

BRITAIN PLANS TO TIGHTEN UP REIN ON IRISH

Flying Infantry and Armored Autos to Swoop Down on 'Terrorists.'

DEATH TO MURDERERS

LONDON, May 19.—The government's new Irish policy formulated in the recent Downing street conference was beginning to be more apparent today.

In the future, according to information here, no offenders will be jailed on suspicion.

Those already in jail will be released unless evidence has been obtained which warrants their being brought to trial.

Murders and violence will be suppressed with the greatest firmness, it was said.

Numerous military posts will be established throughout the island.

PLAN TO STORM TERRORIST MEETINGS.

Flying columns of infantry supported by armored automobiles will be held in readiness to swoop down on suspected terrorist meetings.

Severe punishment for these found guilty of crime has been decided upon, it was understood.

Convicted murderers will be hanged without delay.

Gen. Macready, it was learned, believes the success of the British authorities depends more upon preventing outbreaks than punishing those guilty of past lawless deeds.

CONCESSIONS PROMISED IN HOME RULE BILL.

Meantime the government was reported ready to make important concessions to the Irish nationalists to the extent of a home rule bill.

Sir Edward Carson, Irish unionist leader, referred to the United States during the debate on the Irish home rule bill in the house of commons last night.

"It is high time America should understand that Ireland is still a great power," he declared.

"She should know we are not subordinate to the United States or any other power."

"I hope America will drop out of this discussion."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

LECTURE BY JOHN W. DODD.

The third installment of the lecture on Christian Science by John W. Dodd, C. S. B., member of the board of trustees of the modern church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, is given to-day.

At last the understanding of God's true nature and of existence as spiritual and perfect, manifested itself in the birth of Christ Jesus.

Because of his freedom from mortality, and his constant communion with that one Mind which is Life, Truth and Good, he proved to perfection that "the flesh profited nothing" because "it is the spirit that quickeneth" (John 6:63).

He informed them that for all time spiritual understanding is sufficient for man's health, for his food, for his life, and to overcome all that claims to operate against his harmonies as the soul of God. He taught them to follow an infallible rule, which he called "the truth" that would deliver them from all evil thinking, or from the carnal mind, and they obeyed.

When they failed to "demonstrate" this rule he informed them that it was because of their lack of faith, of spiritual understanding, and that it was a right mental condition. He further told them that if they had this right mental condition they would be able to say to the world, "I am the truth" and "my objects" (Mark 11:23). "Be thou removed," and they would obey. At last to prove to mankind the infallibility of spiritual understanding, he allowed them to overcome mortality, or the carnal mind, he allowed men to crucify his material body, and then by his spiritual understanding he raised it from the grave, thus proving conclusively the utter inability of any material condition to bind one who dwells persistently in the consciousness of infinite Spirit or Mind.

One cause still remains, years preparing to prove to mankind that since God is Mind, or Spirit, true existence must be divinely mental, or spiritual, and could only be attained through spiritual understanding, or a right mental condition. He taught that the kingdom of heaven is within us, or within our thought, and is the absolute understanding of spiritual reality, or of true existence, to be attained here and now. He also taught that the only hell is the false human belief that there is a power called matter, or the carnal mind, opposed to the one infinite power, Spirit, or divine Mind. He further explained to them that what is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit" (John 3: 6), and in many ways showed them the impossibility of a connection between matter and Spirit, i.e., between the carnal mind and the divine Mind.

MOSES DELIVERS

FOUR BOTTAGE.

Jacob and his sons had begun to realize to some extent that the utilization of their understanding of God and of true reality would free them from every mortal disease and would bring them to their highest sense of mortality.

Owing, however, to their lack of spiritual enlightenment and their understanding of spiritual reality, or of true existence, they had been unable to attain health, holiness, and happiness, the place to begin is in their thinking. During many years Moses also demonstrated to them that the human belief of law, or hunger with the physical senses and their false testimony, thus illustrating again the ever presence of that divine law through which Moses had proved the law of God.

When he fed the multitudes he replaced the human belief of law, or hunger with the spiritual belief of law, or hunger with the physical senses and their false testimony, thus illustrating again the ever presence of that divine law through which Moses had proved the law of God.

Jesus Christ, the Son of God, had also demonstrated to them that God is a God of the living and not of the dead, and he finally declared, "Whosoever liveth and believeth in me, the same shall have eternal life" (John 11:26).

CHRIST PROVES

COMPLETE DOMINION.

After Moses, many spiritually minded men arose, who were also subordinated to their spiritual experience by their spiritual understanding. Joshua overthrew Jericho by a wholly mental process.

Elijah raised the widow's son from the dead at Zarephath (I Kings 17:22) and he also demonstrated to them that God is a God of the living and not of the dead.

Elisha used his understanding of God to cure Naaman of his leprosy (II Kings 5:14), and he broke the axe-head swim (II Kings 6:6).

He raised the Shunammite's son from the dead at Shunem (II Kings 4:35), and in many ways proved conclusively that the understanding of spiritual reality, or of true existence, makes man capable of making the spiritual experiences of mortality.

Daniel proved that mortal beliefs of hate, malice, and ferocity, whether operating as lions or as men, could be overcome by the understanding of spiritual reality, or of true existence.

The three young Hebrews proved unfailingly that even fire could not harm them dwelling in the furnace (Dan. 3:26), thus continuing to prove what Moses had discovered at the burning bush.

Jesus walked on the waters, thus dispersing the so-called law of gravity; he also proved that the sick and shamed by the disease of the carnal mind, or the carnal body, could be healed by the power of God's creation.

When he fed the multitudes he replaced the human belief of law, or hunger with the spiritual belief of law, or hunger with the physical senses and their false testimony, thus illustrating again the ever presence of that divine law through which Moses had proved the law of God.

Jesus Christ, the Son of God, had also demonstrated to them that God is a God of the living and not of the dead, and he finally declared, "Whosoever liveth and believeth in me, the same shall have eternal life" (John 11:26).

CHRIST PROVES

COMPLETE DOMINION.

Jesus regarded matter, or material existence, simply as a mistaken human belief.

He caused Jacob to perceive, and to prove the continuity and indestructibility of spiritual belief, which had enabled him to walk on the water.

Jesus had caused the dead to rise, and to prove that they would do even greater works.

He knew that the truth about God and about existence which had enabled Enoch to ascend, and had forced Abraham to leave his home, and that the three patriarchs had caused Jacob to perceive, and to prove the continuity and indestructibility of spiritual belief, which had enabled him to walk on the water.
