New Trimming

By ELOISE.

Have you noticed how many of the new silk and satin frocks are trimmed with white cotton embroidery, handkerchief linen folds and batiste and organdy ruffles and tucks just like the lingerie and wash frocks are trimmed? It is the very newest whim of Dame Fashion to trim silk and satin frocks with different cotton and linen fabrics. Particularly are dark colored silks in brown, navy or black being trimmed with white cotton goods.

Women to Frolic at Country Club

Women of the Country club have arranged a number of interesting parties for the week.

Five Reasons Why You Should Buy An Eden

- 1st. Simplicity of operation—a child can run it.
- 2nd. The only machine with a sediment zone which prevents the dirty water from being used for each bath of clothes—an exclusive "Eden" feature.
- 3rd. Washes everything from lingerie to rag rugs with the same perfect results.
- 4th. Eight years of perfect service.
- 5th. Cost of operation less than two cents per hour.

The Eden

Washes Everything Without Rubbing

Most dirt in clothes is nothing but particles of dust held together by grease. Soap separates the dust and grease combination, leaving dust particles to be freed from the fabric by other means.

This is usually done by forcibly separating the two by pressure and rubbing on a washboard.

There is an easier and better way to do this. The "Eden" gently lifts the clothes up and down, freeing the dirt without the use of force, without wear or tear.

THE "EDEN" CLEANS CLOTHES. Clothes washed with an "Eden" last five or six times longer than when beaten and rubbed on a washboard.

Torn hemstitching, ripped seams, broken buttons and frayed fabrics (all products of the washboard) are unknown to users of the "EDEN"

Offering Unusual Values in Handkerchiefs, Specially Priced

When, oh, when have you bought a kerchief of quality linen at the fourth part of a dollar? Hardly within the memory of this quarter-of-a-century generation. But in this sale that is the very price for women's white linen handkerchiefs, which are of a fine quality, but are not possessed of finishing, such as being especially laundered, pressed and tied up with ribbons. Some even may show very slight imperfections.

Kerchiefs at 25c.

All linen in all-white, plain, or with corner decoration embroidered in white, or initialed. There are also pretty ones with shadow stripes. Every one is hemstitched.

Kerchiefs at 15c.

Women's white cotton handkerchiefs embroidered in white or in colors. Also, there are gay-colored sports' kerchiefs in stripes, blocks, check-borders, dots, indescribable.

Men's Handkerchiefs at Only 50c.

They are all of pure linen of a good quality, and were bought in the same purchase as the 25c handkerchiefs for women, mentioned above; therefore, they show the same kind of imperfections, very slight where they exist, and in many not imperfect at all, but merely unfinished.

They include all white, linen handkerchiefs, hemstitched, and otherwise perfectly plain; all white, linen ones with shadow stripes; all white, linens with colored borders; all white, linens with white or colored initials.

More Than a Hundred SUITS

Exceptionally Priced at $28.50 and $35.00

Not at all the sort you'd reasonably expect at those prices, by any means, but suits of fine quality and many of the manifestations of much more costly merchandise. In fact, it really is more costly merchandise, but we did not acquire it through the ordinary way.

Of Tricotines, Poiret Twill and Velour Checks

The tricotine and poiret twill suits are in navy blue only, they are lined with plain-toned and fancy silks, they are finished with hand-bound buttonholes and various other touches of fine tailoring.

The suits of velour checks are in several two-color combinations, all dark in effect. They, too, show the fine tailoring that characterizes more expensive models.

The size range is very comprehensive. The styles are notably wide in variety, and include all the newer features in silhouette, trimming and general treatment.
