

G. O. P. OUT AFTER 6 SENATE SCALPS

Will Concentrate on Democratic Seats in Upper House.

CHICAGO, July 28.—Republicans will concentrate their energies from now on until November in campaigning for seats in the senate now held by democrats. It was announced at the party's national headquarters by Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington.

The seats which the republicans have their eyes on, it was said by Senator Poindexter, are held by Senator Marcus A. Smith, Arizona; Senator James D. Phelan, California; Senator John F. Nugent, Idaho; Senator Charles B. Henderson, Nevada; Senator George E. Chamberlain, Oregon; and Senator Edwin S. Johnson, South Dakota.

G. O. P. BOAST BIT PREMATURE

WASHINGTON, July 28.—In the attempt to pacify the suffragists the department of the republican national committee would make it appear that Senator Harding persuaded Gov. Clement to call a special session of the Vermont legislature to ratify the new constitution. Under the caption "What the Harding-Clement Conference Has Shown," the news department says in part:

When Gov. Clement visited him and asked his advice, Senator Harding declared in favor of the special session and announcement of the special session promptly followed.

The influence of a man of Senator Harding's type who is not inclined to run other people's business for them but seriously considers the rights of others, is of a different kind from the kind that is usually met with. The business will prove very acceptable to a people worn by imperious demands by one man.

Gov. Clement declared recently he would not call a special session of the legislature.

WANTS BETTER ROADS TO CITY

Commissioner Would Fix Big Ones First.

Demands that main traveled highways in Indianapolis be put in first class shape before extensive "patching" operations on less traveled county roads are carried on was made today by Joseph G. Hayes, Marion county commissioner.

Mr. Hayes insisted that a careful investigation be made of the repairs offered by John Cooper, Marion county road superintendent, in order to determine how far such "patch work" should be continued on lesser traveled roads.

"We ought to do something for the people who use the main traveled highways," insisted Mr. Hayes, "and I want to have Mr. Cooper in here tomorrow and see what should be done to improve the most important roads before we spend too much money on these country lanes."

"The people of Indianapolis provide most of the money that goes towards road work, and it is proper and fitting that we keep them in the best of shape," said Mr. Hayes.

Complaints have been received from motorists who come into the city that the main roads of the county are in poor shape, due to neglect of road superintendents. It is said, and Mr. Hayes agreed that the commissioners should spend every dollar possible in bettering their condition. The county commissioners will consider charges in the maintenance of the county roads, and will make recommendations to the road superintendent, it is understood, as soon as they can confer with Mr. Cooper.

Fine and Farm Term for 'Tiger' Operator

Vassile Yornavich, 45, of 223 Gelsen-dorf street, was convicted in city court today of operating a blind tiger, and was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to serve thirty days on the penal farm.

Yornavich explained through an interpreter that the copper bottle found in his bathroom was for washing clothes and the copper coils found in the same room was part of the ice cream freezer, and that the raisin mash poured into a sink hole and into a bath tub when the said was made was some wine just for his family's use.

The gallon of "white mule" whiskey, he explained, had been left at the house by some man whose name he did not know. The police raided Yornavich's home at 4 o'clock in the morning, July 18, and they testified the sound of smashing and breaking of something was heard as they demanded admittance.

The man had been poured into the bathtub so fast that it ran over onto the floor and leaked through to the first floor of the house.

The hot plate in the bathroom and copper tank were also found when the police reached that room, the officers said.

Policeman Attacked by Negro With Knife

Norman Joseph, negro, was fined $1 and costs and sentenced to thirty days in jail by Judge Pritchard in city court today as a result of an attack with a knife on Police Sergeant Ralph Dean.

Dean arrested Joseph several days ago on a charge of petty larceny and the negro declared that he would kill the policeman.

Yesterday afternoon he attacked Dean with a knife.

3 Interurban Lines Ask 3-Cent Fare Rate

Three more Indiana interurban companies today asked the permission of the public service commission to charge a 3-cent basic rate of fare.

The companies are the Indiana Service Corporation, the Southern & Northern Indiana Railway Company and the Wisconsin Interurban Company.

The companies contend that their operating expenses have exceeded their revenues.

None of the companies operates in Indianapolis.

Norfolk Commission Boosts Southern Port

For the purpose of greeting the foreign transportation extension commission of Norfolk, Va., a meeting of Indianapolis shippers was held at the Chamber of Commerce today.

The members of the commission were to present the advantages of shipping through the port of Norfolk.

Smallpox and Scarlet Fever Hit Wabash

Special to The Times. WABASH, Ind., July 28.—Sixteen families have been placed under quarantine here by Dr. N. H. Thompson, city health officer, as a result of a scarlet fever epidemic.

Earl B. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Lewis, died of the disease on Tuesday night.

All of the cases are in South Wabash, where there are also about thirty cases of smallpox.

