PARADE TO MARK MEMORIAL DAY

Services Also to Be Held in Monument Circle.

Indianapolis will celebrate the first Memorial day in which all returned soldiers of the world war will be given the opportunity to participate tomorrow.

The observance will be opened with a program at the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument, where school children, under the direction of the veterans of three wars, will scatter flowers over the four sectors.

The invocation of the monument will be given by Rev. James D. Stanley, rector of Christ church.

An address will be given by Homer Dale, department commander of the United States war veterans.

RECESSION ALSO TO BE GIVEN.

The benediction will be pronounced by Gen. L. Martin Simonson of the Salvation Army.

Detachments of the United States army under Col. George L. Converse, of the United States navy under Lieut. Thomas A. Orr, of the marine corps under Capt. C. Dunbeck and of the aviation department under Capt. J. H. Randolph, will participate in the ceremonies.

An airplane will fly over the monument dropping flowers.

At Crown Hill cemetery school children, veterans of three wars, and auxiliaries of veterans organizations will participate in the ceremonies.

Judge Solon J. Carter will be the principal speaker.

A program in honor of sailors who gave their lives in the wars will be given at the Capitol avenue bridge at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Claudia Erther, assisted by Mrs. Henrietta Neel, will have charge of the ceremonies.

Frank C. Riley will deliver the principal address at Mt. Jackson cemetery.

BOY SCOUTS TO RECEIVE FLAG.

A flag will be presented to the Boy Scouts, troop No. 67, by the Alvin P. Hovey post, women's relief corps.

A municipal program will be given at the Floral Park cemetery.

The invocation will be delivered by Rev. A. W. Wood.

Rev. H. W. Baldridge will deliver the address at the Anderson cemetery at 11 o'clock.

Services will be held at the Holy Cross and Jewish cemeteries at 3 o'clock, at the Greenlawn cemetery at 10 o'clock, at the New Crown cemetery at 10 o'clock, at the Memorial Park cemetery at 10 o'clock and at the Ebenezer cemetery at 2 o'clock.

A parade to be participated in by members of the G. A. R., veterans of the world war, and various auxiliaries will move through the downtown streets at 2 o'clock.

Because of the formation plans for the parade Spanish war veterans and the women's auxiliaries of the Spanish war veterans have refused to march.

The Spanish war veterans object to marching behind the Sons of Veterans, a civilian organization.

They contend that all veterans should be given precedence over civilian organizations.

Taking the same stand, the women's auxiliaries have withdrawn because they have been asked to march ahead of the world war veterans.

Gas and Industry

Our city is rejoicing over the news that the Westinghouse Company is about to establish an immense new plant here.

It is worth while that the public should know that this plant would not have been brought to Indianapolis if the Citizens Gas Company had not been able to give assurance that suitable mains for giving large supplies of gas to the new plant would be ready by the time gas is needed.

Without a large supply of gas the new Westinghouse plant can not run. Without our assurances in this matter, the Westinghouse Company would not have considered Indianapolis for a moment.

We had to admit that adequate gas supplies could not be provided if the people of Indianapolis insist on heating their homes with gas. The Westinghouse people assumed that the present fuel shortage would be over by the time the new factory needs gas, and that the people of Indianapolis would not endanger the industries of the city by taking gas for house-heating in such a way as to exhaust the supply.

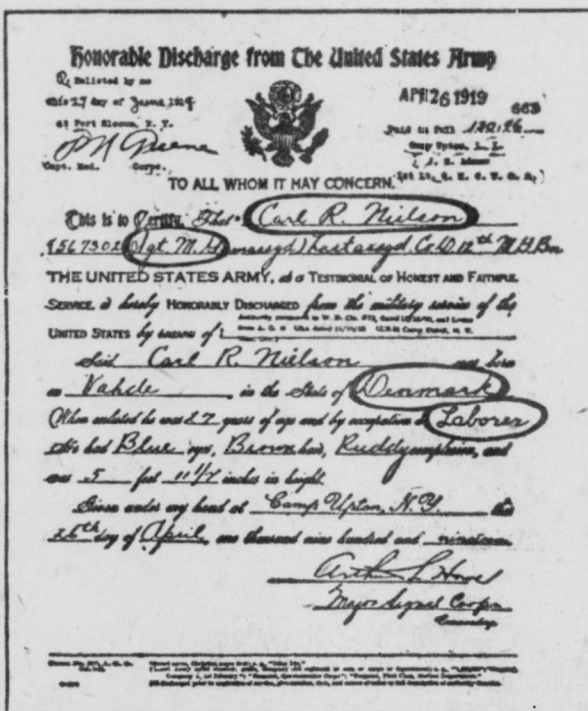

We want the public fully to appreciate the significance of gas in the city's industries. While the Westinghouse plant will need more gas than most other plants in Indianapolis, it is not exceptional in being absolutely dependent upon gas for operation.

The Citizens Gas Company has abundant capacity for supplying all gas required by the Industries of Indianapolis without diminishing the supply needed for all essential domestic purposes.

But the Gas Company can not heat the town and will never be able to heat the town. Any attempt on the part of the public to use gas for heating will not only result in bad service for domestic purposes, but will destroy many of the city's most important industries. Great damage and loss resulted from this attempt in April. If the people had not tried to use gas for heating, normal pressure could have been carried throughout that period. In preventing the exhausting of the gas supply we had to reduce pressures so that most industries could not use gas at all.

At the very low price of gas in Indianapolis there is always a temptation to use it for heating purposes. But the people of the city should understand that the industries of the city will be paralyzed unless they give up this policy altogether. It is in the belief that this will be done that the great Westinghouse plant is coming to Indianapolis.
