

FARMERS GET INTO POLITICS

Canada Sees Their Power Increasing Steadily.

OTTAWA, Canada, March 31.—Farmers in Canada are in politics for the first time in history.

A "war" fund is being collected by an army of canvassers in Manitoba. Farmers' power is increasing steadily.

T. A. Crerar, former farm boy, school teacher and war-time minister of agriculture, is leading the farmers' revolt. There is talk of Crerar being the next premier of Canada.

The whole trend of Canadian politics is being changed by the businesslike methods 700 campaign fund canvassers are using in Manitoba. The campaign signposts the full entry into politics of a new party, the national progressive party, as the farmers now call themselves.

Originally the farmers' revolt was directed against high tariffs. They also want initiative, referendum and recall, and a land settlement scheme to make life land salable, co-operative marketing agencies and public ownership of railway, water and aerial transportation, telephone, telegraph and express systems. Farmers expect to have sixty members in the next parliament.

The order concerns the recent purchase of Central Union Telephone company by the Indiana Bell Telephone company and contains a provision that it "shall not be binding on the commission or the company in subsequent proceedings."

In the rate cases heard recently the tentative value of the property accepted by the commission was $15,773,000.

The House Dance

It is a good deal easier to get up a little dance among your friends in your own home than it used to be, because of the automatic piano players or music machines that are to be found in almost every home nowadays.

If you have a jolly crowd of young persons who are not too exacting you should not hesitate to get up a little dance even if your house is small.

The custom of having bare floors with rugs instead of carpets also makes the impromptu dance an easier matter.

All one needs to do is to have the rugs put out of the way and the furniture pushed back so as to give floor space.

If possible one room or even the hall should be arranged with chairs so that those who do not wish to dance may sit in peace without being disturbed by the dancers.

Refreshments are served in the kitchen and dispensed in the pantry and are handed about from there by the men guests if there are not enough servants.

There should always be two rooms arranged for cloakrooms, one for the men and one for the women, and a light should be left burning in these rooms.

On the bureau or dressing table for the women there should always be placed a freshly washed brush and comb, one or two jars of powder and a supply of absorbent cotton, to be used as little powder puffs by the guests who wish it.

There should also be a fresh package of assorted hairpins, some ordinary pins and a needle and thread in case one of the dancers needs to repair a torn frock.

If your house is large enough it is a good idea to have one room set aside as a smoking room for the men.

Cigars, cigarettes, matches and ash trays should be conveniently placed.

WHAT READERS ASK.

"Is it necessary to have dance programs for a small home dance, say with twelve couples?"

It is not necessary, but they may be bought already printed at most stationery department stores and do help a good deal.—Copyright, 1920.

The Aftermath Flu

This is No. 1 of a series of advertisements, prepared by a competent physician, explaining how certain diseases which attack the air passages—such as Pneumonia, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Measles or even a long continued Cold—often leave these organs in an inflamed, congested state, thus affording a favorable foothold for invading germs. And how Vicks' Vapo-Rub may be of value in this condition.

Your doctor will impress upon you that following recovery from the active stage of influenza, there often remains an inflamed, congested condition of the air passages—throat, larynx, bronchial tubes and lungs.

Frequently the cough hangs on—soreness of the chest persists—you take cold easily and there may be obstinate catarrh. This condition is slow to clear up and if neglected may favor the development of pneumonia, or later on, serious disease of the lungs.

Such cases should continue under the care of their physician—should exercise moderately in the open air—eat plenty of wholesome food—avoid overwork and sudden chills.

Nightly applications of Vicks' Vapo-Rub may help nature to complete the process of repair. Because Vicks acts locally by stimulation thru the skin to draw out the inflammation, attract the blood away from the congested spots and relieve the cough. In addition, the medicinal ingredients of Vicks are vaporized by the body heat. These vapors are breathed in all night long, thus bringing the medication to bear directly upon the inflamed areas.

Vicks should be rubbed in over the throat and chest until the skin is red—then spread on thickly and covered with hot flannel cloths. Leave the clothing loose around the neck and the bed clothes arranged in the form of a funnel so the vapors arising may be freely inhaled. If the cough is annoying, swallow a small bit of Vicks the size of a pea.

Samples to new users will be sent free on request to the Vicks Chemical Company, 231 Broad Street, Greensboro, N. C.

Making Merry

At Mealtime, Good Appetite, Good Digestion, and Cheer and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Do You? If Not, Why?

To sit back after a grand meal and know there is not going to be a gas, drowsiness and indigestion is the logical result of taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets immediately after eating. Most people believe they eat rich food and can still "digest it" but in reality, the food sits in the stomach and causes indigestion. The relief comes from the fact that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets supply the stomach with an acid just as it does naturally working in a perfectly healthy stomach. A glance around the table will indicate one or more who are if they anticipated the dyspeptic's mournful assemblage of distresses shortly after the meal is finished. Many a bon vivant, however, has learned how to have the table in happy frame of mind by the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets immediately after eating. And whether it is rich soup, pastry, cheese or dishes usually rated as "heavy," these tablets contain ingredients that digest food, assist the stomach in the work of digestion and supply the alkaline effect that the stomach requires to absorb the food. They up the troubles that ordinarily would follow eating some favorite dish, try this plan of avoidance.

Or if the trouble is already doing its worst, get a 50 cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets of any drugist and note how gently and smoothly your stomach settles down to good behavior.—Advertisement.

INDIANAPOLIS TUNER SAYS, "I'M TAKING PEPGEN I CARE WHATEVER I WANT"

Bert Pike, piano tuner Starr Piano Co., who lives at 2210 Broadway street, Indianapolis, says:

"My food soured on me and caused indigestion. I became weak and then there was hard work that I didn't have a split second.

"A friend asked me to try it. I accordingly obtained a bottle giving it a thorough trial conscientiously recommend it as a medicine.

"Since taking Pepgen I only able to eat what I want without indigestion afterward and am 50 per cent stronger. It's relief to be able to sit down and eat whatever I please.

"It is my honest opinion per person who suffers with indigestion will make a great mistake if they do not try Pepgen."

Statements such as Mr. Pike makes are based on exact knowledge and such knowledge can only be gained by experience. The great fact that thousands of people have in Pepgen has been brought about by circumstances.

Most people judge Pepgen as a man judges an old friend, not by a quick impression, but by what they have actually seen it do.

Beyond the evidence in any one locality stand thousands of people in different parts of the country who are ready to vouch for Pepgen.

Pepgen is sold by the Henry J. Hinder's drug stores, corner Washington and Pennsylvania streets, Michigan and Illinois streets, and by all other leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.
