

LEGION PLANS HELD FAIRBY

Gov. Goodrich Citizens' Committee Given No Assurance of Special Session Call.

No assurance that a special session of the legislature will be called was given by Gov. Goodrich Saturday to a committee representing the citizens' committee in charge of plans for the construction of a building to house the national headquarters of the American legion. The committee called on the governor requesting that a session be called and that the assembly be asked to make an appropriation for the construction of the proposed building.

Members of the committee are Mayor Charles W. Jewett, Samuel Ashby, Indianapolis corporation counsel; John B. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce; John J. Madden and Scott Brewer.

According to members of the committee, the governor was informed that if some provision for the housing of the national headquarters of the committee is not made soon it is very likely that the committee will lose the headquarters. They told him of plans which are well under way in Washington and other cities for the construction of buildings for the national headquarters and assured him that unless Indianapolis can show that it has a definite program well under way when the question of moving the headquarters comes before the national convention of the legion it can not hope to retain it.

MEMBERS TELL OF PROMISE.

It is not known whether the governor was reminded of his former declaration that the legislature would take up the matter of an appropriation for the purpose of constructing a war memorial building to house the headquarters, but members of the committee told of the promise in discussing the conference and said that they hoped for a special session on the strength of this promise.

DAYLIGHT LAW AID TO HEALTH

Means Extra Fresh Air, Says Dr. Morgan.

The daylight saving system is a boon to health, Dr. H. G. Morgan, secretary of the city board of health, stated in a letter sent to Horace A. Shonle, chairman of the daylight saving committee of the Science club.

"In my opinion your plan to place a resolution before the council urging that Indianapolis adopt a summer daylight saving plan is an excellent one, from a health standpoint," said Dr. Morgan.

"The daylight saving system would be a great benefit to the community and enable a large percentage of the population of the city to enjoy an extra hour of sunlight and fresh air."

R. Walter Jarvis, director of recreation, and Dr. W. F. King, assistant secretary of the state board of health, also replied to letters from Mr. Shonle that they believed daylight saving is beneficial to the community, and that it would mean increased health and efficiency of the community.

300 BOOKS EATEN BY 'WHITE ANTS'

Insects Tunnel Way Into Library at Columbus, Ind.

"White ants," or termites, insects native to these parts, have discovered a use for the much maligned congressional record. They eat it.

More than 300 volumes, including other government reports, were destroyed by termites in the public library at Columbus, Ind., it has been announced by H. P. Dietz of the division of entomology, state conservation department.

The termites, which are a mining variety of insect the size of ants and the shape of grass hoppers, tunneled into the library through wooden baseboard and lived in peace and contentment on government reports for five years.

It was never once disturbed by a person who wanted to look at a government report. The termites, which live in an elementary state of civilization as compared with other members of the ant race, never approaches light, as to do so means death to them. Hence the conclusive evidence that the termites on which this colony lived, were never disturbed.

A delving student discovered the havoc wrought in the library. "For the benefit of those who might question the fondness of any form of animal matter for a government report it might be added the termites is blind."

PREDICT G. O. P. SPLIT ON TREATY

Ratification Seen as Sequel to Chicago Convention.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Democratic leaders in the senate are counting on a split in the republican party at the Chicago convention to bring about ratification of the peace treaty this summer. It was learned Saturday. These democrats think the republicans will divide on the proposition of making the treaty an issue in the campaign and that G. O. P. Leaders will hasten to secure compromise ratification to remove the cause of the split.

The democratic leaders say they have made a painstaking survey of the situation. As a result they express conviction that following forecast of events is justified:

1. The present effort at ratification will fall through a combination of republican "bitter enders" and democratic opposition to the treaty.
2. The republican "bitter enders" will go to the Chicago convention and fight for a plank in the platform opposing any American participation in the league of nations.
3. They will be defeated and bolt the convention and the party to carry the issue of the treaty making to the country.
4. This split in the party will force Senator Lodge and his supporters to submit a compromise to which democratic senators can agree as a means of getting the treaty ratified this summer and out of the campaign.

In the course of the inquiry by leading democrats on which the forecast was based, Senator Borah, leader of the "bitter enders," Hittcock asked Borah what he intends to do at the convention. "I intend to do what I will for," he replied. "I will fight for the treaty and I will fight for the league of nations."

"And after the convention?" Hittcock suggested.

"I don't know," Borah replied. "But no matter what the convention does the issue as I see it will be presented to the people if I have to do it alone."

GREAT FUTURE SEEN FOR CITY

Waiter L. Pfaff, new membership secretary, reported 227 new members in the last year, and predicted an increase of more than 150 members a month in the coming year.

Reynolds complimented his predecessor on the foundation laid for the city's advancement.

"It has been a great pleasure," he said, "for me to become a citizen of Indianapolis. All of my life I had been a provincial New Yorker. When I was assigned to this city for army duty I found, after three months service here, that I was coming to regard the city as home. I hope that when the time comes for me to submit an annual report to this body I will have things to tell of which we can all be proud."

Merle Sliden of the Indianapolis Advertising club, in a brief speech besought the co-operation of all members of the Chamber of Commerce in attaining the ends aimed at in bringing the international advertising convention to the city.

