

WITH the AMATEURS and SEMI-PROS by Charles Logan

The St. Philip A. C.'s insist on calling themselves the 15-year-old champions of the city, regardless of the fact that some fourteen teams are now playing their heads off in the junior league to decide which of them will be called the Indianapolis juniors. The St. Philip have a good record and they should offer a nice junior scrap when they meet the Baron A. C.'s next Sunday.

There are only three more games left on the I. A. B. A. league cards, then comes the series to determine which is the better of our far-famed amateurs. This year's championship series is going to be the hardest fought affair we have ever had and it is time for the managers who have teams with a chance to get in on the big show to start looking over their stock.

The Premiers look like the champions of the Motor League in the city's representatives in the national series. The Marmons have a chance to do the honors by defeating them in their July 31 game, but Elmer Brown has beaten the K. Y. avenue crew twice, their only two defeats, and he feels like he can do it again. The Premiers have lost their only game to the G. & J. Tires. If the Marmons win their next game, and both these clubs win their final games it will take a special battle to determine the Motor League championship.

We're granting that the Motor League pennant winners will win the city title unless something startling in the dark horse happens between now and then.

There is some talk of the independent series changing to a nine-man team. The state champs. This game would have to be checked off until after the amateurs' final win, or he feels like he can do it again. The Premiers have lost their only game to the G. & J. Tires. If the Marmons win their next game, and both these clubs win their final games it will take a special battle to determine the Motor League championship.

Somebody has said something about Johnny Noonan going to pitch for the Marmons when they meet the Premiers next. Tommy Sweeney is also signed to a Marmoon contract, and it may be that the manager will be wise enough to put him behind the plate.

In the meantime the Kahn Tailors, by their recent twelve-round win over the Bell Telephones, are causing a lot of talk in the City League.

Manager Bill Hayes of the American club was sore when he was told that he had to play in the City League at last.

TRIBESMEN ON WAY TO CLOSE ROAD JOURNEY

of the Indians' record, and attendance at Washington park, no doubt, will show a big increase when the club returns.

Around the A. A.

—WITH EDDIE ASH—

The Indians convinced Minneapolis fans that their comeback was not a false alarm.

The Hoosiers are going at a rapid pace for the few pitchers available for duty. Thus the Tribe has much had luck during the early season that it seems to be getting the breaks now.

Duke Reilly could not depart from the north without starting another feud. He accused Pitcher Robertson of trying to "heat" him in the Tuesday game and yesterday he renewed the argument. Jimmy Smith must be backing the Duke up.

Rondeau crashed a homer over the fence with one man on. That is the way the Millsers scored two in the first yesterday.

It is said that Reilly now has a feud stewing in every city in the league. The more feuds the better Duke performs.

Rogge is due to hurl for the Indians in Columbus tomorrow.

When Hank Scriber rejoins the club Wolf probably will be withdrawn from the infield, leaving Kores at third base.

Headline continues to improve. He looks like a sure bet for a sale to the majors next fall.

Home runs by Elgert and Brazil beat Louisville in the first half of their double bill with St. Paul yesterday. Williams allowed the Colonels only three hits.

Tincup held the Saints in line in the second game, while his teammates played a brilliant game in the field, making three double plays, and hit Merritt and Boone rather freely.

Once more the sandlot army came to the aid of Kansas City. Toledo beat the Blues in the first game, but Songer, a recruit from the semi-pro ranks, stopped the Blues in the second, making two wins out of as many starts.

Brief, Blue first sacker, crashed out his fifteenth home run in the second game.

Danforth held Milwaukee to four hits, but the Senators failed to score with ten blows, and lost. Kirkham got a homer.

California Man Talks Scandal in Discussing Olympic Team Choice

DEL MONTE, Cal., July 22.—The charge that under the present system of raising funds to send men to the Olympic games "it is not a question of the country being represented by her best athletes but by those from sections with the most financial support" has been made here by W. E. Humphrey, president of the San Francisco Olympic club and member of the general Olympic games committee.

Humphrey voiced his protest after announcing the Olympic club would provide $5,000 needed to send to Denver the club's athletes who are in the east awaiting funds.

