

RED DELEGATE SAYS SOVIETS CAN'T BE BEAT

Makes Light of Assistance
Which Allies May Give
Gen. Wrangel.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Breaking the pledge of silence which was imposed upon him by the British government, M. Kamenef, head of the bolshevik trade mission, today gave an exclusive interview, in which he made the prediction that Russians eventually will capture Warsaw and defeat Gen. Wrangel, whose de facto government in southern Russia has just been recognized by France.

"Soviet Russia can not be beaten," declared the bolshevik official.

"We will take Warsaw."

"There is no doubt in my mind on that."

"We are not afraid of the allies intervening."

"They supported Admiral Kolchak and he was beaten. They supported Gen. Denikin and he failed."

"Even if they support Gen. Wrangel, he will be beaten. It would be much better for the allies if peace were signed now."

Kamenef refused to clarify this veiled threat. Upon being asked if the Russians were determined to sovietize Poland M. Kamenef made denial, adding:

"If the Polish people want a revolution we would be glad to see it, but we would wash our hands of it."

Asked if Moscow was urging the Polish workers to rise, M. Kamenef merely shrugged his shoulders and smiled.

The Russian official was asked to explain the "Warsaw-Danzig corridor" clause of the Russian terms to Warsaw.

"We do not want the corridor," declared M. Kamenef. He refused to discuss this issue further, but intimated that the Russian demand for the corridor had been made as the possible ground for future conclusions to Poland.

"It is true that it is not easy to hold socialist meetings in Russia just now, but our need for labor is so great that we will welcome young and energetic immigrants even if they do hold different shades of opinion," said the Russian commissioner in reply to a question about political restrictions.

He added that he believed socialist workers would find themselves better treated in Russia than in the United States. Some of the Americans, M. Kamenef said, held views even more extreme than those of the soviet leaders.

The Russian would not make any predictions as to the outcome of the Russo-Polish conference at Minsk, but said there would be an obstacle if the Poles accepted the French view.

4 SERVICE MEN ON STATE TICKET

Democratic Appointment Increases War Representatives.

The appointment of Daniel C. McIntosh, superintendent of the Worthington high schools, as a candidate for superintendent of public instruction makes four former service men on the democratic state ticket.

Three of them were in action overseas and the fourth, like more than 2,000,000 others, served this side.

The list of former soldiers who are candidates include Dr. Carleton B. McCulloch, candidate for governor; George A. Dehority of Elwood, candidate for treasurer of state; Wood E. Unger of Frankfort, candidate for reporter of the supreme court, and Mr. McIntosh.

Dr. McCulloch served more than eighteen months overseas and was awarded the Croix de Guerre for gallantry under fire at Compiègne while serving with the French Third army.

He was on active duty for several months on both the American and French fronts.

Mr. Dehority was among the first to answer the country's call, and by one of those strange quirks of fortune, served many months on this side.

Mr. Unger was with the Nineteenth division when it hit the Hindenburg line and was wounded three times.

He took part in many of the major offensives overseas and was in the Argonne battle, one of the most desperate ever waged by American troops.

The newest candidate, Mr. McIntosh, served with the 137th machine gun battalion overseas and participated in several of the major operations.

After his discharge he became an instructor in the agricultural college at Ames, Ia., and has just accepted a position as superintendent of the public schools at Worthington, Ind.

Prior to entering the army he was superintendent of the Green county schools.

He is a graduate of Indiana University and has taught school a number of years and holds a high position in educational circles.

24 Men Retire From the Postal Service

With terms of service ranging from sixteen to fifty years, twenty-four post office employees were retired yesterday in accordance with the provisions of the civil service retirement act of May 22, 1920, requiring that postal clerks and carriers be retired at the age of 65 years.

James W. Sulgrove holds the record of longest service, having been employed fifty years and seven months.

James L. Moore ranks second, having been employed forty-six years.

The oldest employee retired was John W. Pratt, who is 80 years old.

The men were assembled yesterday afternoon in the office of Robert E. Sprinsteen, postmaster, where speeches of appreciation were made by Mr. Sprinsteen, Charles E. Pawker, superintendent of the mails, and Charles W. Byfield, assistant postmaster.

ADV. DRIVE FOR CITY ADVISED

Advertising Club Makes Report to Chamber of Commerce.

A complete report of the activities of the convention board of the advertising club, will be mailed to the 300 individuals and business concerns of Indianapolis who subscribed to the convention fund, the first of next week.

In addition to reporting on the many campaigns carried on by the convention board, to make Indianapolis a better appreciated city, a number of specific recommendations are made to the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce, to whom the major part of the report is addressed.

The convention board gives credit to the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce for the program and states that since the convention has come and gone that the program, which for the time being had been taken over by the advertising club, must be returned to the chamber to be carried on.

The convention board recommends that the preparation of a great national advertising campaign be substituted as the central drive wheel in the place of the advertising convention.

"Before such a campaign can be effected it will be necessary to improve local conditions, co-ordinate city activities, develop Indianapolis as a distribution center and particularly educate our own citizens to their opportunities and responsibilities," the report says.

"With our eyes fixed on the big outside purpose—that of advertising Indianapolis to the world—it would be possible to set in motion many smaller activities that are neglected now for want of a motive."

"In other words, by undertaking an educational campaign of such breadth and completeness, as no other city has ever considered, we will stimulate every man, woman and child to wish to have a part in the work and thereby enlist them for continued civic activity."

The problem of carrying out the convention board plan is put up to the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce.

The statement is made that the advertising club believes the time has arrived for positive action.

The Chamber of Commerce has accepted the place of your leadership in the civic industrial and commercial life in the city of Indianapolis, according to the report.

In such a position it is the greatest servant of the city and must take definite and positive action in advertising the city to the world.

Felix M. McWhirter is chairman of the convention board, members of which are Paul Richey, Howard T. Griffith, Merle Sldener and James H. Lowry.
