

1920 THEATER SEASON SOON TO BE AT END

English's Turns to Movies May 9—Walker Players Coming to Murat May 31.

VAUDEVILLE PROGRAM

"GOODBYE." That's what we soon will be saying to the 1919-20 theatrical season in Indianapolis.

As we say our farewell to the legitimate season we will at once welcome in a new season.

The summer season in Indianapolis will see several changes in the theatrical district of this city.

The schedule is like this: English's—On May 9 Charles M. Olson, of this city, will take over English's for a summer season of pictures devoted to the Paramount-Artcraft features and in the fall the regular show season will open again.

B. F. Keith's—This house has several more weeks to run with its big time vaudeville before going into popular vaudeville as is the regular summer policy.

Murat—On May 31, Stuart Walker and his players will return to the Murat for their fourth summer season in stock. Mr.

Walker will open his season in "A Very Good Young Man."

"The Park—There is approximately five more weeks of musical comedy shows at this house before the current season is over."

The remaining attractions announced at the Park include "The Mischief Makers," "Monte Carlo Girls," "Bathing Beauties," "Grown-Up Babies," and "Pat White and his Gaiety Girls."

"ROBIN HOOD."

Harold Kelly is coming to town as well as an all-arounding show. They will all appear in a revival of "Robin Hood" coming to English's all next week after making a splendid impression here earlier this season.

The leading soprano role is in the hands of Elsa Thiede, a Kentucky singer, who has been starred three seasons, coming to "Robin Hood" last February for the big revival in New York City.

The principal baritone is Harry Longstreet, who interprets the role of "Little John."

The best song of all is "Brown October Ale," which is a musical gem even in prohibition days.

"Clarence," with Gregory Kelly, will close its engagement at English's tonight. Bertha Kelly is in an emotional treat will terminate her engagement at the Murat tonight in "The Riddle: Woman."

Marie Cahill will close her engagement tonight at B. F. Keith's.

HOME-MADE SHOWS.

The following local attractions will be given at the Shubert Murat theater from now on until May 31.

Sunday evening, May 2, Young People's club of St. Patrick's church will present a performance of "Green Stockings."

Thursday evening, May 6—Shortridge High school graduating class will present "Nothing but the Truth."

Tuesday evening, May 11—Knights of Columbus will present "It Pays to Advertise."

NEW BOOKING.

"The Smarter Set" comes to the Murat for four performances, beginning Thursday evening, May 13.

Salem Tait Whitney and J. Homer Tait will be the chief comedians.

The players this season are calling their musical comedy offering, "The Children of the Sun."

BIG BILL AT KEITH'S.

Lillian Shaw, one of the newest headliners on the "big time" circuit, returns next week to B. F. Keith's with her character impersonations and syncopated songs.

Lyell and Macy, a comedy combination, new since the war, comes with excellent advance reports.

Dainty Marie returns after several years with her aerial entertainment. One of the newest musical revues is that presented by Ed Janus, supported by Carmen Rooker, Irving Buckley and the Southern Sisters.

Billie Burke's "Tango Shoes," introduced by Thomas Dempsey, is back with more laughs.

Bert Howard, billed as "The Unusual Comedian," makes his first local appearance as a monologist.

Davis and Pelle are acrobats, who offer "An Equilibristic Marathon."

"The Miniature Revue" includes songs, dances, acrobatics and comedy, all presented by genuine mainfolds.

THE RIALTO.

Ed Rodnee and company will have the honor place on a six-act vaudeville bill at the Rialto next week.

A feature of the movie bill will be "The Tiger," which is based on the novel of S. P. Nielsen under the name of "The Love Thief."

The story is placed in the southwest and is said to be full of thrills.

RONDE.

The central figure of the story is Juanita, a pretty Mexican girl, who is chief of a gang of bandits.

The cast includes Gita Hartman, Alan Hale, Frances Burham, Edwin Cecil and Willard Louis.

THEY WEAR 'EM SHORT.

The Scotch Kilties will be the fashion in wearing apparel next week at the Lyric.

The original Kilties Band of thirty men, after being the representative band in Canada for sixteen years, is coming to town.

They will appear in full kiltie regiments under the direction of Murdoch J. McDonald.

The soloists will be J. Coats Lockhart, Scottish tenor, and William Smart, bag piper and dancer.

The bill will include: Six Imps and a Girl—pantomimic acro-

The chorus is labeled, according to the P. A. (press agent) as a "Paprika Chorus" and as "vivacious dancing girls."

This year's edition of "The Mischief Makers" is in several scenes and two acts.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

Miss Edna M. Shover entertained at a luncheon at her home Friday noon. The guests were a group who are making plans for the Y. W. C. A. monthly programs to be given at John Herron Art Institute next year. Those present represented industrial concerns, the art institute and the Y. W. C. A. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haven Brown, Miss Anna Haseleman, Miss Adelaide Cronin, Miss Florence Rubey, Mrs. Wilmer Christian, Mrs. Edna Martin, Miss Natalie Smith, Miss Helen Schappell and Miss Alice E. Newman.

Miss Hazel Gackler, 238 North Temple avenue, will be hostess to the Carry-On club Wednesday evening. The guests have been requested to come dressed as "Kids" and children's games will follow the regular meeting.

A May day dinner party with mothers is guests of honor was given by the younger girls in industry Thursday evening. Social hall was made unusually attractive by a May pole, which was erected in the center of the room with gay-colored streamers extending to the tables, which were placed in a circle.