He said the club would protest the payment, however, as it thought the funds should come from the committee.

"The case is unfair to the west," he asserted. "Here we lived up to the requirements and it cost the club $5,000 to send its athletes to the United States and Boston national tryouts. Then, when our athletes won and proved their right to represent the country, we were told that they could not go unless we contributed money."

Humphrey said he recommended that the committee spend the years between the games collecting funds from athletic clubs.

"Then," he declared, "the committee could send its best athletes without being influenced by financial support back of them."

Chess Men Organize

ATLANTIC CITY, July 22.—The eighth American chess congress was formed at a dinner here yesterday to participants in the "world" chess tournament, which ended Tuesday.

A. J. McClure of Lakewood, N. J., was elected president. M. D. Marshall of Atlantic City and Herman Behr of New York, vice presidents; E. S. Jackson of Philadelphia secretary, and Walter P. Shipley of Philadelphia, treasurer.

E. S. Jackson of Philadelphia was awarded the first prize for the most brilliant game during the tournament. Charles Jaffe of New York received second prize.

Frank J. Marshall of New York, United States champion, was awarded the special prize for the best game.

CITY GOLFERS OPEN TOURNEY

Play at Country Club Marks Start of Meet.

Ninety-eight golfers were paired last night for play in the annual city championship tournament, which was to open at noon today at the Indianapolis Country club.

Entries were to be accepted at the tee today until the last of these forty-nine pairs started off and it was believed that several other golfers would be heard from.

The entry list this morning was the largest that has ever been registered in city tourney play.

Every crack player in the city, with but one exception, was registered last night. This exception was Burt Wilbur, city champ. He was doubtful as to whether he would go to play or not, but stated that he would report at the 10 o'clock first today, with the other players starting at intervals of five minutes.

C. I. Kirk and S. C. Ayres were to be "off" first today, with the other players starting at intervals of five minutes.

South Grove, represented by twenty-eight players, set the pace for all clubs in the city and the South Grovers are determined to carry their share of the seventeen prizes that are to be awarded in the meet.

Eighteen holes were to be played at the Country club today, eighteen at Riverside tomorrow and the final round of eighteen holes will be staged on the highland course Saturday afternoon.

JIM BARNES REPEATS.

SHAWNEE—ON—THE—DELAWARE, Pa., July 22.—James M. Barnes, professional of the Sunset Hills club, St. Louis, yesterday, for the second successive year, won the Shawnee open golf tournament, completing the seventy-two holes in 287 strokes.

Each of the four rounds was made in better than par 73. Tuesday he had a brace of 72s and yesterday he shot a 71 in the morning round and another 72 in the afternoon.

Edward Ray, former British champion, finished second with a total score of 293, while Harry Hampton of Virginia and Pat O'Hara of Shickamaxon tied for third money with 297 strokes. More than $1,000 was divided among the winners. Barnes received $500; Ray, $300; Hampton and O'Hara split $200, while the others received smaller amounts.

Get Out the Confetti

BRUSSELS, July 22.—After an exchange of correspondence with the British Olympic committee, the executive committee of the Olympic games has refused Ireland permission to participate in the seventh Olympic as a separate nation.

The Irish athletes refused to compete under the British flag and wrote the Olympic executive stating that they would enter in a number of events if they were allowed individual standing.

As Ireland had not been included in the list of nations represented on the International Olympic committee, the Belgian executive, facing a delicate situation, sought to gain Great Britain's consent, but failed.

Big Shoot at Peru

PERU, Ind., July 22.—The Hoosier classic shooting tournament, which is an annual event given here under the auspices of the Peru Gun club, with Frank M. Stateman as president and manager, started Wednesday with sixty in attendance.

The Hoosier classic cup is now in the possession of D. C. Rodgers of Logansport, who broke ninety-six out of a possible 100 at twenty-one yards. The holder of the cup must win it twice before it becomes his property.

"Please, Mr. Marshall," he said, "don't send me back that way. I don't like traveling through the southern states. Something might happen."

He said he had made many mistakes and was sorry and declared he could "lick any man in the world today."

Johnson, who surrendered Tuesday at the Mexican border town of Tia Juana, Lower California, was to start today in custody of federal officers for Chicago, where he is under sentence for violation of the Mann act.

