

AGUE TO KEEP HAND OFF PERSIA

LONDON, June 16.—The council of the league of nations will not undertake mediation between Persia and Russia, Earl Curzon, the British foreign secretary, announced today.

He explained the council's decision was based upon Russia's promise to withdraw the bolshevik troops from Persian territory, following negotiations between Moscow and Teheran.

Several other "wars" of varying size and importance are in progress today in Europe and Asia.

The most important of these conflicts is that raging between the Russians and the Poles.

Gen. Wrangel has taken the place of Gen. Denikin in southern Russia, and is making war against the bolsheviks in that quarter.

Beginning his campaign in Crimea, Gen. Wrangel's forces have fought their way northward to the Dnieper river, occupying territory about twice the size of Crimea in extent.

Turkish rebels in Anatolia, who are conducting guerrilla warfare against the allies, are attacking the French near Heraclea, in Anatolia.

Greek troops and Turkish rebels are at grips in Thrace.

Greek forces, supported with machine guns, attacked and dispersed a Turkish band near Kuleli-Burgaz.

Proclamations have been issued by the Greek army of occupation in Thrace, threatening instant death to all Turkish rebels who are captured.

Albanian Nationalists are on the war-path against the Italians.

According to Rome advices, quoting the Epoch, the Albanians are massing for another big attack against the Italian army of occupation in Albania.

PUBLIC NURSES PLANNING WORK

By KATHLEEN M'KEE.

In order to cope with the prevalent maladies of the summer months the Public Nursing association is organizing a number of units composed of graduate nurses to work in homes where competent nursing care could not otherwise be procured.

The association either renders free service or, if the family can afford it, charges a nominal fee.

At the present time the staff is composed of eighteen trained graduate nurses. Miss Mary Crist is acting superintendent of the organization.

The nurses are assigned to their work every morning.

Hourly nursing, which was abandoned during the month of May on account of an insufficient staff, has been resumed this month, since the staff has been recruited to its full strength.

"We hope this fall," said Miss Ethel B. Clark, superintendent of the Nurses' Training School at the Robert W. Long hospital, and director of the Public Health Nursing association, "to have a very large staff of nurses."

"There is room in the public nursing staff for several more efficient nurses."

"Young women who have worked with the association have found the experience most valuable."

"We are hoping to obtain for our organization some of the fine material recently graduated from the various training schools of Indianapolis."

In order to have a good supply of surgical dressings and sick room supplies, such as are needed in nursing, a sewing department has been opened in room 27, Baldwin block, under the direction of Mrs. C. F. Neu.

The work is similar to that of the Red Cross and Mrs. Neu urges women to spend any time they can spare helping the association.

The supply room will be open Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings from 9 to 12 o'clock.

Mrs. Neu, or an assistant, will be in charge of the work at all times.

Donations of old linens are solicited by the association for use in making bandages and surgical dressings.

In discussing the needs of the association in order to continue its work, Mrs. W. W. Thornton, chairman of publicity, said that the association is badly in need of an automobile.

"We hope," she said, "that some generous men's club of the city or some philanthropic person will find it convenient to present a car for the use of the nurses."

"An automobile for transportation purposes would at least save an enormous amount of car fare, in addition to the time consumed in the slow transit of street cars."

"Last year the nurses' car fare was $1,142.65," she said.

Mrs. Henry B. Haywood is president of the organization; Mrs. W. W. Thornton, chairman of the publicity committee, and Mrs. George C. Hitt, acting treasurer.

In addition to its nursing services the association supervises the nursing of the infants' welfare organization and gives assistance to the Children's Aid society.

It also gives nursing service to patrons of a life insurance company and a number of industrial associations.

The chief support the association has had in the past has been from membership fees and its share in the War Chest.

Endowment plans have been discussed but have never been put in operation.

Wyckoff Sees Danger of an Ice Famine

Efforts are being made today to reach an agreement whereby Indianapolis ice dealers will not ship ice from the city during the summer months.

According to Stanley Wyckoff, fair price commissioner, there is danger of an ice famine.

Mr. Wyckoff has before him the petition of ice dealers for approval the plan to increase their prices.

Manufacturers and dealers have asked for an advance of 10 cents a hundred pounds on the retail price, bringing the price up to 60 cents a hundred pounds.
