

AWAKENS TO FIND HIMSELF SINKING

Owner of Houseboat Swims to Window—State News.

VINCENNES, Ind., May 25.—Awakened by water washing about his body, Gus Bishers, 37, and his houseboat submerged in the Wabash river last night.

He swam to the window of his river home and kicked out a pane of glass. Just as he cleared the sinking hulk it went under.

A rat or mouse in the hold is thought to have gnawed a hole through the bottom, causing a leak.

ANDERSON—Arris Moore, 25, the father of ten children, is dead from injuries sustained when he fell and fractured his hip.

WPLAND—Fudhiko Oh, 20, a student of Taylor university, died yesterday at the Grant county hospital in Marion. The body will be taken to Chicago for cremation, the ashes to be shipped to the boy's parents in Yokosuka, Japan.

KOKOMO—An increase of 2 cents a loaf on bread and an increase on buns and cookies has been announced by the bakers of the city.

ANDERSON—The coal shortage is more serious here than it was during the strike last December, according to H. A. Nicholl, general manager of the Indiana Traction Company, who states that the company may be forced to curtail service because of the situation.

KOKOMO—Quick medical attention saved the life of Ad McGlone, grocer, when he was bitten by a tarantula.

ANDERSON—Grief has fallen a party of six Andersons who started home May 15 to travel by river in two home-constructed row boats for New Orleans. The boats capsized after a collision in White river near Indianapolis and it was with difficulty that the occupants escaped.

MARION—Shortage of houses in Marion coupled with the increased cost of living has resulted in the filing in the justice of the peace courts of a large number of complaints for unlawful detention and the eviction of tenants whose rent has not been paid. The majority of these cases have been filed against tenants who refuse to move after the property which they occupy has been sold.

OL products have advanced in price more slowly than any other products. The U. S. Department of Labor, in a comparative statement of price advances between January 1913, and December 1919, says:

(In the following table 100 is taken as the normal base for 1913)
	Jan. 1913	Dec. 1919	Percentage of Increase
From	To
Cloths and clothing . . .	100	335	235 %
House furnishings . . .	100	303	203 %
Labor and building material	100	253	153 %
Farm produce . . . . .	97	244	151.5%
Food . . . . .	99	234	136.3%
Chemicals . . . . .	101	179	77.2%
Fuel and lighting . . . .	103	181	75.7%
Metals and metal products	107	169	58 %

(Monthly Labor Review, Vol. X, No. 3)

On January 1, 1913, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) was paying $1.44 per barrel for crude delivered at the refinery at Whiting, Ind., and was selling gasoline for 14½¢ per gallon.

On December 31, 1919, the price of crude had advanced to $3.51 per barrel, f. o. b. Whiting, and the selling price of gasoline to 21¢ per gallon.

In other words this Company is paying two and one-half times as much for crude oil as it was in 1913, but because of its more efficient refining methods it is able to sell gasoline to you for less than one-half more than was charged at that time.

(Continuing the table:)

Crude Petroleum . . . . .	100	240	140 %
Red Crown Gasoline . . .	100	144.8	44.8%

It will be seen from the above tables that gasoline stands at the end of the list as regards price increase, and that crude petroleum stands sixth from the end, showing how effectually refining efficiency has operated in behalf of the motorist.

Every cost entering into the making of gasoline has risen immensely. The cost of crude, the cost of refining, and the cost of marketing are all greater than ever before.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) by superior efficiency in every process of refining and distributing has contributed in no small degree to hold the price of gasoline down to its present level. Every man in the manufacturing end of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is keenly alive to the pressing necessity for an increased output of gasoline at a minimum manufacturing cost.

The ideal toward which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is striving, is to put Red Crown, a gasoline of known, standard quality, within the reach of motorists everywhere in the Middle West, at a price so low as to make possible the free use of that 25 percent increase in automotive vehicles which is anticipated for 1920.

the campaign against tuberculosis should be carried into the home.

The report in no way reflects on the present management and agrees with the future building plans of Supt. Hatch.

He held that the public's opinion of a tuberculosis hospital should be changed to that of considering a hospital primarily as a training school, and secondary as a hospital.

He pointed out that the present system of relief for the poor in Marion county and for such in other counties as are committed to almshouses, it would be advisable to discontinue Julietta and transfer the inmates to the care of the state.

To accomplish this Dr. Wright stated that additional accommodations would be needed at the Central Hospital for the Insane or in colonies operated by it and advised that such provisions be made.

ASKS TEMPORARY REPAIRS TO BE MADE.

He stated that pending the time when standards and conferences of officers, and further on decidedly stated that "for the good of the insane in Marion county and for such in other counties as are committed to almshouses, it would be advisable to discontinue Julietta and transfer the inmates to the care of the state.

To accomplish this Dr. Wright stated that additional accommodations would be needed at the Central Hospital for the Insane or in colonies operated by it and advised that such provisions be made.