In his statement issued through the sporting editor of the Los Angeles Express, Johnson declared he had done secret service work in Spain during the world war at the request of a Maj. Lana of the United States army, paying his own expenses. On his arrival in Chicago he said he would get in touch with Maj. Lang.

Ah, Ha—Female Lobbyist

She's Grasped the Idea and Joined Whispering Groups.

By KATHLEEN MURKEE.

According to Noah Webster there "ain't no such animal" as a lobbyist, which proves that Noah didn't know everything by a long shot when he invented the dictionary.

Anyway, I thought I would find out all about the intricacies of lobbying in this special session of the legislature, and, believe me, I found 'out.

All my hopes for reformed politics were blasted when I saw the so-called weaker sex in animated discussions with veteran politicians.

The very atmosphere of the statehouse teemed with political schemes. Frantic scurrying from one dark corner to another, and the hum of excited conversation roused echoes from all the corners.

Basement rooms were at a premium, and behind every door lurked the mystery of secret conferences.

Groups of confederates around the elevator doors seemed to be the latest fad among legislators.

I started two venerable gentlemen in deep conference behind a civil war flag, and with a terrified glance in my direction they scamped down the hall.

A policeman assured me his duties were very pleasant and all he had to do was "not to know 'go much."

EXPLAINS ALL THE MYSTERIES.

All degrees and angles of sly and slim diplomats were included in the ranks of the legislators.

One very bewhiskered gentleman explained all the intricacies of the parliamentary laws to an interested audience of two.

With the air of importance, and the confidence of a second Napoleon, one gentleman, adorned with a shiny black tie, entered the senate caucus.

I found that while Goodrich had been kind enough to save the legislators a lot of work by drawing up bills for them, he is not nearly so popular as his lieutenant governor, who has a whole crowd in his office all the time.

Cigars are very popular, especially the big black variety.

The lifting of two fingers must be a password, because on every occasion the newcomer would be greeted by the raising of two fingers, whereupon he would join the group and the conversation would continue.

I also learned that the process of buttonholing consists in grasping your victim firmly by the coat, and shaking your fist in his face, while you hurl a torrent of words at him, until overcome he feebly assents.

Washable ties to match the shirts are quite in vogue among certain senators, showing that house members are not advanced in the fashionable world.

Evidently some of our members of the legislature are not accustomed to having a shoe shiner, judging from the happy expression that takes possession of their features when they gaze at their mirrorlike shoes.

The number of senators carrying bundles into the senatorial caucus gave me the impression that they were going to have a picnic, and it appeared to me to be very rude to exclude reporters from a banquet.

I saw a most beautiful lavender tie with socks to match worn by a lower house member who was orating to three of his constituents in an animated fashion.

TWO BOTTLES PEEP FROM POCKET.

The cold drink stand was patronized, and in fact I saw two bottles peeping from one gentleman's pocket when he entered the caucus.

Certain groups of gentlemen would order one kind of pop, while another would call for another kind.

A very tall man and a very short one who were trying the gymnastic feat of walking with arms around each other caused considerable comment among the ladies.

The styles in oratory were very interesting; the speaker usually placing one hand in his pocket and waving the other at stated intervals.

Frequent references were made by the learned gentlemen to newspapers, showing that even the legislature doesn't know what to talk about until the newspapers have been read.

It is a funny thing that bald-headed men liked each other, but it was a fact. The angles at which the gentlemen's heads were tilted aroused my interest, for the front, back and side effects were all exhibited by different members.

One gentleman wore a fashionable creation which I am sure was designed from an old cut of the Noah's ark-period.

A fatherly gentleman and a chubby brother formed a highly conspicuous pair inasmuch as they insisted on holding hands.

Quite a heated debate was conducted in one corner of the hall in which the word "axes" was the only thing I could understand, the rest being a page from the Wentworth Analytical Geometry.

The fact that certain groups of members had papers all of one color awakened my curiosity, but I was unable to attract the attention of anybody so that I might learn the cause.

A successful movie could be screened on the "Different Ways of Walking of the Legislators When They Leave the Elevator."
