

LOOK FOR COX'S SPEECH TO CALL 'SPADE A SPADE'

Democratic Nominee Assures
His Message Aug. 7 Will Not Haze Issues

SENATOR'S TALK 'VAGUE'

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Although democratic leaders here characterize Senator Warren G. Harding's speech of acceptance at Marion, O., yesterday as "vague in spots" and "on the defensive" on the other hand, they claim the issue between republicans and democrats now at last is drawn clearly.

If not, they say it will be as soon as James M. Cox, the democratic nominee for the presidency, makes his speech of acceptance at Dayton, Aug. 7.

Great pressure is being brought to bear on the governor to say precisely what he means and call a spade a spade when he comes to make his reply to those who journey to his home in Ohio to notify him officially of his nomination, and assurances already have been received that he figures on doing precisely that thing.

Former S. Cummings, formerly chairman of the national democratic committee, just back from Columbus, criticized the republican standard-bearer's utterances sharply.

"The speech of acceptance," he said to the International News Service, "delivered by Senator Harding is not only a confession of failure, but it is an acknowledgment of responsibility upon the shoulders of the republican party for the defeat of the peace treaty."

He said the speech was "a mere evasion of the issue," and that it was "a mere evasion of the issue," and that it was "a mere evasion of the issue."

HARDING'S STAFF DISCUSSES PLANS

May Arrange Defense to Democratic 'War Chest' Charge.

MARION, O., July 23.—Campaign plans and finances were discussed today by Senator Warren G. Harding with members of the executive committee of the republican national committee.

National chairman Will H. Hays, National Committeeman John W. Weeks, Massachusetts; A. T. Hert, Kentucky; and Charles D. Hill, New York, remained in Marion last night as the guests of Senator Harding.

Other members of the executive committee, including Harry M. Daugherty (Ohio), returned to Columbus, but were expected to return for the conference with the senator.

The ways and means committee of the national committee reported on financial matters to the executive committee at a meeting held in Columbus Wednesday.

It is expected details of this report will be considered at the conference.

Gov. Warren G. Harding and other democratic leaders are charging that the republicans are raising a huge "war chest" and plans may be considered for meeting this attack.

will end," said Sir Hamar Greenwood, addressing a night session of the house of commons.

The disorders are evidently the result of the murder of Inspector-General Smyth at Cork, who never used the words for which he was slain.

The Irish secretary referred to an anti-Irish speech which Inspector-General Smyth was alleged by the Sinn Féin to have made to the constables in County Kerry recently.

Sir Hamar said the government is preparing a bill for the creation of new courts in Ireland to deal quickly with every criminal offense.

These tribunals, he said, would supersede the civil courts.

TROOPS NOT TO GO TO POLAND

Indications Are United States
Will Steer Clear.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—While President Wilson and government officials are watching with interest developments in Poland, there were no indications today that this government will become involved in the plan of the allies to send troops into Poland to fight the bolsheviks.

Although President Wilson retains war power under which he might send troops into Poland, it is believed here that he would not consider such action and that the participation of the United States in the war between Poland and the bolsheviks will be limited to the shipment of supplies to Europe.

No official word has been received here as to the decision of France and England to send armies to Poland, but it is expected that the United States will be sounded out informally as to her wishes in joining such an expedition.
