

MARCH 29 FIXED AS LEGION'S DAY

City Then Officially to Welcome National Home.

The American Legion will be officially welcomed to its national home in Indianapolis on March 29.

Mayor Jewett today announced plans for a monster mass meeting to be held in Tomlinson hall on that date, when the city will gather to extend its greeting to the great organization of veterans of the world war.

The program for the day will include speeches by citizens and national officials of the legion. There will also be music and other features.

A letter was received today announcing that Franklin D. Oiler, national commander of the legion, will be here for the welcome, accompanied by a staff of officials.

The following committee on arrangements for the affair is announced: James H. Lewis, chairman; W. S. Mitchell, Glen Piermon and R. Walter Jarvis. This committee will prepare and have charge of the program for the day.

Other committees are to be appointed, among them one of welcome to be composed of prominent citizens of Indianapolis.

In commenting on the plan Mayor Jewett said the matter had been under contemplation for some time. He also stated that a number of citizens have favored giving the legion an official welcome.

of the British shacks from Ireland." He cited the peace treaty, pointing out its failure to provide for Ireland.

Patience to America with a plea for Irish liberty was the keynote of the addresses.

Resolutions were adopted commending the United States senators who refused to vote for the "British-made league of nations."

The program was elaborately carried out. Joseph M. Canganay was chairman of the committee in charge.

At St. John's, St. Patrick's and St. Bridget's Catholic churches special high masses were said.

Little Jimmy Fund Passes $3,000 Mark

More than $3,000 will be placed in the bank for Little Jimmy Sullivan, 7-year-old orphan, whose father was drowned in Fall creek while trying to rescue two small colored boys. Contributions came from many sources.

The colored Y. M. C. A. today reported total contributions through that organization of $1,949.50.

Members of Post B, Travelers Protective association, turned over to The Times $40 to be used for the education of Little Jimmy. His father's greatest wish in life was that the boy receive a good education.

The Little Mary Murphy fund total was $3,876.71, in addition to the $3,500 which was used to pay off the mortgage on the home of Police Sergeant Maurice Murphy, who was shot down by Henry Thomas, negro desperado. R. W. Kinsey, formally closed the fund today, the money all being credited in the bank to Mary Murphy.

Shippers Go Into Rail Rate Problem

Representatives of Indiana shipping interests are meeting this afternoon with the state public service commission to discuss district grouping of the nation's railroads for rate-making purposes.

E. L. Lewis, chairman of the state commission, will make a report to the interstate commerce commission at a conference which opens next Monday in Washington on the Indiana attitude toward the grouping plan.

The aim of the national commission is to fix rates for railroads which will yield a return of 5 1/2 to 6 per cent on the valuation of the railroad's property. The point to be decided is whether the commission shall fix the aggregate value of railroad property within certain territories as a basis for rate-making or shall fix a valuation on the property or railroads throughout the country.

WAITS MOVE BY GOV. EDWARDS

Sawin to Withdraw Petition if Jerseyite Doesn't.

Ira L. Sawin, who filed the petition asking that the name of Gov. Edwards of New Jersey be placed on the Indiana primary ballots as a candidate for the democratic nomination for the presidency, will withdraw the petition unless Gov. Edwards directly instructs the secretary of state to withdraw it.

Mr. Sawin announced his intention today to withdraw the petition following the receipt of a letter from Gov. Edwards in which he said he did not desire to have his name on the Indiana preferential ballot. The New Jersey governor telegraphed to the secretary of state several days ago, stating that he did not desire to become a candidate, but he did not give instructions to withdraw his name. The secretary of state has had no further communications from him.
