

BEAUTIES RULE NEXT WEEK IN FILMDOM HERE

Myrtle Stedman at Circle,
Mollie King, Alhambra and Miss Fisher, Isis.

ALICE BRADY, COLONIAL

WOMEN, women, beautiful women.

That's the order of things on the screen next week.

Again will the feminine movie stars take possession of the screen of Indianapolis.

And the best of the feminine filmers will outshadow the men next week.

Here is the feminine regiment of stars—Myrtle Stedman, Mollie King, Alice Brady, Margarita Fisher, Clarine Seymour and Mae Murray—booked for an appearance very soon.

Some crowd.

Yes, verily.

MYRTLE STEDMAN.

Rex Beach has another one of his well known stories done in the movies.

This time it is "The Silver Horde," a story of the north country.

Playing the leading part is Myrtle Stedman and having the assistance of Robert McKim, Albert MacQuarrie, Betty Rhythe, Curtis Cooksey and R. D. MacLean.

The story concerns Boyd Emerson, a young easterner who goes into Alaska in search of gold.

His desire was to get gold so he can marry Mildred Wayland, a daughter of a great capitalist.

In Alaska he meets Cherry Malotte, a girl whose name is common in the dance halls.

The girl has a claim on a great salmon run and it is her desire to get away from her life.

Boyd joins his fortunes with her and then comes the great struggle to overcome a great canning trust which seeks to get control of the great claim.

The story concerns from then on the great struggle of Boyd to overcome the trust.

Then comes Mildred Wayland into the north and then follows Boyd's conflict to decide between this society butterfly or the woman of the north.

At the Circle all week.

THE OHIO.

"The Luck of the Irish" is the latest movie event scheduled for the Ohio.

This movie will open Sunday for a week's engagement.

It is an Allan Dawn production made from the story by Harold McGrath.

There are a bunch of child actors in this movie which is said to be a departure from the regular run of pictures.

There is a workshop in the movie and the children take unusual delight in crawling up to the window and peering into the mysteries of labor.

The usual musical program will be offered in connection with this movie play.

"Old Lady 31" with Emma Dunn will close its engagement with the Saturday showings at the Ohio.

It is a sweet picture and well worth seeing.

MOELLIE KING.

Mollie King, beautiful Mollie, will be next seen as Mary Graham, a wife whose husband falls in love with her best friend, an old school chum.

In the end the wife is called to give her husband up to the other woman.

Husband gets a divorce and marries the school chum of his wife.

Hard luck in the form of financial reverses overtakes the husband and the second wife looks elsewhere for entertainment where there is more ready money.

The first wife then comes to her former husband's rescue and the way the husband atones for his actions toward his divorced wife makes the story of "Women Men Forget."

At the Alhambra the first half of the week, opening Sunday.

MARGARITA FISHER.

In "The Dangerous Talent," Miss Margarita Fisher assays the role of a woman who has a desire to force the names of people to checks and other documents.

The story was written by Daniel F. Whitcomb.

Even her dangerous talent comes in.

handy when she uses it to bring happiness to the man she loves.

The bill includes a Billy West farce and Tad Dolan's singers.

At the Isis the first half of the week.

ALICE BRADY.

One of the leaders of the female contingent who will head the movie brigade next will be Alice Brady.

Alice takes the lead in "Sinners," which was made from a stage play of that name.

She plays the role of Mary Horton, who leaves her quiet home in the New Hampshire hills for a larger city.

Mary's motives were pure, as she desired employment in order to support her invalid sister.

Mary meets Hilda West, formerly from Mary's home town, but now one of the painted and well kept persons of the streets.

Mary has an interesting time overcoming the pitfalls which Hilda throws in Mary's way.

Of course there is a good man who finally wins Mary's hand in marriage.

In depicting this story Miss Brady will have the assistance of James L. Crane, William P. Carlton, Frank Losee, Crawford Kent, Nora Reed and others.

The bill includes a Snub Pollard comedy and a Prizma subject as well as the American Harmonists and the Literary Quintet.

Opens Sunday at the Colonial for all week.

MAE MURRAY.

Mae Murray will have the honor of being the opening attraction at English's when that house goes into a summer season of movies under a special lease held by Charles M. Olson of this city on May 9 next.

Miss Murray's movie is called "On With the Dance," and gives this former stage star a dancing role.

Miss Murray was a favorite for some seasons in the Follies, as she was with the Ziegfeld outfit in 1915.

In the movie she has the role of a pleasure loving orphan who is thrown up against some members of New York's faster set.

It is a Paramount-Artcraft picture.

HARRY CAREY.

It is a pleasure to announce that at least one movie house will have a male star next week.

The place is the Regent.

The star is Harry Carey.

'GOLLY-DING GAL' WIGGLES TO FAME

CLARINE SEYMOUR

Clarine Seymour wiggled her way into fame in D. W. Griffith's "The Idol Dancer," recently seen at the Circle and booked to open Sunday at Mr. Smith's for four days.

She's the golly-ding girl of the south sea isles and the way she ran away with the honors of this play is a movie sensation.

The movie is "Three Marked Men."

The movie concerns the movie bandit pals of Harry Carey, who are serving time in prison for being implicated in a train robbery.

There is a desperate attempt to escape which is successful and the pals, after an exciting chase over a desert, meet in a western mining town.

Harry falls in love with a girl who is a waitress in a dance hall.

Many adventures follow for Carey and the girl.

The bill includes "Don't Weaken," a comedy with Snub Pollard.

SHRINE TO PUT ON ORIENTAL SHOW

"Araby," With Cast of 400 Nobles, to Be Staged at Murat.

A colorful spot of the orient will be moved to Indianapolis and set down in the Murat theater, May 24, 25 and 26.

On these nights "Araby," an oriental extravaganza, will be presented by 400 Murat nobles, amid a setting in which all of Murat temple's $50,000 equipment in scenery, costumes and properties will be brought into play.

The musical fantasia has been arranged by Paul Richey and will be presented under the direction of Harry Porter.

This will be the first time the Shriners have ever given a public entertainment introducing Moslem scenes and legends characteristic of the order.

The usual prices for Shrine theater parties will prevail and the show will be open to everybody without the formality of the special Shrine cards required on other occasions.

Miss Taylor's Play to Reopen Monday

LONDON, May 1.—Laurette Taylor's play, "One Night in Rome," broken up by rowdies Thursday night, will reopen at the Garrick theater Monday night, it was said today.

The actress, untroubled by her experience, is spending the week end at the seaside with her husband, Hartley Manners, author of the play.

The motive for the demonstration had not been clearly established.

Rumors that the Sinn Fein were responsible were discredited.

RUSSIAN PLATINUM LEADS.

Russia is the largest producer of platinum in the world, producing 300,000 troy ounces in 1912. In 1917 only 50,000 troy ounces were produced.
