

DEATH KE ICE JAM

Ship Caught 15 Miles Off Michigan Shore.

CHICAGO, March 15.—Facing starvation unless rescued by nightfall, seventy passengers and members of the crew of the Goodrich liner Illinois, caught in an ice jam fifteen miles off the St. Joseph (Mich.) harbor, today wireless their dire plight to officials of the line here. A steamer is rushing to its assistance with provisions, but unless a favorable wind comes to break the ice pack, the rescue ship may not be able to reach the helpless vessel.

The Illinois has been held among ice floes for a week.

The last ounce of food aboard the Illinois will be consumed today, the wireless declared. For several days the passengers and crew have been on short rations.

Kaiser Guarded to Prevent His Escape by Air

Dutch Police Doing Sentry
Duty as Amerongen Shows
Signs of Flurry.

THE HAGUE, March 15.—Special precautions have been taken by the Dutch government to prevent the escape of the former kaiser and the former German crown prince by airplane.

The guards at Amerongen, where the kaiser is living, and those on the German border have been increased. A heavy force of Dutch royal mounted police, commanded by a cavalry captain from the regular army, is doing sentry duty at Amerongen.

There is great activity at the Castle of Count Bentinck at Amerongen. A constant stream of motor cars was going and coming from the ex-kaiser's residence all day Sunday.

The former crown prince, in his lonely refuge on the island of Wieringen, is reported to be deeply agitated and anxious for the latest news from Germany.

AMERONGEN, March 15.—The former kaiser has been unusually nervous during the last few days, and has shown great impatience at various times. While engaged in his wood-sawing, it is said, he has been seen to stop and run to and fro, and give other evidences of nervous tension.

On Tuesday the former emperor completed the sawing of his 16,000th tree, and there was quite a celebration of the event, members of the household and local authorities of Amerongen being present. The former empress has been in poor health recently and has kept to her apartment closely.

The tidings of the German counter revolution caused a great stir and much tension in Bentinck castle, where the former emperor resides.

lied the general strike will render it impossible for the publishers to get workers. The French foreign office, in a statement to the United Press, declared that the monarchist trend of the revolution now is unquestionable. Telegraph service between Paris and Berlin was irregular today.

RECOGNITION ONLY FOR EBERT RULE.

The French government, it was learned, will recognize to government in Germany that does not have the approval of the Stuttgart national assembly, presumably established by the deposed Ebert government.

France has decided upon this stand, it was said, despite the fact that Herr Mayer, the German charge d'affaires here, acting under instructions from von Haniel in Berlin, notified the French foreign office that the revolutionary government intends to fulfill all Germany's obligations with the allies.

The French war office was preparing to double the number of its effective troops. Three army corps now are at Wiesbaden, Neustadt and Bonn, it was said. The Saar basin troops will be reinforced.

A Munich dispatch says Herr Hoffman has resigned after appointing Gen. von Moell high commissary for upper Bavaria. Army officers are demanding a military dictatorship, the dispatch said.

EBERT NOT TO ASK RELIEF FROM ALLIES.

The Ebert government has no intention of asking the aid of foreign governments, according to Herr Kaufmann, German charge d'affaires here. He believes the struggle will last at least three months.

A great deal of discussion on the subject reached at Stuttgart tomorrow. Pesadowski, the nationalist leader, has announced his support of the Ebert government.

Holds Expenditures Prove Conspiracy

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 15.—A crowd which filled the United States district courtroom was on hand today to hear the closing arguments in the Michigan election fraud trial.

W. H. Eichhorn, assistant special United States district attorney, opened the argument. He explained the conspiracy statutes of the federal government which Senator Truman Newberry and eighty-four others stand accused of violating in the 1918 elections.

Judge Eichhorn also explained the indictment, and declared there was "no doubt from the start of the trial that there was a conspiracy for the purpose of carrying an election by expenditure of all of the money necessary—largely in excess of the amount allowed by law."

80 KILLED IN GERMAN RIOTS

Hindenburg presidential candidate) have promised to support the von Kapp regime if it appoints "experts" to the ministry.

Gen. Ludendorff, one of the military idols of the country, called upon Gen. Baron von Luttwitz, commander-in-chief of the new government's army, but it is not known if he offered his support to the new regime.

The imperial chancellor has promised to issue election writs within sixty days to elect a "national assembly."

The government is showing an "iron fist" and announced that all public utility employees who went on strike would be arrested for high treason.

A foreign office official declared "there will be rivers of blood if a general strike is attempted, as the soldiers are itching to begin shooting."

The troops supporting the new government received numerous recruits throughout Sunday. Many university students volunteered to serve. The only resistance to the occupation of the capital by the revolutionists was a strike by some of the municipal employees.

The electric light workers went out, leaving the city in darkness and the employees of the water works quit. Soldiers were detailed to assist the populace to secure drinking water.

STRIKE HITS HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS.

The kitchen employees in the hotels and restaurants, including the Adlon hotel, where the allied missions are living, quit work. Thousands took advantage of the warm, spring weather to go to the Mar-ble Palace.

Throughout Sunday detachments of troops in motor cars passed through the streets distributing manifestos from the imperial chancellor, while others were dropped from airplanes that continuously circled over head.

Detachments of revolutionary marines, headed by brass bands, paraded the streets and the people waved flags and handkerchiefs from their windows, apparently careless of what government the troops supported.

Numerous statements and denials were issued by the heads of the new government to counteract the wild rumors that were current. As no newspapers were being printed, the government statements had to be distributed like hand-bills.

U. S. WATCHING ALLIES

WASHINGTON, March 15.—President Wilson and the state department today adopted a policy of "watchful waiting" pending indication of the course which will be taken by the allies in the German upheaval.

Interest here centered on the meeting which will be held today between Marshal Foch, Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, chief of the British imperial staff, and Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen, commander-in-chief of the American army of occupation in Germany, at Mayence, French headquarters on the Rhine. It is understood that the meeting was called by Foch to determine on allied military action in view of the revolution.

While Secretary Baker has received no word from Gen. Allen bearing on the revolution, it was said that the American commander has full authority to participate in the conference. Allen, however, has no authority to bind the United States forces. It was pointed out, except in so far as he is permitted by the conditions still existing between the United States and Germany.

Baker expected to be advised immediately by Allen of the progress and results of the supreme military conference.

ALLIES TO CONFER

PARIS, March 15.—Premier Millerand has telegraphed to Premier Lloyd George and Premier Nitti suggesting a special meeting of the supreme council for an exchange of views on Germany. HIGH COUNCIL MEETS

LONDON, March 15.—The supreme council of the peace conference met in Downing street today to consider the situation brought about by the revolution in Germany.

The war office gazetted Lieut. Gen. Sir T. L. N. Morland to be commander-in-chief of the British army on the Rhine.

A news agency dispatch from Berlin says President Ebert and Chancellor Bauer will be arrested on charges of high treason.

SIMS SAYS SUBS SPARED TROOPS

'Horried' by Peril From Naval Gossip, He Testifies.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Negligence by the navy department in protecting troop transports early in the war was virtually charged today by Rear Admiral William S. Sims, resuming his testimony in the senate naval inquiry.

Sims declared he was "horried" at the lack of precautions discovered concerning troop movements and asserted that the first transports reached France safely largely through "good luck."

Society women at social gatherings in Paris knew of troop sailings before naval officials and Gen. Pershing were aware of them, Sims declared.

Sims declared the navy department used an outworn peace-time code even after he warned that the Germans knew the key.

Failure to sink many transports was due largely to the desire of the Germans not to unduly embitter the United States, Sims thought.
