Fragment masses of pink rambler roses, tall palms, feathery ferns, door baskets of shasta daisies, in the soft light of candles set in cathedral candleholders, formed an attractive background for the marriage of Miss Agnes Elizabeth Hubbard, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Hubbard, 2424 North New Jersey street, and William Edward Mick, which took place this afternoon at the home of the bride.

Dr. Philip L. Frick of the Methodist Street Methodist church read the service. Mrs. W. H. King, matron of honor, sister of the bride, wore a frock of yellow embroidered chiffon and carried a shower of Mrs. Aaron Ward roses.

Little Jane and Betty King, small nieces of the bride, in dainty ruffled organdies and with French baskets of flowers, preceded the bride party, carrying the ribbons that formed an aisle for the procession.

Guy Walworth acted as best man. The Montauk trio gave a program of vocal solo, including a song by Guy Walworth, which was well received.

The bride wore an exquisite gown of white tulle over satin, with an over-trim of lace, giving a bouffant effect to the skirt, and a soft girle of satin, hand-painted in pastel shades, adding a note of color.

Her bouquet was a shower of bridal roses and orchids. Among the guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. George Hemmingsway, Booneville; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shackelford, Metamora; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Schmidt, Mrs. Martha Comer and Miss Pauline Comer, Martinsville; Mrs. Earl Robertson and Miss Lucile Robertson, Bloomington.

Mr. and Mrs. Mick have gone on a motor trip through Wisconsin and Michigan, and will be at home in this city on their return.

Miss Marian Louise Pratt, harpist, has returned from Chicago, where she has been giving a series of recitals during the month.

Miss Laura Padon, Miss Blanche Bowlin and Miss Cecelia Gavin will go to New York City, Friday, to attend summer school in Columbia university.

Mrs. Bernard Kitchin, a recent bride, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given yesterday by Mrs. Ross Harmon, 4200 Sunset avenue. A musical program was given by Mrs. E. L. Hunt, vocalist, and Mrs. Charles Oliver, pianist.

Joseph Gregoire, 302 Talbot avenue, who has been spending a fortnight in New York City and Atlantic City, has returned home.

Gamma Delta Epsilon girls entertained Monday night, with a progressive Fourth of July party. Miss Helen Goodnow was hostess for the first section of the series and Miss Dorothy Haskett closed the festivities with the "red, white and blue" relay at her home in the Davis apartments. Favors, decorations and fees were all carried out in patriotic colors. Pledges of the sorority were the honor guests. Miss Edna Van Wagoner will entertain the sorority in July with a punch party.

An attractive wedding of yesterday was that of Miss Daphne Denny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott L. Denny, 4801 Park avenue, and Harrell V. Bailey, which took place last night at the home of the bride, Rev. Thomas R. White officiating.

Miss Estelle Griggs, accompanied by Miss Margaret Dunn, gave several bridal numbers preceding the service. Thomas Hansen played the Mendelssohn wedding march for the processional, changing to "To a Wild Rose" during the ceremony.

Garden flowers in the pastel shades, combined with fern and palms, and used throughout the parlors and formed an altar for the service.

Mrs. Thomas A. Hansen, matron of honor, wore rose colored organdie, and carried an old-fashioned nosegay of rosebuds in Dresden shades.

Miss Janice Truax of Monrovia, bridesmaid, was in a frock of pale green organdie.

Her nosegay was of garden flowers in lavender tints.

The bride's gown was of georgette crepe over ivory satin, handsomely embroidered. She carried a point lace handkerchief which her grandmother had carried at her wedding. Her bouquet was a shower of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan of Brooklyn, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Truax of Monrovia; Miss Estelle Griggs and Miss Ruth Griggs of Bethany Park, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Cox, Mrs. H. H. Harnan of Willowville, Miss Irene Willwerth and Miss Olive Willwerth of Sheridan; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Mitchell of Martinsville and Joe and Robert Schoen of Bethany Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey left immediately after the ceremony for a tour through the west, after which they will be at home in Los Angeles.

Miss Ruth Burrell, daughter of R. T. Burrell, 2001 North New Jersey street, and George Reed of Bloomington, were quietly married yesterday at St. Francis cathedral, Bishop Joseph M. Francis officiating. Miss Beneta Cox, maid of honor, wore a smart suit of black satin with hat to match, with which she wore a corsage of Mrs. Aaron Ward roses.

Wendall Washburn of Anderson was best man. The bride wore a tricotette suit of a midnight blue shade and a chic dervyne hat in a soft reindeer hue. Her corsage bouquet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed have gone north on a short trip and on their return will be at home in Bloomington.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Donnelly, 2004 North New Jersey, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Virginia Donnelly, to F. E. Bennett, which was solemnized yesterday morning at 6 in St. Peter and Paul cathedral, Thomas Lawler acted as best man. Miss Cecile Donnelly was maid of honor. Miss Celestine Donnelly wore a blue suit with a corsage of pink roses. The bride wore her traveling suit of dark blue tricotette. Her corsage was of bride's roses and orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett have gone to Louisville and will be at home on their return in Indianapolis.

