

WILL CONFER ON MEMORIAL BILL

Investigate Legal Phase at Meeting Tomorrow.

Twelve representative Indiana attorneys will meet tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the office of Samuel Ashby, Indianapolis corporation counsel, city hall, for the purpose of reviewing in detail the bill proposing the establishment of a new $10,000,000 memorial for the Indiana soldiers in the recent war.

Permanent dedication of University and St. Clair parks is contemplated in the proposed bill.

Headquarters for various patriotic organizations is provided for in the measure, but the dominant purpose is the erecting of a memorial commemorating the work of the Hoosier soldiers.

In the meeting eight attorneys from various parts of the state, who were appointed recently by Gov. Goodrich, will meet with the committee of four attorneys who drafted the bill, to investigate the legal phases of the bill and determine the best form in which to present it to the legislature.

"The general plan of the bill will provide for a memorial such as can be seen nowhere else in America," said one member of the drafting committee.

"With the erection of a memorial on the site, between the hospital and the blind and University park, there will be grouped together the Federal building, University park, the memorial building, the State Hospital for the Blind, St. Clair park and the city library."

No other city in the United States has so many public buildings within so small a boundary, it is thought.

While the trustees, or whatever commission will have charge of the erection of the memorial after it is passed by the legislature, are at liberty to select any site in the city, it is pointed out that the committee now in charge of the bill that the territory between University and St. Clair parks is more suitably adapted to the purpose than any other in Indianapolis.

The net result of the bill will be that the state, Marion county and the city of Indianapolis will raise money by tax levies and bond issues to erect the building.

One-half of the expense will be met by residents of Marion county and Indianapolis.

Separate bills for the appropriation of money from the city, county and state probably will be made.

EXPECT SESSION TO OPEN JULY 12

gram and that nothing would be injected that would tend to place an unwelcome burden on the republican state ticket.

In fact it is reported that it was not until Gov. Goodrich assured the candidates that he could absolutely control the assembly that they waived their objections to the convocation of the law makers.

The governor at once set to work to prepare a cut and dried program for the legislators and among one of the things included in the program was amendatory legislation on the tax law.

It is said the governor, in planning the revision of the law, followed the text of the republican platform plank, which he himself drafted for Mr. McCray.

Some of the lawmakers, however, registered objections to the specially prepared program and assailed the plan to change the tax law.

They cited the governor's "swing around the circle" last spring when he praised the measure and also pointed out that various statements issued by State Chairman Wasmuth last winter had lauded the provisions of the law.

The protesters declared that the legislation had been forced to go out and defied the taxation measure after they had adopted it and that they should not be called upon now to amend it.

GOVERNOR ALARMS BY SPIRIT OF REVOLT.

Although the governor had all of his bills ready to lay on the legislator's desks the signs of growing revolt caused so much apprehension among the managers for Senator Watson and Mr. McCray that the call was postponed until emissaries could be sent out to whip the recalcitrant members into line.

There is no doubt but that the special session will be entirely amenable to the will of Gov. Goodrich and the other Old Guard leaders, but they are taking no chances and desire to have everything working properly before the call is issued.—Copyright, 1920, by Indiana Publicity Bureau.

THIEVES ACTIVE ALL OVER CITY

Two Night Prowlers Wounded in Escaping.

Burglars visited stores and residences in various parts of the city during the night, the thieves being forced to escape from a shower of bullets on two occasions.

Patrolman McAtry is believed to have wounded one burglar at 2 o'clock this morning, but his target escaped.

As the policeman approached Albert D. Saffell's meat market, 1146 North Senate avenue, he saw a man run from the dark doorway.

When he failed to obey the order to stop the policeman opened fire, but the suspect continued to run.

Investigation showed that the meat market had been entered through the transom over the front door and that there was a burglar in the store at the time the prowler appeared, but the thief escaped by unlocking a rear door.

The man fired on by McAtry was the watchman for the burglar.

There was $12 missing from a cash register.

Less than two hours earlier a burglar entered the home of Minnie Harper, negro, 913 North Senate avenue, and ransacked the house, stealing $184 and two diamond rings, one valued at $275 and the other at $100.

The burglar carried the drawer of the dresser into an adjoining yard and left it.

Sam Burk, a roomer at the Harper home, saw the prowler leaving through a window and fired three shots at him, but the burglar escaped.

A burglar entered the home of E. G. Ritchey, 3241 North New Jersey street, and the robbery was discovered early today.

Ritchey told the police that the thief took $225 from him, and also stole a
