will be the greatest gainer by the enlargement of our Banking Room, which will be completed about August 1. Practically all of the additional space will be devoted to the use of this department.

Present patrons of the Checking Department who have for some time suffered inconvenience from our cramped space, will appreciate the additional entrance from Market street and the increased number of tellers' windows at which they may transact their business.

We invite newcomers to Indianapolis, or any wishing to change their banking connections, to open accounts with us, believing they will find our service in the handling of Checking Accounts abundantly satisfactory.

PRAISES 150TH FIELD ARTILLERY

Maj. Gen. Summerall Speaks Before Rotary Club.

"I can not say too much in praise of your own 150th field artillery," said Maj. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, in his talk before the Indianapolis Rotary club at its weekly meeting at the Claypool hotel yesterday.

"The officers and men were upstanding, loyal and efficient," he added. "I can see them in the foggy camp in Brittany and I can see them during the trying days of the Argonne, with their tired faces and their bright eyes, ever wishing for another mission."

"I can remember one night during those trying events when Col. Tyndall came to me and told me that he believed he had a few men he could spare to place in some of the infantry regiments of the division that had been badly depleted in man power."

He told of the high standard of the men from Indiana, of their courage, fortitude and intelligence.

"The army today, he said, is doing more for the young man than it ever had done before, that the army is an uplifting influence in the young life of our country and each camp is in the nature of a university where youth is schooled."

He referred during his talk to Ft. Harrison and its value, and said that he hoped soon to see it being used to its fullest capacity.

Among the guests at the luncheon were field officers of the 150th field artillery, and other army and ex-army officers, including Gen. Smith, adjutant general of Indiana; Col. Hatch, commandant at Ft. Harrison; and Maj. W. F. Harrell, in charge of the Indianapolis recruiting station.

Judge A. B. Anderson of the federal court was also a guest and was most warmly greeted by the Rotarians when introduced.

Elwood Park Project Renewed by Citizens

Special to The Times. ELWOOD, Ind., July 28.—Citizens of Elwood have started a drive for a $10,000 fund to be used in improving and finishing up the new buildings at Callaway park.

A drive of this kind which started last spring fell through because of disunion among members of the park board on the subject of holding political meetings at the park.

Citizens are now taking action in a drive to get the needed money without consulting the park board.

SURPLUS FARM HELP PRESENT, BUT FLEETING

Federation President Says Products Must Cost More to Pay Hands.

EXPECT BUMPER CROP

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Shortage of farm labor is no longer a menace to the bumper crop according to reports today to the bureau of farm management of the department of agriculture.

The farm labor situation has been relieved materially and there will be adequate labor for the harvesting of the bumper crops, according to the bureau. It is pointed out that the acreage planted was limited because of a labor shortage, but that exceptional crops have offset this.

Representatives of farmers here are not rejoicing over the labor situation, however.

J. B. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, today declared that farmers are but temporarily relieved.

LABOR SCARCITY STILL LOOMS.

"Regardless of recent apparent improvement in the farm help situation, scarcity of labor still continues to be the limiting factor in agricultural production," Howard said.

"The high wages offered for harvest hands in Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and other heavy grain growing states of the middle west have succeeded in bringing forth a force of transient workers."

"These men get $6 and $9 a day and board."

"It makes expensive harvesting for the farmer."

"It must be remembered that the farmer's help normally is of two distinct kinds."

"The farmer needs extra, transient help at seeding and at harvest time, but in addition on most farms he must have a regular all the year round 'hired man'."

"It is the lack of this latter type of help that has so seriously disarranged the farming system."

HIGH PRICES ONLY SOLUTION.

Higher prices are the only permanent solution of the farm labor shortage, according to Howard.

He declared that unless food prices go higher farmers can not compete with the cities for year round labor.

He further declares that higher food prices would send a wave of labor back to the farms.

Reports to the bureau of markets of the department of agriculture, do not indicate, however, any general tendency toward an increase in food prices, but to the contrary there is a decline shown in the prices of many farm products, and experts in the bureau look for greater decreases as the harvests are gathered.

Imports are cutting into the market in some food commodities and causing lower price levels.

With the farm labor problem at least temporarily settled, the question of financing the movement of crops is causing little worry, as with bumper crops reported the department of agriculture looks upon the approaching harvest season as one of the most auspicious American agriculture has had for several seasons.

DOG HILL PARAGRAPHS

The Calf Rib Widow came to the post-office today after her mail, and she was so dressed up seven or eight men got up off the porch to let her in.

Sim Flinders reports that his pond is going dry. This will not greatly interfere with his business, however, as his wife would rather wash the clothes at the creek anyhow.

Miss Hostetter Hooks accidentally dropped her handkerchief near Yam Sims last Sunday, but she had to stoop down and pick it up herself, as he said he didn't hear it fall.

A cat may have nine lives, but you have only one set of eyes

Certainly eyes were made to be used, but nature never intended them for continuous heavy duty work. Your eyes need the best working conditions possible and plenty of rest. Eyes are nothing more than a group of nerves and muscles held together by very delicate membranes. You know by experience that when you overwork the body nerves or the muscles, they become strained and taut, often resulting in a complete breakdown of the health.

Proper Glasses are the Panacea for the Majority of Eye Ills

Glasses can not be fitted by haphazard methods, nor by men who have not had the proper educational facilities or experience in the important profession. Every man on the corps of the Optical Department of the Wm. H. Block Company has made the study of human eyesight his life work.

The greatest tribute that can be paid these men are the hundreds of men, women and children who have come to them to be fitted with glasses. These people know that their confidence was not misplaced, and you, too, can feel sure of the same thing.

DO YOUR TEETH TROUBLE YOU?
Neglected teeth act as a gateway for the introduction of deadly germs into the system. Ninety per cent of Americans have defective, germ-harboring teeth and their teeth proper care practically all of those people suffering from creaking joints, etc., would be feeling "it as a fiddle."