The marriage of Miss Clara Marie Pfeiffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Pfeiffer, 3707 East Sixteenth street, and Harry Douglas of Elkhart, was solemnized at 7:30 this morning at St. Francis church. Rev. M. Fleischmann of Vincennes head the service.

Miss Dorothy McDonnell, maid of honor, wore cream colored Georgette crepe and carried Mrs. Aaron Ward roses.

Miss Stella Pfeiffer, sister of the bride, was groomed in Georgette crepe in a flesh tint, with which she carried pink roses. Charles McDonnell acted as best man.

The bride's frock was of white georgette crepe over ivory satin.

She wore a tulle veil and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and orchids.

J. E. Pfeiffer, father of the bridegroom, played the Mendelssohn wedding march for the entrance of the bride party.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. A. Douglas and Miss Carrie Brown Plainfield; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Pfeiffer Evansville; and Mrs. Mary Brendel of Pennes.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas will be at home on July 15, at 3707 East Sixteenth street. Implicitly in detail marked the marriage service of Miss Marjorie Lee and

WHEN A GIRL MARRIES
A New Serial of Young Married Life

By ANN LISLE.

CHAPTER LXXVII.

After lunch Evvy suggested a matinee, some shopping, all sorts of ideas that would delay my getting that parcel off to Mr. Mason. And he needed it by Wednesday. I got more and more hurried in my desire to go to the office at once. And, in the end, I had to reveal to Evvy the whole story of the blue robe her cousin had given to me, so much against my wishes, and which he now was "borrowing" from me to my great relief. Evvy gurgled with delight.

"Oh, Anne, isn't that too cunning. Tom has a really-very-for-sure 'crush' on you."

This annoyed me, but when we got to Tom's office and found Mrs. Varden there. Evvy rose to the occasion and proved herself a real friend. She demanded the package as her own, addressed it herself and, affixing a special delivery stamp, announced that she was going to hurry it right over to the postoffice, as her Tommie was the most impatient cousin in the world. What Mrs. Varden would have said to me, if Evvy had not protected me, I hate to try to guess, for even she seemed a bit-polluted.

"Glad to see your intimacy with the Mason cousins is growing, dear Mrs. Jimmie. If I knew as well how to work them I wouldn't be having such trouble in getting an apartment. You found it so easy."

Evelyn was ready for her. As we swung out of the office she purred her "retort" courteous.

"Oh, dear Mrs. Varden, don't tell us that a woman as clever as you has any trouble in managing simple folk like us."

"Hope she likes that," continued Evelyn, as the elevator whirled us down to the street and the little blue car. "But I warn you, Anne—don't let that old vixen get anything on you. Be very careful how you play around with Tommie!"

By now we were seated in her car and whirling away to the postoffice with the rescued package.

After we had posted it we went for a drive and to do a bit of shopping, and then there seemed nothing to do but ask Evvy home to dinner.

She was a wonderfully helpful little girl, and by the time my boys returned we had a fine meal prepared. Neal was delighted to see his "Lady Evelyn." And even Jim thawed. We recited the story of the robe and of our encounter with Mrs. Varden, and he appreciated that Evvy had saved the day.

I was very happy to see that the breach between Jim and this old friend was healing. And Evvy didn't try to conceal her happiness.

"I want to feel that Anne can always count on me," she said earnestly. And Jim replied:

"That makes me realize that I can count on you, too, Evvy."

Neal felt a bit out of things for a time, but his hour struck when Evvy left, for, of course, he was permitted to escort her. Just as she was going Evvy seized my hand and whispered:

"I'm glad Tom only asked you to 'lend' him that gorgeous robe. Be sure to get it back—it's a beauty. Jimmie won't mind—he likes pretty things; and my big cousin can afford to buy them for a friend."

"Evvy!" I gasped. "You shan't think such things of Jim—and me!"

"Nonsense," girle—don't nose as a good-guess to a pal," laughed Evvy. Then she kissed me and tripped out of my room into the living room where Neal stood waiting for her.

Jim closed the door after her and turned to me.

"What's the matter, sweetheart? Your cheeks are blushing."

He crossed the room and laid his hand on my burning cheek. At his touch my feverish tension relaxed. I pulled his dear hand around to my lips and laid them on it tenderly. As if that honored him. Jim caught me in straining arms and murmured:

"We're alone dear—alone at last."

I nestled against him for a moment and then I forced myself to think of practical things.

"Yes, dear—we're alone. Now we can talk. Tell me how you like the new work?"

"It's all right. Everything's all right while I have you. But don't make me talk about business now, dear. Lean close against me, sweetheart and tell me you love me. That's what I want to hear."

And I told him what he wanted to hear. —Copyright, 1920.

And Now Comes the Silk Shirt Burglar

The silk shirt burglar is the latest. Mrs. Edward S. Barnaby, 2845 Washington boulevard, was awakened early this morning when the rays of a flashlight struck her face.

A burglar wearing a silk shirt ran from the room.

