REAL ESTATE GOSSIP

By REALTOR "AL" EVANS

Ken Badger now has the title of "Doughnut" Badger.

His honor put up a very neat talk to the realtors and their guests Wednesday night.

The "Mayor of Irvington" has a special kind of opera, so it seems.

With all of Temp's propaganda about me not attending the smoker, I was there—and with bells on.

Say! How would you realtors like to board with Ken Badger? He sure is some great little provider.

We were informed Wednesday that Bowman Elder acted as Godfather on his arrival in New York from overseas.

A lot of the young men sure did envy John R. Welch's complexion Wednesday night. The caterer seemed to enjoy the predicament, also.

Outside of Temp, the entertainment committee has about the liveliest men in the board.

Wouldn't it be swell if we could have as large a crowd at the Wednesday luncheon as we have at the smokers?

That joke about the doughnuts didn't sink in until the crowd began to sink their teeth into the slinkers.

These old men sure do crave young ideas. Frinstance, Will Elder and John R. Welch smoking "Fat Emmas." Nothing meant by referring to you as old men.

If your house is cold in the evening when you reach home from the office, examine the registers before you open up the furnace. Maybe your wife turned them off while cleaning.

Before raising rents again every landlord should pause to consider the householder will soon be faced with the necessity of purchasing furs for his wife for summer wear, and that furs are very expensive.

Even a lot of the bakeries around town never saw as many doughnuts in one pile as the realtors did Wednesday.

I claim that with the future of the board in mind we should vote the entertainment committee a lifelong job.

What does it profit a man if he doeth a large and juicy month's business and payeth it all out for hired help and a silk shirt?

Well, what about the 1921 convention, are you realtors going after it? That's the one way to let the Indianapolis people know just how big an organization the realtors have.

It is suggested that a splendid source of revenue for federal purposes has been overlooked. A large excess profit tax on imaginary real estate deals, which never get past the talking stage, ought to yield several billions.

It was announced at the smoker that each man was entitled to six doughnuts. However, some of the attendees didn't get their share, as there was about five dozen in the car I went home in.

A mother of four children had tried repeatedly to rent a house, but because of the children had always been refused. One afternoon, when approaching a vacant house, she came upon a cemetery a little distance from the house in question, whereupon she told the four youngsters to go there and play and await her return. During the conversation with the landlord he asked her if she had any children. She answered, "yes, four, but they're in the cemetery now." That was satisfactory to the landlord and she immediately paid the first month's rent.

THE USES OF REAL ESTATE.
The devil sends the blessed winds,
That blow the skirts knee-high;
But the Lord is just and sends the dust,
That blinds the wicked eye.

LAST NIGHT'S DREAMS

—WHAT THEY MEAN—

Did you dream of mines?
To dream that you are in a mine and moving about freely in its passages and chambers is an omen of prosperity, according to the oracles; but if you should dream you are lost in a mine it is a warning to look well to your business. If you are engaged in trade, as there is danger of loss to you if you don't watch carefully.

To dream of owning a mine denotes that you will encounter trouble and vexations where you have expected pleasure.

To dream you are working in a mine signifies some enemy is attempting to injure your prospects of success, though the chances are that he will not succeed.

Any dream of a mine in operation is set down as a warning that the dreamer should beware of enemies and should avoid all lax methods in connection with his business.

If he is an employee such a dream signifies that he should be especially careful and faithful in the discharge of his duties if he desires to be able to locate in that great hurly-burly. But Jim turned to a writer who led us to our

WILL PLEAD FOR NEAR EAST FUND

City to Hear Flying Squadron Speakers Wednesday.

The fate to which hundreds of thousands of children in eastern Europe will be left if America fails to give the necessary aid through the Near East Relief fund will be told by speakers of the flying squadron, which comes to Indianapolis next Wednesday.

Wednesday evening a mass meeting will be held at Caleb Mills hall, at which Paxton Hibben, Indianapolis man who recently returned from Armenia, will speak.

Members of the squadron will make addresses in various parts of the city during the day.

Secretary Mead A. Kelsey of the Indiana committee for near east relief, who has returned from a conference of the national committee at Des Moines, Ia., said the unanimous decision was that the relief work must continue.

Edgar H. Evans, county chairman, told members of the committee at the meeting yesterday afternoon that the type of the speakers of the flying squadron should assure large audiences.

Man Denied Parole for Robbing Friend

A petition of William Pitts, a convict in the state prison, for commutation of his twenty to thirty-year sentence, was refused by the state pardons board, according to a letter from the board received by Gov. Goodrich today.

Pitts was released from prison, where he was serving a burglary sentence, through the efforts of Dr. J. H. Walker, then assistant superintendent of the prison.

Within three days he returned and robbed Dr. Walker's home of $150 and was given another sentence of from twenty to thirty years.

"Dr. Walker had given Pitts an outfit of clothing and had interested in his behalf," the board wrote.

