

TREATY FAILURE SPAN'S WEAPON

Aspirant for Congress Suggests It for Democrats.

The best weapon the democratic party can use in the present campaign is the fact that the republicans in the senate opposed the treaty of peace and the league of nations, Henry N. Spaan, candidate for the democratic nomination for congress in the Marion county district, said in a speech at the Indiana Democratic club last night.

Mr. Spaan reviewed in detail the accomplishments of the democratic administration in conducting the war and told of the measures enacted into law by the democratic congress.

He also spoke at length of the failure of the present republican congress to accomplish anything of any particular importance.

Dr. Carleton B. McCulloch, candidate for the democratic nomination for governor, and a number of the democratic candidates for Marion county offices were at the meeting.

PUSS IN BOOTS JR.

By DAVID CORY.

CHAPTER VIII.

You remember in the last story that little Puss Junior had at last returned to his famous father, Puss in Boots, Seneschal to My Lord and Lady Carabas. Well, the next morning when he awoke he heard the drums beating and the fife playing, and looking out of the window, he saw a regiment of young men training on the great plain just in front of the castle walls.

So he hurriedly dressed himself and after a hasty breakfast he and his father joined the troops. And as soon as My Lord of Carabas saw them he came forward and said:

"Puss Junior, will you not play the little drum for us?" And what do you think our little hero replied? You know already, I'm sure, but I will tell you just the same.

"Yes, my Lord," he answered, and then the leader of the life and drum corps handed a little drum to him and Puss Junior started right in to play. Just like a regular drummer boy. And the way he made that drum beat was just wonderful, and all the regiment began to cheer and sing big captain said: "Three cheers and two tigers for the son of the famous Puss in Boots!"

And the cheers that went up from that regiment sounded all over Mother Goose Land and everybody asked everybody also what was the matter, and the little yellow bird, whose name I am going to tell you some day, told them it was for Puss in Boots Junior!

And then all the Mother Goose Characters began to cheer so that the regiment heard them, and they asked what was the matter, and the little yellow bird told them who were cheering. Wasn't it wonderful that that little bird? Indeed, he seemed to know almost everything.

Well, after a while the drilling was over, and Puss went back to the castle to rest, and after lunch he sat down beneath a shady tree and told his father lots and lots of things; all about his different adventures, you know, and how Gooney Gooney Gander had carried him on his back, and the Good Gray Horse had, too.

Oh, yes! Everything and everything, until the old gentleman cat fell asleep, and then Puss stopped talking and sat there very quietly, for he was just happy to be with his father again, you see.

After a while his father smiled at his son and said:

"But you would not have me stay at home and let a coward!" said little Puss. "No, indeed, my son," replied the old Seneschal, "you must go. Tomorrow morning, I believe, they march away." And then it was time for bed, so Puss went upstairs for a good sleep so that he could wake up bright and early to start off with the soldiers. And in the next story you shall hear how he beat the little drummer on the way to the battle ground.—Copyright, 1920.

HEARINGS SOON ON LIGHT RAISES

Local Companies Seek Additions to Surcharges.

The public service commission is expected to begin hearings in the near future on petitions of the Merchants Heat and Light company and the Indianapolis Light and Heat company of Indianapolis for increased rates.

Both companies, asserting the present rates are not sufficient to meet the increased cost of operation, wish the additional rate granted in the form of an addition to the present surcharge, allowed during and after the war.

A specific increase is not asked, the companies wanting a surcharge large enough "to cover added costs of coal, material, labor and taxes."

A surcharge of 5 mills a kilowatt hour for commercial lighting and power was authorized Sept. 1, 1917, and this was increased to 7 mills Aug. 10, 1918, for both companies.

The commission has denied Indianapolis public warehouses authority to make increases in storage rates.

Blood-Iron Phosphate For Weak, Thin Folks

Weak, thin, nervous people almost invariably owe their condition to lack of phosphate in the nerves and lack of iron in the blood. One of the surest, quickest and safest ways in which to make up the deficiency is to take with each meal a five-grain tablet of digestible phosphate and iron known among druggists here as Blood-Iron Phosphate, because it supplies iron to the blood as well as phosphate to the nervous system. People who have tried it say that one five-grain tablet taken with each meal quickly restores depleted nervous energy, enriches the blood, increases strength, vitality and endurance, and those who are too thin usually put on pounds of solid stay-then they are in a short time. Inasmuch as Haug, Hook and Huder and all other druggists are authorized to sell Blood-Iron Phosphate under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back, every thin, weak, nervous or anemic man or woman should give it a trial without delay.

Important—Blood-Iron Phosphate is sold only in original packages, containing enough for three weeks' treatment, at $1.50 per package—only 50 cents a week. Advertisement.

WHY SOCIETY WOMEN WASH THEIR OWN HAIR

They do, not because it is a fad, but because they wish to obtain the greatest possible hair beauty and be sure they are not using anything harmful. They have found that in washing the hair it is never wise to use a makeshift, but is always advisable to use a preparation made for shampooing only. Many of our friends say they get the best results from a simple home-made canthox mixture. You can use this at a cost of about 3 cents a shampoo by getting some canthox from your druggist and dissolving a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes enough shampoo liquid to apply to all the hair instead of just the top of the head as with most preparations. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear in the rinsing water. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will also delight you.—Advertisement.

On the Wave of Two Days' Selling The New PHILIPPINE Underwear

Sale is a Success Beyond Our Expectations

Too many women know the worth of Philippine undermuslins to require any delineation of its refinement, its serviceability and its economy. Ayres' numerous exhibitions and sales of this merchandise perhaps have helped to acquaint women with the advantage of buying "Philippine."

But with the renaissance generally of sheer, soft cotton in even the most fastidious things—imported from France and hand-made domestics—Philippine undergarments take on a claim to extreme fashion that they have not known before.

This particular collection of merchandise was ordered in 1918—the year the war ended, and that seems ages ago!—and having arrived but a few days ago, are values that will make Madam positively gasp—at least they warrant a gasp. But read.

Thousands of Garments are Involved

Prices: $2.90, $3.90, $5 and $5.95

With the bulk of garments at $2.90 and $3.90. There are gowns, slipover, and those with long sleeves and a yoke to the neck; envelope chemises and straight chemises, petticoats, drawers and corset covers.

The material is a soft quality of firm-woven nainsook, together with a more sheer quality. Every stitch, of course, is plied by hand—and the beauty of design and execution of the embroidery is incomparable in work of its kind. It takes the native women several days, you must be sure, to make such a garment.

The sizes are from 36 up. Sale started at 8:30 on Monday morning. Be here! —Ayres—Third floor.