Would Win Case by Grabbing Evidence

DETROIT, July 28.—Attorney Henry D. Bennett tried a new way of winning a case.

Bennett tried to grab evidence against a client from a desk in Judge Collier's court.

He was arrested.

FRENCH WOULD TAKE PART IN PEACE PARLEY—IF

(Continued From Page One.)

bolshhevik republic has been discovered, the Lokai announced today.

The newspaper printed an alleged document, signed at Memei July 17, by Herr Helfferding, editor of the communist newspaper Freiheit, Dr. R. B. Posen, leader of the German independent socialist party, and Commissioner Joffe, former bolshevik envoy to Germany.

According to the Lokai Anzeiger, this document provides that soviet should be proclaimed simultaneously at Koenigsberg, Tilsit, Dantzig, Breslau and Stettin.

This territory was to become the mobilization point for a red army in Germany under the command of Gen. Jantsch of the Russian red army.

Unconfirmed rumors are current here that a revolution has broken out at Posen, in West Prussia.

Strikes and riots are said to be occurring. According to reports from Posen, Polish troops were called out to suppress the disorders.

Posen formerly was German territory, but was awarded to Poland by the peace conference.

SYRIA IS PENALIZED TEN MILLION FRANCS

PARIS, July 28.—A reparations penalty of 10,000,000 francs has been imposed upon Syria by the French military administration because of the Arab uprising of King Faisal, Gen. Gouraud telegraphed from Beirut today.

Gen. Gouraud, who is commander of the French troops that are enforcing the French mandate on Syria, has issued a proclamation deposing Faisal as king of Syria.

A new Syrian government has been set up at Damascus and is disarming all the Arabs.

The Italians are evacuating Valona, an important Adriatic port on the Albanian coast, and are sending a dispatch to the newspaper Excelsior.

It recently was reported that the Albanian army had captured Valona, driving out the Italian garrison.

EUROPEAN PEACE PUT UP TO RUSSIA

LONDON, July 28.—The question of the European peace is being put squarely up to Russia today by the allies.

France and Great Britain are in complete accord in the new Russian policy. Their agreement was sealed at the Boulogne conference of Premier Lloyd George and Premier Millerand, which ended last night.

A note was dispatched to Moscow notifying the soviet government that Russia must consent to a general peace parley, with the allies as participants, if peace is to be concluded with Poland and the other states bordering Russia.

The allies fear the Russians might attempt to inflict a "Brest-Litovsk" peace unless the allied statesmen are present to discuss the interests of Poland and the smaller states.

It now appears that Russia's proposal for a peace parley sought only allied sanction while the soviet government desired to have its own terms without interference from the entente.

An answer to the allies' note demanding participation by the entente now is awaited.

It was understood the allies have been influenced by the slowness of the Russians in ceasing hostilities following their acceptance of Poland's plea for an armistice.

There was a brief lull in fighting after the exchange of wireless communication between Warsaw and Moscow last Saturday, but this has been followed by news of fresh advances by the Russian army.

The soviet war office, instead of opening armistice negotiations at once, announced a postponement until July 30.

The presence of Marshal Foch at Boulogne indicates that military measures for the protection of Poland were discussed in the event that the Russo-Polish war again breaks out in all its fury.

FRANCE INSISTS ON Moscow government.

France is insistent upon full protection for Poland under any circumstances; if peace negotiations begin or if war is continued.

France will play the dominant role in laying down peace terms if the Russians consent to a general peace conference with allied statesmen present as active participants.

Measures to assist Germany in financing coal deliveries to the allies also were discussed by the premiers at Boulogne.

There are unmistakable signs that Lord Northcliffe and War Secretary Churchill have formed a combination to support the French if France makes an eleventh hour fight to block peace with soviet Russia and recognition of the Moscow government.

Lord Northcliffe's Times sharply attacked the Boulogne conference, pointing out that France had not signed the new note which was sent to Moscow from London.

The stand which France has all along maintained regarding Russia was approved by the Times.

The Evening News, another Northcliffe newspaper, printed a sensational long article by War Secretary Churchill pleading for Poland as the "linch pin of the Versailles peace."

The war secretary warns that if Poland is broken from the borders of soviet Russia, Russia and Germany will be joined.

"Germany would then be confronted with an awful, but in some ways a wonderful, choice," said Churchill.

"She could either link her own civilization in the bolshevik welter and spread the reign of chaos over the continent or she could build a new world against the flood of red barbarism from the east."

"If the latter proved the case Germany would take a giant step toward self-redemption which would lead swiftly to a great place in the councils of christianity."

"She would make much easier the sincere peace of the world which the very salvation of Germany depends."

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said he saw the father, C. S. Moore, who would rather suffer death than see his child suffer from the effects of a physician.

Two physicians sent to the house by the Indianapolis Humane society were turned away, it was learned.

Spears said