

SAYS MURDER THEORY FAILS IN SELVAGE CASE

Woman Climbed to Attic and Died or Starved to Death, Christian Believes.

INQUEST IS TOMORROW

Two theories were advanced today by Deputy Coroner George R. Christian as to how Carrie T. Selvage, whose skeleton was found in the attic of an old house at 1333 North Capitol avenue, met her death.

She either climbed into the attic and suffered a stroke of apoplexy while sitting in a chair or she sat down and, being too weak to get up, starved to death, in Dr. Christian's opinion.

After a careful examination of the skull he declared a murder theory was untenable.

INQUEST WILL BE HELD TOMORROW.

Coroner Paul E. Robinson announced that an inquest would be conducted tomorrow in an effort to definitely determine the cause of death.

Among the witnesses summoned to testify in the inquest is Mrs. Clayton Potts, 3319 North Capitol avenue, who lived at the same address when Miss Selvage disappeared from the old Union States hospital in 1900.

Lydia Seifers of the same address, Dan Jones, 421 South Warman avenue, who found the skeleton while tearing down the old brick building, and Patrolman Bright also are summoned to appear.

The finding of the skeleton has revived many stories told at the time of Miss Selvage's disappearance. Many families have lived in the building since it was abandoned as a hospital.

Dorothy Paddock, city elevator inspector, lived in the house years ago and he and other young men explored the attic of the house, but never found the second attic in which the skeleton was found.

The skeleton of Miss Selvage will be buried in Crown Hill cemetery at the side of the grave of her mother.

Pending word from all the relatives, the nature of the services has not been determined.

Burial will take place Friday afternoon.

Joseph W. Selvage, the brother, who conducted the search for his sister for years, thinks there is no doubt but that the skeleton is that of his sister.

The slippers which she wore and the dark wrapper both were positive means of identification, he said.

Caesarian Operation Performed on Hog

LONGMONT, Col., April 27.—What is believed to be the first Caesarian operation ever performed upon a hog proved only a partial success here.

While four little piglets of a litter of nine survive, the pigged piggy, a thoroughbred Poland-China hog, succumbed to the operation.

The four survivors are being reared on a bottle.

TRAINS TO HAVE CAFETERIAS?

LABOR QUESTIONS GET MANY VIEWS

Only 2 Governorship Candidates Fail Questionnaire.

All candidates for gubernatorial nominations in Indiana, except Warren T. McCray, republican, and John Ikenbarger, democrat, have returned answers to the questionnaire sent out by the Indiana State Federation of Labor, it was announced today by Charles Fox, president of the organization.

Answers have also been received from many congressional and state legislative candidates.

Candidates for governor in all cases gave answers favorable to the interests of labor, Mr. Fox said, although in some cases the answers were qualified in a way not quite satisfactory to some labor leaders.

The questions addressed to candidates concerned a state constitutional convention proposal, a mothers' pension measure, woman's eight-hour law, adequate workmen's compensation, child labor law, free school textbooks, school teachers' salaries and a state constabulary.

Negative answers were preferred in the case of the last mentioned measure.

A WORLD REBUILT

By the Golden Rule
not by the Rule of Gold

WHAT ARE the most precious elements in American Life?

Respect for the home? Jesus found women slaves; He made them companions. Down through the ages His Church has been the champion of women's rights and aspirations.

Respect for the man who works? It was the Carpenter of Nazareth who gave labor its great charter. "You are sons of God," He said. In that sentence Democracy was born.

Respect for property? Modern business is credit; and credit is character. All that makes property safe in the world is bound up in the reverence for law that religion breeds.

Respect for education? Who gave America her colleges? They were founded by Christian ministers, almost all of them.

On these great essentials must we build a better America, and a better world. And every one of them rests on the foundations of the Christian Church.

Thirty denominations of that Church are uniting now in a simultaneous campaign.

They are uniting because the task before the Church is too great for any one denomination; because there must be no duplication of effort; no waste.

They have had the courage to survey the whole task, and to ask for a budget large enough to sustain (1) the work abroad, (2) the work at home including the Church's part in the huge task of Americanization, (3) the colleges and (4) hospitals supported by the Churches, (5) the religious training of the young, and to provide (6) a living wage for the Church's ministers.

The appeal is to every lover of America, to you whether you are inside the Church or out. The rebuilding of the world is a spiritual task. Faith must be the cornerstone on which the new foundations are laid true; the measuring rod by which the builders build must be the Golden Rule.

Give when the call comes to you—give with your heart as well as your pocket-book
