

CHURCHES PAY HONOR TO CITY MARTYRS IN WAR

Special Services Are Held in Many Edifices, Respecting Memory of Fighters.

VETERANS JOIN YOUTHS

Special services in the various churches of the city, strewing of flowers on Fall creek, and community slugs featured ceremonies in Indianapolis Sunday in honor of the soldier and sailor dead.

Services for the sailor dead at the Capitol avenue bridge over Fall creek, in charge of Mrs. Claudia K. Erber, were attended by a large number of former service men.

Sunday night at the Columbia Place Christian church, Company H, Tenth infantry, conducted military honors for soldiers buried at Ft. Benjamin Harrison. The graves of the soldiers at the fort will be decorated next Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

GRAY HAIRIED MEN JOIN YOUNGSTERS.

Memorial services were held at the Central Avenue M. E. church by the Orlie Mill Watkins and the St. Mithel junction with the George H. Thomas post of the G. A. R.

A new Christian church will be erected at Forty-sixth street and Central avenue. It was decided Sunday at a meeting held at the home of Harry Yockey, 628 East Forty-sixth street, and a building committee has been appointed to arrange for the work.

"The conception the American people have of the Mexican works against a helpful attitude toward them," declared T. Cornelius, graduate of the College of Missions, in Irvington, and former pastor of the Broad Ripple Christian church, speaking at the North Park Christian church.

"The only way to understand the Mexican is through our approach to him through Christianity," said Mr. Cornelius.

SPECIAL SERVICES IN MANY CHURCHES.

Special services were held in the First Baptist church by the Rev. Frederick E. Taylor, the Mansur Park Methodist church by Rev. J. C. McCaslin, and at the Meridian Street M. E. church by Dr. Loren M. Edwards of Baltimore.

Those in place of the pastor, Rev. Philip L. Frick, who is at the general conference at Des Moines, Ia.

Announcement of the choice for the new Indiana area of the Methodist Episcopal church from the general conference at Des Moines, is expected soon.

According to a report from the conference received here Bishop Frederick DeLand Lee of the Atlanta area, or Bishop Francis J. McConnell of the Denver area may be selected for this place.

Bishop McConnell was formerly president of DePaul university, and his father, Rev. I. H. McConnell, was at one time pastor of the Roberts Park M. E. church of Indianapolis.

Checked suits and silk shirts will not establish a fellow's status in the hereafter, Merle Sidener, teacher of the Christian Men's Builders of the Third Christian church, told his class yesterday.

SAYS BACKBONE IS WHAT WE NEED.

"Some chaps go whining around in this old world, yelping about not being as lucky as some other fellow," said Mr. Sidener, "when as a matter of fact it is not a wishbone that they need at all, but a backbone."

"We need fellows who spell 'luck' by putting a 'p' in front of the word, and who practice the principles that go with the new spelling, able to meet the demands of the business, and who are yearning all the time for checked suits and silk shirts."

A survey was made by the class personnel department, in an effort to direct the activities of the class more effectively.

Light Co.'s Rate Hearing Tomorrow

A hearing will be held by the public service commission at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning on the petition of the Merchants Heat and Light Company for a re-adjustment of rates.

Besides a readjustment, the company asks permission to add a temporary surcharge to all light and power bills pending the proposed increase.

GOODRICH CLOSES DOOR ON JENKINS

Highway Official Said to Have Worked on Wrong Side.

As an outcome of the breach which is said to have existed between Gov. James P. Goodrich and David C. Jenkins of Kokomo, republican member of the state highway commission, reappointment of Mr. Jenkins, whose term expired April 17, will not be made.

The difference between Mr. Jenkins and Gov. Goodrich have been more marked since the republican state convention, it is said, because of his activities in behalf of the nomination of Ora J. Davies of Kokomo for treasurer of state.

"I am certain that the governor did not reappoint me because my work on the commission was not satisfactory," said Mr. Jenkins.

Hearst's Magazine—a Liberal Education!

How Many of Us Are Really Honest?

Do you always hunt up the conductor who forgot your fare? Or return the book you borrowed? Or admit the suit you are trying to sell is not a perfect fit? Where is the dividing line between actual dishonesty and mere shrewdness—between sharp practice and good business? What would you do in each of the thirty-six delicate situations described by Edgar Mott Woolley in his article "Diogenes with a Searchlight?" See Page 21.

"We were hidden in the bushes close behind the tank when the train rolled in. We waited until the engine had taken water—then we slipped out of our hiding place."

He went into business for himself at an age when other boys were playing marbles—today he provides jobs for 100,000 men. He saved Hoover's Belgian Relief Fund with a gift of $100,000—he spent $1,000,000 from his own pocket postponing Russia's impending collapse, thus saving many American lives. He is one of America's greatest business men—yet he is so modest that not one man in a thousand has even heard his name. See "He Never Drew a Salary," in

Did you ever plan to be a train robber when you grew up? Doctors, lawyers, ministers and other respectable citizens who failed to realize this natural boyhood ambition may yet enjoy a vicarious thrill by reading "My Career of Crime," the autobiography of a train robber which starts in Hearst's this month. This exciting narrative and interesting study of criminal psychology is, for obvious reasons, published anonymously. See "I Rob My First Train," on page 12 of

A Government Based on Humanity

What is the secret of Senator Johnson's phenomenal victories in the Republican primaries? Why did he carry Michigan by an overwhelming majority? Why, when his name was not printed on the ballot in Illinois, did 53,000 citizens take the trouble to write in his name, giving him four times as many votes as were cast for Theodore Roosevelt in the Illinois primaries four years ago?
