Remember this—Linoleum is only as good as it is laid. Read about the Taylor-method of "laying" linoleum.

Your Linoleum Laid

Taylor's way will last twice as long as otherwise, and it's always smooth and water-tight.

To insure a permanent, satisfactory floor, we recommend the following method of laying linoleum: (We do this work and do it right, with the installation equipment pictured above.)

- 1st. Fit and cement to the floor a layer of Wool-Rag Deadening Felt, rolled with a 200-pound roller until dry.
- 2nd. Fit and cement to the Wool-Rag Deadening Felt the linoleum selected, rolled with a 200-pound roller until dry.
- 3rd. All seams and edges of the linoleum are permanently sealed with Taylor's Special Linoleum Cement, thus securing a perfectly water-tight floor.

No floor is like a linoleum floor WELL LAID.

The Advantages

of cementing and rolling linoleum over wool-rag deadening felt when laid the "Taylor way."

1. On all jobs the work of laying can be completed in a single trip—no going back to stretch or trim the linoleum.
2. The linoleum is secured firmly over the whole area and therefore can not bulge, expand or contract.
3. The wool deadening felt takes up ordinary expansion and contraction (on account of heat and cold) in the wood or concrete base and ends all buckling and cracking due to this cause.
4. The floor is made delightful to walk on, the felt acting as a cushion.
5. The felt deadens sounds.
6. The floor is warmer in winter.
7. The linoleum wears a third longer.
8. The linoleum can be removed without damage and with little difficulty if occasion should arise.
