and Alec B. Francis.

The story is one a young man whose ability to make money does not cloud his desire to do good. The father of a girl with whom he is in love faces possible arrest for embezzlement, and his interest in endeavoring to save him from disgrace arouses the false pride of the daughter to such an extent that she refuses to have her father accept the offer. The affair is further complicated by a rival suit, an English soldier, but the young American, by clever maneuverings, proves his sincerity in the affair. A Mack Sennett comedy, "The Star Boarder," provides the laughing for the week's program at that theater.

ALL-STAR CAST
IN "EVE IN EXILE."
"Eve in Exile," Cosmo Hamilton's story of love and tragedy, which has been given a notable screen production by an all-star cast of players, headed by Charlotte Walker, will be shown at the Alhambra the first half of next week. Miss Walker appears in the role of Eve Ricardo, the young and lovely daughter of a financier whose father's business reverses force her to renounce a brilliant social career. While on a visit to a maiden aunt, who lives in a secluded seacoast village, she attracts the attention of John Egan, the big man of the community who, at heart, however, possesses a brutal nature that the veneer of civilization can not entirely hide.

His advances are repulsed by Eve and he immediately plans for revenge, with the assistance of his sister, an unscrupulous woman whose jealousy is aroused because Paul Armitage, a young man whom she covets, is attentive to Eve. Around these characters an interesting drama is created. Others in the cast are Thomas Santschi, Wheeler Oakman, Melbourne MacDowell, Violet Palmer and George Perlot.

Ruth Budd is featured in "A Scream in the Night," which will occupy the Regent's screen the first half of next week. In film Miss Budd will be seen as Darwa, the victim of a crazed scientist's plot to prove the Darwin theory. In her support will be found Ralph Kellard and Eana Britton. In addition to this picture a Snub Pollard comedy will be shown.

FOUR ASPIRANTS ADDRESS WOMEN

G. O. P. Candidates for Governor
Give Outline of Policies.

MRS. M. H. MCCARTER

Campaign policies were outlined by the four candidates for the republican nomination for governor at a meeting of women incident to the meeting of the Indiana Republican Editorial association. They spoke at a reception in honor of Mrs. Margaret Hill McCarter of Kansas, who was a speaker at the banquet.

The two extremes were taken by Edgar D. Bush, who demanded "decentralization" and a repudiation of the Goodrich administration, and Edward C. Toner, who demanded complete approval of the administration. James W. Foster and Warren T. McCray were noncommittal as to their policies. Gov. Goodrich, who also spoke congratulated the women on their entrance into politics.

Receiving with Mrs. James P. Goodrich and Mrs. Keating were Mrs. John C. King, Mrs. Will Oliver of Franklin, Mrs. Charles W. Jewett and Mrs. E. M. Washburn. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. R. B. Boruff of Bedford, Mrs. U. S. Lesh of Huntington, Mrs. Fred I. King of Wabash, Mrs. Julia L. Davis of Kokomo, Mrs. Julian D. Hogate of Danville, Mrs. John Edward Moore of Kokomo, Mrs. George Elliott of Newcastle, Mrs. J. P. Goodwin of Brookville, Mrs. J. W. Shumate of Lebanon, Mrs. James A. Patterson of Gary, Miss Flora Purviance of Huntington, Mrs. Sarah Messing Stern of Terre Haute, Mrs. Milton Lamb of Newcastle, Mrs. C. L. Woodring of Peru, Mrs. Sam E. Boys of Plymouth, Miss Mae Hopner of Terre Haute, Mrs. Edgar D. Bush of Salem, Mrs. Flora Newsom of Elizabethtown and Mrs. Bruce Wheatcroft of Whiteland.

BABY'S "CANDY" WAS POISON.
FOND DU LAC, Wis., Jan. 31.—Mistaking medicine tablets that contained strychnine for candy, little Leon, 2-year-old son of Mrs. Maciejewski, died within two hours.

DEPARTMENT CLUB NOTES.
A class in citizenship will be held at the Woman's Department club Tuesday afternoon under the direction of Mrs. Edward Franklin White.

The American literature section of the club will meet Wednesday, when the program will be in charge of Mrs. W. D. Long.

"The Undulatory Theory of Prophecy" is the topic for discussion Wednesday, when the Bible class of the club meets.

Sarah P. Tracy will talk on "Psychology of Music," and Gretchen K. Welliver will read a paper on "Personal Magnetism" Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock when the psychological research section of the club meets.
