

CITY LARGEST OF TRUCK HOG MARTS IN U. S.

Overland Hauling to Livestock Yards Grows by Leaps and Bounds Since 1912.

SEE RECORD THIS YEAR

Official figures obtained today at the office of the auditor of the Indianapolis Live Stock Exchange show not only that this city has the largest truck hog market in the country, but that the totals received in the first four months of 1920 are a most astonishing rate.

For the first four months of 1920, the totals in which pork hogs usually find the greatest market, the totals were larger than in any of the five years following the separate official compilation of truck receipts, which was instituted in 1912.

CONSTANT GAIN EXCEPT IN 1913.

For the eight years from 1912 to 1919, inclusive, there has been a constant gain, except for a slight falling off in 1913, with the most noteworthy increases recorded last year and the year before.

Figured by percentages, the increase during the eight years approximates 550 per cent, with the most rapid increase occurring after the United States entered the war.

The leaps and bounds by which the use of trucks is growing in Indiana, more over, that 1920's total will closely approximate the 900,000 mark, as against only 110,024 in 1912.

TO PASS THIRD OF 1919 RECEIPTS.

If this prediction should be turned into fact, the truck receipts at the local yards during the present year will be close to one-third of the total hogs received from all sources in 1919, including even those bound eastward.

All truck receipts go into what the Indianapolis Live Stock Exchange members have named "Diamond alley," and the wealth that is daily poured into it amply justifies its name.

The receipts by yards during the time official records have been kept of this class separately have been as follows:

1912	110,024
1913	90,821
1914	90,501
1915	136,447
1916	173,101
1917	271,994
1918	402,313
1919	711,212

Of this aggregate total of 2,653,193 no better evidence of the marvelous growth of this new market, not officially yet in its teens, can be given than the fact that more than one-third of it came during last year.

HOW FIGURES LINE UP FOR THIS YEAR.

For the first four months of this year, ended last Friday, the auditor's figures show the following totals:

January	79,986
February	43,370
March	31,526
April	30,874
Total	185,756

Since the first of 1918, moreover, another rapidly growing factor of importance in business at the yards has entered into competition with the railroads, and that is the carrying of live stock by traction lines.

In 1918 the Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern traction line unloaded 780 single decks of live stock at the yards, the Indiana Union Traction line 202 and the Indianapolis & Cincinnati traction line seven, a total of 989 single decks.

"During the last year the Terre Haute line unloaded 1,406 single decks and also signaled its entry into the outgoing freight field by loading eight singles, while the Indiana Union Traction unloaded only four singles.

WATER TRANSPORTATION LINES NOT MISSED.

As one trader put it in considering these figures:

"Indianapolis doesn't miss either lake or river transportation when we have these truck and traction line carriers to develop on top of our unequalled railroad facilities.

"When we stop to consider that practically all the trucking comes from within a radius of about 100 miles square from the city, the progress thus far is nothing short of marvelous and the possibilities for the future are limitless.

"Indianapolis is recognized as the largest live stock market east of Chicago, and it is constantly proving not only its full right to that title, but also that no other city can in the future take that proud distinction from it."

Eggleston to Do Turn for Actors' Benefit

Remember "Roland, The Great"? How he used to pull a Belgian hare out of a red silk handkerchief and then through a simple, outlandish action cause everything to move about the stage?

Remember how you used to say, "Gee, I wouldn't want to get that guy in a game of jack-a-better," when he pulled the ace out of the middle of the pack? Well, he'll be doing a few of his old stunts again tomorrow.

"Roland, The Great," you know, is none other than Roland Eggleston, manager of Keith's theater, and he's to be one of the impromptu stars on the "Actors' Benefit Matinee" at that theater. Besides the regular bill there will be many side features, according to Mr. Eggleston.

He has passed the tip that the 200-pound beauty in "Tango Shoes" is to take part in the dance classic with "Dainty Marie."

of profiteering was to be based was recalled and the transaction was never completed.

"These facts, however, have not stopped our investigation and I shall have a complete report of the true facts in my hands during the day.

LOGANSPORT MAYOR DENIES PROFITEERING.

Mayor Barnes, Logansport, in a statement made by The Times, denies any intention of profiteering. The statement follows:

"A week ago Saturday, April 24, Edward Drompp of the Chicago Drug Grocery Company met me and told me that he had bought a carload of sugar for nineteen (19) cents per pound and would be sold by The Chicago Drug Grocery Company at 25 cents per pound.

"I told him that if sugar was worth what he said I would have the money, and we went up to my office and I called George Burger of Boeger Bros. Grocery Company by telephone and asked him if 19 cents was a cheap price for sugar, and he told me it was, and that I was safe in letting Rich-Drompp Company have the money. Then I told Drompp that I would handle the sugar as he wanted to handle the loan the same as the bank had on previous occasions, and he told me that all I needed to do was to have the bill of lading, which I did, and I had the understanding with Drompp that he would sell the sugar in Logansport, but while I was out of the city he came to George Clevenger, who works for me, and they went to the bank and had a draft made in my name for $21,000.

"When I came home Saturday afternoon and found this one I told Drompp that I wanted to handle the sugar wire the Indianapolis bank to return the draft, as I wanted this sugar sold in Logansport, and I wish to say that if this draft has not been paid that the sugar will be stopped at Logansport. The sugar has never been in Logansport nor Indianapolis. I understand it as in Michigan.

"My only interest in this transaction was to help Mr. Drompp and at the same time get some sugar for Logansport."

Truck Driver Held After Hitting Woman

Ralph Robinson, negro, 2350 Sangate street, was arrested after the truck he was driving knocked down Mrs. James Durpin, 2723 East New York street, at Senate avenue and Washington street, this afternoon.

Mrs. Durpin was removed to her home in the police emergency ambulance.

After striking the woman Robinson claims he lost control of the truck and it crashed into a wagon driven by Clyde Ryder, 236 North Senate avenue.

Ryder was not hurt.

The wagon was damaged.

Witnesses told the police Robinson was driving at a rapid pace.

BALTIMORE, May 4.—Practically complete returns today show that Gen. Leonard Wood has defeated United States Senator Hiram Johnson of California for the republican presidential preference in Maryland.

Gen. Wood will have instructed for him the sixteen votes from Maryland to the national convention.

There were no democratic candidates for president and the delegation sent by Maryland to the San Francisco convention will be uninstructed.

MCCRAY SUPPORTERS EXPECTING VICTORY

A statement issued at the headquarters of Warren T. McCray today contained an expression of confidence that he would win the republican gubernatorial nomination by a large majority in today's voting.

Mr. McCray issued a statement declaring that the best interests of the republican party are his chief concern and that, whatever might be the primary result, he would not be the primary result.

BRYAN CREEPS UP IN OFFICIAL COUNT

LINCOLN, Neb., May 4.—The official count of votes in the Nebraska primaries, so far as they have been received at the secretary of state's office, place W. J. Bryan in the lead of all of his own particular group of candidates for delegate-at-large to the San Francisco convention and less than 1,000 behind Shalenger, the leading Hitchcock candidate.

Mr. Bryan had hitherto been given fourth place.

The shift came about largely through the fact that 1,100 votes originally given him in Douglas county, in which Omaha is located, and then taken away from him have been restored by the official count.

UTAH DELEGATES ARE UNINSTRUCTED

PRICE, Utah, May 4.—Utah republican delegates to the national convention will go uninstructed, the state convention here yesterday ordered, electing four delegates at large.
