

AMERICANS CUT THEIR BEEF BILL

High Prices Turn Consumers to Veal and Mutton.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—High retail prices in 1919 reduced the per capita consumption of beef in America almost eight pounds, and caused the consumer to turn more frequently to veal and mutton, according to a statement by the department of agriculture.

Slightly less pork was eaten, but the total consumption of pork products was much larger than in 1917, and the exports of pork and lard were greater than ever shown in the records of the department.

The total meat consumption was less than in 1918, the per capita for 1918 being 150.08 and that for 1919 141.08.

Beef exports were shown to have fallen off 56.8 per cent, but the shipments of pork and lard to foreign ports showed a great increase.

The exports were equivalent to 18,000,000 hogs weighing 200 pounds each.

Less pork and lard were consumed in America, but the number of hogs slaughtered was a million more than in 1918.

Reduction in foreign orders was the heaviest blow received by the beef industry.

Exports declined 56.8 per cent from the previous year.

The department attributed this to the return of European countries to the cheaper sources of supply in South America and Australia.

The decrease in foreign orders for beef was so large as to bring the total meat production in America 4 per cent lower than in 1918, when packers were supplying a great part of the European market.

Figures supplied by the department show the American people ate more veal and mutton than during the war, but the per capita consumption of goat meat, never large, was only 0.09 per cent.

Finds Minnows in Tender of Engine

OSAWATOMIE, Kas., March 31.—J. E. Sturges, boilermaker foreman at the Missouri Pacific roundhouse here, now believes "there's nothing new under the sun."

Sturges was convinced of this when he found a school of minnows in the tender of an engine brought into the shop for repairs. The "small fry" are believed to have been in the tender several weeks. How they got there is a mystery.

Horse Buyer Lacks David Harum's Eyes

MONTROSE, Colo., March 31.—Four judges of distance cost the buyer of a horse here some $15 extra. While the owner of the animal and the prospective purchaser were bargaining over the value of the animal—the purchaser having offered $40 and the owner demanding $50—the purchaser declared he would pay whatever price the spanning of the animal with $5 bills amounted to. It took twelve and one-half $5 bills to go around the horse and the price of $62.50 was paid.

Use Old Duel Code to Settle Dispute

WELLINGTON, Kas., March 31.—J. A. Hays and Ed Hill, employees of a ranch near here, resorted to the old-time duel code to settle their differences the other day.

Rifles were selected as weapons and it was agreed that each man was to empty his magazine when the duellists sighted each other. The program was carried out and after a brisk exchange of shots, mortal wounds were inflicted on the sheriff.

SUCH IS LIFE

Sally's a flapper, tee hee!
Her mamma can't slap her, tee hee!
Though really she should. It would do Sally good.

And he solves and comfort to me. Sally converses, tee hee!

With giggles, immatures, tee hee!
As she says, "Oh my soul, oh how dreadfully droll!"

Do you think he is looking at me?

Squire Abner Harrington had fair to middling success with his garden last year. Raised bumper crops of blisters, weeds, clods and backaches. Besides which he stepped on the rake twice.

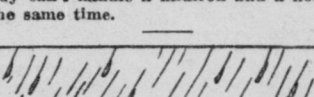

Prof. Spade believes that while planting in the dark of the moon may produce satisfactory results in some instances, still better crops may be attained by planting in the dark of the soil.

Maybe you, too, have noticed there are more Maids on the front porch than in the garden.

The best lars grow the biggest crops—when you hear them tell about it.

After you've spaded for about ten minutes you begin to wonder if you haven't laid out too large a garden plot.

Experts agree that garden work furnishes as much exercise as golf, but you can't handle a midiron and a hoe at the same time.

Industrial Course at Harvard Urged

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 31.—Gov. Henry Allen of Kansas favors establishment of an industrial relations course at Harvard. Interviewed by the Crimson, the governor said:

"If the great universities are to maintain their leadership they must keep in touch with the vital things of the world. This applies particularly to Harvard, which has already given recognition to the demand for the teaching of practical things. She can render an even greater service to the nation by the teachings of industrial subjects."

"The world is full of efforts toward industrial legislation which have failed—and which have failed for reasons easily discoverable. A very instructive course in industrial relations could be created at Harvard which would give the university a vital leadership as the establish of the remedy."

Newspaper English Urged for Pastors

BOSTON, March 31.—"When the minister learns to use newspaper style he will have learned to preach so that people can understand him. The minister should read the daily papers. The style they use will help him to speak to the people in a way that will demand their attention," declared Dr. Christian F. Relander of New York, speaking before 200 students of the Boston University School of Theology.

"It is time for the church to get out and advertise. The time is past for a minister to wear a preacher's coat and preacher's face and manner. It is time for him to be human, to read the sporting pages and talk baseball."