At the suggestion of Mr. Coffin a motion directing the board of directors to arrange for regular night meetings of the membership was made and passed. Such meetings would be held about once a month.

A meeting of the board of directors was held following the luncheon. At the meeting of the board of directors, a nominating committee was appointed to report to the meeting of the board next Thursday.

Sisters Scored and Sent to Jail on Charges of Robbing Store

Two pretty women, tears, the expose of a system of thievery in a downtown store and a stern judge combined to make a dramatic scene in city court today.

The women, Mrs. Louise Thomas, 23, and Miss Lydia Church, 19, her sister, both living at 758 Lexington avenue, employees of the store, each were fined $10 and costs and given five days each in jail.

Special Judge Frank Symmes was on the bench. Clustered in front of him were the women, two attorneys and operatives of the Quigley-Hyland detective agency.

The detectives told of an alleged system used by the women to defraud the store. One of them explained that Miss Church had wrapped up cold cream, expensive face powder and other toilet articles in the store, then her friends as they called at the department.

CHARGE AID GIVEN BY SISTER.

Mrs. Thomas, the operatives said, co-operated with her sister by wrapping up articles and sending them to counters in exchange for packages which other clerks had wrapped up. A store messenger was used in the exchange system, it was charged. This exchange, the detectives claim, included a valuable collar exchanged for a toothbrush and some cleanser.

The young women admitted the charges. Their attorneys made a vain plea to the court to assess a fine and either not give a jail sentence or suspend the day.

"Look at that young woman," exclaimed the judge, "on her hand she is claiming the judge, 'on her hand she is claiming two big diamonds valued at from $200 to $400.' Miss Church hurriedly covered the hand on which the gems sparkled.

DECLARES BREAD THIEF BITTER ON TWO.

"If some poor devil stole a loaf of bread he probably would be dragged into court and given a fine of $1 and costs for petty larceny and he would have no lawyer to plead his case. The court has more respect for the regular shoplifter than for an employee who robs her employer who pays her wages. The court can not feel that he is giving a light sentence when he assesses a fine of $10 and costs and five days in jail. I will not suspend the jail sentence."

When sentence was pronounced Miss Church covered her face with her hands, cried and sank back into the witness chair. She appeared on the verge of collapse. Her sister, Mrs. Thomas, showed no emotion as she and Miss Church were led away to the cellblock of the matron's office. Her husband gripped the brass rail in front of the judge's bench and looked appealingly at the judge.

EXPELS ELOPING WOMAN AS ALIEN

Agent for Uncle Sam Taking Her Back to Canada.

Mrs. J. N. Martin, who has been held in jail at Kokomo for the last few weeks, started on her journey back to Canada Saturday in custody of W. C. DeMiller, United States immigration inspector, and was turned over to Canadian authorities as an undesirable alien.

According to charges against Mrs. Martin, she deserted her husband and five children in Canada, coming to this country, where she joined Walter Smith, a discharged Canadian soldier. The two were arrested while living together in Kokomo.

A question as to Smith's citizenship arose after his arrest. It was learned that he was born in western Indiana and had served with the American army before joining the Canadian forces. TEACHERS ASK EXTRA SESSION

Would Abolish Tax Board Over School Levies.

Gov. Goodrich was urged to call a special session of the legislature in order that certain school levies might be obtained without delay, in a resolution passed by members of legislative committees of various educational organizations at a meeting called by L. N. Hines, superintendent of public instruction, at the state house Saturday.

Amendment of the tax law to abolish authority of the tax board over local school levies will be sought by the educators.

Educational organizations of Indiana will seek a state-wide teachers' pension law at the special session of the legislature. The educators are considering a petition to the legislature at a meeting of legislative committees of the legislature, if one is called, it was also decided.

The question of whether the pension law should be made compulsory was discussed. Under the present law teachers who wish to take advantage of the pension make regular payments to the fund. The educators are considering a movement to make the participation of teachers in the pension compulsory.

Another matter that would be brought before the legislature concerns teachers' contracts. Educators want a yearly contract law instead of the day wage provision under which teachers are being paid. Change of the provision would be to extend the contract to the end of the year, and to give teachers the privilege to teachers who graduated from college prior to 1919 is also being considered.

We Are No Stronger Than Our Fighting Blood

Physical Fitness Our Sole Reliance.

Courage without physical fitness is absolutely worthless. That is why our great army was made up only of men who were without the slightest physical defect.

But there is a constant warfare closer home, that you are vitally interested in. It is the warfare of disease against your health, a struggle that is always going on, and one for which you must always keep your system prepared.

And your blood supply is the forte upon which you must depend. If it is kept pure and free from any weakening influence, the germs of disease cannot find lodgment, but are promptly expelled, and good health is assured.

This is another instance in which Peppin has succeeded. Day after day people who have been troubled with indigestion, dizziness, impure blood, backaches, headaches, poor circulation and other ills which arise from a general rundown condition, have been cured by Peppin.

Peppin being delicately adapted to stomach needs, it gently persuades assimilation. With the digestive tract in health all organs resume normal and none shrink the responsibility that the keeping of health and vigor imposes upon them.