Need More Doctors for R. O. T. C. Exams

Physical examinations of high school members of the R. O. T. C. are being delayed on account of difficulty in obtaining services of physicians, according to Capt. Newton Hardin, head of the military training department of the city schools.

So far only fifty students have been examined of the 2,700 enrolled in the service.

Preparations are being made to select 200 high school students for training at the R. O. T. C. camp at Battle Creek, Mich., which will start about June 20 and continue six weeks.

Among the fifty students examined it has been found most of them are underweight as prescribed in the military standards, which is attributed by Capt. Hardin to insufficient training and improper diet.

Joy Ride in Stolen Auto Ends in Wreck

Joy riders who stole an automobile owned by Alfred Gates, 1928 North Illinois street, from the curb in front of that address last night, came to grief near the Thirtieth street bridge over White river.

Police found the wreck of Gates' car early this morning.

It is believed at least one of the occupants of the stolen car was injured in the wreck.

PUSS IN BOOTS JR.

By DAVID CORY. CHAPTER 6.

Now, when Puss Junior came to the foot of the great high hill, he looked at the ground for the little Red Ant which he had declared would tell him which road to take to the Castle of my Lord of Carabas. And pretty soon he found her, but it took him some time, for she was very small and her house was nothing more than a little mound of earth with a round hole in the middle for a door.

"You had better follow the river," she said, pointing to a silver stream that wound in and out among the trees, "for this water flows directly in the great moat that surrounds the castle of my Lord of Carabas."

"Thank you," cried little Puss Junior, delighted at last to be shown the way to his father. "Thank you many times," and away he went as fast as his legs could take him, and by and by, after he had gone many a mile by the river's side, pointing to a silver stream that wound in and out among the trees, "for this water flows directly in the great moat that surrounds the castle of my Lord of Carabas."

DOG HILL PARAGRAPHS

A terrapin with some initials cut on its back was seen near the blacksmith shop this morning. The mail carrier believes this is the same one that passed him on the Hog Ford road last summer.

Tobe Moseley went over to the store yesterday and bought himself a bottle of spring blood purifier. It is already showing its good effect on him, but it hasn't got much conversation in it.

Sle Kidew don't go to church very often, but he went Sunday and came away with a much better hat.

Runaway Boy Found Sleeping in Hallway

Irean Mumford, 13, a runaway boy, was found sleeping peacefully in the hallway of the Wimmer building at New York and Illinois streets at 2 o'clock this morning by Patrolman State.

Mumford told the policeman that his parents "treated him mean" and that he ran away from his home at Dargatz, near Danville, Ind., about a month ago.

He had been working in a local bowling alley and sleeping in the hallways of downtown buildings.

The boy was taken to the detention home, where he will be held until his parents are notified.

MARY'S DIVORCE FRAUD, CHARGE

Nevada Attorney General Says Perjury Committed.

RENO, Nev., April 10.—Fraud and perjury were committed in the obtaining by Mary Pickford of a divorce at Minden, Nev., it was charged today by Attorney-General Oenard B. Fowler of Nevada.

He announced that the complaint in which the state will make efforts to have the decree set aside will allege that the court which granted the divorce had no jurisdiction "because the plaintiff had no residence and the defendant was brought into Nevada as a matter of collusion."

"Fraud and perjury have been committed," said Mr. Fowler. "I am not prepared to say whether criminal action will be brought."

"My interest lies in getting the decree set aside, because the dignity of the state of Nevada is at stake."

The contemplated action, Mr. Fowler said, will be filed next week at Minden.

The Right Thing at the Right Time

Earmarks of Good Breeding
We have all of us heard of a dozen different ways of "telling a lady" or "a gentleman" from the rest of humanity.

Prim old-fashioned women used to say you "could always tell a lady by her gloves," the idea being that, however worn her clothes might be, if she were a "perfect lady" she would never go with her fingers peeping through the tips of her gloves.

Then we have been told real ladies do not wear diamonds in the morning and real gentlemen never wear diamond studs. Ladies and gentlemen, too, we are told, never chew gum, and some persons take that as an infallible criterion.

The longer we live and the more widely we travel the less we get to depend on any of these signs.

Sometimes the best and the bravest of men wear diamond studs and folk with Mayflower ancestors and whole rows of Harvard degrees to their family's credit at unguarded moments chew gum or wear tan button shoes or made neckties or some of the other things that "perfect gentlemen" are never supposed to do.

When all is said and done, there is perhaps no better criterion of what we choose to call good breeding than clean lines. If you are a tired, worn mother, with little advantages to offer your boys who are starting out in the world, there is nothing you can teach them that will stand them in much better stead than this habit.

The office boy who is always the possessor of a clean, neat handkerchief and whose collar never shows the marks of yesterday's wear is sure to attract favorable attention if for nothing else.—Copyright, 1920.