Mrs. Barnaby reported that the man stole a pair of shoes.

Harry Hobbs, 3090 Central avenue, reported to the police that a burglar entered his house and stole a diamond ring valued at $300, two watches valued at $100 and $12 in money.

M. J. Slattery, 3610 Central avenue, reported a burglar entered his house and took $17.

Some one stole thirty-four chickens from Harry Wilson, 1514 Prospect street.

Monroe County Has Good Peach Prospect

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., June 30.—Monroe county never had such prospects for a large peach crop as it has at the present time.

Weather conditions have been favorable this season and there is a "coming in" of numerous young peach orchards that are bearing this year for the first time.

Girl Locks 'Em Up in Wabash County

WABASH, Ind., June 30.—Wabash county has a girl for deputy sheriff. She is Miss Elizabeth Vrooman, daughter of Sheriff Vrooman.

The young lady will serve only during the summer months and will return to school in the fall, since the most active duty of the deputy sheriff during the summer is to answer the telephone.

There are no prisoners in the Wabash county jail.

Republican Editors at Turkey Run July 30

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., June 30.—The Indiana Republican Editorial Association has chosen July 30 as the date for its semi-annual meeting at Turkey Run.

Party leaders hope to have Warren G. Harding address the meeting.

Automobiles will meet the editors and their guests at Crawfordsville and Marshall and convey them to Turkey Run.

Rail Officials Meet
With Union Leader

PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—Pennsylvania railroad officials here today again considered demands of Harry S. Jeffery, chairman of the advisory board Philadelphia and Camden Federated No. 30.

He said 100,000 men would go on strike at 11 a. m. July 5, unless the demands are met.

A conference of union representatives from New York, St. Louis, Chicago, Buffalo, Baltimore, Trenton, Wilmington and Philadelphia will be held in Pittsburgh July 1, to decide on strike action, it was learned.

The strike of 58,000 shopmen, towermen and freight handlers, scheduled for 11 a. m. Tuesday, was called off by Jeffery after a special meeting of the advisory board.

Picnic to Close
Sorority Meeting

A moonlight picnic at the country cabin of Mrs. Albert Metzger tonight will close the convention festivities of the Delta Psi Kappa sorority, which has been holding its national annual meeting in the Athenaeum this week.

A business session for the purpose of amending and changing the present constitution of the organization and for closing up odds and ends of business was held this morning.

This afternoon a motor tour of the city was taken to show the guests the points of interest in Indianapolis.

A "farewell hour" will be held at the Athenaeum following the outdoor party tonight.

132 Machines Taken
in City During May

During the month of May, it was announced by the detective department today, 132 automobiles were reported stolen.

Of this number eighty-three automobiles were recovered.

Since Jan. 1, the detectives say, 508 machines have been stolen, or an average of eighty-four automobiles each month disappear from the streets of Indianapolis.

Many of these cars are taken by "joy riders," who desert them in some part of the city.

Often the stolen cars are wrecked or stripped of tires, lights and other valuable parts.

Some automobiles are sold by the thieves in other cities, the police report.

Are You One of the Women

Looking for Voile and Swiss Dresses?

Few women aren't these warm days. For voile and swiss are the affinities of Fashion this summer, and there's no cotton fabric prettier than either of these to gain say it. And come to analyze it, what a practical frock cotton voile makes! In attractive designs and colorings, and especially the darker effects, a voile frock may be worn at interval occasions for half the summer, needing only frequent pressings to keep it fresh and chic looking.

And so with swiss, dotted and plain, which is exceptionally youthful and "easy to wear." Having acquired a lovely collection of voiles and swisses, we send out the glad tidings that

Their Price Is Only $14.95

There are half a hundred of the prettiest, dearest modes that the buyer could find, and all especially suitable for outing wear over the Fourth, as well as every sort of informal occasion in town or on the vacation or at the lakes all summer long.

There are dresses in navy blue grounds with white embroidered dots or rings; others in black grounds and in light shades. The girlish three-tiered skirt is prominent among the skirt stylings, while other skirts are tucked. White organdy plays "opposite" in the role of trimming—such as collars and cuffs.

Why Shouldn't Allover Aprons
Be Becoming as Well as Useful?

Any woman can appear becomingly attired while doing housework in these days, for coverall aprons are made of pretty percales and ginghams in pleasing styles. Pretty aprons add a certain degree of enjoyment when one is flying about the kitchen. Every woman who has pride in her appearance will see that her supply of fresh, trim aprons is especially a well stocked one in hot weather.

Allover Aprons for Misses

These are prominently in light color effects, such as blue, pink, and the sort in single tones or neat printed designs. In addition to being roomy of cut, they possess 24-inch hems. And the prices are only $1.95 and $2.50.

Aprons in the Regular Sizes

That is to say, from 36 to 44. These are both dark and light in shade, plain tones or figured. Attractive percales and ginghams are these, and those models at the higher prices are particularly fine and appealing because they are fashioned of madras shirt combined with chambray gingham and are styled in what is called the
