The church building was dedicated Feb. 25, 1912, with an indebtedness of about $14,000. Since then the debt has been reduced steadily, and pledges made in October have made possible the paying off of the mortgage and the burning tomorrow night.

MRS. A. ROOSEVELT HALTED BY COP

Auto Without License Tag Is Cause of Chicago Mistake.

CHICAGO, May 1.—While sleuthing about Chicago's Loop district for a woman burglar, Detective Harry Donnelly observed an automobile with no license tag approaching him.

It rode a fashionably gowned woman.

Drawing a revolver, the detective forced the chauffeur to drive to the curb.

"Who are you?" the detective asked the woman.

"I am Mrs. Archibald Roosevelt," replied the latest victim.

"Driver of Teddy's, I 'spose?" queried the detective sarcastically.

"Yes," was the reply.

The detective, however, remained skeptical, and it was not until the chauffeur had been given a grilling in the office of the chief of police that the identity of Mrs. Roosevelt was established.

Then there were profuse apologies and Mrs. Roosevelt departed for the Twentieth Century Limited, on her way to New York and Panama.

BONUS UNLIKELY PRESENT SESSION

Plans to Force Bill Through House Monday Off.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Soldier aid legislation in congress today faced indefinite delay due to failure of house republicans meeting in caucus last night to endorse the bonus bill as reported from the ways and means committee.

He will speak on the general topic, "Challenging Problems of the World," and the series of talks will cover many up-to-the-minute social, economic and religious phases of the after-war problems of many nations.

As a result all plans to force the bill through the house Monday have been abandoned.

Republican leaders admitted it probably will be impossible to pass the measure through both houses before the congressional recess early in June.

Some members predicted no bonus legislation will be passed this session.

The caucus, after four hours of heated debate, adjourned until morning probably the latter part of next week, on the call of Chairman Towner, Iowa.

Should the republican convention declare in favor of a bonus, leaders said action probably will be taken during the summer, but if a strong plank is written in the platform for reduction of the bill it is virtually certain to be handed over to the next congress in the spring.

The main objections of the republican insurgents were lodged against the sales tax, but bonus advocates were surprised to find opposition to several other features.

A petition signed by sixty-eight insurgents was presented, declaring for the bonus, but voicing unsatisfactory opposition to the sales tax.

Democrats are solid against the bill in its present form, and with such a large bolt from the republican ranks the combination could defeat the measure.

In addition it was agreed that the secretary of the Indianapolis Live Stock Exchange would be informed in writing of those ships destined to bring a few hundred head on hogs, sheep and calves, and 4 cents a head on cattle to be collected by the commission merchants on sales and sent to the secretary of the federation for the purpose of maintaining the department.

Mr. Nichols of Indianapolis and William Dudley Foulke of Richmond, Ind., have accepted invitations to serve on the board of electors of the hall of fame of New York university, officials of the university have announced.

P. C. Ohler Named Live Stock Agent

P. C. Ohler, a stockman, will represent the Indiana Federation of Farmers' Associations, as a live stock marketing agent, on the Indiana Midway.

Mr. Ohler was selected by the live stock committee of the federation at a meeting last night.

In addition it was agreed that the secretary of the Indianapolis Live Stock Exchange would be informed in writing of those ships destined to bring a few hundred head on hogs, sheep and calves, and 4 cents a head on cattle to be collected by the commission merchants on sales and sent to the secretary of the federation for the purpose of maintaining the department.

Hall of Fame Board Includes Two Hoosiers

Meredith Nicholson of Indianapolis and William Dudley Foulke of Richmond, Ind., have accepted invitations to serve on the board of electors of the hall of fame of New York university, officials of the university have announced.

After speaking in Indianapolis, Mr. Plum will visit several Indiana cities.

Plumb Plan Author Talks Here Tomorrow

Glenn E. Plum, author of the Plumb plan of ownership and control of railroads, will speak at Tomlinson hall tomorrow night.

Mr. Plum, who is general counsel for the Organization of Railway Employees of America, will explain the plan which he proposed to congress with the endorsement of the railroad brotherhoods.

Mr. Plum proposed to purchase the railroads by the issuance of government bonds, and to control them by a board of directors named by the president, the operating officers and the classified employees.

After speaking in Indianapolis, Mr. Plum will visit several Indiana cities.

STATE HIGHWAY PLAN IS OPPOSED

Present Is Time for Conservation, Say Farmers.

Opposition to a too ambitious road building program in Indiana is expressed in vigorous terms by James G. Brown, president of the State Federation of Farmers' Associations, and Jas. R. Riggs of Vincennes, former assistant secretary of agriculture, in a joint statement issued today.

Need of labor and materials for other purposes and the depreciation of existing government bond values are urged by the agriculturalists as reasons for moderation in road making.

"The $300,000,000, which it is proposed to spend in Indiana for highway improvements, would build seven courthouses in every county at a cost of $50,000 each, and you all know how much taxpayers protest against one new courthouse the state over."

"The 3,000 miles, or 5 per cent of the state's highway system, for which improvement is planned, would cost the state $100,000,000; the counties would spend a like amount for feeder lines and the townships as much for connecting roads, making the $300,000,000 total."

"We must not be misled by federal and other aid."

"Federal aid is a tax, not a gift from dad."

"And all taxes are considered a burden, even at times when conditions are normal or below normal."

"Taxes are burdensome, not in the amount you pay, but in proportion to your ability to pay."

"We will all make a frontal attack some day, and, as the H. C. L. goes down, we will realize that our present troubles are caused by the high cost of spending."

"In roadbuilding we need mileage for our money, not expense per mile."

Mr. Brown and Mr. Riggs base their opposition to extensive road building on the ground that, in this abnormal period, government work should be preserved for a possible dull day later, when materials will be available and labor will need such a market.

Their statement is not a specific attack on any plan but is intended to enlighten the state highway commission and county and township authorities on the attitude of farmers toward road improvement.

Some members predicted no bonus legislation will be passed this session.

The caucus, after four hours of heated debate, adjourned until morning probably the latter part of next week, on the call of Chairman Towner, Iowa.

Should the republican convention declare in favor of a bonus, leaders said action probably will be taken during the summer, but if a strong plank is written in the platform for reduction of the bill it is virtually certain to be handed over to the next congress in the spring.

This was decided upon last night at a meeting of the association, at the home of Mr. Holmes, 2164 North Capitol avenue.

Fifty owners of property between Sixteenth and Thirty-eighth streets were present.

Among those present were property owners on Maple road and North Illinois street urging that similar organizations be formed on all the side streets.

Harry G. Thompson, executive secretary of the Indianapolis Real Estate board, was present and assured members of the board's cooperation.

Another meeting of the Capitol avenue association will be held next week.

The association plans to urge separation of white and colored children in all schools.
